PREMIER AND BABIES

New Spirit That is Changing the Face of the Community

The saving of babies was one of the topics dealt with by the Prime Minister in his speech at Dundee. He was told, he said, by Mr. John Burns that in the course of the last few years, owing to improvements in local administration, and owing to the new spirit that was coming over local administration particularly, there had been an actual saving of life when compared with the corresponding period before, of 146,000 human beings. In addition, nearly 2,000 infants who would have succumbed in the first or second year of their life had been saved. Half a million of human beings saved by the State on the total number in the British Isles! If that could be done in one sphere then, with the same spirit and zeal in other spheres, it was no idle optimism to say that in the life of a generation the whole face of great communities like Dundee might be transformed.

HOW TO TELL A GOOD SNAIL

Feel Its Jaw If You Would Make Sure It is Not a Base Substitute.

When you order Burgundy snails and are served with a plate of toothsome terrestrial pulmonates do you know how to tell whether they are the genuine article or the vulgar imitations technically known as "petits-gris?" asks a writer in the Paris edition of the New York Herald. It is the easiest thing in the world. All you need do is to take one of the gastropods in your fingers and examine its jawbone, much as you would study a horse's teeth to determine its age. If the jaw is large the snail is, or was, white; if the interior of the mouth looks like a dental factory the pulmonate belonged to the gray family.

But this is not the only test. In the white snails the horns are more developed than in the gray; in some of the latter the horns are hardly perceptible, in fact. Also, the back of the white snail, when cooked, sometimes assumes a dark gray color sometimes bluish or greenish tints. Always the colorings is even. The gray snail's back remains a grayish white, but is more or less spotted or streaked.

This is said on the authority of Mr. Vuillet, expert of the French department of agriculture, who, at the suggestion of Mr. Doux, director of scientific work in that department, has just been making some interesting tests.

The formation in Paris recently of two rival associations of small merchants revealed to the public a fraud which it appears is not uncommonly practiced. Clothes may make the man but shells do not make the snail, and "petits-gris" are sometimes placed on the market in shells which originally were worn by snails from Burgundy. Thanks to Mr. Vuillet, the connoisseur is now able to tell whether his "Burgundy" is really a wolf in sheep's clothing.

Mr. Vuillet adds that the two species appear to be equally indigestible by delicate human organisms. After all, a snail by any other name would taste as bad—or as good—according to whether you like snails or not.

Infant's Amazing Breakfast

A curious case has been investigated by the Cambridgeshire county coroner. Daisy Howard, aged 21 months, of Chittering, had breakfast of pork, cheese, bread, and an orange from which the pips had been removed. About three hours later she was found dead in bed. A doctor stated that a post-mortem examination showed the baby died of suffocation, but there was nothing to account for it. The throat and lungs were quite clean, and there were no external marks or injury. The jury found that the child was accidentally suffocated whilst in bed probably, through food recently eaten.

A Sign of Sobriety

At Llanrwst a Rhyl man was sentenced to a month's imprisonment for stealing a coat and a bunch of keys from the Haul Inn, Eglwysbach. Mrs. Jones, the licensee's wife, when asked whether the prisoner was sober at the time, replied, "Certainly; he ordered bread and cheese."

Hanged in a Church

William Jackson, aged sixty-seven years, was found inside Bowburn Wesleyan Church, near Coxhoe, hanging by a rope fastened to the rails above the basement. Jackson, a widower, resided with his daughter, who is caretaker of the church. He was a retired railway policeman and keeper of the Coxhoe Golf Links.

Modern Need.

It has recently been said that men of today have a tendency to suppress the emotion frankly, to admit only half of what they feel, and only a fourth of what they think. If this be true, then are they in sad need of the many sided help that verse and good poetry can give them. They need just that relaxing of the mind and heart which sublime expression inevitably brings.

"A Progressive Peterborough"

Our Point of View

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is now wearing a tortured look that has caused him to lose his resemblance to Sir John A. Macdonald.

"I wish to tell the people of the United States that ex-president Taft is the same good old Bill" said a Congressman the other day. Yes, the same old spurious Bill.

It is said that treasure hunters are trying to recover 600 jugs of whiskey sunk in the Missouri river in the early fifties. The whiskey ought to have a glorious bouquet by this time, and every effort should be made to retrieve the hrevious medicine. 6

PRICES REMAIN HIGH

The Labor Department's index number of wholesale prices stood at 136.0 for September as compared with 136.2 in August and 132.7 September, 1912. The slight fall Ras due to lower prices for fresh fruits, vegetables and canned salmon, but some important advances occurred in eggs, fish, sugar, cream of tartar, jute, silk, anthracite coal, some building materials and starch. In retail prices eggs, butter and coal were higher but potatoes declined.

NO MINGLING OF WATERS

A great many persons who read that with the dynamiting of the great Gamboa dike the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific rushed together, will be startled by the annoucement that the waters can never mingle in the canal at Panama. It is impossible for them to mingle when part of the canal is 100 feet higher than either sea level.

Furthermore, the Panama canal will be largely a fresh water affair, for the reason that it will not be fed from either ocean, but from the artificial Gatun Lake. The public, no doubt, has been well aware of this, but it has held tenaciously to the poetic idea of the two oceans mingling. Hence it is too bad that accuracy must destroy romance.

In the minds of many people the canal will continue to seem to mark the mingling of the waters. At any rate it is the link which connects the oceans which makes the circumnavigation of the globe no longer a matter of great difficulty.

New Treatment Now Advocated for Bronchitis

Is Having Wonderful Success, and is Making Most Remarkable Cures

For bronchitis a different form of treatment is now advocated. It consists of a scientifically devised vapor that penetrates to the uttermost recesses of the lungs and bronchial tubes. Every spot that is sore, every surface that is irritated is at once bathed with soothing balsams and healing essences that make bronchitis an impossibility.

This treatment now so universally employed in bronchitis, throat troubles, colds, etc., is called CATARRHOZONE. It acts just as air of the pine woods acts, as a healing antiseptic remedy for all diseases of the breathing organs.

Just think of it—a remedy that can be carried with the very air you breathe to the seat of bronchial or catarrhal inflammation. A remedy powerful enough to kill germ life and yet so healing that disease flees before it. Catarrhozone is truly a wonderful remedy. In many lands it has won its way, and is affording grand results to sufferers from colds, catarrh, throat weakness, asthma and bronchitis. There is no sufferer from a grippy cold or any winter ill, that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and costs $1.00 and is guaranteed; small size 50c., sample size, 25c., all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y. and Kingston, Canada.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

THE ULSTER QUESTION

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In a late issue of a Toronto paper, the Home Rule matter is referred to. The writer of the article appears to think that people are taking the matter too seriously, but Mr. Editor, the people most interested—those of Ulster—are taking the situation more seriously than any one, as witness the report of the meetings held in Belfast a few Sundays ago, especially the one in Ulster Hall, where four thousand men sang "O, God, our help in ages past." Then the correspondent goes on to describe the army of Ulster. He talks of 20,000 or 50,000, and over 60,000, but finishes by saying all that has been seen in the flesh aggregates perhaps 4,000.

Now it is quite evident that the correspondent has never been in Ulster, much less in Belfast. Had he been in the latter place on April 9, 1912, he might have seen not 20,000 nor 60,000, but 120,000 men marching through Balmoral park past the monster Union Jack, which every man saluted as he passed. There was a column sixteen deep for two hours, followed by one four deep for one and a quarter hours.

No man of unbiassed mind can attend one of their meetings, such as was held recently in Ulster hall, and see clergymen from all the leading Protestant churches on the platform, and hear them sing that fine old hymn, "O God, our help in ages past," and see those 4,000 or 5,000 strong men reverently bow their heads while they pray to the God of their fathers for wisdo and guidance—can come away and say it is all bluff.

The correspondent talks of the arrest of Sir Edward Carson. For what? For telling the men of Ulster to keep the old flag flying. Some one may say he is opposing the governmentof England. Who might, I ask, are the government of England to-day?

Asquith and Lloyd George and company rule by the grace—if you please—of Redmond and his gang, who cheered in the house of commons at the now of the reverse British arms in South Africa. I wonder who will be the man chosen to arrest Sir Edward Carson. Will it be Colonel Lynch, who led an army against the British flag in South Africa? It will not be Prof. Kettle, who could not speak in Dublin while there was a Union Jack flying out a window nearly two hundred yards away, for Carson is always nearer than that to the old flag. King George V. has no more loyal subjects in all his broad domains than the men of Ulster, and no place on earth is there a more intense hatred for Britain and all thing British than in the South of Ireland.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, in anticipation, Yours, etc.,

—An Ulster Man.

Lindsay, Oct. 18th, 1913.

ANTI-SPITTING

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think the anti-spitting crusade, inaugurated in this city should be followed up strenuously. The spitting habit on the public streets is a disgusting one. Ladies skirts are contaminated with a brown mass of filthy tobacco juice. There I fully agree with Dr. McPherson, M.H.O., and the Board of Health in their contention that spitting in public endangers public health. An unfortunate suffering with tuberculosis or any other infectious disease, who up to in a street car, public hall or street pavement, deposits millions of death dealing microbes,, that, when his saliva dries, are carried by every passing breeze to be inhaled by innocent passers-by. Let us get signs up, and get them up quick, forbidding spitting.

"Common Sense"

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parisite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

SALT AND GOOD LOOKS

German Physician Advises its Use to Whiten Skin

According to a German physician, salt taken with food has a whitening effect on the skin. This is accounted for by the fact that it is a compound containing the powerful bleaching agent, chlorine. At any rate, it is undoubted that white people eat much more common salt than dark races.

Fruit, on the other hand, darkens the skin, because it contains salts of manganese.

Besides whitening the skin it is probable that abundance of salt in the diet makes the face and the whole body plump. When a person eats salt freely the result is that the blood, skin, muscles, etc., retain a great quantity of fluid. Hence the effect on the face would be to make it full and rounded.

But it should be eaten with judgment and moderation. If a young girl eats a large quantity of salt and makes her face plump then the skin is stretched and, as she grows older and drier, wrinkles appear. But if she uses a saltless diet while young, then when the wrinkles come she should be able to disperse them by adding salt to her diet.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; [illegible]

WHOOPING COUGH BANE OF MOTHERS

Discussion of This Troublesome Disease and its Treatment by a Physician

Whooping cough is a contagious disease characterized by fits of coughing, during which a whooping sound is made following a long-drawn breath. It is generally taken through direct contact with the sick, rarely through exposure to the sick room, or to persons or clothing used by the sick. The germs which causes the disease is probably in the mucus of the nose and throat. It occurs chiefly in children from six months to six years of age.

Whooping cough begins like an ordinary cold in the head, with a cough, worse at night, which persists. As the coughing fits increase, the child gets red in the face, has difficulty in getting breath, and sometimes vomits when the attack is over.

After a variable period from a few days to two weeks, the peculiar feature of the disease appears. The child gives 15 or 20 short coughs without drawing breath; the face swells and grows blue; the eyeballs protrude; the veins stand out, and the patient appears to be suffocating, when at last he draws in a long breath with a crowing or whooping sound, which gives rise to the name of the disease. In mild cases, there may be six to twelve attacks in 24 hours; in severe cases, from 40 to 80.

Owing to the numerous complications, whooping cough must be looked upon as a serious disease, especially in infants under two years, and in weak, delicate children. It causes about one-fourth of all the death among children and for this reason a physician's services should be secured when possible.

Many remedies are used for whooping cough, but no single one is always the best. Fresh air is of great importance. Patients should be strictly isolated in rooms by themselves. And children should be sent away who have not been exposed.

If the coughing fits are severe, or there is fever, children should be kept in bed. Otherwise they may be outdoors in warm weather, and also in winter, on warm quiet days.

It is best that the sick should have two rooms so that the temperature may be kept at 70 all the time and the air changed frequently. Especially at nights should the child have plenty of fresh air to breathe.

The simplest remedy for the disease, before the whooping has commenced, is a mixture of paregoric and syrup of ipecac, ten drops of the former, with five of the latter, for a child of two years, given together in water every three hours.

A one per cent. solution of hydrogen dioxide, diluted with four parts of water, used in an atomizer for spraying the throat every two hours has given good results.

Quinine, given in the dose of one-sixth grain for each month of the child's age under a year; or in one and one-half-grain doses for each year of age under five, is one of the older and more valuable remedies.

However, these drugs should only be employed under the direction of the physician.

LETTER WRITING

It is Important That One Should Master This Art

A certain amount of correspondence is necessary to every human being who owns a circle of friends and acquaintances and who accepts social obligations of any sort whatever. The kind little line of sympathy, the prompt note of acceptance upon receipt of an invitation, the few words of appreciation or thanks for a favor received betoken the man or woman versed in social matters, even though neither the heart nor the interest are in the bugbear letter. The knack of inditing a well expressed epistle, short, graceful and to the point, if not learned during youth, should be acquired at whatever pains. The correct forms of letter writing are not difficult to master, and such forms are very important in a social sense.

One should avoid freakish note papers and stick to a heavy cream laid paper, unlined, and almost square in size of sheet. At the top of the fourth page may be engraved the address, the name and telephone address of the country house or the family crest. It is in the best taste, however, to have the envelope unengraved. When deemed advisable, the address may be written by hand in one corner or across the back of the flap.

FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

(Written for The Times)

To-day let Canada arise,
And songs of glad thanksgiving pour
To Him whose bounteous love supplies
Blessings of basket and of store.

With precious ore, exhaustless mines,
Treasures and wealth abundant yield,
And bright the fertile prairie shines
With leagues of golden harvest fields.

Rivers and lakes whose on shall go
No galley with its slave-plied oar,
But teeming finny tribes below,
Furnish the sportsman ample store.

Like giant guardians of the land,
In serried ranks of dark array,
Her mighty forests proudly stand,
Or fall 'neath man's resistless sway.

Increasing trade with steady gain,
Her coffers fill to flowing o'er,
And commerce with her busy train,
Bring wealth from many a distant shore.

Kind nature's smiles around have shed
Profusion that can never fail,
And freedom's glorious banner spread
Defiant to the rising gale.

Progression and prosperity
Delights the eye and cheers the breast
With plenty, peace and liberty.
Fair Canada is truly blest!

Our joyful praise to God ascends,
Whose mercy guards the nation's life,
Still 'gainst the foeman's steel defends
And shields from discord's jarring strife.

The stranger, too, within our gate,
May well with grateful heart rejoice,
For generous friendships, favors great
That makes our land his home and choice.

The'for these meadows flowing wide,
True hearts in deep devotion rise,
The faith for which our fathers died,
We cherish above all and prize.

For life consists not in the things
That fade and perish in a day,
But faith and love immortal springs
When earthly glories pass away.

With truth and honor for our creed,
True righteousness our highest boast,
The gospel on it's course shall speed
And knowledge spread from coast to coast.

So let us praise our God to-day,
For earthly blessings freely given,
Still more for the clear Gospel ray,
That lights the narrow path to heaven.

-- KEEP THE PUBLIC INFORMED --

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its fineness and price.

He classes these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this new through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his servic to keep the public informed.

EXTRAORDINARY SCENE WITNESSED IN FIGHT AT A CONCERT

Police Have to Clear Hall After Tumult Over Composition

Extraordinary scenes were witnessed at a concert given in one of the most fashionable halls in Vienna. The conductor was Herr Arnold Schoenberg, the peculiarities of whose compositions have aroused much opposition. Upon the orchestra striking up his "Chamber Symphony" tumult broke loose. As Herr Schoenberg was conducting a work of his pupil, Anton von Webern, the noise rendered it impossible to continue the performance, and those responsible for the demonstration were turned out of the hall.

The concert was then continued, but the scandalous scenes assumed a worse form. Those responsible for the arrangements jumped from the seats in the stalls and dealt blows at all who were concerned in the tumult. Finally the fighting became general, and the police were summoned, while the performers took up their instruments and left the hall.

Many Six Feet Women In British Society Circles

Tall women are notably on the increase at the social functions of England's "smart set." It may be due to the modern craze for athletics or physical culture, or it may be merely an optical illusion based on the current modes in dress, but the fact remains—tall women now queen it amongst their sex.

Two particularly tall women are the Duchess of Portland and the Duchess of Marlborough, while the Duchesses of Montrose and Sutherland are only a trifle less stately.

Lady Linlithgow and her sister, Mrs. Edward York, are both well over six feet, as is Lady de Clifford. Among other extremely tall women are Lady Pembroke, the Hon. Mrs. George Lambton, the Hon. Mrs. Ferdinand Stanley, the Hon. Mrs. Henry Brougham, and Miss Daphne Bourke, the daughter of the Hon. Algernon and Mrs. Bourke.

Lady Ripon is six feet tall, and her daughter, Lady Juliet Duff, is not much shorter. Lady Galway and her only daughter, the Hon. Mrs. Skeffington-Smyth, are both extremely tall, as are Lady Aberdeen and her only daughter, Lady Pentland.

KRUGER RELICS

Have Been Transported From Holland to a Transvaal Museum

Certain relics of Paul Kruger are to have a resting place in a Transvaal museum by virtue of a Court of Appeal decision at the Hague. Judgment was given in the appeal brought by M. Hidde Nyland, the defendant in the action instituted by Dr. Leyds and various Boer leaders for the restoration of certain South African relics and other objects of interest lent by Oom Paul which formed the nucleus of the South African museum established by M. Nyland at Dordrecht.

The court upheld the provisional decision of the Dordrecht court which rejected the application of the Boer leaders, but found Dr. Leyds' application to be admissible. The objects have been transported to South Africa.

WOMEN RIDING ASTRIDE NOT A NOVELTY, PRACTICE INVARIABLE

For Centuries No Woman Rode a Horse Otherwise—Side-Saddle Only Eighty Years Old

The truth of the old saying "There is nothing new under the sun," has apt illustration in the controversy over the propriety of women riding astride. The practice is almost invariably alluded to as being new, yet the facts are that women rode astride before side-saddles were invented, and the custom originated in Europe, not on the western prairies. This is made plain by illuminated manuscripts of the fourteenth century in the British Museum, depicting women enjoying the pastime of the chase seated squarely astride their horses.

Queen Anne, the consort of Richard II., who died in 1394, seems to have been the first woman in England to set the fashion of riding sideways. Enumerating the new fashions of Richard's reign, an old historian, T. Rossil, observes:

"Likewise noble ladies then used high heads and cornets, and robes with long trains, and seats, or side-saddles, on their horses, by example of the respectable Queen Anne, daughter of the King of Bohemia, who first introduced the custom into this kingdom; for, before, women of every rank rode as men do."

Geoffrey Chaucer, who wrote at this time, describes a woman rider as having on her feet "a paire of spurres sharpe." The Duke of Newcastle, in his famous work on horsemanship, published in 1658, speaks of women riding astride at that period, and the venerable John Lawrence, writing at the close of the eighteenth century, states that at an early period of his own life two young women of good family in England "were in the constant habit of riding about the country in their smart doeskins, great coates and flapped beaver hats."

However extensively the example of the Bohemian Queen was followed, it is thus apparent that the mode of female equestrianism to which Queen Mary objects continued to prevail, to some extent at least, until the last century, if, indeed, it was ever entirely relinquished.

The "side-saddle" introduced into England from Austria differed very materially from that now in use and was little more than a mere pillion or low backed arm-chair, fastened on the horse's croup, behind the saddle on which rode the man, who handled the horse, while the woman sat at her ease with both feet resting on a broad footboard. The pillion continued in use well into the last century. It was not until the side-saddle with a third horn or leaping head was invented, about eighty years ago, that a woman's seat on a horse otherwise than astride was made secure.

GIRL PLEADED GUILTY TO EMBEZZLING MONEY

Giving evidence at the Old Bailey against Dorothy Eleanor Brooks, eighteen, clerk, charged with embezzling sums of money received by her on account of the Postmaster-General, her employer, a Post Office official said her total defalcations amounted to $340. The girl, said the official, had the idea that every man was in love with her, and men had the money.

"It is a harmless idea," said the Recorder, "but I do not understand why the men should have the money. Why do you think the men had the money?"

The official said he inferred that from the character of the men with whom the girl had associated. The men had disappeared.

Brook's mother said all she had received from the girl were small sums, which did not exceed in the total $25. The girl pleaded guilty.

A WOMAN'S HOARD

Money Found by Firemen When Clearing Away Rubbish

While the Girvan Fire Brigade were clearing away the rubbish in a cottage in Greenside, Girvan, which was destroyed by fire, they had a remarkable find. Hidden in one of the fireplaces they discovered $20 in notes and about $20 in silver, a single leaf of a bank-book, and charred fragments of bank deposit receipts with a face value up to fully $1000. The owner and occupier of the house is a maiden lady, who lives by herself. She owns considerable property in the town.

Gentlemen,—
I beg to draw your attention to the fact that I have suffered from rheumatism for the last nine years, and particularly for the last five. I have been unable to stand, walk, or in fact, help myself in any way, my knees and elbows swollen, drawn and stiff; could not bend them in any way; I tried everything, went to the Banff Springs three months in 1905, twice to Hot Springs, Arkansas, two months in 1907, four months in 1908 done me no good. I heard of SANOL last September and have been taking it ever since, and I am glad to say the swelling is about all gone. I am going around the house on crutches, also my joints are loosening and straightening, and I fully expect that SANOL will cure me.
I believe SANOL will cure rheumatism, for my case is a hard one, and in fact has been pronounced incurable and if I improve for the next three months as I have for the last three I will be walking in good shape.
I remain,
Yours truly,
John J. Lane.
P.S.—You can show this letter to anyone you feel like, and send them to me as I can tell them better than I can write it.

Paper and Ink For Money

To manufacture and print the paper money of Canada it is necessary to import materials from various parts of the world. A part of the paper fiber, for instance, is linen rag from the Orient. The silk that furnishes the strands that are run through the paper as a safeguard against counterfeiting comes from China or from Italy. The blue ink contains cobalt from Canada or Germany. The black ink is said to be made at Niagara Falls from acetylene gas smoke; and the greater part of the green ink is made with white zinc sulphate, the product of German industry. The red is derived from a pigment imported from Central America.

Berlin has 53 power-propelled car in its mail service.

Gas is being extracted from the cottonwood trees of Kansas.

Fever Blisters

What causes fever blisters? is often asked.

Digestive disturbances cause them. But they are often an accompaniment of various ills. Fever blisters may appear on any part of the body. They are noted most frequently around the mouth. Fever blisters are found on the pneumonia patient; during bad spells in typhoid; in malaria and in several other diseases.

Sometimes a person gets a fever blister with apparently no accompanying ill. In that case it is most probably due to a disordered stomach. Too much food is probably eaten or the food is not wisely chosen. The cure in the last case is an adjustment of food, a change of diet and more exercise.

Singe Frayed Linen

Instead of cutting the frayed edges of cuffs and collars, as many people are accustomed to do, take a lighted taper and just singe the frayed parts. It will be seen that the linen will last much longer. Cutting the edges has a tendency to loosen the parts, and singeing just takes the frayed edges off without injury.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Lakefield, Ont.," will be received until 4 p.m., on Wednesday, November 5, 1913, for the construction of a Public Building at Lakefield, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained on application to the Postmaster at Lakefield, Ont., at the office of Mr. Thos. Hastings, Clerk of Works, Postal Station "F," Yonge St., Toronto, and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

Beauty of the Tail

It looks as if the docking of horses' tails might become unpopular. The Duke of Connaught is against the practice, and all the King's horses are undocked.

Mr. Winans, one of the best known horsemen in London, says: "For a lady's carriage or phaeton a long-tailed or undocked horse is infinitely handsomer. It always looks vulgar to see a pair of docked and hog-maned horses in a smart carriage."

Sir John Rolleston, M.P., favors legislation to stop docking.

Mr. Butcher, K.C., Lord Henry Cavendish-Bentinck, Mr. Philip Snowden, Sir William Bull, Mr. H. G. Chancellor, Mr. George Greenwood and the Hon. Walter Guinness support him in his views.

Mr. F. A. Cox, of the National Equine Defence League, prophesies that the docking of horses' tails will go the same way as the old fashion of clipping dogs' ears, which was done simply for the same stupid reason—ornament.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

HE NEVER SUSPECTS TRICK

Old Club Man Easily Inveigled Into Telling Favorite Story and Signing Check.

There is a prominent club here, of which the greater number of members are young men; but there is one exception who is noteworthy.

He is well into the 70s, and all his actions, like his personal appearance, point to the past generation. He wears a snowy white mustache of incredible length and his head is crowned with a tangle of white locks.

People who wish to flatter him tell him he resembles Mark Twain.

Like all old men, he has his favorite stories, and never tires of telling them. There are some members of the club who know every story in his repertory. When they see the old man coming they suddenly remember appointments down town.

A group of the most youthful members, whose lack of years and thoughtfulness partly redeems the iniquity of their performance, often play a trick on the old man.

He loves to tell a certain story, of a very rambling character and no particular point. To illustrate the climax of the story the old man must have a bell at his elbow, which at the proper moment, with a dramatic gesture, he strikes forcibly.

He never notices that it is always at a certain psychological moment that this gay young group lead him to their table and insist on the story.

He is flattered and tells the story with great gusto to the applause of his listeners.

Crash! His hand falls upon the little call bell on the table. The story is told.

Just then the waiter summoned by the bell comes. He gravely presents the bill for the drinks to the old man.

Still smiling heartily, he signs the bill and rises with his old-fashioned stateliness.

"Good-night, gentlemen," he says. "I've enjoyed myself immensely!"

And he never suspects the young rogues.—New York Telegram.

BABIES AS BRIDES

Strange Marriage Customs in the Eastern World

Baby brides and bridegrooms were numerous among the 400 couples whose weddings were celebrated simultaneously the other day at Surat among members of the Lewa Kunbi caste. None of the brides, said a telegram from Bombay, was over twelve years of age, the majority being from one to seven years old. The bridegrooms varied from three to nine. Most of the contracting parties sat or lay on laps of their parents during the ceremony and were given sweets to keep them quiet. The caste only celebrates weddings every ten or twelve years. In Chinese Turkestan the practice exists of writing out a bill of divorce at the same time that a marriage is celebrated; thus marriages often last for a day only.

BABEL OF WORSHIP

City of Jerusalem Has Variety of Active Members of Every Faith

Conditions of worship in Jerusalem to-day are peculiar, according to Thomas E. Green, who contributes an article on the subject to The Century Magazine. No city on earth, he asserts, has such a tumult of devotion, such a confusion of worship as the "City of Peace." In many ways it is essential that there should be all of the great substantial hospices, capable of sheltering and caring for the multitude of pilgrims who still, as in the ancient days, come from afar to worship in Jerusalem. They come from every nation in Europe, mostly in comparative poverty, making their toilsome way by personal exertion and sacrifice.

The roads leading from seaports are thronged with pilgrims, trudging their dusty way, sleeping beside the highway or in rude shelters erected for them, all with their faces set steadfastly toward Jerusalem. For these there must be rest and shelter and food, for which reason in the Holy City and at neighboring shrines huge caravanseries are sustained by the various national churches. More elaborate buildings, like modern hotels, exist for those who come upon a pious pilgrimage with ample means.

Non-Attendance Bugbear

Dr. Willis, at an inquest at Soham, Cambs, on the nine-year-old daughter of a laborer stated that the child, although suffering from acute tuberculosis, from which she died, was kept by her parents at school until the day before her death, owing to the fear of the school authorities summoning them for her non-attendance. He knew of many instances of people being thus frightened, and considered something should be done to prevent evils resulting from this. The jury and coroner agreed, and urged that attendance officers should rather explain how the services of doctors could be obtained free. The doctor, coroner, and jury gave the parents their fees.

Anti-Boxing Agitation

Fred Welsh, the light-weight champion of the world, gave a boxing exhibition at the Carnarvon Pavilion to an audience which numbered about 1,000. The nature of the exhibition had provided much adverse criticism among Nonconformist leaders in the town, and, had time permitted, an endeavor would doubtless have been made to put a stop to it. The agitation may lead to county council candidates being asked to make the exclusion of boxing exhibitions a condition of granting theatrical licenses.

A Mean Thief

There are some mean thieves in this world. A London man dropped dead just after handing his wages, amounting to $16, to his wife. Several neighbors afterwards called to condole with her, and when the last of them had gone it was found that the money too had disappeared.

PETER THE GREAT GUIDES RUSSIA

The Will of the Czar Who Died in 1725 is Believed to be a Living Influence

For nearly two centuries Russia's political activity has been guided by a program formulated by Peter the Great. When he died in 1725 the great emperor made a prophecy that some day Russia would rule the world, and in his secret will he traced the steps the future czars must travel to accomplish that end. In the years since Peter's death many of his prophecies have come true. He said in his will:

"We must progress as much as possible in the direction of Constantinople and India. He who can once get possession of these points is the real ruler of the world. With that view we must provoke constant quarrels at one time with Turkey and at another with Persia * * * Moreover, we must take pains to establish and maintain an intimate union with Austria, apparently countenancing its schemes for future aggrandizement and all the while secretly rousing the jealousy of the minor states against it. In this way we must bring it to pass that one or the other party shall seek aid from Russia and then we shall exercise a sort of a protectorate over the country which will pave the way for future supremacy."

No diplomat of to-day could summarize Russia's activity in the Balkan war more clearly. Servia, Montenegro and Bulgaria are jealous of Austria's grasping power and have turned to Russia for support. That is the protectorate. And as for future supremacy! Poland once turned to Russia as the Balkan States do to-day.

To Eliminate Austria

Peter the Great's dream was to make Russia mistress of the world. His entire plan worked to that end. First, he said, Russia must get Finland, Poland, the Baltic Sea and the Black Sea. These conquests are a matter of history. Then India and Persia were slated for overthrow. Russia has spread around the Caspian Sea, made Turkistan a subsidiary province and only last year went into Northern Persia. Only Afghanistan remains between Russia and India. Russian princes have taken German princesses as their consorts as Peter the Great counseled. Then he called back to Constantinople. "We must make the house of Austria interested in the expulsion of the Turks from Europe, and we must neutralize its jealousy at the capture of Constantinople either by preoccupying it with a war with the old European states, or by allowing it a share of the spoil, which we can afterward resume at our leisure."

Peter the Great's plan to make Russia master of the entire world was: "When Sweden is ours, Persia vanquished, Poland subjugated, Turkey conquered—when our armies are united and the Black Sea and the Baltic in the possession of our ships—then we must make separate and secret overtures, first to the court of Versailles and then to that of Vienna, to share with them the dominion of the world. If either of them accepts our propositions, which is certain to happen if their ambitions and self-interest are properly worked upon, we must make use of one to annihilate the other. That done, we have only to destroy the remaining one, by [illegible] of which cannot be doubted, as Russia will then be already in the absolute possession of the East and of the greatest part of Europe.

A Good Dreamer

How nearly that dream materialized makes one of the most interesting chapters of Napoleon's life. The French Emperor and Czar Alexander I. met on a raft in the middle of the Niemen River at Tilsit and drew up plans to divide the world. Austria was then a cat's paw for Napoleon through his marriage with the archduchess, Marie Louise. But England was too strong on the sea and Napoleon began to play Russia false so Alexander broke his pact with the French Emperor.

Peter believed the future supremacy of Russia was ordered by providence. He saw the star of empire working its way north—Egypt, Chaldea, Babylon, Greece, Rome, France, England and then the hordes from Russia and northern Asia. He said:

"I look on the future invasion of the eastern and western countries by the north as a periodical movement, ordained by providence, who in like manner regenerated the Roman nation by barbarian invasions. These emigrations of men from the north are as the reflow of the Nile, which at certain periods comes to fertilize the impoverished lands of Egypt by its deposit. I found Russia as a rivulet. I leave it a river. My successors will make of it a large sea, destined to fertilize the impoverished lands of Europe, and its waters will overflow in spite of opposing dams erected by weak hands if our descendants only know how to direct its course. I give these countries to their watchfulness and care, as Moses gave the Tables of the Law to the Jewish people."

"PETTICOAT" DAN

The Passing of a Peculiar Scottish Character

Petticoat Dan, a well-known Kirkintilloch character, died at the advanced age of 77 years. Dan dressed somewhat peculiarly, so far as his nether garments were concerned, for he invariably wore a woman's petticoat of a blue color. Dan was in receipt of parochial relief, but added to his income by taking in coals and other odd work, and very seldom was he turned away from a door, whether work was given him or not, without a copper or two, or a good meal. When the latter was provided Dan said grace, which was a very peculiar collection of Biblical texts and curious sayings all mixed up, its recital occupying sometimes 10 or 15 minutes. Many stories are told of Dan. One is to the effect that being told by a small boy that a can of milk Dan was carrying was "rinnin' oot," the worthy turned the can upside down to see the hole! One day he was engaged to take in coals, but was long in coming, and another person was got to do the work. Dan arrived shortly afterwards and stood by with a very dejected mien. The lady came out to explain matters, when Dan burst out, "Oh, woman, my heart's just like to break to see hoo thae coals is hannl't." Told that an asylum was to be opened in Bellfield (Kirkintilloch) for "a' the daft folk," Dan replied, "Aweel, they'll no' be money left in Kirkintilloch." Visiting at a house in the district, Dan was given a lighted lantern to help him to see his way home. Dan carried it to the end of the avenue, blew out the light, took the lantern back to the house and said to the inmates, "Thank ye kindly. I've seen fine."

Strolling Musical Genius

A movement is on foot in Girvan to erect a memorial to William Jackson, the composer of the music to the songs "The Bonnie Lass of Ballochmyle" and the "Dear Little Shamrock." Jackson was a musical genius, but like many other men of his calibre fell on evil days. During the last years of his life he earned a precarious living as a strolling musician. Coming to Girvan in that capacity many years ago he was seized with illness and died very suddenly.

Window Smasher at 90

At Aberdeen, Isabella Cameron was charged with begging, and also with having smashed a shop window with a walking-stick on being refused assistance. She said she was ninety years of age, and was walking to Inverness. She could only walk a very short distance every day. She was allowed to go on her way.

Elaborate Evening Gown

This evening gown is of white chiffon embossed in velvet leaves and flowers, in shades of orchid and mauve. It has a long pointed train over white charmeuse sash giving the much-desired uncurved line at the hip. A wide collar of white chiffon outlined in rhinestones forms the only trimming on the bodice, the neck of which is cut in a low V front and back. The bust line in front is finished with a single velvet orchid outlined with diamonds.

The peculiar form of the collar and the way in which the tunic is draped in the front carries out the straight lines which adds to the wearer's height.

Anaemic Mothers Here is Relief!

You Can Enrich Your Worn-Out Blood and Quickly Renew Your Health With Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a Real Cure

"I can't remember any time during the past twenty years when my heart wasn't aching. If I bent over, dark specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putnam P. O., and continuing her interesting statement she says: "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. I tell you how I feel to-day and you can understand what a great cure Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going upstairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as any person ought, and as for dizziness which used to frighten me so much, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful medicine. They helped me, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health."

As to-day is Thanksgiving Day and a public holiday our readers will have to eat their breakfast without the added "apperatif" of the Morning Times.

St. George's Church Bazaar.

St. George's Church, South City, is to hold a grand bazaar on November 27th, 28th and 29th, (if possible in the Armouries) with the object of raising funds to clear the debt on the church building, to extend it and to purchase additional land for parish purposes.

A Well Hooked Fish.

The Ketchecum Lake fishing party returned home on Saturday night. As Mr. W. H. Dunsford, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce was hauling in a four pound mountain trout, his line broke just above the sinker. Later on, during the same day, Mr. H. Winch landed the same trout with Mr. Dunsford's hook, line and sinker attached to its jaws.

Laymen's Missionary Campaign

The great Laymen's Missionary campaign that will be held in Peterborough during the first week in December, is now being arranged. All the Protestant churches in Peterborough are co-operating. A meeting of the general committee, Mr. A. W. Cressman, chairman, and Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., secretary, was held in the Y.M.C.A., when the reports presented from the sub-committees showed that gratifying progress was being made.

Attempted Suicide Discharged.

At Saturday's police court, a young man named [illegible], who as noted in Saturday's Times, said he had been in the county three years. He had $15 in his pocket when he jumped into the lift lock to commit suicide. He had been up against whiskey for some time. The Magistrate remarked: "Be a man, and cut out the whiskey. Englishmen who charged at Waterloo were men. Be like one of them. We will give you a chance—you are discharged."

Salvation Army Doings

A large crowd attended the Peterborough Songster Brigade, some 30 strong and the Choral Brigade entertainment at Campbellford. These zealous workers for the cause of Christ and in the interests of humanity went down yesterday to that village. They gave a service and entertainment on Saturday evening that was also largely attended. The Barracks was crowded yesterday in the city, the occasion being a special Thanksgiving serpice. The visitors to Campbellford will remain over today.

40th Anniversary.

Mr. Frank Mason, the well known local florist, this week will observe the 40th anniversary of his going into business in Peterborough. To mark this event he has decided to give a 20 per cent. reduction on cut flowers, jardiniers, bulbs, etc. for a few days. The public are invited to call and inspect his new emporium on Water street, where a magnificent display of flowers will be shown.

A Church Presentation.

At the close of the service in Knox church yesterday morning, conducted by Rev. Prof. Farmer, LL.D., of McMaster University, the congregation received a handsome memorial gift in the form of an individual Communion Service. The donors are Mr. and Mrs. Christian Kruger. The minister and session received the gift in the name of the congregation. The cabinet in which the set will be kept bears the inscription: "Presented to Knox church by Mr. and Mrs. Christian Kruger, as a Memorial, October 19, 1913. This do in remembrance of me."

Heavily Fined at Lindsay

Lindsay, Oct. 18.—At this morning's session of the County Police Court Abe Warren, of Lorneville, came up for sentence on three charges to which he pleaded guilty Thursday—supplying liquor to a minor, being drunk in a local option territory and committing an indecent offence on a Lornev lle youth.

For the first offence he was fined $10.00 and costs or a month in jail; the second offence $20.00 and costs or two months in jail and for the third $25.00 and costs or three months in jail.

The First Tag Day?

A local Egyptologist on Saturday asked The Times if their scribe spoken to know of the original tag day. Our reporter whilst recognizing the splendid work done for the Children's Aid Society by tag day, pleaded ignorance. Our informant told us that three days before Cleopatra set out on her barge with her warrior lover from Rome for a honeymoon on the Nile she held a tag day to get funds for the barge. Everyone "touched" contributed as a rational meant decapitation. However we have our doubts as to the historical accuracy of our informant.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

Castle Nesbitt as Memory Cure.

At Saturday's police court, the young Otonabee man, named Robt. Anderson was present. He was fined on Friday $20 for being drunk as a blackleter. The Magistrate gave him a kindly, fatherly, but heart to heart talk about his drinking. He referred to the misery he was bringing on his family. Anderson said he did not get his whiskey in Hastings as he first claimed, but got it from a man who was working for a local business man. The liquor was supplied him last Thursday morning. Defendant had also been working for O'Connell. He did not know the name of the man who got the whiskey. Defendant had been working for the business man at the latter's farm at Downer's Corners. The man he gave $1 to buy liquor, but did not return was James Wallace. Defendant sent Harry Thompson with a note to Wallace telling him to either bring back the booze or the bottles. Anderson was remanded on Friday. Castle Nesbitt, however, seems to have a wonderful curative effect on the memory. Anderson's original fine of $20 was reduced to $10.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Mary Halpin.

The death occurred Saturday morning at the House of Providence, of Mary Halpin, daughter of Michael Halpin, at the age of 18 years. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

Mrs. David Cumberland.

One of the most highly respected citizens of Peterborough passed away at Chemong Park, Friday evening, in the person of Mrs. David Cumberland. Her husband predeceased her, in Quebec some 21 years ago. Mrs. Cumberland moved to Lakefield to have her children educated at the Grove School. About three years ago Mrs. Cumberland came to Peterborough and took residence in Fleming Place. He health became delicate, and last spring she was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, afterwards removing to Chemong Park. She gradually became weaker until death came.

The late Mrs. Cumberland was a devoted member of St. John's church and for a time was teacher of the Young Women's Bible Class.

She is survived by four children: Eldred, who is a surveyor in Northern Ontario; Keith, of the Bank of Toronto staff here; Phyllis, who is attending the Collegiate Institute, and David, the youngest, in the public school.

418th BARGAIN ANNEX EVENT

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22nd, 1913

Women's Moreen Underskirts

THESE SKIRTS ARE OF $1.25, $1.69 AND $1.98 VALUES, the reason that they are priced so low, being that the manufacturer made them a little wider than present style demands. But considering the splendid value one receives for 69c, it is a trifling task to alter the Skirts to prevailing narrow proportions. Made of a very good quality English Moreen, in black, pearl, dark grey, navy, and black and white plaid. Each Skirt has a deep fancy flounce, and every woman who is familiar with the long service that a good Moreen renders, cannot fail to see what a big saving there is in these Skirts on Wednesday. Reduced to...... 69c

LACE CURTAIN ENDS 15c

Mostly 1½ and 1¾ yds. long, full width. Sample ends of Nottingham Lace Curtains. A number of ends perfectly alike. Per end 15c

Tragic Tale of Beautiful Woman Who Married Negro Butler

Mrs. Julia Macfarlane Gerhart, a once noted beauty in St. Louis society, committed suicide there as the result of the disclosure of her secret marriage to a stalwart negro named Kellogg, who was formerly her butler.

She was noted for her devotion to outdoor sports and her feats in the hunting field. After a divorce she went for a time into the seclusion of a hunting lodge in the Ozark Mountains, but subsequently returned to St. Louis.

Kellogg, who had several times been refused admission to her house, insisted upon seeing her. Declaring "This lady is my wife, I have a right to see her," he produced a document which he said was a marriage certificate. Mrs. Gerhart then, according to the testimony of a friend, walked up to the negro and kissed him. she never saw him again, and was later discovered in her bedroom dead from an overdose of poisonous bromide. The dead woman was related to several prominent statesmen.

MAKES UNSIGHTLY HAIRS QUICKLY DISAPPEAR

(Beauty Culture)

A smooth, hairless skin is possible for every woman if she uses a delatone paste to remove the ugly hairs. This simple treatment quickly banishes all hair or fuzz and leaves the skin firm and spotless. The paste, made by mixing water with powdered delatone, is applied to the skin for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. No harm results from this treatment, but care should be used to see that you get delatone in an original package.

AUTONOMY CRY ONLY A CLOAK TO INSINCERITY OF LIBERALS

Minister of Finance Outlines Government's Naval Policy to South Bruce Electors

Teeswater, Oct. 21.—Snow and rain, which continued all day affected the attendance at the meeting here last night in support of Mr. W. D. Cargill, the Conservative standardbearer in South Bruce, but the hall was well filled and the audience refused to allow the weather to dampen their enthusiasm.

The naval question was the chief topic of discussion. Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, outlined the history of question from its introduction into Canadian politics up to the present time. He had to go into the matter thoroughly, as there were many in the audience not ready to agree that the Government's plan was the proper solution. "It was seldom that Mr. White was able to speak for five minutes without interruption, but he weathered the storm easily.

After pointing out that since Trafalgar, Great Britain had maintained a two-power standard, plus ten per cent., until Germany and the other nations which had never played a prominent part in naval affairs began building fleets, until now Britain's fleet is only 50 per cent. stronger than the next most powerful navy, he took up the question point by point. The burden on the taxpayer across the water had become so heavy that it was imperative that the Dominion beyond the seas should come to the Mother Land's assistance.

Autonomy Nonsense.

Australia and New Zealand had for years given money towards support of the Pacific squadron, while Canada had done nothing. Mr. White emphasized strongly the fact that the contributions had taken the form of money and nothing regarding the danger to their autonomy was ever heard on platforms in any part of the Empire till Mr. Borden introduced his resolution for a cash contribution of $35,000,000. In 1902 at the Imperial Conference, in London, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said Canada was contemplating doing something to assist in naval defence, but in 1907 he refused to consider any proposal Mr. White declared. Someone back in the audience asked about Mr. Foster's resolution and the Finance Minister explained that the Minister of Trade and Commerce had asked that the Canadian Government should undertake the speedy construction of ships which should act in close relation with the British navy. This was in March, 1909, and in 1911 when the present Government came into power nothing had been done.

"Why did you change your party?" demanded a irrepressible youngster at the back of the hall.

"If men never changed their parties, a party would never go out of power," retorted the Finance Minister.

Mr. White likened the Niobe and Rainbow to naval taxi cabs, and told briefly the way in which they had been used as pleasure craft by the late Government.

PROVINCIAL PREMIERS TO MEET AT CANADA'S CAPITAL MONDAY

Far-reaching Changes in Provincial Relations to be One Result

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—Far reaching changes in the existing relations between the Federal and Provincial Governments, with necessary amendments to the British North America Act are likely to result from the conference of the Provincial Premiers, which meets here on Monday next.

The most important matter to come up for consideration is the much-discussed question of parliamentary representation. The Maritime Province representatives will likely ask that their representation in the Dominion Parliament be made statutory, that is that they be given a certain number of seats which shall not in any way be affected by the redistribution which followed census.

Ontario and Quebec will likely support the [illegible] this stand, and as Premier Borden is on record as being favorable to a change from the present system, it is expected that some conclusion will be reached which will be incorporated into the principle and details of the Redistribution Bill to be introduced by the Federal Government.

Any change in the present system of Parliamentary representation will necessitate a change in the B. N. A. Act.

Other matters of considerable importance to be taken up by the conference will include the respective jurisdiction of the Federal and Provincial Governments over inland fisheries, the reorganization of Federal subsidies, and the control of the natural resources of the Western Provinces.

MANUEL'S BRIDE QUITS HOSPITAL

Munich, Bavaria, Oct. 21.—Princess Augustine Victoria, of Hohenzollern, wife of former King Manuel of Portugal, left the hospital where she has been under treatment for several weeks and departed with her husband to-day for Sigmaringen.

A bulletin issued by the physicians at the hospital to-day contained an emphatic denial of the various rumors which have been made public as to the nature of the Princess's illness and declared her condition of ill-health to be due exclusively to the presence of intestinal bacteria.

IRISH PRIEST IS OPPOSED TO MOVE TO TEACH FRENCH

EASY CHANGE.

When Tea and Coffee are Doing Harm

A lady writes of the results of a four years' use of the food beverage, Postum:

"Ever since I can remember we had used coffee three times a day. It had a more or less injurious effect upon us all, and I suffered almost death from indigestion and nervousness.

"I knew it was coffee, because when I would leave it off for a few days I would feel better. But it was hard to give coffee up though I realized how harmful it was to me."

Tea is just as harmful because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.

"At last I found a perfectly easy way to make the change. Four years ago I abandoned the coffee habit and began to drink Postum and I also influenced the rest of the family to do the same.

"Even the children are allowed to drink it as freely as they do water. And it has done us all great good. I no longer suffer from indigestion, and my nerves are in admirable shape since I began to use Postum. We never use coffee any more.

"We appreciate Postum as a delightful and healthful beverage, which not only invigorates but supplies the best of nourishment as well." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

DUG FOR GRAFT, SO SULZER HAD TO GO

New York, Oct. 21.—John A. Hennessy, personal investigator for William Sulzer as Governor, made the first of his promised campaign speeches here last night on behalf of the Fusion Municipal ticket, headed by John Purroy Mitchel for Mayor. Addressing a big crowd in Cooper Union [illegible] the impeachment of Sulzer Hennessy declared the principal reason was the former executive's ability in unearthing graft in the highways construction contracts. He told of the indictments that have been found in various counties and promised there would be more before election day, November 4th. He mentioned 4, He mentioned by name several prominent Democrats allied with Tammany, and said that true bills would be brought against them for corruption in good roads building.

Hennessy described Charles F. Murphy as "the real Governor of New York," declaring Sulzer was only "the so-called Governor," whom Murphy sought to influence in the matter of appointments.

BOTH SEXES BENEFIT FROM BIG CAMPAIGN

New York Will Be Asked to Shell Out Four Millions for Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A.

New York, Oct. 21.—Announcement of a campaign to raise $4,000,000 within two weeks for use by the Young Women's Christian Association was made last night at a dinner held jointly by representatives of the two organizations. The fortnight beginning November 10th will be set aside for the work.

It is planned to divide the money if raised, three fourths to the Women's organization and the rest to the men's. Funds will be devoted to the erecting of new buildings, including a new central branch for the women at a cost of $600,000. Several branches of each association will benefit. Charles S. Ward, secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association will be in charge of the campaign.

TWO KILLED TWO INJURED AS MIDLAND PLANT BLOWS UP

Explosion in Boiler-room of Manley Chew's Sawmill Early To-day--Dead Men Were Not Regular Crew

THE DEAD.

Harry Sager, married.
Freddie Fraser, 16.

THE INJURED.

John Burnell, married, now in hospital.

Peter Hepner, 14, helper in yard, now in hospital.

Midland, Oct. 21.—With a roar that could be heard for miles, the boiler at Manley Chew's saw mill exploded this morning, causing the death of Harry Sager, a fireman and Fred Fraser, 16 years old, who was a helper at the boiler house. More than 100 men were working close to the scene of the explosion and two of them were seriously injured by flying fragments from the boiler house, which was utterly demolished.

Origin Called Mystery.

The cause of the tragedy was still a mystery up till noon. It appears that Sager, who was not the regular fireman, was firing this morning and young Fraser was with him in the boiler house. Sager was a spare man, but is said to have understood the working of the boiler.

Explosion Caused Havoc.

The wreck is complete. Nothing whatever is left of the boiler house and the explosion did some damage to adjoining buildings. One workman named Hepner was seriously hurt and a companion was also badly injured. They are in the hospital and both are expected to recover. Little is known of Sager. He was a married man. The Fraser boy was well known in the town.

The property loss has not yet been estimated, but it was probably all covered by insurance.

BRITISH VESSELS THROUGH CANAL

London, Oct. 21.—Great Britain today accepted the invitation from the United StatesGovernment to send representatives vessels of the British navy to the gathering of the international fleet in Hamilton Roads early in 1915 to celebrate the completion of the Panama Canal by making a voyage to the Pacific through the new waterway.

The acceptance by the British Foreign office has been forwarded to the Secretary of the United States Navy at Washington.

WOMEN "SPELLBINDERS" WILL START 24-HOUR TALKING-BEE

Nobody Doubts That They Can Do it and Oratory Will be Kept Up by Fourteen of Them--Burden of Their Message Has to Do With Votes

New York, Oct. 21.—Women will talk for 24 hours continuously in a public square of Brooklyn Borough as part of a big suffrage campaign being waged in that section this week.

The record-breaking speech-making effort will take place under the auspices of the Women's Political Union which will station "spellbinders" at the junction of Flatbush and Atlantic avenues, near the subway terminal and Long Island Railroad station, through which section great crowds flock to and from their work. The plan is to start the oratory at 7 o'clock Friday evening and to continue it by relays until 7 o'clock on Saturday night. Fourteen women have been enrolled as spellbinders.

Charles Tellier, inventor of the cold-storage system for the preservation of foodstuffs, died in Paris.

The Alberta Legislature will consider a bill to increase fees for brewery and hotel licenses, and to tax clubs for the first time.

HOW SOCIETY WOMAN WARDS OFF WRINKLES

"Wrinkles are not strangers to me, but when I acquire such disfigurements I know how to lose them in a hurry." A well-known society matron confided this to me. I had wondered how she, with her strenuous social duties and late hours, could so completely ward off the usual marks of care and dissipation.

"I don't wear wrinkles in public, nor those horrid rings beneath the eyes," she continued, "since I've learned what plain, ordinary saxolite will do. When any of those hateful marks appear, I send to the drug store for an ounce of powdered saxolite and a half pint witch hazel. I mix the two, bathe my face in the solution and—that's the whole secret. I've never tried anything that works so miraculously. My chin is inclined to double; this trouble, too, I keep in check in the same way."—Emily Dean in Town Talk.

MISSIONS REDUCED CRIME IN INDIA

New Method of Social Reform Prove Beneficial—Put to Work on Farm Land.

Boston, Mas. Oct. 21.—crime has been reduced 75 p. c. in one district of India as a result of an experiment undertaken by missionaries at the request of the colonial Government, according to word just received at the headquarters of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society. The Government turned over to one of the missions about 200 notorious criminals in an effort to find out whether anything could be done toward their reform.

The mission treated the criminals by a method which was a combination of a labor colony and a new type of reform school. The adults were put to work on farm lands under careful supervision. The children were taken into the regular mission boarding school and permitted to associate with normal children. The report to the society indicates that the experiment was remarkably successful.

A LAD CONFESSES MAD ATTEMPT TO KILL OWN MOTHER

Montreal, Oct. 21.—Without any sign of emotion, a fifteen-year-old French Canadian lad, Ernest Cote confessed in police court to-day that he had attempted to murder his mother by battering her head with a hammer.

The boy also confessed to stealing nine dollars from under the matress on which his mother lay.

The boy afraid after committing the theft, of the punishment that might be inflicted on him by his parents, secure a carpenters hammer, and stealing back into his mothers bedroom, struck her with a fearful force inflicting injuries from which she may not recover.

He then gave the anlarm to the neighbors and disappeared, being arrested yesterday hiding in the rear of a relatives home.

This is only the second time in the history of the Montreal Juvenile Court that a prisoner had to be sent to a higher court owing to the serious nature of the charges against him. Cote is charged with attempted murder, and was sent down for trial.

C. P. R. WILL NOT ERECT NEW BRIDGE OVER THE OTONABEE

City's Demands For Swing at West Side Considered Too Enormous--Will Retain Present Bridge and not Run Heaviest Locomotives over it

The City Father's met last night in special session, Mayor Bradburn presiding. There were also present Aldermen Duffus, Johnston, Gordon, Gillespie, Green and Duncan.

Several city plumbers petitioned for the appointment of the present assistant plumbing inspector Mr. Peter Thompson, as plumbing inspector.—Referred to the Property Committee.

No New C.P.R. Bridge.

G. L. Wanklyn, general executive assistant of the C.P.R., wrote as follows:

"Dear Mr. Mayor, I am in receipt of your letter of the 14th inst., re-proposed span in the railway bridge over the Otonabee river. I regret that you were unable to concur in my suggestion for a swing providing a clear waterway of at least 33 feet on either side of the pivot span, which would be placed in the middle span in the existing bridge.

"After submitting your letter to our Vice-President, I am directed to inform you that, under present circumstances, the company has decided to withdraw its application to construct the fixed bridge to accommodate its heaviest locomotives, and will allow the existing bridge to remain. This will, of course, prevent our using the heaviest type of locomotive over this part of the railway; but this is preferable to incurring the enormous expense of providing an entirely new bridge with swing span."

In regard to the above, his worship had replied to the C.P.R., that a 33 foot swing in the centre of the bridge would be useless for navigation by reason of the swiftness of the current and the narrow width of the opening thus provided. The swing his worship contends, should be on the west side of the bridge. His worship will again write the C.P.R. on this question.

Bell Co. to Extend Their Underground Work.

"W. H. Bradburn, Esq.,
"Mayor,
"City of Peterborough,

"Dear Sir,—Referring to your letter of Sept. 8th, to Mr. G. O. Cameron, our manager at Peterborough, regarding underground work on certain streets in Peterborough, the General Plant Superintendent advises that since I referred this matter to him he has received definite information that the Paving contractor will not proceed with the paving in sections in which we should instal underground conduit this fall and therefore the work can be held over until the spring.

"We are prepared to do this work, but in return would require an agreement with the city granting us rights of way in alleys for distribution purposes, and if such an agreement would be satisfactory we will submit a draft.

"You are aware, I presume, that our underground already extends on George street from Wolfe to Brock, on Hunter from Water to Aylmer, and on Charlotte from Stewart to Aylmer. If we can arrange for an agreement as above indicated, we will complete the balance of the work required, viz.: the extension of our George street underground from Brock to McDonnel streets, and the extension of two branches on Charlotte street, to enable us to effect distribution from the rear, ahead of the paving. As our poles are not on the street, but on the sidewalk, side of the curbstone, such of them as are no required for distribution purposes can be removed as soon as the underground cables are installed. would be glad to hear from you."

This went to the Board of Works.

Must Remove Explosives.

Ald. Duncan submitted the following, which was adopted as read:

To the City Council of the City of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. We had the hardware dealers notified to remove any material they had in the City's Building, known as the Powder Magazine, before the end of last week.

2. We recommend that the request of F. Kiff for permission to have a boat house on an island in the river be granted on condition that Mr. Kiff signs an agreement similar to the one signed by boat house owners and pays $1.00 a year.

3. We left the matter of procuring blankets for the ambulance with the Chairman of this committee.

Will Expropriate.

Ald. Johnston fathered a by-law to expropriate the property of the Peterborough Light and Power Co. Limited, for Hydro-Electric purposes. This measure passed its three readings.

The Peter Hamilton Siding.

Ald. Duncan wanted a resolution passed, to notify the Railway Board not to act in regard to the Peter Hamilton siding until such time as Council votes on a by-law, he will father at next meeting, to repeal the by-law passed recently, granting the company the privilege of a railway siding up Water street.

Ald. Duncan moved to this effect, seconded by Ald. Johnston, but the motion was lost.

HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS IS LIBERAL PLAN IN SOUTH BRUCE

Mr. W. D. Cargill Decleres Opposition Workers Are Raising Race Cry Among German Voters Relative to Borden Navy Policy

Ripley, Ont., Oct. 21.—That the Liberals are making desperate efforts to misrepresent the Borden naval policy in South Bruce, was shown by Mr. W. D. Cargill at last night's meeting at Teeswater and vouchsafed for by many conservative workers throughout the constituency.

The workers who assisted Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King's unsuccessful contest in North Waterloo have been brought to the constituency and are using the plea that proved futile there, namely that the Germans should vote against the Navy proposals because they would be assisting Great Britain to defeat Germany if they supported the Conservatives.

This plan is being made chiefly to the Germans, who understand little English and the canvass is of the house to house kind.

To effect this the Hon. Geo. Clare and Mr. W. G. Weichel from Waterloo are devoting their time to laying facts before the electorate, and it is of Opposition to mislead voters on believed will succeed in foiling efforts this the feature subject matter of the campaign.

Both parties are working at top speed and using their heaviest artillery.

Two Cabinet Ministers, Hon. W. T. White and Hon. Martin Burrell, are campaigning for Mr. Cargill and the Liberals will wind up their campaign by introducing Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Geo. P. Graham into the fight next week. Mr. Mackenzie King is already in the field.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Westerly winds; fair with sharp frosts.

The steamer Norfolk, of Detroit, was driven on the rocks of False Presque Isle early yesterday morning during a heavy gale. Her crew of thirteen men and one woman were all rescued by life-savers.

KNEW DAN O'CONNELL

John Reilly Belonged to a Family of Great Longevity

The death has taken place of Mr. John Reilly, Ireland, at the age of 101. The deceased, who was one of the best known devotees of cock-fighting in the north of Ireland, was personally acquainted with Daniel O'Connell, whom he met at the great Tara meeting. He was one of a family of sixteen. A few years ago the eldest brother died in America at the age of 112 and was accorded a public funeral.

SUGAR FROM SAWDUST

Pit Ponies Fed on Product Thrived Under the Treatment

That it is possible to produce a valuable commercial sugar from sawdust was the declaration of a well-known scientific authority at London. He declared that though wood in its natural state contained no sugar, still it was possible, by a chemical process, to produce it from sawdust. He had succeeded in closing sawdust in retorts with a weak solution of sulphuric acid. A pressure being applied, twenty-five per cent. of sugar was produced. The production was a valuable feeding for horses, cattle, and sheep, and in a month's experiment with the food given to the Durham colliery ponies and horses, it had been found to keep the animals in a fine hardy condition.

THE PLAYERS' SIDE

President Fultz Deals With the Question of Farming Players

Some of the reasons why baseball players in the big leagues want to change the system under which they are "farmed" out to minor league clubs at salaries less than those called for in their original contracts, were given in a letter written by David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, to August Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission.

The letter was in reply to one written by Mr. Herrmann in answer to the first communication on the subject.

Mr. Fultz said in part:—

"You say after the player is transferred it is a question of negotiation between him and his new owner. How can it be a question of negotiation when the player is compelled by your regulations to sign with one particular team, or quit his profession? There can be no negotiation when one party is absolutely at the mercy of the other; it then becomes a question of duress. When the situation is reversed and the major league recruit plays far better ball than he is expected to, he can't 'welch' on his agreement and refuse to play unless he gets more money. Why, then, should the owner have the right to withdraw from his contract when he finds his bargain is not quite as good as he expected?"

We cannot live without wood. Everything from the houses we live in to the books we read is made of the product of the forest.

ARE WE GROWING MAD?

Some Reason For "Yes" to Queen Victoria's Question

"I think," Queen Victoria remarked one day towards the end of her reign, "that people are getting more mad."

And this belief certainly is being corroborated both by medical evidence and statistics. In 1912, no fewer than 135,661 people, certified as insane, were under care in England and Wales; and, although this number exceeds that recorded in the previous year by 2,504, the increase shown is only very slightly above that recorded annually during the ten preceding years.

These figures really are alarming, and should give the would-be social reformer food for serious thought. In 1859, the ratio of insane people to population per 10,000 was 18.67 per cent. By 1912, the ratio increased to 37.12 per cent.; and, according to Dr. Forbes Winslow, if this rate of increase be maintained, three hundred years hence there will be more mad people than sane.

A MISER'S DEATH

Had Plenty of Money Yet Could Not Afford Butter

An old man named George Lovett was found dead in an old tumble-down cabin in the Red Bog, Belturbet. In his clothes the police found a five-pound note, two one-pound notes, ten shillings in silver, and twopence, while in a small box they discovered a deposit receipt for $500. The old man appeared to live in great poverty, grudging himself the comfort of a halfpenny candle. A few days previous to his death he asked a neighbor to bring him a pound of treacle for his bread, as he could not afford, he said, to buy butter. He was passed for the old age pension, to receive his book on the day he died.

Biggest Diamond Mine

Twenty-five miles east of Pretoria is what is known as the Premier diamond mine, the biggest in the world, where 15,000 Kaffirs may be seen any day digging, drilling and loading trucks of "blue" earth, from which are extracted diamonds to the value of something like $10,000,000 per annum.

The total value of diamonds exported from South Africa in a year is about $40,000,000, and of this quantity about a quarter are discovered in the Premier mine, the other two chief mines being the De Beers and Jagersfontein.

The Premier mine was discovered by Sir Thomas Cullinan, after whom the great Cullinan diamond of 3,025 carats was named. This diamond was presented to King George by the Transvaal Government, and was cut into 11 flawless stones, the largest of which is in the imperial crown.

NEW C. P. R. LINERS

Next season will see the Atlantic service of the C.P.R. augmented by the addition of two new steamers, which will make St. John their winter port to call. These two vessels will be the one class cabin type, which are becoming so popular. Barclay Curle & Company, of Glasgow, secured the contract for the building of the ships some months ago, and the construction is well under way. They are being specially constructed for the Atlantic service and will contain every possible convenience for the comfort of passengers. Their length will be 520 feet, greatest breadth 64 feet, while the breath of the passenger deck will be 41 feet. Each vessel will have a capacity for 520 second-class passengers and 1,200 third-class, while the dead weight capacity will be 7,950 tons, with an approximate cargo capacity for 6,000 tons. The famous [illegible] stern, which is the feature of the new Empress recently placed on the Pacific coast, is being introduced and the new ships will also have six complete steel decks. In order to ensure safety the hulls are to be sub-divided by watertight doors and bulkheads, so as to be capable of floating when three compartments are open. These water-tight bulkheads and doors will be automatically controlled from the bridge. The speed of each vessel will be 15 knots, with a draught of 27.5. As for, the interior of the vessels, each second-class state room will be fitted with a wardrobe and chest of drawers, folding lavatory with mirror, and other conveniencienccs. The public rooms will be dining saloon, smoking room, lounge and drawing room. The refrigerating plant will be capable of making 300 lbs. of ice per eight hours. The vessels will be heated and ventilated on the thermo tank system changing the air eight times each hour. There will also be a printing plant on board each vessel.

Your Bad Taste In the Morning Is Due to Catarrh

Destroy This Poisonous Disease Before Your Health is Seriously Injured.

Perhaps you haven't thought of calling these unpleasant symptoms that affected your nose and throat by any particular name—but it's Catarrh just the same.

When the attack is severe, your eyes are watery and look weak. Your breath is offensive, due to inflammation in the nose and throat.

At last science has discovered a real remedy, a new scientific marvel which acts like no other Catarrh remedy on earth. "Catarrhozone" operates on a new plan; it is a direct remedy, goes instantly to the source of the trouble. Its rich, fragrant essences and healing balsams are breathed in vapor form through a special inhaler and give instant relief.

Catarrhozone doesn't stop at the relief stage—it goes further—keeps on going till a cure is effected. Bad cases are cured, as you can judge from the following letter:—"Every morning for six months last winter I awoke with a bad taste, an awful breath and stuffed up feeling in my nostrils," writes Rob E. Rutland, of Regina. "It was simply an awful case of chronic Catarrh. Relief first came from Catarrhozone. I used that inhaler twenty times a day and took it to bed with me at night. I am cured, and by the use of Catarrhozone stay well. Now I am free from irritable throat trouble, coughs, colds, headache, or catarrh."

No medicine on earth is so certain to cure every form of Catarrh or throat trouble as "Catarrhozone." Get the large $1.00 size, lasts two months and is guaranteed; medium size, 50c.; sample size 25c. all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

EVERYWHERE THE AUTO

A foreign correspondent tells of the delight which the Grand Lama of Tibet takes in his auto. That mysterious potentate, once the very embodiment of exclusiveness and conservatism, can hardly leave his new machine long enough to go to the palace for his meals. Not an important bit of news, perhaps, in comparison with the Chauteauguay election or the Thaw case or the coming of Mrs. Pankhurst, but significant of the progress of the all-conquering auto around the earth! It is supplanting the elephant of the Indian ra-ah and the coolie-carried chair of the Chinese mandarin. The Turkish pasha, the Australian wool grower and the Western grain grower alike use it daily in their business. As it becomes the standard vehicle of the world, it makes for a certain democracy and a unification of social customs, and everywhere and always it makes for better highways.

The automobile business has increased so rapidly that it is hard to keep up with the figures. Last year the exports of American automobiles and their parts amounted to $40,000,000. A decade ago the figure was less than $1,000,000. Almost a million cars are registered in the United States at this time. A quarter of a million new cars were made in that country last year. There are 75,000 skilled workmen engaged in the business of making them.

KARL HAGENBECK WILD ANIMAL KING

The Career of the Great Animal Trainer, a Man Born into His Work

Karl Hagenbeck when a boy was told by his father that he must choose whether he would become a fishmonger or a dealer in wild animals. Karl said that he would take the wild animals, though his father advised him to stick to the fish. This was the beginning of a remarkable career, for before he died Hagenbeck was recognized as the greatest dealer in wild animals that the world had ever seen. He was the middleman. On one side of him stood the hunters who, inspired by a love of adventure, penetrated the uttermost corners of the earth and at the risk of their lives captured alive elephants and lions, snakes and crocodiles. At the other side were the great circuses and the zoological gardens. The captured animals were bought by Hagenbeck and sent to his clearing-house in Hamburg. Thence they were despatched as orders arrived, to England and the United States, and even to the old Toronto Zoo, with which the name of Harry Piper is so intimately associated.

A Lover of Wild Animals

There are two reasons for the phenomenal success of Hagenbeck. The first is that he was the first man in the field. Before his time there had been no organized, business-like effort to scour the wilds for animals and resell them at a profit. The second reason is that he had a real love for the wild beasts, just as a dog fancier has for his pets. This affection for the beasts caused him to take the utmost care of them, and the result was that the percentage of losses in shipments of thousands of miles was remarkably small. His love for the beasts also made him a keen observer of their habits, and this observation led on many occasins to him devising some new trick for them, and, although he rarely appeared in public as a trainer, his knowledge was passed on to others the capacities of the animals were explored, and the business of training received a great impetus which reacted to Hagenbeck in the form of larger orders.

Patience and Kindness

That he was a remarkable judge not only of animals, but of men, is illustrated in the career of Mehrmann, his brother-in-law. Mehrmann was a little grocer who had failed a couple of times in business, and who seemed destined to be a drag on the family. His incapacity was only equaled by his timidity, and when the masterful Karl announced that he intended to make the bankrupt a trainer of wild beasts everybody who knew Mehrmann supposed that Hagenbeck was choosing a speedy way of getting rid of him. The victim himself was paralyzed with fright, but he was driven into a cage where there was a number of young lions. To his astonishment the beasts did not instantly devour him, and presently he conquered his terror and approached the animals, which manifested neither anger nor fear. This was the beginning of the career of one of the most successful trainers of animals in history. Hagenbeck had detected in his shiftless brother-in-law qualities of patience and kindness that showed him to be a born trainer of beasts once his terror of them could be controlled. Like other middlemen, Hagenbeck owed much of his success to his ability to get in touch with the best producers. Hagenbeck established at Stellingen, a suburb of Hamburg, the most remarkable park ever seen. It was stocked, at the time of an inventory a few years ago, with 2,000 wild beasts, and was laid out in an unusual manner, the idea being to reproduce as far as possible the natural habitat of the prisoners. In a jungle, for instance, some fifty lions roamed, while hippopotami swam in a river, and rhinoceros whisked away the flies in a swamp. To a visitor it appeared as though these animals were at large, and that the tigers were about to spring upon the deer, but the park was so arranged and guarded by means of hidden iron fences and concrete ravines that the animals could do each other no harm, and were as much under the control of their keepers as though they had been in iron cages. To this park came visitors from all parts of the world.

New £1,000,000 Dock

H.M. battle-cruiser Princess Royal entered the new dock at Portsmouth Dockyard for testing purposes, this being the first vessel which it had taken. The dock cost about $5,000,000. It is 850 feet long, 110 feet wide and has a depth at the entrance of 33½ feet.

Foxes Carry off Lambs

Many Nottinghamshire farmers complain about foxes making raids on hen roosts and attacking young lambs, and even carrying off the latter. It is contended that huntsmen have left a record number of foxes in the coverts, and that, owing to game and rabbits being scarce, the animals visited farmyards more frequently than usual.

Rector Shot

The Rev. P. Charles Duncan, Rector of Carndonagh, Donegal, was standing at the window of the rectory when he was accidentally shot by his son, aged twelve, who was examining a rook rifle outside the window. The bullet entered at the right side, lodging in the abdomen. An operation was performed and the bullet extracted.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

"A STOMACHER"

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, — The following editorial is from last week's Catholic Register. The way that paper is attacking the Protestants is a shame, and a scandal. There is no wonder that there is hatred and trouble in Ulster.

"Observer"

We clip this letter from the Presbyterian of the 2nd inst., and print it as an indication of the indignation of honest Presbyterians all over the country who are shocked and mortified by the action of their proselytizing mission societies who would use any means to steal souls from Rome. The letter I see opposite that no further word of comment is needed. It will give Dr. McLaren, whoever he be, a cold feeling down the back. The Presbyterian answered its correspondent nary a word:

MISSION TO THE RUTHENIANS.

"To the Editor of the Presbyterian:

"Will you please throw some light on the Presbyterian Ruthenian Mission. As I understand it we have a number of Ruthenian priests in different parts of Canaha ministering to their people, the services which are Ruthenian, being practically Roman Catholic, Mass, candles and banners being used. We are informed that this is the only way in which these people can be reached and educated up to Presbyterian. This seems, however, a Jesuitical way of doing things. Why must this be? We have sent missionaries to China, India, etc., who preached the Gospel, with what results we know. The natives were never, I am sure, 'reached and educated up to Presbyterianism' by indulging them in their heathen practices. If these Ruthenian priests are giving their people what are practically Roman Catholic services, why is the Presbyterian Church sustaining them?

"A. E. ROBERTSON.

"Chatham, N.B."

Aye, there's the rub? And the Presbyterian dare not answer its honest querist.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by this famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

BREATHE FOR BEAUTY

Nine persons out of every ten live and die without ever using their full lung capacity. Long, deep breaths through the nose is the correct method. This not only warms the air before it enters the lungs, but the tiny hairs in the nostrils keep out impurities. This saves much throat trouble. Deep breathing is a natural enemy to consumption. The chest should lift with each breath. The expansion means growth and a better figure. Deep breathing is just a habit, to be acquired after deliberate and sustained practice until it becomes natural. The results are better health, purer blood, less liability to germ attacks, a better color in the face, and brighter eyes.

Beauty doctors, with expensive fees, always stipulate for deep nasal breathing. It is a beauty bringer.

Successful athletes, men or women, are all deep breathers. That vulgar "second wind" is only the unused portion of the lungs being, under stress, brought into use.

Sugar Cookies

1 cup butter; 2 cups sugar; 1 cup sour milk; 1 even teaspoon soda; pinch salt; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon vanilla; flour to handle. Cream, sugar and butter; add eggs without being beaten, then milk into which has been put the soda, salt, flavor, and last the flour.

Roll as soft as can be handled. Bake quickly.

Loosening Dirt on Hands

To clean soot-soiled hands do not go to work roughly with brush and soda water, but loosen the dirt by rubbing the hands well with sweet oil, or even lard or dripping. Then wipe off the grease as much as possible with a piece of soft paper or old rag, and wash the hands with warm water and soap.

HEALTH HINTS

Teach your child to stand well. In all probability he will then breathe well. His lungs will have room to grow. The organs of his body will be able to retain their natural position. Posture is a decided aid in digestion.

Cockroaches have a special liking for dark, dirty, damp corners in closets, pantries or bathrooms. For this reason extra care should be taken to ferret out the dirt or dust in all corners of these parts of a house. It is far easier and pleasanter to keep the roach out than to drive it out!

What do you suppose makes so many persons drowsy in church? Lack of interest? Not necessarily. It may be lack of pure air in the building. Why not make it your business to see if the latter is not true? If it is, ask some one in authority to alter the condition.

A cup of hot milk, sipped slowly just before retiring, often induces sleep. A brisk walk, half an hour or so before retiring, is another sleep-producer. A moderately comfortable bed, plenty of air and light, but sufficiently warm bedding, are other first aids to proper sleep.

Short breath, rapid pulse, dizziness from exercise and cold feet are not infrequent signs of heart disease. With such symptoms it is wisest to consult a reputable physician, ask for a diagnosis and then follow his directions.

Hydrogen peroxide in an open wound is an excellent cleansing agent. As a germ-killer, it is of slight value.

MME. NAZIMOVA

Nazimova, the noted Russian actress says that in acquiring command of the English language she derived great assistance from tracing new and unfamiliar words back to their Greek or Latin roots. This habit resulted in some curious mistakes before she became proficient in our language. For some time she thought "unique" meant "one horse," as she supposed the derivation was "unus"—one, "equus"—horse.

SHATTERED ROMANCE

Lady's Claim For Sticking Stamps on a Flower Pot

A case which came before the Tower Bridge Police Court revealed a shattered romance. Miss Florence Maje Gardiner was summoned by Norman Roehl for detaining "a flower-pot and foreign stamps sufficient to cover them, a model weather-house, a hair brush and comb, a bangle, a cycle box, a butter dish, sufficient postcards (in sets) to fill an album, and a cigarette album and cards."

Roehl explained that he left these trifles in Miss Gardiner's keeping at a time when he was engaged to be married to her, but when the engagement was broken off they were not returned.

"How long were you engaged?" Roehl was asked, and answered, promptly, "One year, four months, and twenty days."

It appeared that Miss Gardiner had offered to return the goods in dispute if he would pay her five shillings for her labor in sticking the stamps on the flower-pot and varnishing them. It was also claimed that Miss Gardiner had not only designed the weather-house, but also painted it.

The magistrate made an order that the flower-pot and the model weather-house should be given up on payment of $1.25.

KAISER'S WAR CHEST CAREFULLY GUARDED

Many Millions of Dollars Locked up in Tower—Carefully Counted Yearly

We hear much of the perfection of the German military organization, especially of its preparedness for war but little of what is perhaps its most extraordinary feature—namely, the Imperial War Funds. The Kaiser's war chest is kept in the Julius Tower at Spandau. This fund was reserved from the French indemnity payment, and has so been increased that it now amounts to something like one hundred and twenty millions of dollars.

The Kaiser's war fund is reported to be kept in iron chests inscribed with the names and addresses of commanders of army corps and admirals of fleets. These packages would be immediately despatched to the commanders named in the event of war. Special sums have been set aside for commanders on the frontier in the vicinity of the outbreak of hostilities. There are also set aside special sums to be used for special purposes, such as the secret service. It is said that for the most part this treasure consists of ten and twenty mark pieces, but that there are, however, quantities of coins of all the great powers, principally France, Great Britain and Russia.

At stated times during the year all this treasure is opened, weighed and counted by army officers specially detailed by the emperor from all parts of Germany. It is a feature of the count that prior thereto these officers must give their word of honor that they do not know one another. Furthermore, although the war funds are in charge of a special officer at the tower, he is not always advised of the proceedings beforehand. In such event, it is only when the Kaiser's special deputies have finished their task that this officer is called to check up the accounts.

The defence of the tower is entrusted to the Fourth Grenadier Regiment and a battery of the Third Grenadiers. There is also stationed within the citadel the Third Train Battalion, which is ever ready to convey the war treasure to the various destinations assigned it.

At irregular hours of the night the interior of the tower is carefully searched for thieves. During this search the sentinels hold their arms ready to shoot any suspected person. At the very bottom of the tower, on the water level, there is a guard room, the inmates of which are detailed to prevent the possibility of robbers gaining entrance to the secret crypts by means of tunnels. Then there is a second guard room behind the only entrance door. The purpose of this is to defend the entrance and staircase leading to the vaults.

Then, too, before each of the vaults sentinels are posted and other sentinels are constantly passing up and down the staircase. There is a third guard room under the roof, with lookouts in all directions.

ELIXIR OF YOUTH

German Doctor Claims That Radium is a Cure for Old Age

The claim that radium can restore the hardened arteries of middle-aged people to a healthy condition, and so prolong life, was made by Dr. Saubermann, of Berlin, who lectured in London before the Rontgen Society. If this theory is correct, it will be possible for a few pounds to buy a radium apparatus which will manufacture the elixir of youthfulness. This apparatus consists of an earthenware receptacle, containing a minute amount of radium, which is placed at the bottom of a glass bottle. The bottle is filled with water, and in the course of time the water becomes charged with radium emanations. The radium remains "active" for hundreds of years, so that one has only to renew the water in order to get any number of doses.

Dr. Saubermann has discovered a form of gout which he calls "English gout," and which is due to the consumption of strong tea. Weak tea, as consumed on the Continent, does not produce this kind of gout, which is due to oxalic acid, and not uric acid, as in ordinary gout.

Effect of Rhubarb Wine

"This rhubarb wine is accountable for a lot of drunkenness," said Mr Summers, the magistrates' clerk, at Newport in the case of Wm. Williams who, having had a walk round the country on Sunday, had taken rhubarb wine. The constable said the defendant was "conscious drunk." In view of three years' good character the defendant was ordered to pay costs only.

Girl's Wonderful Escape

How a baby girl had a wonderful escape from death on the line is related in a message from Dumfries. Caught by a pilot engine on the Caledonian line near Beattock, the two-year-old daughter of a platelayer was carried for sixty yards on the front of the engine. Her shoes and stockings were torn off, but her only injury was a broken cheek bone.

Mrs. E. N. Bridges, widow of Colonel Bridges, has been appointed for the second year churchwarden at Kilmington, Devon, where her husband also was churchwarden.

Blowing Open a Safe

On the charge of attempting to blow open a safe at the Theatre Royal, a young man named Alfred Smith was at Liverpool committed for trial. His lips and chin were covered with plaster, and it was alleged he had used gunpowder for blowing open the safe, and had been injured by the explosion. He was alleged to have said: "I had the light at the end of a stick and stood near the door, but it went off too quickly. The two other fellows cleared to the top of the building; they were frightened."

LOVE AND FORTUNE

Young Bank Clerk Saved Employer's Money and Wins Daughter for Bride.

By GEORGE ELMER COBB.

When John White, the banker of Scottboro, announced that he had dispensed with the services of Ned Walters, people were a good deal surprised. The young man was a general favorite in the town. He had been industrious in his province of cashier and had helped upbuild the bank. Mr. White had persuaded him to give up a promising position to come to Scottsboro, and Ned had every reason to believe that he had been awarded a permanent position. Suddenly, at a day's notice, he had been asked to turn over his books to a new cashier.

"Relative of mine, this new official," the bank president rather lamely explained. "Walters was all right—fine young fellow, and all that—but I had to make a place for my dead sister's boy. Sorry, but it couldn't be avoided."

"Rubbish!" commented Mrs. Bunsby, head gossip of the place. "Mr. Walters presumed to lift his eyes to Eloise White. That was enough for the old man, who wouldn't look at a son-in-law with less than a million."

Mrs. Bunsby had read the situation aright, and no one knew it better than the sadly disconsolate Ned himself. Of course he looked around for a new position. Meantime, awaiting a decision on some of his applications, he had a dull time of it in Scottboro. Mr. White had put his foot down firmly, forbade him the house, and Eloise was a dutiful daughter. She had met her lover just once since her father had dismissed him from his service.

"It is the last time, Ned," she said, like the brave, sensible little woman she was. "Until I am of age I shall feel that I belong to papa. You have told me that you love me. Now I am going to tell you that I return that love, and always shall. You must go away and make a name and position, and when I am eighteen we will meet again."

"A whole year to give her father a chance to marry her off!" reflected Ned dismally after that.

But there seemed to be no use battling the inevitable. He wrote a final letter to Eloise. It breathed undying fidelity, and as well restored faith in his ability to win for himself a place among men for her dear sake. The bank in another city where he first had been employed offered him a subordinate position. This was humiliating, but it was a start. Ned decided to accept the position.

Two Stealthy Figures Were Entering the Rear Door.

It was his last night in Scottboro. With the morning he planned to go to his new place of employment. He was under promise not to see nor write to Eloise. It was nearly midnight, and he felt that he could not sleep, and left his room bent on a restless stroll. As a magnet, the home which held his one cherished treasure attracted him. He passed its palatial front. All was dark, and the household apparently wrapt in slumber.

Mournfully Ned passed the house. Then he started down a narrow lane. This was a short cut to the bank, which fronted on the next street. As he reached the point where it merged into an alley that ran directly behind the bank, Ned was surprised to notice, standing in the vacant space at the rear of the institution, a wagon.

In an instant Ned glided down the alley. Then curiosity and wonder gave way to rapid excitement. The wagon was a covered box vehicle, with hinged doors closing tightly at its back. These were open. Two stealthy figures were just entering the rear door of the bank. A metallic glint inside of the vehicle caused Ned to gaze more closely. Deeply stirred at an extraordinary discovery, he gasped out:

"The small safe from the bank vault!"

Then robbery, burglary, was afoot! Whoever had entered the institution must have penetrated to its most secret vault, to thus secure the little safe which was in fact John White's real treasure house.

The moment lost in deciding what was best to do, run and sound an alarm or remain and face the robbers, was a precious one. A sound at the rear of the bank attracted Ned's attention. Two men were coming thence, poking their pockets full of gold from bags of coin they carried.

Acting on a quick impulse, Ned gave a spring and landed in the wagon. The next instant he regretted it. The men slammed shut the two rear doors of the vehicle.

"Let's hurry," he heard a gruff voice speak. "We've got about all there is worth taking—whoa!"

Something had startled the horse. So suddenly did the animal start up that Ned was flung flat, striking the edge of the steel safe. He realized that the horse had run away. He steadied himself as he comprehended that the animal was dashing down the long incline sweeping to the river. The wagon swung about like the tail of a kite. It struck one of the bridge pillars, the horse tore loose, and the wagon crashed through the railing and went over into the river.

Ned's head was bleeding from a severe wound. He felt the swift current swirling the wrecked vehicle about. He tore at the shattered side of the box, squeezed through the aperture, the water all but engulfing him, and reached the shore, how, he never knew.

Ned must have been in a kind of delirium after that. When he was again restored to reason it was two days later. He lay on a couch in a strange room. A man, a farmer, sat by his side.

"Keep still, stranger," he urged. "You are all right, but the doctor says you must rest. You kept calling for some one so much," added the man, "that when my wife found a photograph in your pocket with a name under it, Miss Nellie White, she went to town and saw the young lady. She's here now, in the next room."

"Who is?" almost shouted Ned, springing up on his couch.

"Easy, friend, easy," soothed the farmer. "She's a grand girl, let me tell you. When she learned you was hurt, she gave up home, father, everything to come and nurse you. I know the old miser—man of means, and mean, too. He's down grade now, though—bank robbed, everything gone. Now, then, say, I'm curious to know how you ever got into this fix."

Ned told. The farmer evinced the greatest excitement as his patient spoke of the wagon box that went into the river.

"Why," he exclaimed, "I noticed the battered wreck of just such a contraption floated into the cut-off on my land. Thought I'd fish it out for kindling wood some time."

"If it is the one I was in," declared Ned excitedly, "it holds the safe stolen from the bank."

It did, as they soon ascertained. Old John White had felt badly at losing his daughter; he had felt worse at losing his fortune. Now, with a chance to get both back, he graciously accepted Ned as a son-in-law.

GET ALONG WITHOUT WATER

Rabbits and Other Animals on the Southwestern Desert Have Never Been Known to Drink.

A curious fact in connection with animal life on the deserts of the southwest is that rabbits, quail, squirrels, deer, antelope, the mountain sheep, and any number of reptiles and insects, live at great distances from visible water. The jack rabbit is specially notable in this respect; and, moreover, flourishes in regions without a particle of green food in sight for miles and miles.

Westerners assert that the jack rabbit may be found, happy and fat, spending the day under a scrap of bush that makes little more shade than a fishnet. His skin is as porous as a piece of bacon, and the heat is sufficient to evaporate every drop of blood in his body; yet he seems to get on very nicely.

Californians aver that no one has ever seen a jack rabbit drink. Those who have camped for days on the deserts in vicinities where the only water for miles round was to be found, and with rabbits everywhere, declare that never does one of the little fellows come to the springs to drink. Men have even gone so far as to examine the margins of waterholes in those districts, with never a track of the rabbit disclosed beyond where the grass grew.

One man tells of a raid of rabbits one summer that was beyond all conception by an easterner. The animals were so bold that they would come in before sundown. The irrigation ditches maintained by this man contained the only water to be found for leagues. He was irrigating sixty acres alone, and was up at daylight and on the ground till dark, when rabbits by the dozen were trying to get at the alfalfa; but, during the three months of extreme heat that then prevailed, when rabbits poured in on him from the dry hills, he declares that never was one of them seen to touch the water.—The Sunday Magazine.

Photographic Power of Wood.

Experiments recently made have shown that a section of a tree trunk or of a branch, cut across the grain, possesses the power to impress upon a photographic plate in the dark a distinct image of itself, plainly showing the rings of growth. There is a great difference in the intensity of this power among different kinds of wood. The conifers (pines and firs) possess it in high degree. The wood is placed either in contact with the plate or at a short distance from it, and the exposure varies from half an hour to 18 hours. Boards long exposed to the air, an oak box 100 years old, rotten wood from a stump, and even bogwood, have been found still photographically active.

In the Interests of Suffering Humanity

February 28, 1912.
245 Spence St., Winnipeg.
The Sanol Manufacturing Co. Ltd.,
Winnipeg, Man.
Gentlemen,—

I beg to draw your attention to the fact that I have suffered from rheumatism for the last nine years, and particularly for the last five. I have been unable to stand, walk, or in fact, help myself in any way, my knees and elbows swollen, drawn and stiff; could not bend them in any way; I tried everything, went to the Banff Springs three months in 1906, twice to Hot Springs, Arkansas, two months in 1907, four months in 1908 done me no good. I heard of SANOL last September and have been taking it ever since, and I am glad to say the swelling is about all gone. I am going around the house on crutches, also my joints are loosening and straightening, and I fully expect that SANOL will cure me.

I believe SANOL will cure rheumatism, for my case is a hard one, and in fact has been pronounced incurable and if I improve for the next three months as I have for the last three I will be walking in good shape.

I remain,
Yours truly,
John J. Lane.

P.S.—You can show this letter to anyone you feel like, and send them to me as I can tell them better than I can write it.

BREAD UPON THE WATERS

Windfall of $125,000 as Sequel to an Act of Hospitality

A laborer's wife at Dunston-on-Tyne, near Gateshead, has come in for a windfall of $125,000.

Ten years ago Mrs. Longson, then of South Shields, befriended a seafaring youth of her acquaintance by taking him into her house and giving him food and shelter when he was in need of help. This action, he said at the time, he should never forget. He went to Australia, and was engaged in farming operations on a large scale. His father, mother, brother and sister, and a friend joined him a few years ago, but they have all died, and the young man himself some months ago met with a fatal accident, his thigh being fractured by a fall of stone.

After his death it was found that by his will he had left all his personal estate, the farm lands, cattle, and a quantity of jewellery to Mrs. Longson. Mrs. Longson intends to remove to Chili, of which country her husband is a native.

Ancient Ceremonial in Buddhist Temple Near Tokio

A five days' festival was held in Japan in celebration of the anniversary of the death of Keizan Daishi, the founder of the Soto sect, one of the most important offshoots of Buddhism in Japan. The sect, which claims to be the most profound of all sects, aims entirely at salvation by the illumination of self.

On the last day of the festival was performed the rare ceremony of "Hossen." In the Sojiji Temple 700 priests assembled and the Lord Abbot, wearing a gorgeous dress and carrying a short thick stick, presided over the solemn ceremony.

Before him knelt 150 priests, who sought promotion in the sect. The first priest approached and, bending his head before the Lord Abbot, submitted to him the question which had resulted from his period of meditation. "What would be the color of the maple leaves in the mountains?"

Up went the right arm of the Lord Abbot. Down came the stick on the shoulders of the candidate. "My son, their color would be redder than the tints of the flowers in May." Up again went the arm, down again came the stick and the candidate retired.

The second candidate then advanced and bowed before the Lord Abbot. "What," he said in a piping voice, "should we do to escape the heat of summer and the cold in winter?" Down came the stick with a smart crack. "Go where there is neither heat nor cold, neither summer nor winter."

In rapid succession the other candidates followed, the beating with the stick being regarded as a test whether candidates were capable of undergoing hardships in the cause of Buddha.

Sentence of [illegible] labor for bigamy was imposed at Bristol Assizes on Rowland Moore Appleyard, twenty-four, brass finisher. It was stated that he married a girl at Leeds three years ago, but left her to go to Bristol. There he met Edith Jessie Allen, and posed as a single man. Prisoner's defence was that his wife was always grumbling and telling him to clear out, so she could keep herself. Miss Allen gave him a good character.

Mother of Twenty-two

The body of a woman named Hannah Johnson, who was the mother of twenty-two children, seventeen of whom are alive, was recovered from the river at Blyth. She was forty-six years of age. At the inquest her husband, a shipyard worker, admitted having struck her, making her nose bleed, but that, he said, was because she attempted to hit him with a poker. The jury returned an open verdict.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Uncle Dud Waxes Pessimistic Over the Baseball Outlook

I can't help harking back, upon occasions, to the days when baseball was a truly strenuous game, says "Uncle Dud," when it took nerve and genuine courage, as well as skill and judgment, to play up to the standard of the old time fan.

"It all makes me tired, this training camp business. Why, what do they have to train for nowadays? They're a bunch of mollycoddles, those ball players of to-day! Does a husky young athlete have to train in order to stop a ball with a hair mattress? Must he be physically groomed and mentally nurtured so that he may learn to hit a balloon with a base fiddle?

Why all the clamor about a professional ball player because he can be trusted to attempt a throw from one base to another with a fair degree of certainty that he won't throw the ball over the grandstand? Why, back in the early '80's did you ever see a catcher wear a sofa pillow on his hand or a mattress all over his front elevation or armor plate on his shins?

No! Of course not; not even a mask! Infielders and outfielders alike played with bare hands, and a recruit couldn't even get a try-out if he had a straight finger on either hand! Everything about the game to-day tends towards automatic or mechanical baseball, and the time is coming, if we continue to drift, where it will be about as exciting for a spectator to look at as the machinery of a steam laundry in operation. If I live for a few more years I fully expect to see infielders stopping low hit balls with a six-foot length of fence board and fielding them with a machine gun or a slingshot; outfielders will catch flies in a dip-net while lolling in a wheel chair propelled by a colored valet; pitchers will be carried from the field after one inning's work, and packed in medicated cotton batting for three days, attended in sumptuous luxury by a breathless retinue of trainers, masseurs, pulmotor operators and trained nurses. And, should he have chanced to pitch a hitless inning, the twirler's portrait will be blazoned on every sporting page in the land!

Music for Lunatics

At Monaghan Asylum Board meeting notice of motion was given by the Right Rev. Dr. Day, to provide a piano for the asylum, as he stated it was of great importance that the patients should have as much entertainment as possible in order to make their lives pleasant and happy.

Love of Fighting

"I earn my money like a horse and spend it like an ass," declared John Carroll, who, with his brother Joseph, was summoned at Loughrea Petty Sessions for drunkenness. Acting-Sergeant Dunne said that the brothers "When they got real full and had no one to fight, fought amongst themselves."

Oldest Coroner Dead

The death has taken place in Derry of Mr. Thos. Lindsay, stated to be the oldest coroner in Ireland. Mr. Lindsay, who was eighty-three years of age, was appointed coroner of Derry City in 1872. Owing to the state of his health he was unable to be conveyed to the poll at the recent election.

EXTRAORDINARY DEMAND FOR CHEWING GUM

First Used by Indians, One Generation Saw a Big Business Develop

More than 30,000,000 sticks of gum are manufactured annually to satisfy the lovers of this confection, a Toronto manufacturer declares. All of it is made of chicle, which comes from a gum tree in the tropics, the importation of chicle into the United States and Canada figuring up $2,000,000 a year. The chicle business has become a big industry in the South American republics. The gum tree is tapped very much the same as the rubber tree.

Spanish explorers found the Indians of this hemisphere chewing gum to quench their thirst away back in the fifteenth century, and they reported that it relieved exhaustion; but it was 1870 before gum chewing became a habit among the nations, so at least the gum-makers say, being guided in their opinions by the statistical records. Still, the oldest inhabitants say they always had gum. Resin or something else must have been chewed before the modern gum factory brought out a substitute that was better liked.

Since that time the demand for this commodity has increased to such an extent that important firms have been obliged to search the markets and exploit the growing of the tree in order to obtain a supply sufficient to meet existing requirements.

Prior to 1890 chicle sold for from seven to eight cents a pound. Now it sells for $2 a pound. The chicle tree is indigenous to northern South America countries, Central America, and some of the Mexican States.

Experiments have shown that trees planted at a distance of ten feet apart or 400 to the acre, will yield from five to six pounds of chicle gum when from eight to ten years old. In their wild state the trees are usually found in groups, frequently growing to a height of from forty to fifty feet. Lands well adapted to the growing of the tree, once thought valueless unless the timber could be cut and transported, are now worth $15 an acre.

Wood Like Mahogany

The wood is of reddish color, closely resembling mahogany, is quite hard, heavy, compact in texture, and fine grained. Prehistoric door frames and rafters of this wood are found among the Mexican ruins, and are still in excellent state of preservation. This wood is to-day greatly in demand by cabinet makers, who employ it in the manufacture of high grade furniture and household fittings. It is called sapota.

For many years the sapodilla pear, which also comes from the sapota tree, was a popular variety of fruit among the natives, but now on account of the great demand for chicle gum and the attractive rewards offered the fruit is seldom marketed.

The operation of gathering chicle and preparing it for market is similar to that employed in the maple sugar industry. Throughout the rainy season, and while the sap is up, the tapping is done. The outfit consists of nothing more than a piece of rope, and a machete. By means of this rope, which is fastened about the waist and slipped around the tree, the gatherer is enabled to hold any desired position, and wield the machete in cutting the incisions.

Care in Tapping

Great care must be exercised, as excessive bleeding of sap will cause the rapid decay of the tree. It is possible for one man to gather properly from ten to fifteen pounds of sap a day, for which he is paid, in most cases, a contract price from ten to fifteen cents a pound. In granting concessions to gather chicle in the national forest reservations the Latin-American Governments demand that natives shall be properly instructed in the gathering and preparation of the gum.

In some instances trees have been tapped for twenty-five years, where great care has been taken, although after that time they produced only from one-half pound to two pounds of the sap. However, if allowed to remain untapped for a period of five or six years they will then produce from three to five pounds of gum.

A Great Calling

Of strictly nautical titles, Captain, Admiral and Commodore are met with, the latter being the favorite. There are, in fact, a dozen Commodores, including Commodore Jarvis. There is no doubt, therefore, of the Canadian sailor's love for a title, but this, perhaps, indicates not snobbishness, but merely his conviction of the greatness and dignity of his calling. This belief is shown also in other names, sometimes beautiful, such as Cock of the North and Beat the Wind, and in the names of heroes and strong men, for instance, Hercules and Samson, and of giants, such as Gog and Magog. Also, in selecting names from the animal kingdom, the sailor seems to prefer the animals that are excellent for strength and swiftness, quite apart from any connection they may have with the sea. Tigers, Lions, Eagles and Caribou plow the Canadian main, but no ship is called the Duck. Beaver, however, is a favorite title for good, patriotic as well as aquatic reasons.

Guessing at Distance

An English police official took an automobile chauffeur into court to prove that he was exceeding the speed limit, but on examination the officer was found to have such a poor idea of time and distance that the magistrate refused to hold the defendant. The officer was tested by asking him the width of the courtroom, and his answer was 50, whereas it was only about 25 feet. His idea of time was just as questionable.

Uncertain Honey Crops

While a spring report is of value in determining the present prospects of the honey crop, there is no other farm crop so entirely dependent upon the weather conditions from day to day during harvest time. Any sudden change from hot to cold weather may check the secretion of nectar in the flowers and reduce the expected honey crop by hundreds of thousands of pounds.

PROVIDING A WATER SUPPLY

Natives of the Soudan Utilise a Hollow Tree, Which Serves the Purpose Admirably.

Surely the strangest use to which a growing tree can be put is to turn it into a reservoir. Yet this is what the people of Kordofan in the Soudan do with the tree which the botanists call "Adansonia Digitata."

The tree, which is known to the natives by the name of "Homa," groups being called "Tebeldi," attains a considerable height. The trunk, which measures from 30 to 50 feet in circumference, is, like so many of the bamboo family, hollow, and the natives have discovered that it makes an excellent cistern for storing water, for the arid season. Should the cavity not be large enough the natives scoop it out still further. The Soudanese have also a method of cutting the opening for the reception of the water just at the top of the trunk where the branches begin, so that during the rainfall the great offshoots of the tree act as gutters and guide the water into the trunk. At the same time pools are dug at the foot of the tree to collect the rain and from these are water is transferred to the trunk by buckets. Sometimes, though rarely, the tree cracks under the weight of the water, after which the trunk is of little use. However, the natives have found that cracks can be successfully stopped with cement, and recently a number of broken-down trees have been thus repaired.

Curiously enough, the presence of large quantities of water in the trunks in no way impairs the growth of the trees, whose use in this way is undoubtedly an ingenious solution of the water supply problem.

A STORY OF "BOBS"

Few people are acquainted with the story of how Lord Roberts won the Victoria Cross, the most coveted of all the honors a British soldier can gain. It was during the dark days of the Indian Mutiny, and the official record runs as follows: "On following up the retreating enemy on January 2, 1858, at Khodagunge, he saw in the distance two Sepoys going away with a standard. Lieutenant Roberts put spurs to his horse, and overtook them just as they were about to enter a village. They immediately turned round and presented their muskets at him, and one of the men pulled the trigger, but, fortunately, the cap snapped, and the standard-bearer was cut down by the gallant young officer, and the standard taken possession of by him. He also, on the same day, cut down another Sepoy, who was standing at bay with musket and bayonet, keeping off a sowar. Lieutenant Roberts rode to the assistance of the horseman, and rushing at the Sepoy with one blow of his sword cut him across the face, killing him on the spot."

Old-time Wallpaper

A sample of the first wallpaper used in America is in the possession of Frank Hall of Hartford, Conn. It was imported from London, England, in 1735, by Samuel Talcott, to paper the rooms in a house in Glastonbury, which was built for him by his father, Dean Benjamin Talcott, in 1725-1727. The paper was taken from the walls of the house in Glastonbury, and is in as good a condition as when it was placed there, a proof of the good material. Mr. Hall was offered a large sum by a big New York wallpaper firm for the paper, to use in a window display, but he refuses the offer. He sent a sample piece to Admiral George Dewey, a descendant of the Talcotts. Mr. Hall himself is a descendant of the Talcotts.

Old Shipping Company

The Allans have been identified with the Canadian mail, passenger, and emigrant service for over ninety years. The line was established by Captain Alexander Allan, a shipowner-mariner of Glasgow, with a brigantine named the "Hare," of 170 tons, her first duty being to supply stores to Wellington's army in the Peninsula. The service to Quebec was inaugurated by the "Jean" of corresponding size to the "Hare," in 1819.

PAINTING THE NEW BARN

Should be Thorough—Use Paint or Whitewash for Old Buildings

Paint adds value to the farm, but paint gives much better service if not put on till the lumber is thoroughly dry. New lumber is apt to be green, and if painted before dry the oil does not get into the wood, and as a result the paint will often blister and peel off. The unpainted new barn doesn't look well. But let it stand a season and then give it two good coats of oil paint, and it will hold its color for years. It will take more paint to do the job then, but it will pay in the end.

And just a word in regard to the old buildings. When real estate men want to sell a building they give it a coat of fresh paint. It pays to have the buildings well painted, even though they are not for sale. A building lasts longer if it is well painted, as well as impressing every-one favorably who looks upon it. A farm never appears prosperous with unpainted buildings. Where paint cannot be afforded a barrel of lime and a whitewash brush will do. Whitewash is the poor man's paint. Whitewash is a germ killer. It purifies and sweetens and lightens up the inside of the barn. It is cheap and easy to apply. Get a barrel of quicklime, put about two pailfuls in a half barrel, fill the half three-fourths full of water, mix with a hoe till thoroughly dissolved, and apply while still hot. Skimmilk instead of water or buttermilk will improve the whitewash. A spraying machine will aid greatly in applying the whitewash, but a brush will do the work all right. Every building on the farm in which live stock are kept should be whitewashed every year.

A SULTAN'S VIEWS

He Thought the Lot of Western Husbands Must be Lamentable

Another selection of chapters from the diary of Abdul Hamid, appears in the The Review Nord und Sud giving his views on women. The ex-Sultan of Turkey says: "The countless divorces and scandals in Europe and America show that many men in those countries incline to polygamy. The west has an entire misapprehension regarding the position of woman n Turkey. Even though woman is fortunately debarred from taking a part in Turkish public life, and is compelled to leave everything to men she at any rate is an autocrat at home. As I observe the stern imperious facts regarding western women a comparison with them easily favors our women. Why do the people of the west criticise our women? Which is more sacrificing or more beautiful, the Oriental woman or the European? In Turkey woman belongs to her home, belongs to a man alone; in Europe she has too many liberties to remain womanly. If only half one reads in the newspapers and books about western women be true then the lot of the men there must be truly lamentable."

THE GAME OF POLO

Polo as played in the United States is a game for millionaires, and nearly any prominent player is wealthy enough to own the best ponies that money can buy. In England this is not so. Polo is the soldiers' game, nearly all the crack players being officers of the cavalry. Some of these officers have very small incomes, and are unable to pay $10,000 for a great pony, having to get their fun out of $500 and $800 animals. The best players in the world mounted on inferior ponies would have little or no chance against an inferior lot of players well mounted. Polo is a game of speed. While there is much strategy in the game, the player who is so well mounted that he gets first to the ball has exactly the same advantage the man has in a fight who lands the first telling blow.

FOUNDERS OF CANADA

Remains of Famous Frenchmen Disturbed After Years of Sleep

Nearly one hundred and fifty coffins, containing the bones of men who were known the world over when the chivalry of France battled to obtain a foothold in what is now Canada, were removed from the crypt beneath Notre Dame Church, Montreal, and re-buried under the new chapel of St. Sulpice on Sherbrooke Street.

The body of Gabriel de Queylus, first superior of the Sulpician order in Canada was among the number, as well as Bishop Jacques [illegible], first Catholic pastor of Montreal; Jean Cavelier de la Salle, who discovered Lake Superior and was the first man to navigate the Mississippi as far as the Gulf of Mexico, Francois de Salignac de Fenelon, a nephew of the celebrated author and preacher, who was also a member of the Sulpician Order; and Etienne Montgolfier, who with his brother Jacques, invented the earliest balloons and was the first to try the conquest of the air in one of his "montgolfieres," becoming a Sulpician in his late life and being sent to Canada.

There were also the bodies of Gabriel Souart, Francois Dollier de Casson, Francois Saturain, Lascaris d'Urfe, Francois Vachon de Belmont Jean Boufandeau, Pierre Le Sueur (related to the celebrated architect) and Jean Baptiste Curateau de la Blaiserie, all associated with the early history of Montreal and of Canada.

Water Hardness and Health

Hardness of water, this is the amount of lime or other salts which it contains, appears to have a direct influence upon the health, as the researches of Dr. H. Roemer, of Berlin, bring out. Dentition is much influenced, as observed in the case of school children, and examining several thousand he finds that the percentage of persons having entirely sound teeth varies from 1.5 up to 20.3 per cent., according to the degree of hardness of the water in various localities. Hard water containing lime acts favorably in this case, and magnesia appears to harden the enamel. The number of young men adapted for military service also increases in regions having hard water. As to action on the blood, lime and magnesia act by their alkaline properties to strengthen the growth of children. According to this, he states that soft water should be used for washing and cooking, and hard water for drinking purposes.

Farmer's Death on Roadside

The dead body of Patrick Kelly, a farmer of Knockfawn, has been found on the roadside at Shantully, near the borders of Monaghan County. Kelly visited Middletown a few nights ago, and on his way home was overtaken by the storm, and died from cold and exposure.

Mother and Child in Flames

The story of a two-year-old child's terrible death from burns was related at an inquest at Mullingar. The mother went out shopping, and on returning found the child a mass of flames. Catching up the child, she rushed from the house towards the hospital. Her own clothes caught fire, and she was only saved from death by the assistance of neighbors. The child was dead when it arrived at the hospital.

"He That Loseth His Life"

The Rev. R. T. Griffiths, M.A., Vicar of Cam and Rural Dean of Dursley, died suddenly while preaching in Cam Parish Church. Mr. Griffiths had selected as his text the words, "He that saveth his life shall lose it; he that loseth his life for My sake shall save it." He had referred to the death of Captain Scott and his party at the post of duty, when his voice failed, and he fell down the pulpit steps dead. A day or two before he had seen a physician for a heart affection.

Men Who Don't Exercise

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS.

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork were the cause that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens of Woodstock.

In his convincing letter, Mr. Stephens says:

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by dyspepsia, biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of ever getting well.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old-time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well—thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort and good spirits, there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c per box, five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

The attendance at the Monday performances, afternoon and evening, at the Grand Opera House [illegible] the largest crowds ever present in that popular place of amusement, hundreds being turned away unable to get admission. This is a strong tribute both to the Opera House and the show.

Careless Smokers.

Attention is constantly being called to the carelessness of smokers of cigars and cigarettes in throwing the still burning "stubs" in places where inflammables might be put and may be the means of kindling a fire with more or less serious consequences. This refers particularly to gratings in front of stores and inflammable goods stored in alleyways.

A fine musical program will be included.

Hurt on Paving Job.

An Italian with a name that might possibly fracture a press, was the victim of a painful accident whilst working on th? cement mixing machine on Bethune street. He was engaged with a gang getting out the mixtures for our local pavements when one of his fingers got into a too close juxta position with the cogs of the machine. The finger was dressed and the man is at work again.

Oriental Enterprise.

The Oriental on Thanksgiving Day made quite a spread on the dinner menu cards. Mr. McDonough, the manager, is certainly a "live wire," in advancing the interests of this popular caravansary. He had menu cards printed especially for the holiday. In the northwest corner of the cards he had colored pictures descriptive both of the holiday and the good fare supplied in the dining room. The bill of fare would be published only by giving that it would be infringing on the realms of advertising.

The Baptist Convention.

The delegates attending the big Baptist Convention were somewhat thinned yesterday morning, but there was no abatement of the interest in final business of the convention. There are yet several important meetings to be held and yesterday evening Rev. John McNeill, addressed a public meeting in Murray street church on the subject of "Young People's Work." Mr. McNeill is from Toronto and is famous as a preacher beyond the limits of his denomination.

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND COSTIVE!--CASCARETS

Get a 10-cent box now!

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children — their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

GIRLS! THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Bring back its gloss, lustre, charm and get rid of dandruff—Try the moist cloth.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now — all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

THIS LEAVES THE SKIN SMOOTH AND HAIRLESS

(Boudoir Secrets)

The electric needle for removing hairy or fuzzy growths is fast falling into disfavor among beauty specialists, because quicker and better results are obtained with the aid of a paste made by stirring together a little powdered delatone and water. This is applied on the hairs not wanted and in 2 minutes rubbed off, and with it comes every trace of hair. The skin should then be washed to remove the remaining paste, and it will be left smooth and spotless. Buy delatone in original package only.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Andrew Grant.

Andrew Grant, 865 Bolivar street, passed away on Monday at noon. Deceased was 85 years of age. He had been engaged in farming in Smith township for many years. He was born in Scotland and came to this country with his parents.

SMITH TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

Regular Meeting at Which Considerable Important Business Was Put Through.

The members of the municipal Council of the Township of Smith, met in the County Council Chamber, Peterborough, on Monday, Oct. 13th, at 10 o'clock. All the members present with Reeve Garbutt in the chair. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Messrs. P. P. Young and R. A. Charlton addressed the Council and presented a petition signed by a large number of ratepayers of Young's Point and vicinity, requesting that the Council make a liberal grant towards the construction of cement sidewalks, and also that the statute labor in that road division go towards the work.

Reeve Garbutt said that in this case the Council would be governed by the municipal Act and that it would be expedient to obtain legal advice before proceeding.

Moved by Mr. Northey, seconded by Mr. McKee that the matter be referred to the Township Solicitor, and that an estimation of the cost of construction be made.—Carried.

Messrs. Maher and Ivey, addressed the Council in favor of a petition which had been presented, requesting that the Council take immediate steps to have Downie street opened.

Reeve Garbutt explained that after the last meeting, the Township Solicitor was consulted and instructions were given that a written report be made. This report had not been received and as Mr. Peck was absent on two weeks' vacation, the matter was laid over until his return.

Colonization Road by-law No. 721 to expend $500.00 on the Burleigh Road from the 14th to the 16th Con. received its first and second reading.

Moved by Mr. McKee and Mr. Telford that the Township pay Two Dollars per month to Jane Hampton in accordance with the agreement made with the Foley estate; time to date from July 1st, 1913.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cann and Mr. Telford that a water trough be erected on the West Communication Road.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Northey and Mr. Cann that the Treasurer be instructed to pay the following accounts:

Climax Good Roads Mach. Co., repairs to crusher, $2.60; Fitzgerald & Co., band sawing for bridge, $1.25; Review Printing Co., printing, $14.10; Bruce Garbutt, drawing tile and repairing culvert, $6; David Millard, work on bridge, $4.50; Ernest Ranbere, work with team and storage for [illegible], $2.75; H. Milburn, stone, $40; Jas. Blewett, sheep killed, $21.34; G. W. Mann, work on road, $40.35; J. J. Johnston, material for bridges, $[illegible]; Peterborough [illegible] Co., cement, $[illegible].

Council adjourned to meet again on 15th December.

MUSIC and DRAMA

MR. CYRIL MAUDE.

The dignity and distinction of the stage will be given a fresh enhancement with the coming to the Grand Opera House on Monday night Oct. 27th, of England's most distinguished comedian, Mr. Cyril Maude. On that evening the favorite London actor will commence his American tour of some thirty weeks. Mr. Maude is about the only actor occupying an authoratative position upon the England stage, who has so long delayed his coming to this country. The reason of it is not at all difficult of explanation. Few players have ever enjoyed such a tremendous popularity as that which is Mr. Maude's portion at home. He has given the stage a decidedly higher standing in the social scale. His plays have been written by the acknowledged foremost figures in contemporary dramatic literature, so his present trans-Atlantic tour is really a matter of unusual moment to all those interested in affairs of the theatre. Mr. Maude will do this share of the venture well. He is bringing with him the complete production of not less than a dozen of his most notable successes—literally tons upon tons of beautiful and well constructed scenery and stage appurtenances. His repertory is so extensive that it has required every nice judgment to decide upon the plays that would best fit both actor and audience for his all too-limited Peterborough engagement. "The Second in Command" will be the bill. Mr. Maude's support is doubly interesting from the fact that his leads will be played by his beautiful young daughter, Margery Maude, who it is said is a reincarnation of her mother, Winifred Emery's own youthful loveliness and talent; Lennox Pawle, who has become decidedly popular on this side of the water for his clever work in "Pomander Walk" and "Disraeli," returns with Mr. Maude. Other popular London players in the cast are Montague Love, John Harwood, Edward Combermere, Hunter Nesbit, and the Misses Mary Merrall, Lena Halliday, Margaret Swallow and Emma Chambers.

Benefactions totalling $120,000, in which nearly all the protestant and non-sectarian hospitals and charitable institutions in Montreal will benefit, are provided in the will of the late Hugh Watson, founder of Watson-Foster wall paper manufacturing Company of Maisonneuve, who died on Sept. 20th last.

LIBERAL LAND CAMPAIGN IS SWEEPING THE OLD COUNTRY

"Take a Slice of the Rent and Put it on the Wages," is the War-cry in the United Kingdom at Present

London, Oct. 22.—Lloyd George's second land campaign speech at Swindon this afternoon is awaited with widespread curiosity and interest, as the forthcoming Government program will there be partly revealed. Each day makes more clear that the Liberal campaign is sweeping the country. Its main purpose is being crystallized, in the phrase, "Take a slice off the rent and put it on the wages."

There has been a singular absence of effective opposition, criticism mainly being confined to such minor points as Lloyd George's statement that pheasants peck at injured mangels. To-day's speech will probably define the Government scheme for fixing minimum agricultural wages by district boards, and giving tenants fair rents and fixity of tenure by rent courts. Many Unionists are strongly sympathetic, and but for the influence of the great territorial magnates, a non-party scheme might be arranged.

Yesterday agricultural returns once more afforded a valuable lever for the reformers, showing a further decline in cultivated lands and live stock throughout the country.

WARM ATTACK ON LAURIER BY OTTAWA CABINET MINISTER

Mr. Burrell Recalls Corruption Under Administration of Liberal Leader

Digby, Ont., Oct. 22.—Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture in the Borden Cabinet, warmly attacked Sir Wilfrid Laurier last night at a large and enthusiastic meeting held here in the interests of Mr. W. D. Cargill, Conservative candidate in the bye-election in South Bruce, made necessary by the entrance of Mr. Donnelly to the Senate.

The Liberal Leader's recent speech at Chapeau, Quebec, in which he declared that Chateauguay had been stolen by the Conservatives was ridiculed by Mr. Burrell, and the ex-Premier's declaration that he and his party would save the country and see to it that corruption in elections ceased [illegible], brought forth a few remarks from the Minister of Agriculture regarding the cleanness of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in just such matters during his long term of office.

He did not, in the opinion of the speaker, have much faith in his following in Chateauguay.

Misrepresentation.

Insistence by the Liberal chieftain that the adoption of the Borden naval programme meant that Canada would be paying tribute to Great Britain stirred Mr. Burrell considerably. He said that Sir Wilfrid knew that his statements were misleading and none better. No English statesman in a generation had ever dreamed of levying tribute from any of the countries under the union jack and no one could take it seriously when he declared that the $35,000,000 contribution went in the form of a tribute. Mr. Borden had gone to the British Admiralty and asked for advice, as had Sir Wilfrid in his time, and the present Government had attempted to act on their suggestion, and was blocked by the Senate.

Furthermore, Mr. Burrell pointed out that in 1909 Sir Wilfrid was dodging around and doing practically nothing, striving in every way to shelve the issue, while now when out of office and unable to do things he was eager to build two fleet units, one on the Pacific and one on the Atlantic, a scheme which would cover more than the policy the Senate threw out at his bidding.

A Dead Issue.

Reciprocity was dead beyond hope of reviving, in the opinion of Mr. Burrell and he could not understand why the Liberals insisted on advocating it. Sir Wilfrid claimed that his party still stood by that policy, but Mr. Burrell suggested that he ask those who were left home in September, 1911, if he wished to find real feelings amongst his followers on the trade question.

Mr. Truax, in a recent meeting in this riding, announced that reciprocity was not dead and "beside him on the platform was the member for Welland, Mr. German, sitting dead still," declared Mr. Burrell, to demonstrate just how badly the Libercity question. The minister briefly al party wat divided on the reciprotouched on the work done by the Conservatives since coming into power.

He was given a hearty round of applause as he took his seat.

Father a Suicide—So Was His Brother and Sister—Tuberculosis Appears.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—The case of Henry Spencer, the confessed murderer, now awaiting trial for killing Mrs. Mildred Allison-Rexroat, has aroused widespread interest among students of criminology. An investigation of his antecedents has brought to light these facts:

That his father, a life-long victim of alcoholism, died a suicide.

That three years after his father's death, Spencer's only brother took his own life.

That one of his sisters killed herself out of despondency after Spencer had been sentenced to his first term in prison.

That a third sister, married, and after bearing two children, died of tuberculosis.

At the Cheese Board yesterday the following factories were represented: Keene 60, Warminster 65, Shearer 80, Selwyn 75, Villiers 50, Warsaw 120, Westwood 140, Oakdale 85, Daisy D. 60, Myrtle 100, Ormonde 110, Young's Point 55, Laing 86, Indian River 68, East Emily 70, Trewern 78, Beaufort 40, Norwood 120, Fleetwood 85. Total 1557.

Mr. Gillespie secured Warminster, Shearer, Selwyn, Villiers, Warsaw, Westwood, Myrtle, Laing, Indian River, and offered 12 13-16c for further selections.

At this price he obtained Oakdale, Daisy D., Ormonde, East Emily, Trewern, Norwood.

Mr. Gillespie then offered 12¾c for the balance of the Board.

DROWNED IN CAVENDISH

The particulars of a sad drowning accident comes from Cavendish, by which Lucy Windover, the 15 year old daughter of Mr. Harvey Windover, of Cavendish, lost her life. It appears the little girl went in search of the cows on horseback. In the course of an hour or so the horse returned but the girl was no where to be seen. Her father made a search, but to no avail, and early Sunday morning several neighbors gave their assistance. W

The marks of the horse were traced to the edge of the lake which borders the farm, and it was then supposed she had driven the horse there for a drink. The men searched around the shore and about ten feet from the bank the body was found. It is thought that the horse walked out beyond its depth and scrambling to get back the girl was thrown off or fell off and was drowned.

The funeral took place in Lakefield on Tuesday.

The deceased was a niece of Mr. George Windover, 310 Aylmer street.

CONSERVATIVES RETAIN EAST MIDDLESEX

Ald. Glass Returned by Comfortable Majority Over R. G. Fisher, Who Contends That "Thugs" Were Active Against Him

London, Ont., Oct. 22.—Ald. S. Frank Glass of this city was elected to the House of Commons from East Middlesex, in succession to the late Peter Elson, M.P. The Conservative candidate's majority over R. G. Fisher, Liberal, is 368. Only one of the four municipalities in the riding gave the latter a majority. Of the 45 subdivisions all but 16 gave majorities for Glass. Eight of the remainder were in Westminster Township, a Liberal stronghold, which on this occasion netted Mr. Fisher 112.

GENERAL BOOTH DELAYS SAILING

London, Oct. 22.—General Bramwell Booth has changed his plans. Instead of sailing on the Imperator to-morrow he will sail on the Lusitania on Saturday. Commissioner Lawley sailed on the Baltic last week to make final preparations. Col. Kitchener, private secretary, is the only officer accompanying the General, who reaches Toronto, Nov. 1, and remains until the 6th. He then goes to Winnipeg until the 11th, afterwards proceeding to the United States. Several officers' councils will be held in Toronto and Winnipeg.

LOCAL MAN WAS ELECTROCUTED OUT WEST

The many friends in this city of Mr. Frank Miller will extend heartfelt sympathy to the popular Immigration Agent, over the sudden and sad death of his son, Herbert, who was engaged in electrical work in Winnipeg. Mr. F. Miller yesterday received a telegram from Winnipeg, simply stating the sad fact that Herbert had been electrocuted. No details of the accident were given. Mr. Miller's son, George, who lives in Chicago at once went to Winnipeg to bring the body to Peterborough for interment. The deceased was 24 years of age.

GERMANY CAN'T CONSIDER TAKING NAVAL HOLIDAY

Admiral Von Tirpitz Makes His Attitude Plain—Lost in Wonder at German Navy Being Regarded as a Menace

Berlin, Oct. 22.—Admiral von Tirpitz, the Minister of Marine, said in an interview to-day that, while Germany took the most friendly attitude to the British proposal of a holiday for a year in naval construction, it was impossible for this country to accept it. Germany, he said, would prosecute her program with punctual regularity.

Admiral von Tirpitz repeated much of his past utterances in the Reichstag, and insisted that Germany's program of warship building was not an aggressive one.

If any ships were laid down a little in advance this was merely to maintain a regularity in the work at the shipbuilding yards. He laid stress on the fact that the German navy has been purely a defensive function with no aggressive purpose like that of the army. It was to maintain the security of the Empire besides enabling Germany to raise her voice in the affairs of the world. He was unable to see why this should be denied her.

He regards a war of aggression as unthinkable to Germany. He is lost in wonder at the German navy being regarded as a danger or a menace. Great navies are rising everywhere, in France, Russia, the United States and even Greece and the South American States, not to speak of Austria-Hungary and Italy. They are all building great fleets. France and Russia are allied, he says, and altogether are spending far more than Germany on naval construction. Is not Germany then to have a fleet for her protection? In short, the Grand Admiral was a little inclined to ridicule the alarm felt in Britain as to the objects of the German fleet.

The newspapers continue to jeer at Mr. Churchill's proposal and repeat that the speech was made simply as a cheap bid for popularity in England.

PARTIES IN GREAT BRITAIN PREPARING FOR BYE-ELECTIONS

Sir Rufus Isaacs, Who Vacates One Seat, Now Receives Salary of $40,000 a Year—The Issues in the Old Land

London, Oct. 22.—The Lord Chief office Sir Rufus Isaacs was installed Justiceship of England, into which yesterday, carries with it a salary of forty thousand dollars a year. It is the highest purely judicial office in the land.

From a pecuniary point of view the new Lord Chief Justice will not be a gainer by his elevation. As Attorney General he drew a salary of thirty-five thousand dollars a year, and professional fees, in connection with that post, amounting, in addition, to anything from sixty to one hundred thousand dollars a year.

The Solicitor General draws a salary of thirty thousand dollars a year and additional fees averaging from twenty-five to sixty thousand dollars a year. These two law officerships are the pecuniary "plums" of British political life. Sir John Simon, who now becomes Attorney General is only just forty years of age.

The Bye-Elections.

There are four, if not five, bye-elections pending as the result of recent appointments, and the constituencies are scattered all over the country. The Unionists expect to win Reading, as Captain Leslie Wilson is very popular locally. But the Liberal candidate, Peabody Gooch, the editor of the contemporary Review, is a very able publicist and experienced platform speaker.

UNIONISTS ARE SURE IRISH PROBLEM CAN BE SETTLED

Mr. Hobhouse Says if Bill Can be Varied it Must be Done at Once

London, Oct. 22.—Unionist leaders like Mr. F. E. Smith are still confident the Irish problem can be settled by consent. They discount the isolated outbursts of Ministers and Ministerial journals against a compromise as a necessary part of political manoeuvring.

Last night's speech of Mr. Hobhouse, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancashire, confirms the view that the Cabinet has agreed to accept the principle of a conference when the time comes rather than face the prospect of Ulster civil war. Mr. Hobhouse announced that the Cabinet desired, hoped and expected a peaceful solution, and said: "If we are to escape the temporary disorder of a riot of more or less organized or sporadic character, if there is to be none of the aftermath and bitterness if the Protestant and Catholic communities in Ireland are really to work together for the good of the nation, it is almost essential, certainly more than desirable, that legislation which will be passed will be arrived at by agreement. Our bill is agreeable to the vast majority of the Irish people.

Be Done by Consent.

"If you can vary the bill without invading the cardinal principle, it will be varied. It must be done by both sides, surely that is plain."

This pacific intention unquestionably is held by a majority of the Cabinet, who are moving along the lines acceptable to the court. Moreover, it is difficult to reconcile industrial development in Belfast with the belief of the Ulster leaders that Ireland is about to be drenched in blood. Recently the Belfast Harbor Commissioners although overwhelmingly Carsonite, proved their faith in the future under any form of Government by deciding to construct a new deep water wharf 1,000 feet long at a cost of $400,000. Yesterday the Commissioners gave another proof of their optimism and decided to spend further $225,000 in erecting new wharves and jetties in Musgrave channel, which lies adjacent to Queen's Island shipyard for the accommodation of new vessels being fitted out after launching.

THAW SEEKS ESCAPE THROUGH CANADA

Ottawa, Ont. Oct. 23.—Harry K Thaw fighting at Concord, E. H. against extradition to the State of New York which would mean his reincarceration in Matteawan Asylum as an insane criminal still cherishes to-day the hope of reaching a heaven by the Canadian route.

His counsel has addressed to the Minister of Interior a request to be informed whether in the event of his winning out in the present proceedings he would be allowed to enter Canada as though passenger bound for a foreign country. So far as can be learned the letter yet remains unanswered. But the probability is that the reply of Hon. Dr. Roche will be a refusal to supply information based on a hypothetical case. Should Thaw be restored to his freedom in the State of Newhampshire the question of his being permitted to enter Canada as a bird of passage would probably be dealt with and Thaw apprised of the decision of the Canadian authorities.

What their decision would be under such circumstances is just what the Minister of Interior, as administrator of the immigration regulations, declines for the present to answer.

ADDITION TO ROYAL FAMILY FORETOLD IN CABLE DESPATCH

New York Paper Published Statement That Queen Mary is Expected to Bear Another Child—Retirement During Recent Social Functions Explained

New York, Oct. 22.—A cable from London published here to-day says: There was a ripple of excitement in intimate circles of the Royal family to-day when it became known that the new year will bring with it an addition to the family of King George and Queen Mary. The correspondent learned on excellent authority that the interesting event is expected the latter part of February. This explains why Queen Mary has been keeping in the background during the recent social functions, notably the Connaught-Fife wedding.

Royal doctors are now in constant attendance at Buckingham Palace. It was their frequent visits which gave the first inkling of the anticipated event. Queen Mary has lately taken a great interest in eugenics. It is said the Queen is over-joyed at the prospects. A birth to the reigning Sovereign would be an occasion for great rejoicing throughout Great Britain.

A Typographical Error.

Says the Williamsville (N.Y.) Item: "We wish to apologize to Mrs. Orlando Overlook. In our paper last week we had as a heading, 'Mrs. Overlook's Big Foot.' The word we ought to have used is a French word pronounced the same way but spelled fete. It means a celebration and is considered a very tony word." This is proof that there are times when an editor has something to worry about.

SIR THOMAS LAUGHS AT MILWAUKEE YARN

Winnipeg, Oct. 22.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the C. P. R. who arrived here this morning from Minneapolis on a business trip, laughed at the report which came from Milwaukee crediting him with stating the whole C. P. R. system might be electrified. What he had stated was that it was the intention to electrify Rogers Pass tunnel, and if this proved successful in operation, electrification would be extended over the mountain division from Revelstoke to Field, B. C. Sir Thomas also denied the report in London that Canadian Pacific interests were to be split in three parts.

Sir Thomas announced that double-tracking operations between Calgary and Fort William would be completed by the fall of next year, and one result would be he said, a considerable acceleration in the train service. The company has under construction 1,005 miles of road exclusive of double tracking, of which sixteen hundred miles are in the West. Twelve hundred miles of the total will be completed this fall.

Finds out that the drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee is the cause of headache, nervousness, irritable heart, insomnia or some other obscure ache or pain.

Steady nerves and a clear brain—the best asset any man or woman can have—are often impossible to the regular tea or coffee drinker.

If you are ambitious enough to "get ahead" suppose you stop tea and coffee and try hot, well-made

POSTUM

If the old aches and pains begin to leave after a few days on Postum, you'll know whether to stick to it or go back to coffee.

Postum now comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A spoonful dissolves in a cup of hot water, and with sugar and cream makes a delicious beverage INSTANTLY.

Drink it instead of tea and coffee

EASY CHANGE.
When Tea and Coffee are Doing Harm

A lady writes of the results of a four years' use of the food beverage, Postum:

"Ever since I can remember we had used coffee three times a day. It had a more or less injurious effect upon us all, and I suffered almost death from indigestion and nervousness.

"I knew it was coffee, because when I would leave it off for a few days I would feel better. But it was hard to give coffee up though I realized how harmful it was to me."

Tea is just as harmful because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.

"At last I found a perfectly easy way to make the change. Four years ago I abandoned the coffee habit and began to drink Postum and I also influenced the rest of the family to do the same.

"Even the children are allowed to drink it as freely as they do water. And it has done us all great good. I no longer suffer from indigestion, and my nerves are in splendid condition since I began to use Postum. We never use coffee any more.

"We appreciate Postum as a delightful and healthful beverage which not only [illegible] but [illegible] the best of [illegible]." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

RING DOWN THE CURTAIN

Realism on the Stage That Has Not Been Part of the Play

The tragic end of the famous 'cello player and actor, Mr. Auguste Van Biene thrilled all the playgoing world. Appearing in "The Master Musician," at a Brighton music-hall, he had just finished playing "Home, Sweet Home." At its conclusion the curtain rings down as the musician collapses in his chair. It did; but it never rose again that evening. The world-famous player was dead.

Perhaps the most notable of all stage deaths was that of the famous actor, Sir Henry Irving. The last words he uttered on the stage were the words that end "Becket," the play in which he was then appearing at Bradford. Though he did not actually die on the stage, he barely left the theatre when he was suddenly stricken with syncope, and died a few minutes later.

Very sudden was the death of a famous dancer of a Dusseldorf theatre, six years ago.

Mlle. [illegible] was executing the last steps of her dance, and when she sank on the stage with a low cry of pain, her death, which occurred almost immediately, was ascribed by the crowded audience, who had no idea that a tragedy had been enacted before their eyes.

One of the most dramatic of all stage deaths was that of the great Edmund Kean. He was playing Othello to the Iago of his son Charles, at a time when his health was so frail that his weakness and incapacity could hardly be hidden from the audience. After the words "Othello's occupation's gone," he fell into his son's arms muttering, "God, I am dying. Speak to them, Charles!" He was at once carried home, and died seven weeks later.

A grim accidental tragedy occurred in 1891 at Manchester, during a school performance of "Romeo and Juliet." In the quarrel scene, the youngster playing Tybalt killed Romeo.

The famous Peg Woffington met on the stage a fate almost as sad, when playing Rosalind. She had gone almost through the entire play, with a life and spirit that gave no sign of the weakening powers plainly evident to her companions on the stage, when suddenly she staggered and fell, apparently lifeless, but in reality paralysed. She recovered, only to live three years in solitary retirement.

It is seldom that a deliberate murder takes place on the stage; but one that took place in Paris a few years ago caused a great sensation in the French capital. A clown named Hou[illegible]rend had taken a liking to the voice of a child of nine, and had her trained for six years. After her debut she discovered that he loved her. She refused to marry him, however, saying she loved Pippo, a singer who had recently joined the company in which she was singing. While the girl and her lover were singing a duet together at rehearsal, Hougrend drew a revolver, and fired four shots at them.

Buttons in Church Collection

The Rev. Douglas Morgan, curate of Oswestry Parish Church, said in far-off lands like Australia and Canada the Churches were not sheltered by endowments, but because they loved their religion the people made tremendous sacrifices in almsgiving for the support of that religion. The veriest ploughboy among those people in far-off lands would scorn to misdemean himself by offering pieces of metal and buttons and other rubbish which some members of that congregation—as the churchwardens could prove—were accustomed to place in the collection at that church.

ASQUITH'S BIRTHPLACE

Received Freedom of the Borough of Morley—Childhood Memories

Mr. Asquith received the freedom of the borough of Morley, his birthplace, one of the textile towns clustered in a triangular tract of country formed by Bradford, Leeds, and Dewsbury. Mr. Asquith was born at Croft House, Morley, on Sept. 12, 1852, and there he lived for seven years. His ancestors are said to have lived in the town for over 400 years, and the Asquith family were the trustees of the Old Chapel, now the St. Mary's Congregational Church. The future Prime Minister attended, with his parents, the Rehoboth Chapel, and some time ago, in referring to this, Mr. Asquith stated that he recollected, as a small boy, taking part in the Sunday school procession and carrying a banner on the occasion of the rejoicings at the declaration of peace in the Crimea.

Both the chapel which he attended and the house in which he was born are still utilised. The house, which stands in its own grounds, is within 300 yards of the main thoroughfare, but it is almost hidden from view by mills and other buildings erected in the streets abutting the estate.

When Mr. Asquith was seven years old, his father, Mr. Joseph Dixon Asquith, a manufacturer, died at Mirfield in the prime of life, and Mrs. Asquith removed to Huddersfield with her children, who were sent to the local Grammar School. Subsequently Herbert Henry Asquith attended the City of London School, and having obtained two scholarships, went to Oxford in 1870 where his great talents manifested themselves in even greater degree. From that time his career has been one of unending brilliancy.

Killed by the Dead

An extraordinary occurrence is reported from Corunna. In the upper story of a house in that town lay the dead body of an old woman. Suddenly the floor of the room collapsed, and the corpse fell on a group of men in the room below. One of the men died from the injuries caused by the falling body, and the others were severely hurt. The man who was killed had gone to the house to present an outstanding account, not knowing that his debtor had died.

A Nest of Adders

While John Howie, foreman roadman, Colmonell, was loading metal from a stone depot near Poundland, he came upon a nest of adders among the metal. It was composed of leafy mould and loose earth. There were fifteen adders in all in the nest varying from 5 inches to 12 inches in length. John M'Quaker examined them, and was convinced the reptiles were of a deadly species. The vermin

ASSOCIATED PRESS ACCURACY.

It would be well if The Associated Press, its purposes and practices were b)tter understood alike by reader and editor The institution bears a very important relation to American life and is well worth studying. Its telegrams are printed primarily in 850 newspapers and are copied or re-written in unnumbered thousands of other daily, weekly or monthly publications. It is safe to say that they are read by over three-fourths of the people of the country, and from the intelligence they convey practically everyone gathers his information respecting current events.

All will agree that it is important, to use no stronger word, that the market reports be trustworthy. What assurance is there, not only that the reports of The Associated Press are honest, but that out of the necessities of the of the case, they must be more certain of accuracy than any other market reports? One good reason arises out of the magnitude of the Association's work. There are persons who think it would be better to have a half-dozen small agencies acting in sharp competition, but this is a mistake. Such rivalry would houbtless tend to the greatest celerity in gathering the news. But such rivalry would not, from any point of view, tend to greater accuracy. And it is far less important that the citizen gets prompt news than that he gets true news. However desirable it may be to be first in the field in the presentation of news, and this feature of the work is not to be undervalued, still its reputation for truth and strict impartiality is the best asset of The Associated Press. And no smaller agency can possibly give as great a guarantee for accuracy or impartiality.

First there are the traditions of half a century which must be lived up to. This spirit which animates every one in the service is a good deal, but it is not all. More important is the fact that every telegram of The Associated Press is subjected ta such a degree of censorship as to make untruthful or biased reports practically impossible. Every one familiar with the work knows it is impossiqle for an- one in the service, from the General Manager to the least important agent at the most remote point, to send out an untruthful dispatch and escape detection. One ma- write a biased or inaccurate statement for a sin-le newspaper and succeed with it, but this cannot be done with the argus-eved millions who read the dispatches of The Associated Press. Obviousl- then, the very magnitude of The Associated Press work tends to make truthfulness and impartiality in the service imperative. It cannot be used to "grind any one's ax" to serve any special inter?st, or to help any political party or faction or propaganda.

This is not laying claim to any great virtue. It is saying that, under its system of operation and in view of the millions of critics passing upon its work, The Associated Press is automatically truthful and fair. If a man complains that The Associated Press is run in the interest of this party, or that, it is perfectly clear what he wants is not fair play, but a leaning his way. As one evidence of the truthfulness of the Associated Press reports, it is significant that, during the existence of the present organization, damages have never been paid in any action for libel.

If Breathing is Difficult, If Nostrils are Plugged, You Have Catarrh

At Last a Remedy that already has Permanently Cured Thousands.

Perhaps you haven't heard of the new remedy—it's so pleasant to use—fills the nose, throat and lungs with a healing balsamic vapor like the air of the pine woods. It's really a wonderful remedy—utilizes that marvelous antiseptic only found in the Blue Gum tree of Australia.

The name of this grand specific is Catarrhozone, and you can't find its equal on earth for coughs, colds, catarrh or throat trouble. You see it's not longer necessary to drug the stomach—that spoils digestion—just simply inhale the balsamic essence of Catarrhozone, which are so rich in healing that they drive out every trace of Catarrh in no time.

"I look upon Catarrhozone as the most valuable medical discovery of recent years," writes R. V. Potter, of Prince Albert. "As a long sufferer from nasal and throat catarrh I was obliged to take considerable medicine and, although it helped me, my digestion was always disturbed and the catarrh didn't go away. With Catarrhozone it was different. It cleaned my nose and throat of all phlegm and discharged a stuffy feeling in my nose and frontal headaches. To-day I am entirely free from Catarrh, and I use my Catarrhozone Inhaler a little every day in order to prevent the disease from returning."

With Catarrhozone experimenting ends. A permanent curative action results. The large size costs $1.00, lasts two months and is guaranteed. Small size 50c.; sample size 25. All storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

THE NE TEMERE DECREE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Examiner publishes an evidently inspired telegraph message with big headlines, from Montreal, that it is possible that the Ne Temere Decree may be withdrawn from Canada. Enquiries are being set on foot on the subject. Orders have been received from Rome to this effect. We cannot be too grateful in Canada to those who fought so valiantly against it. It is no doubt due to its resistance here, as in Germany, that the Vatican is thinking twice in the matter. The Examiner will no doubt hasten to do these people who resisted it justice. There was a time when the whole agitation against Ne Temere was ridiculed by some so-called Protestants, but now that the Church is taking the matter seriously these so-called Protestants will hurry to do likewise. The many people who tried to throw cold water should feel thoroughly ashamed of themselves.

PIONEER SUFFRAGIST

This Old Lady Was Preaching Woman's Rights Half Century Ago

Fifty years ago, when women mentioned anything about "equal rights" or "equal pay for the same work" in behalf of womankind, the lordly male smiled derisively and most of the women themselves shuddered. Now it's all different. Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood is one of the few original woman suffragists—"equal righters" they called themselves in the old days—who lived to see her ideas become popular.

MRS. LOCKWOOD

A half-century or more ago Mrs. Lockwood was preaching the gospel of equal rights, political and economic. She studied law, then an unheard-of thing for a woman to do, and she applied for admission to the Supreme Court of the United States. Denied at first she succeeded in having a law passed admitting women lawyers to practice before any court in the neighboring Republic. She also was twice a candidate for the presidency of the United States. Besides her notable work for women suffrage Mrs. Lockwood fought valiantly for universal peace, the betterment of Indian conditions and temperance.

REMOVING A RING

Some Pointers to Remember For Relieving a Finger

Frequently persons have difficulty in getting a ring off a finger. It becomes fixed by the swelling of the skin or joint and any ordinary effort to remove it only adds to the swelling.

The first remedy to apply is soap and water. As a rule this suffices. If it does not, take a strong thread or piece of fine twine, and, beginning at the end of the finger, wind it regularly around and around it, with the coils close together, till the ring is reached. Then slip the end through the ring from the side next the end of the finger, and begin to unwind the string, which, as it progresses, carries the ring with it. Sometimes, however, when the finger is very much swollen, and when the ring is deeply embedded, even this plan will not succeed. The only recourse is to cut through the ring with a pair of cutting pliers. But first slip under the ring a thin piece of metal or cardboard to protect the skin from injury

In Doing Up Fruit

It is well to look at all canned fruit a week or so after it is put away. By that time air bubbles will have arisen if they are to appear. When these are evident, cook the fruit again.

In making marmalades or preserving it is well to put the fruit and sugar into the bottle in alternate layers. The fruit, of course, is put in first. Stir occasionally to prevent the mixture catching.

It is always a good plan to rinse the preserving kettle with cold water. The moisture on the bottom and side is a factor in preventing the fruit burning.

In making jelly let the fruit juice drip through the jelly bag. When no more drips easily, the remainder of the fruit may be squeezed, but keep this liquid separate. Use it in making marmalade or a second-grade jelly. It will taste as well but will not be so clear as the drip jelly.

Hipless "Slip-on"

The very newest contrivance in the interests of slender figure lines is the "slip-on," which is a sort of hip elastic stocking, made of stout webbing and silk elastic. There are no buttons, laces or hooks and eyes, and one must get into the "slip-on" precisely as the sterner sex gets into trousers, except that both feet are put through at once and into the same aperture. When on the "slip-on" fits like the paper on the wall, and clings to the figure from waistline to knees, as no mere corset provided with laces and bones at the back ever dreamed of clinging. There are no bones, not even a casing holding metal eyelets—just cleverly shaped gussets of webbing and elastic, so that the figure tapers in slender lines of trimness from shoulder to knee, with just a slight curve at the waistline such as has the naturally beautiful, uncorseted figure.

Cooking Dishes

Instead of using scouring agencies to keep your tins and pots spotless simply wash them in hot clean suds and dry well before putting them away. For baking tins such as cake and bread tins, just heat and wipe them with a damp cloth. If food has burned on, set your dish aside with a little warm water and saleoda in it. Then wash in the usual way. Food will never stick or burn on to cooking dishes treated this way.

Care of Umbrellas

Umbrellas should never be kept tightly rolled. It causes them to wear out much faster. When wet an umbrella should always be left to dry open, with the handle down. If this is not possible let the water drip from it when it is resting on the handle.

To Clean Jewellery

The simplest way to clean jewellery is to dip it in a suds of castile soap. It should then be rinsed in diluted alcohol with a few drops of ammonia added. It will look bright as new.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

MY MOTHER.

(Published by Request.)

Old and wrinkled, with silvery hair,
And eyes bedimmed with the touch of time,
My mother sits in her old arm-chair,
Weaving threads of gold with her autumn rime.
Once my mother was young and fair,
When the woodlark warbled her wedding chime.

And she oftimes speaks of the quaint old ways
Of the long ago, and catches gleams
From the summer-land of her vanquished days
Through the mist of years, till the present teems
With scenes that gladden her childish gaze
And forms that people her youthful dreams.

The old log house, with its homely cheer,
She remembers well, and how, when a child,
She strayed to her father's clearing near
O'er a corduroy road, through forests wild—
A way that grew fairer year by year
Till fields of plent beside it smiled.
She recalls the preacher, rigidly brave
To battle with creeds and foes unseen,
The quaint old church, with its echoing nave,
Its old-time choir, and Sabbath serene;
While summer now over the preacher's grave
And the site of the church spreads a mantle of green.

And sits with her knitting and heedeth not
The ways of the world that come and go,
Its murmurs of strife are scarcely caught
From the far-off tides that ceaselessly flow.
Home is her world, in a lowly lot;
Her crown was won where the daisies grew.

And I am the hero of that world,
The genius of all whom her minstrels sing—
I, so nameless, an atom swirled
In the throng, where the deeds of the great course ring;
For me love's banner is gently unfurled—
I am the hero, I am the king.

Old and wrinkled! Those lines of care
Were written for me; there is wealth untold
Blossoming out from her silvery hair,
Better to me than houses and gold.
Once my mother was young and fair,
God bless her now she is wrinkled and old!

ENGLAND IS YEARNING FOR AN EXCITING GAME

Cricket Losing its Popularity Owing to Lack of Snap and Ginger in the Play

Baseball is invading England and France; Germany is awakening to a deep interest in outdoor sports; baseball has won Cuba, and is making strides in Central America, and it has been introduced with marked success among the savages of Northern Luzon as a vent for their energies that in the past have been expended in head hunting and looting. In England the question is becoming daily more interesting and the situation gives rise to the question whether baseball is not to become a rival for cricket with the logical outcome of international contests at the end of the season.

England's national game, cricket, is facing a crisis. The people are complaining that it is too slow, and it is being compared, greatly to its disadvantage, to the snap, speed and sustained interest of baseball. Gate receipts for the country championship matches are falling so fast that cricket "fans" are worried over the future of the game. Cricket followers want exactly what the baseball public occasionally clamor for, more hard hitting. The great complaint is that the players of the present day are given too much to safe play, instead of taking chances by hitting the ball hard.

A game which requires two days and seldom furnishes any exciting finishes seems at best lacking in action, but one of the complaints against cricket to-day is that the players loaf at their work. They stroll on to the field; take long rests for tea, and generally waste time. Some newspaper suggestions are harder grounds and a "liver" ball to make play swift.

But a more radical note is being heard with considerable insistence. Cricket not meeting the need of the day in England, baseball is being seriously considered as a national substitute, and the question whether the game will not become the summer pastime of the British Isles is by no means idle gossip. Proposals have been made seriously by a number of English sporting writers that baseball be given a trial. These men are dissatisfied with the state of cricket, and declare any hope of reforming that game is exceedingly remote with the present authorities in control.

Baseball has already reached some degree of popularity in Ireland, and there are a number of teams in the Midlands.

SOME REAL ACTION

How a Young College Student Saved the Lives 500 People

By MILDRED CAROLINE GOODRIDGE.

A night of sweet sounds, the beautiful villa of White Shadows a scene of moonlight joyousness. A fair girl with pride in her face, Lucile Page—a conscious young man, her accepted lover, the center of an admiring throng—Harold Worthington.

Beyond the group, Leslie Forbes, his sister Myrtle, and young Walter Dale—the brother a natural athlete in build, the sister a charming model of girlish loveliness, her would-be lover slightly reserved, but with a fine intellectual and humane face.

"Well," observed Leslie in his offhand way, "there's hero worship for you!"

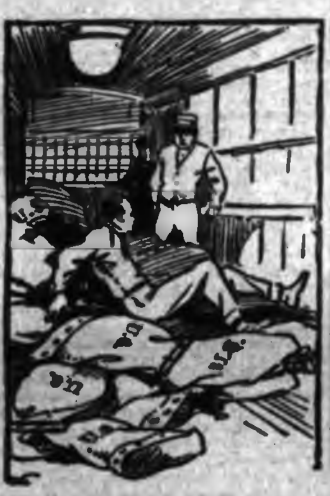
His companions did not venture any suggestions. Walter was watching Myrtle's face with attention. He was a keen analyst. He loved Myrtle, and he was a loyal friend of her brother. Outside of being the best student in his class at college, however, he had never made much noise in the world. He knew that pretty Myrtle was something of a dreamer. He wondered now if she was comparing him with the great, bluff Worthington, who was receiving the adulation of the light-minded group of loveliness about him as if he was some valiant warrior.

"Big Injun hero, eh?" continued Leslie. "Saved a drowning man up at the falls, didn't he? I heard that what he really did was to toss the struggling victim a plank. At all events, he didn't get wet. Come on, Walter. It's back to college for us to-morrow, you know."

But Walter had no thought of leaving his lady love. He noted her watching the distant group, and he fancied he could read her thoughts.

"I do wish you could rouse up my brother to—" Myrtle paused. Walter was sure she meant to say "something like that," meaning the heroic deed of Worthington. But she added: "to some real action."

"I think I know what you mean, Myrtle," said Walter in his usual direct way. "You believe that Leslie is indolent. Yes, that is true, but a more whole-souled friend never lived. Believe me, I am doing all I can to urge him to consider study more seriously."



Landed Inside the Mail Car.

"I know you are," sighed Myrtle, but gratefully. "Mother worries about him continually. She hears a great deal about his reckless ways. He does not seem to appreciate that her life hangs upon a very slender thread."

"Believe me, Myrtle, I shall do all I can to direct him aright," said Walter with deep feeling.

The theme was a grave one with Walter. Wild, reckless Leslie Forbes had no better friend than this sterling young fellow student. But for him he would have been twice expelled from college. Many a night had Walter sat up assisting his chum to prepare at the last hour for a critical examination.

Walter gave his friend a great talking to after arriving at the college. He worked double time posting him to keep up with his classes. Leslie seemed really on the mend. Then some graduates visited the town, there was a riotous time and some broken windows at the village tavern, and Leslie was in the black books of the professors again.

One afternoon Walter started out for a walk. It was not until he had ended a good long sprint at a little railroad station that, placing his hand in a pocket, he discovered some cards that by mistake he had put on Leslie's coat.

Walter sat down to rest on a bench. He heard the distant roar of a coming train just as the station agent came rushing wildly out of the depot. He was white as death.

"Wire from Hampton!" he gasped. "Bridge around the curve gone down. Semaphore won't work—must stop the limited!"

The man ran down the track in the direction of the semaphore three hundred yards distant. He stumbled, started up again, and then sprang aside, for the approaching train was fairly upon him.

Walter took it all in at one swift glance. Then he tore off his coat. Near at hand was the mail crane.

A mighty resolve came into his mind. He ran up the steps, placed one hand on the extended hook, and waited, breathless.

There was a blur, dizzying and nerve-racking. How he did it he could not [illegible] into new unconsciousness.

How he found his way back to the college he could only dimly remember, but some one was rousing him in his bed, a fellow student.

"Tried to get you up before," he announced. "Forbes has gone."

"Gone—where?" inquired Walter, vaguely.

"Home—telegram. Mother dying, they say. On his way—look there!"

It was a morning newspaper that the student held before the eyes of the bewildered Walter. In glaring headlines the story was told of the marvelous heroism of "Leslie Forbes, a student of Hampton college." The man who had saved five hundred lives had disappeared after his intrepid act of bravery, but the discovery of his coat had revealed his identity.

Walter said nothing to anybody about the mistake. He was thinking anxiously of Myrtle in her great home trouble. Three days later a friend wrote him telling him of the death of Mrs. Forbes.

And four days later, graduating amid rare scholastic honors, Walter received a letter bearing one word, a welcome, welling, wonderful word to his anxious soul: "Come." And Myrtle had written it!

Myrtle greeted him as he reached the Forbes home the next morning. He gazed sorrowfully at her deep mourning. She retained his hand as she looked into his eyes, her own swimming with tears.

It was a pathetic story that she told. The news of the saving of the train had reached her mother before she died. She saw her son the hero of a wonderful deed of bravery. She had died happy, Leslie by her side. A smile upon her face, she blessed him, and he—in that impressive moment did not undeceive her, but promised to change his life—a vow he kept. The true story of the railroad incident he had since made public.

"I bade you come," spoke Myrtle, "because I wished to thank you, to tell you how proud I am of you, because, through you, my mother died happy and my brother is saved."

"It was a precious word you sent me," responded Walter. "I am through with my college education, and am going back east. But, if you ever send me again, that one word, 'Come,' I will speed me on my way to you."

"My heart bids me speak a better word," said Myrtle, shyly but earnestly.

"And that word is—?"

"Stay."

FOR HER BABY'S SAKE

Woman Who Stole In Order to Pay For Her Little One's Keep

A pitiable story of an improvident marriage and its result was unfolded at Marylebone, when Mrs. Grace Elizabeth Rogers, twenty-four, was charged with stealing $15 belonging to Mrs. Constance Lindsay, wife of Captain George Lindsay. She had been in Mrs. Lindsay's service as a cook-general, but left after taking the money from a dressing table. She returned later and confessed what she had done. When arrested she burst into tears and told the officer that she took the money to pay for the keep of her baby and her own lodgings. "That is quite true," said a detective. "She has a baby out to nurse, and is in arrears with her payments. Her husband is out of work; their home has been sold up; and altogether it is a very sad case of poverty indeed." The husband was asked his occupation and he replied that he "was anything."

"What did you marry on?" asked Mr. Plowden.

"Nothing," the man replied.

Mr. Plowden told Mrs. Rogers that the piteous plea made on her behalf would be urged in vain on any future occasion. He bound her over.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, feeding itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

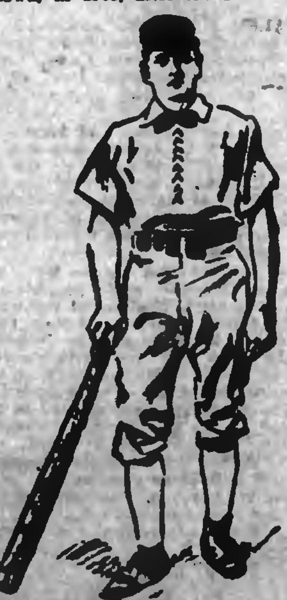
HE PREFERS PULPIT TO THE BASEBALL FIELD

Billy Sunday, Now an Evangelist, Was a Wonder on Bases in His Playing Days

There may be a dispute as to the identity of the wealthiest old-time ball player; there is some doubt about the ex-hero who has achieved the most enviable distinction in the arts and sciences, but there is no argument regarding the identity of the best known veteran. Billy Sunday wins easily. Rev. Billy Sunday, otherwise known as Rev. William Ashley Sunday was born in Storey, Ames county, Iowa, in 1863, after the death of his father. As a child his home was the Soldiers' Orphans' home at Davenport and in time he learned the furniture business at Marshalltown, Iowa, and it was there, in 1883, that Capt. Anson saw in him the making of a great ball player and took him to Chicago.



BILLY SUNDAY

the fastest baserunner the National League ever knew.

Billy Sunday was the fastest man that ever wore a National League uniform. It is doubtful if any player to-day could hold him at 100 yards, notwithstanding the speed of such men as Vin Campbell, Bert Shotton, Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson, Ray Chapman and Ralph Capron. Upon the occasion of his match race with Arlie Latham, Sunday was backed by Chicagoans for $75,000 and they won their money.

Sunday says he is proud he was a ball player and that he always found players "on the square." It would be be interesting to know whether, as he gazes over the sea of faces in various tabernacles, he doesn't sometimes harken back to the days when the bleachers rang with the cry, "There he goes!" as he darted for [illegible]

Pitchers "pitched out" when Sunday was on the base lines, and unless the pitch was perfect and the catcher's throw low and true, there wasn't a chance to catch the deer-footed runner.

Sunday hit [illegible] in 1887, which is a splendid average to-day. In 1888, for Pittsburg, he led all right fielders, playing 119 games. In 1885 and 1886 he played with Chicago, with Ryan, George Gore and Dalrymple. In '85 he played 43 games, fielding .826 and hitting .256, at a time when .300 hitters were mighty scarce. In '86 he fielded .914 and hit .243.

Beginning in '83, Sunday played with Anson's team five years. Then he joined Pittsburg. In 1891, while with Philadelphia, he received his release, in answer, he believes, to a prayer for spiritual guidance. At this time Cincinnati offered Sunday $500 a month, but he accepted a position with the Chicago Y.M.C.A. at $83 a month. "The game is not faster today than in the '80's," says Sunday. "They have more combinations now, but not a bit more speed."

Notable Minister Dead

A notable figure in the Welsh Congregational ministry passed away in the person of the Rev. David Griffith, Bethel, near Carnarvon, who was within a few months of attaining his ninetieth year. He occasionally kept preaching engagements up to a short time ago. He was an accomplished Welsh writer, some of his published works being well known in the Principality, and at the time of his death he was engaged upon his reminiscences.

Gentlemen,—

I beg to draw your attention to the fact that I have suffered from rheumatism for the last nine years, and particularly for the last five. I have been unable to stand, walk, or in fact, help myself in any way, my knees and elbows swollen, drawn and stiff; could not bend them in any way. I tried everything, went to the Banff Springs three months in 1905, twice to Hot Springs, Arkansas, two months in 1907, four months in 1908 done me no good. I heard of SANOL last September and have been taking it ever since, and I am glad to say the swelling is about all gone. I am going around the house on crutches, also my joints are loosening and straightening, and I fully expect that SANOL will cure me.

I believe SANOL will cure rheumatism, for my case is a bad one, and in fact has been pronounced incurable and if I improve for the next three months as I have for the last three I will be walking in good shape.

I remain,
Yours truly,
John J. Lane.

P.S.—You can show this letter to anyone you feel like, and send them to me as I can tell them better than I can write it.

DR. DOUGLAS MAWSON

Dr. Douglas Mawson, Antarctic explorer, is a distinguished Australian who has achieved a brilliant record in Antarctic exploration. He accompanied Sir Ernest Shackleton in the famous expedition which in 1909 almost reached the South Pole. He was with the party which accomplished the first ascent of Mount Erebus, the greatest active volcano as yet known to exist on the Antarctic continent and he was one of the three who fought their way through the southern mountains in the face of stupendous difficulties and incredible hardships to the South Magnetic Pole. He graduated with honors at Sydney before he was twenty, and then devoted himself to scientific research and geology. He acted as geologist to the Australian expedition which explored the New Hebrides. In the Shackleton expedition, as Sir Ernest has recorded, he was "physicist, economic geologist, and photographer."

He stands over six feet in height, and is "the embodiment of the best type that grows up in Australia."

VOICE IN THE STORM

"Rock of Ages" Heard Amid Screams on Battered Liner

While the liner Nairnshire was being tossed and battered by a cyclonic storm between Cape Town and Hobart the terrified passengers, huddled on the deck, heard the voice of one [illegible] woman, Miss Rowe, singing "Rock of Ages."

The liner was swept by the heavy seas, the steerage quarters were flooded, woodwork was smashed to splinters, and iron beams and derrick heads were tossed about the decks.

The door of the chief officer's cabin on the deck was forced open by a heavy wave, and the officer was carried on to the hatchway. The carpenter was washed about the deck and badly injured, and the battle for life had to be carried on in the dark as the electric light plant was swamped.

The screams of women and children added to the horror of the awful din caused by the crashing waves. An officer with a little girl in his arms had to swarm up the rigging to save himself and his charge, and an 80-year-old man was flung from the deck to the cabin.

Through all the crew worked with desperate bravery and the liner eventually reached Hobart in a dismantled condition. For two days the seamen contented themselves with one biscuit each.

Captain Forbes, the commander, was presented by the passengers with an address appreciative of his remarkable seamanship on arrival at Hobart.

Criminals Cured Through Eyes

Dr. [illegible], an English oculist, who made a long study of the human eye as an index to character, discovered what he believes to be the key to happiness, good behaviour and success. If you have been bad instead of good, unhappy instead of happy, and, if your life has been punctuated with miserable failure, perhaps it wasn't all your own fault. You may attribute it to your head, or rather to the condition of your brain.

Tenderers shall state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus in addition to the Crown dues of 40c. per cord for Spruce, and 20c. per cord for other pulpwoods, or such other rates as may from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, for the right to operate a pulp mill and a paper mill on or near the area referred to.

Such tenderers shall be required to erect a mill or mills on or near the territory and to manufacture the wood into pulp and paper in the Province of Ontario,—the paper mill to be erected when directed by the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

Parties making tender will be required to deposit with their tender a marked cheque payable to the Honourable the Treasurer of the Province of Ontario, for ten per cent. of the amount of their tender, to be forfeited in the event of their not entering into an agreement to carry out the conditions, etc.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

For particulars as to description of territory, capital to be invested, etc., apply to the undersigned.

Scramble for Coppers

Some street arabs in Waterloo road had a fine haul. A street car stopped outside the George Tavern a woman who was coming down the stairs knocked the conductor's bag in the air and the money was scattered over the road. A crowd of boys scrambled for the coins and secured a considerable number of them.

Undertaker Dies at Funeral

There was a sudden death at the funeral of the late Mr. William Francis, Milford Haven. The mourners had followed the hearse to Rehoboth Calvinistic Methodist Chapel, where a service was proceeding, when the undertaker, Mr. James Lloyd, who was standing near the door, fell to the floor and expired. Mr. Lloyd was forty-seven years of age.

EX-LION TAMER'S DEATH

Curious Story at an Aston Inquest—An Enlarged Heart

An Aston man's varied and adventurous career was referred to at an inquest held in England on the body of John Bertram Douglas.

Evidence was given that the man went into the bar at the public-house at 10 p.m., and at ten minutes to eleven got up off the stool on which he had been sitting to go out, having expressed the intention of going to meet his wife, who was engaged as a dresser at Aston Hippodrome. He had only taken a step towards the door when he fell and died immediately. Formerly he was a lion tamer, and he had been mauled and bitten by wild animals. Later he was employed as a baggage man at the Aston Hippodrome, and latterly had worked at the Dunlop Rubber Works. About a fortnight ago he complained that a piece of iron, weighing half a hundredweight had fallen on his head, and since then he had suffered from headache. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that the organs were all healthy except the heart, which was very much enlarged, weighing 17½ oz., as compared with the normal weight of 12 oz. The brain was normal and there was no injury to the head. Death was due to the enlarged condition of the heart, which the doctor attributed to overstrain which the man had probably sustained in the course of his muscular exertions. The doctor added that there were extensive scars on the legs such as would be caused by the bites or scratches of wild animals. Douglas was formerly a lion tamer connected with Bostock's menagerie, and performed at the Glasgow Zoo and Hippodrome for many years. He had travelled all over the world. Shortly after his death a telegram was received offering him a position as lion tamer to another well known show.

A farm servant, named Frederick Davies, was washed off the cliff by a wave at Gower, South Wales, and drowned.

Inhabitants of Sleetburn, Durham, attribute the spread of scarlet fever in the village to a plague of rats at the local schools.

Free After Fourteen Years

Sentenced to death for murder in London in 1898, James Harris, who had his sentence commuted to penal servitude for life, has been released from Parkhurst Prison.

Chorister's Record

Mr. F. Holmes, of Lavendon, Bucks, who is seventy-three years old, has sung bass in the local chapel choir for fifty-four years. He has also worked for over forty years on one farm.

After Seventy-seven Years

Under the bankruptcy which occurred in 1836 of Charles Sutton, formerly a printer in London, a dividend was ordered in the London Bankruptcy Court. Funds which have come to hand will allow of payment of between 25c and 50c the dollar.

Starving a Dog

John Farington, a laborer, was sentenced at Chertsey to a month's hard labor for cruelty to a dog. Mr. James Darling, a veterinary surgeon, described the animal as a "fine skeleton covered with skin." It must have been half starved for a month to have got into such a condition.

NEWFOUNDLAND ISLE SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE

Story of the Settlement of the "Isle of the Sea"—Population 300,000

There is at least one case in which distance does not lend enchantment to the scene. The traveller on an Atlantic liner, crossing the dreaded fogged Banks of Newfoundland would never imagine that the bare, bald headlands which he sees when rounding Cape Race—that graveyard of the Atlantic—to be anything but the fringes of a country as bare and bald as the rocks themselves. He has to visit this "Terra Nova" and then he will join the many voices already raised in proclaiming it "The Sportsman's Paradise" and a typical "Isle of the Sea." The discovery of Newfoundland dates from 1497, when John Cabot, of Bristol, Eng., in the little ship "Matthew" of barely twenty tons burden made landing at what is now Cape Bonavista. It was not until 1583 that the island was formally taken possession of by Great Britain and attempts at settlement made. Following its discovery its shores were frequented by sailors from all the European countries. They came out to prosecute what is still the greatest natural asset of the country, cod fishery. For many years the island was a bone of contention between the powers, especially England and France and it was only in 1713, by the Treaty of Utrecht, that the French renounced their rights of possession. They still claimed exclusive rights to fish on the North and West coasts and for nearly two hundred years there were frequent controversies between the two nations until the matter was finally adjusted at the Hague conference of 1904. France then withdrawing all claims in return for certain concessions on the West coast of Africa. The island is some 317 miles long by 316 broad, with an area of 42,000 square miles, that is about half as large again as Ireland. The many inlets and harbors on its coast cause it to have a comparatively great length of coast line. Situated at the mouth of the St. Lawrence its strategic position is ideal. The power possessing it is in the best possible position to defend or attack the Eastern coasts of the Dominion. Amongst the islands of the world Newfoundland ranks tenth in size. The total population is some 300,000 of which 50,000 live in the capital St. John's, the remainder being scattered along the coasts in numbers varying from a good sized town to the smallest hamlet. Nearly one-third of the interior is taken up by waterways. Newfoundland's natural riches consist chiefly in her fisheries—cod, seal, whale and salmon, in order of importance. Four times the amount of fish caught in the Dominion of Canada, nor twice that taken in the Norwegian waters does not come up to a season's catch in Newfoundland and the supply shows no signs of falling off.

Judge on Women's Dress

"I have heard," said Judge Craig the Belfast Recorder, addressing the jury in a case in which evidence was given in regard to the wearing apparel of the accused, "that a good many ladies spend the sermon time in church in studying the dress of their lady friends. A new hat, a new bonnet, a new bow, or even a pair of gloves, is written down in the tablets of their memory. Dress is a very great point with them, and to be an expert on such questions is one of the things in which women pride themselves."

Hatpin Danger

Notices have been posted in the Glasgow tramway cars calling attention to the danger to passengers by large pins projecting from ladies' hats. It is stated that a number of accidents have occurred, and the [illegible] accordingly request the attention of ladies to the matter to avoid further risks.

FLYING MEN URGED TO BEQUEATH CORPSES

For Experiments That Will Provide Life-Saving Devices for Aviators—Justified by Death-Roll

The gruesome suggestion is put forward by one of the leading British authorities on aeronautics that aviators should make arrangements during their lifetime so that their mangled remains, after an accident, may be experimented upon with a view to preventing the recurrence of other similar tragedies. The idea would be almost ludicrous if it were not justified by the appalling death-roll which has marked aviation in Europe, and especially in Great Britain.

The proposer of this plan points out that science is to-day almost entirely ignorant of the effects of shock upon the human frame. He emphasises the vital necessity of knowing what force of blow will cause the breakage of "the bone box which constitutes the human skull; what force acting in what direction is liable to disjoint the linked parts of the neck and the spinal cord, and what resistance to bending before fracture is offered by the thigh and arm." These facts can only be properly ascertained by "reverent and skilful" experiments conducted on the mortal remains of those whose lack of proper mechanical precautions brings them to sudden death. It is the absence of any such experiments and data that makes the devices such as helmets, belts, etc., now being employed by aviators so ineffective and crude.

"The helmet which takes the highly localised blow and spreads it over a larger area of the head, thereby diminishing the intensity of the blow," writes this authority, "is a crude beginning." The elastic belt, which protects the flyer from being hurled out of the aeroplane, and keeps him within the centre of a friable structure, provides that this structure in breaking absorbs much of the work of the fall and spares him much of the shock.

There exists an invaluable defence against damage—too little used in aeroplaning, though well known to the balloonist—the basket-work cage. Such a stiff, yet elastic cage, installed round, and forming the seat of the flyer, and so extended as to shelter his legs and the major part of his person, would, according to the opinion of every balloonist of experience, form a marvelous protection not only against penetration by splinters of struts or spars, but against the general blow of an otherwise fatal alighting. It will do this in virtue of its ability to distort while absorbing work and without splintering or breaking. It is known that the basket work seat is used to this end in the Royal Aeronautic Force aeroplanes, but not nearly enough.

FIREPROOF CLOTH FOR CLOTHING

English Chemist Can Make Flannelette and Other Light Materials Absolutely Inflammable

At last a cheap process for making cloth absolutely fireproof has been discovered. There have been lots of fireproof materials brought out that could be used for many of the purposes for which ordinary cloth is used, but this is the first time that there has been any definite steps taken toward producing a cloth that is cheap enough for ordinary uses. And it is also the first time there has ever been devised a process that would fireproof ordinary cotton cloth in a way that enabled the cloth to be washed or laundered.

The new process is the work of an English chemist and his claims are based upon the fact that the fireproofing of any material desired, and especially of cotton cloth, will not increase the cost of production more than a fraction of a cent.

Heretofore the cotton cloths that have been fireproofed have taken on a hard and unyielding texture that made them almost impossible for the ordinary uses of such materials. It is well known that the cotton flannel material which women use throughout the world for making wrappers and night clothing, is highly inflammable and that a number of tragedies have been caused by its being worn. Despite this disadvantage the cloth is used because it is soft and gives good wear. The discovery of a process for rendering such material fireproof, therefore, is deserving of more than ordinary mention.

The process through which fireproofing is obtained is described as being extremely simple. The cloth is soaked in a solution of sodium stannate. This is a combination of soda and the acid of tin. The cloth is thoroughly dried and is then placed in a vessel containing sulphate of ammonium and subjected to heat. This being accomplished the cloth is thoroughly washed. When dried once more it is ready for use. The fibre of which the cloth is composed become impregnated with a tinny substance which forms a practical protection against fire and yet does not in any way destroy the fine texture of the cloth.

The uses to which the fireproof material can be put are practically unlimited, its inventor claims. It can be used for lace curtains, for clothing for women, children, firemen and for home furnishings. After it has been properly treated the cloth absolutely refuses to burn, no matter how long a time it might be held in direct contact with a flame. Woolen goods can be fireproofed as well as cotton.

GALLOPING HORSE TOY

Beast's Legs and Head and Jockey's Body Move

An amusing toy in the form of a galloping horse has been designed by a Kentucky man. It is particularly appropriate these days when mechanical toys are absorbing the youth of the land. The body of the horse is fixed to a standard rising from the base, but the forelegs and hindlegs are pivoted to the body and at their middle joints. The tail and neck are also pivoted to the body and the body of the jockey is pivoted at the hips. The horse's feet are fastened to swinging shafts that operate in the base by means of a rotatable gear. As one shaft is pushed forward the other comes backward, each carrying with it a foreleg and hindleg on the same side of the animal. The gear is operated by means of a crank and the faster the crank is turned the faster the horse trots, bobbing his head and waving his tail, while the jockey seems to urge him.

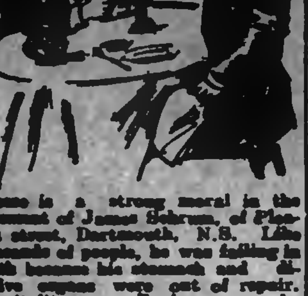
When Appetite Fails And Digestion is Bad

DYSPEPSIA TENDENCIES ARE SERIOUS AND SHOULD BE TREATED ACCORDINGLY



There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N.S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead. I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made a new man of me. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins — clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly enervated man and I strongly urge every one in failing or lost health to use his grand remedies."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut are purely vegetable —25c. per box, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Water Very Low.

"The water in Stoney Lake is lower than it has been in many years," said a prominent steamboat man to The Times yesterday. "The boats are obliged to take freight and passengers on their upper decks, the main decks being too low for the wharves. The sooner further conservation of the water is accomplished the better for everybody," he continued. Our informant was of opinion that there is plenty of water if properly conserved.

Health and Beauty Aids

By Mrs. Mae Martyn

Quinine: Yes, you can overcome the results of the careless treatment of your hair which has commenced to destroy its natural beauty and cause it to grow dull, "stringy," brittle and fall out. I shampoo occasionally by using a teaspoonful canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. This greatly invigorates the scalp tissues and hair roots and produces a healthy condition in both, insuring a beautiful growth of even-colored, fluffy hair. I have found canthrox shampoo is extremely soothing to tender, itchy scalps and allows the hair to dry very quickly. Just shake up and use the quinine hair tonic. I frequently advise and it will put the scalp in a healthy condition and your hair will grow in thick and beautiful. Here is the recipe: Into one-half pint alcohol pour one ounce quinzoin, then to this add one-half pint water. This gives you a full pint of the finest hair tonic and I know its use will insure a clean, healthy scalp and a wealth of brilliant, fluffy hair.

Dull Eyes: I had been told that so many doctors use a plain crystos solution for minor eye troubles that I tried it and found that for sore, tired eyes this simple tonic works wonders. It is one of those inexpensive home remedies that should be convenient to hand for use in removing foreign particles and to reduce inflammation. To prepare, dissolve one ounce crystos in one pint clear water, then put two or three drops in the eye as required. This crystos eye tonic is fine for giving a sparkle and youthful expression to the eyes.

Lottie M.: Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment for hairy growths: Mix a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairs not wanted and in two or three minutes rub off and the skin will be smooth and hairless. Then wash the skin to remove the remaining delatone.

Darling: Yes, it is true that fat always destroys the beautiful lines of the figure, but if you do as I have before advised in these columns, you can get rid of the fat and your form will be plump and beautifully proportioned. In one and one-half pints hot water dissolve four ounces parnotis. Let this cool, then take a tablespoonful before each meal. This treatment produces no present or future ill effects and gradually dissolves the unnecessary fatty tissues. Try this parnotis treatment and you will never have any reason to feel embarrassed because of your shape.

Mrs. L.: For years I have avoided wrinkles by protecting my skin against that too-ready tendency to sag which you describe. Besides, I stopped the flabbiness which would have gradually wrinkled my skin by using this wrinkle remover which a friend suggested. Get an ounce of almozoin, dissolve in one-half pint water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir and let stand one day. At low cost, this makes a perfect wrinkle remover in the form of a protecting and stimulating cream-jelly. It is a pleasant thing to use and most delightfully beautifying in results. I use it freely, both before and after exposure to hot winds. It will not grow hair but will act as a preventive of the loose sagginess which makes wrinkles.

Pearl: You girls were right when you decided that face powder clogs the pores even though much is blown off the skin and leaves a spotted effect. You can avoid this annoyance and enjoy a softer, healthier complexion if you apply a spurmax lotion. This is quite inexpensive and is prepared by dissolving four ounces spurmax in one-half pint witch hazel or hot water, to which is added two teaspoonfuls glycerine. The spurmax lotion is invisible when on and requires no further attention. You will find it especially nice to banish summer's freckles and tan and the sallow, unhealthy look of powder-smothered skin and to give a delightful freshness and youth-tint to your skin.

Dora: For your pimples and throat [illegible] I am giving the formula for the best blood cleanser I know. It is the best because it acts on the liver and kidneys and if, as you say, you are troubled with severe and constant headaches, it is an indication that your kidneys and blood need attention. To prepare, put one ounce kardene into one-half pint alcohol (whisky should not be used), then add one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before meals is the dose. This kardene tonic rapidly expels poisonous waste from the body and tones up the internal organs so they can do their work well.

Johanna: Yes, you have a good reason to feel alarmed about your hair, but you can remove the dandruff and overcome that itching without paying a large sum to a hair specialist. [illegible]

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Local Man at Kingston.

Mr. F. R. J. MacPherson, the George street plumber and electrician, left yesterday for Kingston. No, Sadie, he did not go there as a boarder in the big penitentiary. Mr. MacPherson was not on a Government job without salary. He went down to look after a big plumbing and heating contract he secured in the Limestone City. This speaks volumes for the excellence and good name of Peterborough contractors.

Work on Otonabee Delta.

Capt. Pearson, who has been engaged with the steamer Manita and dredge Auburn, at the mouth of the river, was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call. He reports that the work at that point is nearly completed and is proving eminently satisfactory. The centre channel leading to Rice Lake has been deepened to nine feet. This will not only be a great boon to navigators, but prevent the heretofore annual drowning out of adjacent property in the spring.

New Appointments!

Owing to the resignation of E. B. Hopkins, D.S.A., and J. P. Sackville, two new appointments have been made to the Peterborough county branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. F. C. McRae, B.S.A., and C. E. McDowell were recently appointed to represent Ontario Department of Agriculture in this county. The office in Norwood is open every day except Sunday, while the branch office located in room 12, Bank of Commerce Building, Peterborough, is open every Saturday afternoon. These officers are equipped with the very latest literature relating to agriculture.

WEDDING BELLS

Edwards—Hurl.

Last evening at the Mark street parsonage, the wedding was solemnized of Mr. Edmund Edwards, of 168 Hazlitt street, and Miss Lyla Hurl, of Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Cragg. The couple were unattended.

McArthur—Pryde.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Monday, Oct. 20th, at the residence of Mrs. P. McArthur, 293 Rubidge street, when Miss Jessie Pryde and Mr. Thomas Forest McArthur, of Portobello, Scotland, were united in the bonds of matrimony. Rev. H. J. Keith officiated in the presence of immediate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McArthur will reside in Peterborough.

Newbigging—Phillips.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church yesterday morning, when Miss Fanny Gladys Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phillips, 5 Cricket Place, became the bride of Mr. Jas. Riddell Newbigging, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newbigging, of Galt.

The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. F. J. Sawers in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. The bride who was given away by her father, wore a pretty gown of white flowered satin. She was assisted by Miss Maud Stewart, who wore a navy blue tailor-made suit. Mr. John [illegible] was the best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Newbigging left on the 11.40 G.T.R. train on a wedding trip to Toronto, and on their return will reside in Peterborough.

The bride received a large number of beautiful and costly presents.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Mrs. Louis Hollenger.

The death occurred in Midland, on Monday last, at the age of 80 years, of Annie Bradley, widow of the late Louis Hollenger. The deceased with her husband formerly resided in Peterborough.

The funeral will leave the G.T.R. station on the arrival of the noon train to-day, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery.

DODDS
PILLS

Thomas Henry Cunningham.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Mr. Thomas Henry Cunningham, son of Mr. Samuel Cunningham, of 160 Edinburgh street. The deceased has been a resident of this city for some years, and was greatly esteemed and beloved by all who knew him. He was born thirty-eight years ago in North Monaghan.

Three Mighty Forces Close Linked

Have you ever noted how an audience yawns in the face of an uninspired speaker?

On the other hand, have you noted how an audience will lean forward and grasp the chair arms when the speaker reveals enthusiasm?

Enthusiasm is the buoyant expression of truth. To impart belief in anything, a man must believe it deeply himself. We call such a man an enthusiast.

This applies to the written word also—particularly to advertisements. When the manufacturer really believes in his wares, his enthusiasm will almost inevitably find expression in Advertising. And enthusiasm will be contagious—his audience—the readers of the newspaper—will, figuratively speaking, "lean forward and listen intently."

To be convincing an advertisement must convey an unmistakable impression of enthusiasm. This it will only do when the article advertised has inherent worth.

Thus we have:
Sincerity -- Enthusiasm -- Advertising:
Three mighty forces, close-linked.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper. If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

MUSIC and DRAMA

"THE WHIP" FOR TORONTO

Mammoth Dramatic Spectacle From the Drury Lane Theatre, London, England, to Toronto.

The greatest production of the decade in the way of varied thrills and startling stage effects is "The Whip," the Drury Lane sensation which will be the attraction at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, week of Oct. 27th. This new entertainment by Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton comes to Toronto after a two years run in London and a season's stay at the Manhattan Opera House, New York. It comprises four acts and thirteen scenes and the massiveness of the production may be gauged from the fact that five special trains are necessary to carry the scenery, not taking into consideration the company of one hundred, and the horses and dogs used during the performance.

The story of "The Whip" is based upon a race horse bearing that name who has been bred by a titled nobleman. It shares his affections with his daughter who insists, however, upon sharing her affections with a certain lordling. Various things happen to interrupt the course of true love. An adventuress who loves him goes so far as to make a captain, a disappointed suitor for the hand of the heroine, marry her, pretending he is the lord in order that there may be no marriage with the daughter of the titled sportsman. Their engagement is announced, but the adventuress here brings forward her proofs of marriage and they are therefore separated.

The pained suitor for the heroine's hand is interested in what horse will win the great race at Newmarket. In the meantime the heroine gives the hero a tip that "The Whip" will win and he plunges heavily with the book makers.

The villian now sees that the only thing to do is to render it impossible for the horse to win this race. So he plots to have the car in which the animal is to be taken to Newmarket uncoupled from the train and wrecked. The faithful trainer of the horse gets wind of the plot but too late to take immediate action. But the train is pursued by an automobile and the horse is rescued just as the following express comes along and smashes the box car into splinters.

The villian then decides to have the jockey who will ride "The Whip" arrested just as the race is about to start. He does this, but the sporting spirit of the crowd at Newmarket stands in the way, and the jockey is dragged away from the detectives and thrown on the horse. He wins the race and makes a rich man out of the young lord who aspires to the heroine's hand. Now only the fraudulent marriage stands between him and the girl of his choice. The clergyman who performed that ceremony acknowledges his guilt and everything ends happily.

As regards stage spectacles "The Whip" has been proclaimed unsurpassed by press and public. There are in all three great scenic effects, any one of which would make for the success of an ordinary entertainment, namely an automobile accident, a train wreck, and a great horse race scene. The cast of one hundred is an imposing one. Matinees will be given on Thursday and Saturday.

THE WARNING BELL.

"The Warning Bell," a four act nautical play, attracted a large audience to the Grand Opera House last night, despite the downpour of rain. The play proved the best of the week. May A. Bell Marks, as Floatsome, the lighthouse keeper's daughter, caused tears and smiles at will. To-night, this popular company will put on an English melodrama, "The Counterfeiters." Friday night, "Wife in Name Only." Saturday Matinee, "Lena Rivers." Saturday night, "The Ranch Queen." Friday night will be "Amateur Night" with three cash prizes.

NEW CONVENIENT TRAIN TO WINNIPEG

CANADIAN PACIFIC

The popularity of Canadian Pacific service, and the excellence of that road's equipment, has been so greatly appreciated by the travelling public that it has been found necessary to put into service an entirely new Through Standard Express Train between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Commencing Sunday, October 26th, the "Gate City Express" will leave Toronto at 2.30 p.m., and will run daily thereafter, arriving Winnipeg at 8.25 a.m. second morning. The train will consist of the highest-class modern equipment: Observation Compartment Car, Standard Sleeping Cars, Tourist Sleeping Car, Dining Car, First-class Coach and Colonist Car. This will be found the most convenient and best train between Toronto and Winnipeg on account of the daylight departure from Toronto at an hour when the Union Station is not badly congested, and also on account of the early hour of arrival at Winnipeg.

The present "Vancouver Express" will continue to leave Toronto at 10.20 p.m. daily and will consist of the same equipment as the "Gate City Express." This train is the best way to reach the points west of Winnipeg, and used the "Gate City Express" is the best train to travel by.

Full information from any Canadian Pacific Agent or write M. G. Murphy, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

LANDLORDS IRATE, PEOPLE SATISFIED BY LLOYD GEORGE

"England's Peaceful Revolution Has Begun Now," Says Chester

London, Oct. 23.—Lloyd George's Swindon speech leaves England breathless. Men realise that it spells the beginning of an economic and social revolution which must extend far beyond the land. Already town tenants are advancing their claim to continuity of tenure and freedom from landlord's restrictions. The speech has shattered all hope of non-partizan treatment of the land question.

It has been received enthusiastically by the entire body of the Liberal press.

The Daily News describes it as providing simple sufficient machinery for the painless extinction of landlordism as it exists to-day.

Court Revolutionary Tribunal.

Unionists realize that they were caught napping and are now placed at a tactical disadvantage by the mildness of the Chancellor's first speech.

Their first criticisms deal with the great powers to be given to the new land court. The Yorkshire Post says there has never been in the history of the world a "court so constituted and given greater constitutional powers than this court is to have, excepting only the famous revolutionary tribunal set up in Paris during the reign of terror." The Birmingham Post says that the new Department will have powers despotic enough to be resented by a Russian Moujik. The Daily Mail is driven for comparison to Jack Cade.

Unionist Counter Proposals.

Meanwhile Unionist organizers are debating what counter program they can announce. Unionist proposals which may be expected at an early date will probably include small freehold holdings obtained by State aided purchase, land banks, agricultural co-operation, better wages and housing for laborers, partly to be paid for by landlords, measures to facilitate the transfer of land and free landowners from restrictions of ancient settlements.

ARE LOOKING FOR THE REAL VICTIM

Detective Working on Street Car Assault Case

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Owing to the fact that two accidents occurred within a short space of time on Queen street between Leslie and Morley streets late on Tuesday night both of which were attended at the same doctor's office it was made to appear that the victim of an alleged assault by the car crew of an east bound King car was Mr. W. Janet, 17 Hastings avenue. Mr. Janet stated this morning, however, that his injuries were sustained by falling from a car at Leslie street.

Though the police have not yet learned the name of the real victim a detective is working on the case, and arrests will follow as soon as the requisite information has been obtained.

SLIT SKIRT AND FLIMSY GOWN APPROVED

Surgeon-General of the U.S. Army Says They Are The Best for Cold Weather

Washington, Oct. 23.—The slit skirt and flimsy gown received the official sanction of the United States Public Health Service.

Chilling fall winds and cold wintry blasts will not bar the latest modes because people, especially women, are inclined to wear too many clothes in winter anyway, according to the Assistant Surgeon-General Rucker, who to-day prescribed a new fall and winter health hints for the general public.

"To prevent winter colds, influenza, and kindred ailments, dress warmly and comfortably, but don't overload your body with heavy garments. This, of course does not apply to overcoats and outergarments. Dress according to your particular climate," said Dr. Rucker, "and dress comfortably, and your usual fall and winter colds are not liable to bother.

"Slit skirts and diaphanous gowns are not menaces to health in cold weather," he continued. "On the contrary, the woman who wears the present day styles will be less liable to catch cold than the woman who crowds her body with heavy woollens from the first chilly day.

"Persons who are not in the open air during the day should specially guard against heavy underwear in cold weather but should be careful when outside," said Dr. Rucker.

"Cold feet are always dangerous," he said.

Dr. Rucker repeated the established warning against sleeping in stuffy rooms, and declared the open window bed chamber, no matter how cold, is always a foe to bad cold and pneumonia. He also gave advice on how to cure a cold in the early stages. Here it is:

"When you feel a cold coming on go into a room, open the windows and disrobe. The cold air won't hurt you. Take a stiff brush and rub the body until it glows all over. The cold will go away."

BIG AUTO TRUCK JUMPS BRIDGE

Negro Helper Drowned After Machine Crashes Through Fence Into the Charles

Boston, Oce. 23.—A five-ton auto truck of the Chelsea Iron & Fuel Company, loaded with coal, ran away while crossing the Harvard bridge Saturday, crashed through the rail and plunged into the river, carrying its driver and two helpers, one of whom, a negro whose name was not known by his companions, was drowned.

The other two men who were on the truck, Charles Kravitz of 118 Central avenue and John Drummeque of 12 Pond street, Chelsea, were rescued by Patrick Berkeley, a draw tender. They were treated at the City Hospital. It is believed that the steering gear of the auto broke when the driver tried to turn out of the car track just after passing over the draw on the Boston side.

BEARS CHILD ALONE IN SCHOOL HOUSE BOTH WILL LIVE

St. Thomas, Oct. 23.—All alone in the cold and darkness of a country school house in Howard Township, Kent County, known as the Green School House, a woman giving her name as Mary Campbell, gave birth to a baby girl about five o'clock on Wednesday morning. She then carried it in her arms a quarter of a mile to the home of John B. Bennett whereshe was given shelter and a physician summoned. Both mother and child are to-day out of danger. The woman claims that she was employed by a Raleigh Township farmer until a little over two months ago, when her delicate condition was discovered and she was discharged. Apparently she had been wandering about the country ever since until she was driven to take shelter in the empty school house for the night.

FOG DELAYS ROYAL PARTY

Her Royal Highness Stood Journey Well—In Quebec Late Friday

Quebec, Que., Oct. 23.—Fog is delaying the Empress of Britain, on board which are the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia. The vessel is not expected to reach Quebec until late Friday afternoon, when the Royal party will at once board a special train and proceed to Ottawa, reaching there on Saturday.

Reports from the Empress of Britain state that the Duchess of Connaught stood the journey well.

F 173, A CONVICT, TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE IN KINGSTON PEN

"Yes," He Knew About Boy Who Cried His Heart Out for His Mother—Ex-Convict's Letter

Kingston, Oct. 23.—"F 173," a prisoner who occupied a distinguished position in the social and commercial world before his conviction, was called by the commission this afternoon to give evidence on the system at present in vogue in the penitentiary and its effects on young offenders. He urged better classification of prisoners, different departments for different grades of criminals.

He favored the present system of feeding in cells. It would be horrible to sit down beside a man to eat little better than a beast. He sometimes did not feel like eating his lunch and put it on a shelf and ate it later in the evening. The boys should be kept separated from adult criminals. The boys are taught all manner of crime by older convicts.

Chairman: "Do you know anything about the boy who cried for his mother the first Christmas he was in here?"

"Yes. I remember him. he was a good boy," witness said. "his first job was cleaning the cells, it was the best job they had available at the time."

"We thought the honor system could be adopted. At least fifteen per cent. of the convicts could easily be put on their honor." He thought hair cropping and uniform they had to wear were most degrading and humiliating. He admitted hair-cropping was necessary in some cases for sanitary reasons. He favored modest allowance of tobacco. Nearly every convict used tobacco and they would steal anything to get it. He thought however, unless its use was strictly regulated the convicts would expectorate all over the floor. He had heard of traffic in tobacco, but had no personal knowledge of it. He admitted that he occasionally got a very small piece. The guards usually gave a little to the men to get better work out of them. It was almost necessary in order to get satisfactory work. A small chew of tobacco went as far with a convict as $10 did with a mechanic outside. He thought the food was reasonably good, but did not approve of the system of selling hogs from the prison farm and then buying inferior pork for inmates.

Mr. Downey read from a letter of an ex-convict who described the Sunday dinner when "Slabs of sebaceous cold grey pork," was served to the men. On the whole, the witness said the meat was as good as they got in the Frontenac Hotel. Witness caused a smile when he innocently stated that there was a great improvement with meats during the past two months. He missed the newspapers very much. They got very little information as to what was going on in the outside world. The only thing they had to read outside from the Bible, was a few magazines, such as Scribners, Munsey, Wide World, and Hearsts.

QUEBEC SITUATION SERIOUS

At the Baptist Convention which closed Tuesday in Peterborough, Rev. D. W. Terry, B.A., of Coaticook, Que., brought in a report regarding the situation in Quebec. The report shows that the French population of Canada is now 2,054,890, or 28¼ per cent. of the entire population. The effort of the Roman hierarchy was to bring this growing element to the service of not only religious but political ends. The Young French Catholic Association avowed its purpose to bring about the absolute supremacy of Rome in all matters, moral and religious, its sole direction of education of the young and the exclusion of Government from the sphere of a united Catholic party in Canada. The educational status of Quebec calls for serious consideration from patriotic Canadians.

This explains, with ample force, why Protestants should organize, and justifies the existence of the Protestant Federation, branches of which are being formed all over Ontario.

GERMAN EMPRESS LEADS FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

Her Majesty Attended To-Day's International Congress—Dr. Friedmann's Treatment Under Discussion

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The deep interest taken by the German Empress in the endeavors to combat the scourge of tuberculosis was displayed to-day when she attended the formal opening of the International Tuberculosis conference here, at which delegates from twenty-two nations are in attendance. Her Majesty had given her name as patroness of the conference, whose meetings are being held in the halls of the Prussian diet, where Imperial Vice-Chancellor Clemens Delbrueck welcomed the delegates and paid a tribute to the extraordinary energy and success with which the fight against consumption had been conducted on the American continent.

Herr Delbrueck regretted deeply the absence, owing to illness of the president of the conference. Leon Bourgeois, formerly French Premier, whose presidential address was subsequently read.

The general public showed the greatest interest in the conference, and a large audience of both men and women attended the sessions to-day, after the opening ceremonies.

Dr. Hans Much, of Hamburg, director of the Institute for the Investigation of Tuberculosis, declared that the conclusion he had come to was that immunization against tuberculosis by cultures of living bacilli or by vaccination with dead matter, was rarely successful because of the composite character of the tuberculosis bacilli. On the other hand he considered that immunity from the disease might be and was self-produced by counter-agents in the human body.

Prof. F. Hamburger, of Vienna, gave an exhaustive report on the results of the study of consumption, which have, he said, included the recognition of its infectious nature by inhalation, the discovery of the germ itself and the recognition of the difference between bovine and human consumption.

Dr. Louis Renon, of Paris, one of the leading authorities, discussing results from various methods of treating tuberculosis, offered indirectly an explanation for the apparently satisfactory results of Dr. Franz Freidmann's much discussed treatment. He declared that extreme caution must always be used in judging a new anti-tuberculosis treatment, since it may be accepted as a principle that every new method of treatment, providing that it is harmless, will at first give satisfactory results.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE SEE SUFFRAGE AS COMING BUT NOT NOW

Swindon, Eng., Oct. 23.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George does not despair of a measure giving the Parliamentary suffrage to women in the British Isles being carried in a short time, but not during the present Parliament. He said this to-day in reply to a question put to him by a deputation from a number of suffrage societies. He added that the militant tactics adopted by a section of the women had converted many peoples indifference for the cause of women suffrage into something like bitter hostility.

The militant section of the suffragettes, according to Chancellor Lloyd George, had created a situation which was the worst he had ever seen for women suffrage in Parliament. He said he was glad to see that the spirit of militancy was withering.

In conclusion Mr. George told the women to undertake pilgrimages for "that is how the women have won the vote in other countries."

HUGE DAM IS NOW BUSY

C.P.R. Irrigation Scheme in Alberta is Being Operated.

Bassano, Alta., Oct. 23.—Quietly, without preliminary announcement, or ceremony of any kind, the gates of the six million dam of the C.P.R., which is intended to divert the waters of the Bow River for irrigating 25,000 acres around Bassano, closed at three o'clock Thanksgiving Day.

The operation will back up the river for eight miles, and the process of filling to the height of the dam, 45 feet, is expected to take four weeks.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Unsettled with occasional showers.

WINNIPEG IRISHMEN ORGANIZE A BRANCH

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—A branch of the United Irish League has been formed among Irish Home Rulers of this city, and, although the branch has only been in existence two days, the Association already has a membership of over 200.

The local organization is known as the Robert Emmett branch and is the first offshoot of United Irish League to be formed in Western Canada.

FUNDS FOR RAILWAY PURCHASE ALREADY AVAILABLE, NO INJURY

Toronto, Oct. 23.—The financing of the purchase of the Toronto Railway and the Toronto Electric Light Companies if the citizens sanction the proposed deal, has been practically arranged. Numerous applications have been received by the Treasury Board for information regarding the $8,000,000 bonds, which the city would be required to market in order to pay the cash required. The money can be obtained on short notice if the ratepayers approve of the deal and the city's financial administration will not be embarrassed in the slightest.

"There have been a number of inquiries," said Controller McCarthy "and I know where we can get the money when we need it. There will not be the slightest difficulty about that. The financing has been arranged."

"The city has plenty of money now and can get more without any doubt when it is required. The amount of capital issues authorized by the ratepayers the first of the year has not been placed, but the work has not yet been done. Of the $13,500,000 then authorized, the city has not spent more than $500,000. We can get the money when we want it. Toronto's finances are now in excellent shape."

Fought in Hotel.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—At the Albion Hotel, Michael Payne brutally assaulted John Smith. Payne was fined $10 to-day and had to pay the doctor's bill.

MONTREAL CAR SMASHED BUY NEW ONE IN LONDON

London, Oct. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boke leave to-day on an automobile tour of the continent of Nice and Genoa. Their automobile brought from Montreal was badly damaged in unloading and they purchased a new car here. Mr. and Mrs. E. Hobson are returning home to Vancouver via Australia, leaving Saturday.

SECOND VOTE IN EAST MIDDLESEX LIKELY THIS YEAR

London, Oct., Oct. 23.—According to information received here to-day the East Middlesex riding in the Provincial House which has been made vacant by death of Geo. W. Neely last week, will be opened before the close of the year. It is stated by some that the election will be brought on within six weeks and that the warrant was expected from Toronto any time now. The Conservative candidate will be either Mr. John McFarland or Mr. A. Piper, with odds in favor of Mr. Piper.

THAW ESCAPED LUNATIC WILL RETURN TO MATTEWAN

Indicted for Conspiracy, He May be Extradited to New York State—The Jury Was Quick

New York, Oct. 23.—The Grand Jury here to-day returned an indictment charging Harry K. Thaw with conspiracy.

Thaw is subject to extradition under the offence charged. The indictment returned is a blanket one covering five persons. Besides Thaw those charged with conspiracy are Richard Butler, Michael O'Keefe, Roger Thompson and Eugene Duffy. Bench warrants for the arrest of the accused men were immediately issued by Justice Gavegan.

The examination of witnesses before the Grand Jury was conducted by William Travers Jerome. But 18 witnesses were called, and the Grand Jury returned the indictment within two hours and a quarter after the examination of witnesses began.

A severe erathquake was felt in Oregon yesterday afternoon.

"HINTS" GIVEN TO IMMIGRANTS WHO MUST AVOID CRITICISM

British Officials Urge the New-Comers to Canada Not to Hunt for Chances to Disagree—People Here Know Best What Country Needs

London, Oct. 23.—Amongst a number of useful hints to emigrants contained in a circular issued by the Emigrants Information office, the official department for emigration here, there occurs the following:—

"Remember, that Canada is a great Dominion, with long settled laws, habits and customs, which are not to be changed at the bidding of every new arrival. When you have been a little while in Canada you will value them also.

"Every country has its own methods of work, and in Canada you will often find the arrangement of the workshop or the farm, the tools you will use, different from those at home. You will soon accustom yourself to the change if you try.

"I, above all things, try to impress on your Canadian employer how much better we do things in England, for it will only make him dislike you, and perhaps not care to keep you in his employ. Canadians, too, often resent criticism of their country or its methods, but you should remember that they have been working in Canada long before you were born, and that they are more likely than a stranger like yourself to know what suits that country best."

PARENTS ARE VOTING ON MUCH SHORTER SCHOOL DAY

Pupils of Toronto Collegiate Institutes Copy Question From the Blackboard and Take it Home to be Answered—Finds Favor With Young Folks

Toronto, Oct. 23.—"Are you in favor of a change in the school day with a forty minute period for lunch and closing about an hour earlier than at present?"

A referendum on the above question is now being taken among the parents of the pupils attending the several collegiate institutes of the city. The question is not printed, but is written on the blackboards by the principals and the pupils asked to copy it. They are to return the papers with the word "Yes" or "No" above the parents signature, and the vote will guide the Board of Education in connection with the present agitation for a shorter school day.

The present recess for lunch is from 12 o'clock until 1.30 o'clock.

At the Parkdale Collegiate, the pupils were told that as so many live at a considerable distance from the school they are unable to go home for lunch, and the shorter recess would be a very great convenience. The condition applies in greater or lesser extent at the other collegiates. On the other hand some objection is anticipated from the parents of those who go home for lunch. The students themselves are in general strongly in favor of the change and are enthusiastic at the prospect of being free one hour earlier each afternoon.

The United States has sent a significant notice to General Huerta, stating that the elections set for October 26, will not be recognized as legal.

He Got It.

A train slowed up at a busy country station and a man was seen to put his head excitedly out of the window.

"There's a woman in here fainted!" he cried. "Has anyone got any brandy or whisky? Quick!"

Someone in the crowd on the platform handed him a bottle. He uncorked it frantically, put it to his lips, and took a pretty pull.

"Ah," he sighed, "that's better. It always did upset me to see a woman faint."

TEN HITS A MINUTE

New York, Oct. 23.—A Paris cable says: As to the result of the navy firing practice this week unprecedented secrecy is being observed. Nothing can be learned of the precentage of hits, but it is known that one ships registered ten hits in the first minute at a distance of more than six miles.

The battleships Condorcet, Mirabeau and Suffern and the cruiser Waldeck-Rousseau head the list.

MILITANT WOMEN IN ANCIENT TIMES

They Made as Great a Stir in Old Rome as the Suffragettes in Modern London

Militant women marching the streets of London and attempting to enter the sacred precincts of the House of Commons; using bombs, burning houses, and holding stormy public meetings—this has been generally accepted as a new development brought forth by the twentieth century.

But this phase of feminine activity is not modern. The men of ancient Rome had to face their aroused womankind; who, agitating practically the same cause adopted identical methods, displayed similar persistence and tenacity of purpose, and in their day created equal turmoil and disturbance.

The crisis was brought about at the beginning of the third century through the efforts to abrogate the sumptuary Oppian law, which had been passed twenty years before, during the terror [illegible] Hannibal's invasion and had attempted to curb the growing luxury of women. "The area about the Capitol," says the historian Livy, "was filled with crowds who favored or opposed the law. Nor could the matrons be kept at home, either by advice or shame, not even by the express commands of their husbands; but beset every street and avenue in the city, beseeching the men as they went down to the Forum to suffer the women to have their former rights to wear ornaments restored to them."

Quite a Modern Flavor

The debate became most heated, and speedily shifted from the narrow question of what the women should wear to the real point at issue—the question of whether or not the women had any right publicly to interfere with or to urge legislation. How modern sound the arguments of Cato the Censor, that strong-minded man, whose ringing voice must find an echo in many a present-day legislator's breast, when in referring to the behavior of the women, he said:

"It was not without painful emotions of shame that I just now made my way into the Forum through a band of women. Had I not been restrained by respect for the modesty and dignity of some individuals among them, rather than of the whole number, and been unwilling that they should be seen rebuked by a Consul, I should not have refrained from saying to them, 'What sort of practice is this, running into public, besetting the streets, and addressing other women's husbands? Could not each have made the same request to her husband at home? Although if matrons would let their modesty confine them within the limits of their own rights, it did not become you, even at home, to concern yourselves about any laws that might be passed or repealed here.'"

Equals or Superiors

After relating how the elder Romans had confined their women to their homes, under the strict guidance and surveillance of their parents, brothers, or husbands, and then pointing to the weakness of the husband as the primary cause of the state of affairs at that time existing, the worthy Consul went on to say:

"If every individual had made it a rule with respect to his wife to maintain the prerogative and authority of a husband, we should have less trouble with the whole sex. Will you give rein to their intractable nature, and then expect that they themselves set bounds to their licentiousness, and without your interference? They long for liberty—or, rather, to speak the truth, for unbounded freedom in every particular. For what will they not attempt if they now come off victorious? The moment that they become your equals they will become your superiors. So soon as the law shall cease to limit the expenses of your wife, you yourself will never be able to do so."

Two Sides to Story

In reply to Cato, Valerius the Tribune, said: "It is no new thing for the women to come out in public in a body on occasions so closely concerning themselves. In the time of Romulus they, by their interposition between the two armies, stopped a fight in the Forum; later they turned away the army of Coriolanus, which would have overwhelmed the city. When Rome was taken by the Gauls it was the matrons who brought their gold into the public treasury and ransomed the city.'

The women next day, continues Livy, poured out into the public streets in much greater numbers, and in a body beset the doors of M. and P. Brutus the Tribunes, who had protested against the repeal of the law, and did not withdraw until the Tribunes, worn out by their importunity, promised not to oppose it further.

For many years thereafter the Roman legislators studiously avoided interference with feminine rights.

Fight With a Mongoose

What is believed to be a mongoose has been killed by a party of sportsmen who were rabbiting with three dogs at Brooklands Farm, Bolney, Sussex. The animal was found by the dogs in a small wood, and when attacked it defended itself vigorously. The three dogs—a fox terrier, a sheepdog, and a retriever—were badly bitten, but the terrier finally got a grip, and the animal was killed. It was about 2½ feet in length from nose to tail.

Woman's Remarkable Experience

"Found drowned" was the verdict at the inquest on William Mountain, a pit sinker at Dover. Mrs. Rowbotham, wife of a driver in the Army Service Corps, said that on the night previous to discovery of the body a man whom she alleged to be Mountain called at her house and told her to go with him, as her husband had been hurt. He took her towards Shakespere Cliff, and in a lonely spot attacked her and tore practically all her clothes off. A soldier found her in a collapsed condition.

"A Progressive Peterborough"

Our Point of View

Quebec has a sheriff named Egg, and by all accounts he is not a bad one.

We read that a fifty to one shot won the Cesarewitch, a classic English. Almost as good as oil lands.

Canadian farmers who are exporting all their young cattle to the United States now because they get good prices resemble the foolish person who killed the goose that laid him golden eggs.

An unusual newspaper situation has arisen in Montreal where the Herald, controlled by D. Lorne McGibbon, the rubber magnate, is suing the Star, owned by Sir Hugh Graham, for $100,000 damages for conspiracy as a result of an alleged attempt of the Star to "scall" certain features used in the Herald.

AS EUROPE SEES WILSON.

The comment of British and European papers upon President Wilson's message to Congress on the Mexican situation has been almost uniformly prejudiced and unfair.

It is not to be expected that Europe, an armed caip, whose statesmen take a wholly material and selfish view of international politics, would understand and endorse the high moral ground upon which President Wilson has placed the United States in dealing with Mexico. To insist upon the welfare of the people of a weak neighboring nation as the paramount object of a guardian nation having superior power is foreign to Europe's ideas of international policy. The immediate material advantage of the superior nation is the governing purpose of European rulers.

A PRETTY KETTLE OF FISH.

Like the old man with his ass who made the attempt of trying to please everybody and in the end pleased nobody, the Department of Education at Toronto in its messy handling of the bi-lingual issue, has balled things up beautifully, says The Kingston Standard. Not only are the English speaking people not satisfied but the French people are not, and instead of pleasing either faction the Government has pleased neither.

But though this be, there is absolutely no justification, or excuse for the defiant position which the Ottawa Separate School Board has taken in the matter. Not only has it declined to enforce the regulations but it has issued instructions to all teachers in the local schools to ignore any regulations passed by the Department of Education to resteict the teaching of French, and at no time to permit of the reviewing by a Pcotestant inspector.

Putting it plainly, this is open defiance both of the Government and of the law—the same kind of defiance that in larger things is the prelude to rebellion.

The point now is, What does the Government intend to do about it? Is there not here unmistakable proof of the Standard's contention that it is highly dangecous to jugg,e with this question any longer—unmistakable proof, also, that the French Canadians, given an inch in Ontario, will demand a mile?

There is no official or legal sanction whatever for the use of French in the schools on Ontario. It has merely been tolerated. And yet we now see the French of Ottawa not only holding to the opinion that the use of French in the schools is theirs by right, but actually declining to obev the ordinary regulations laid down by the Ontario Department.

If the Provincial Government is wise it will no longer allow itself to be impaled on both horns of this bi-lingual dilemma but will decide once and for all that the one and only way to settle it is by ruling and all time—that English and English only shall be the language of instruction in the schools of Ontario.

Old Winter Coughs Now Easily Cured

A New Remedy Now Cures Without the Use of Cough Syrups or Drugs.

Just think of it—you can clear away that hard, racking cough, drive it completely out of the system, make yourself perfectly well by the new breathing cure that employs no medicine at all.

You wonder how; a very simple, indeed; you simply breathe in hrough a Catarrhozone Inhaler rich balsamic essences that heal and soothe away the cough in a few hours' time.

In using Catarrhozone you bathe the lining of the nose and throat with that powerful antiseptic of the Blue Gum Tree of Australia, which is probably the surest cold and cough cure in the world to-day.

Clarence E. Cromwell, writing from Medicine Hat, says: "To cure a sneezing cold in about ten minutes the one thing I know of to do it is Catarrhozone. To relieve an irritated throat quickly, nothing can excel Catarrhozone. It simply eats up a cough or cold of any kind. I know of colds that hang on for months that Catarrhozone cured quickly. Nearly every man I know carries a Catarrhozone Inhaler with him day and night, and in this country it makes a wonderful protection against all winter ills."

Get the dollar outfit, including the hard rubber inhaler, and medication to last two months; medium size 50c., sample size 25c., at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

KILLS HERSELF AND CHILDREN AS HOPE DIES

Disease-Doomed Chelsea Mother Puts Last Quarter in Meter, Turns On Gas and Ends Misery

Boston, Oct. 23.—Hopelessly ill from tuberculosis and cancer, without money or anything remaining that could be sold for food, and uncertain whether her husband was alive or dead, Mrs. F. J. Johnston of 93 Pearl St., Chelsea, Boston, dropped her last quarter into the gas meter, opened wide all five gas cocks in the house, and asphyxiated herself and two children early yesterday morning.

The story is that of a desperate, futile attempt of a discouraged, disease riven mother to fight the battle of life, and, when failure came, snuffing out the life of herself and children rather than seek assistance from strangers.

Her husband, also racked by tuberculosis, worked and turned over his money until last August, when he was forced to give up and go to Maine to seek relief. The fact that she had not heard from her husband and feared he had died, probably was an influencing motive.

Mrs. Johnson and her children, however, will not be buried in the Potter's field. Supt. F. A. Lawler of Mt. Benedict cemetery in West Roxbury, when he learned the circumstances, came to The Herald office last night and said that rather than that they should go to unmarked graves, he would give a lot in his cemetery where they may be buried.

Of the mental torture the woman suffered as the gas crept through her frail body, gradually overpowering her, nobody can tell. Possibly she tried at the last to save herself and her children, for when found she was but a few inches from the chamber window.

Arthur, her 9-year-old son, also apparently tried to reach the fresh air, as his body was found but a short distance from the door leading into the hall. The baby, a 6-month-old girl, lay on a pillow on a rocking chair.

Discovery of the deaths of the Johnson family was made by Mrs. Joseph Prilkoesky who lives on the floor below the Johnsons. It was at 8.45 that Mrs. Prilkoesky called at the door on the Johnson tenement Receiving no response to her knocks, and smelling gas the woman peeked through the keyhole of the door.

To Restore Carpets

To a pail of warm water add a tablespoonful of ammonia. Dip a cloth in this, wring nearly dry and wipe the entire surface of the carpet with the dampened cloth. Frequently rinse the cloth so that it is freed from the dust gathered from the carpet. The turpentine restores the faded brilliancy of the colors.

Washing Ebony Brushes

When you clean the ebony brushes on your toilet table, rub a little vaseline over the backs before you wash the bristles, as this prevents the soda or ammonia in the water from injuring the ebony. The vaseline should afterwards be removed by polishing the backs with a dry cloth.

Iron in Plants.

Experiments are under way at the agricultural bacteriological station in Vienna to increase the quantity of iron carried in certain plants, with a view to the effect on the human system when these plants are used as food. Artificially prepared foods containing iron do not always produce the desired effect, because the iron is not completely assimilated. This difficulty, it is thought, may be avoided by causing plants to take up an increased quantity of iron during their natural growth. By adding hydrate of iron to the soil in which it was growing, the experimenters have succeeded in producing spinach containing a percentage of iron seven times as great as that found in ordinary spinach. It is believed that the process will prove successful with other ferruginous plants.

Huge Indian Skeleton

Five skeletons unearthed at Galt were pronounced by doctors to be the bones of Indians. One was most remarkable for its size. It had a huge lower jaw, and arm bones two inches longer than those of the large men of to-day. In life the Indian must have had a reach of 78 inches.

DON'TS FOR THUNDERSTORMS

Every year quite a large number of people are killed by lightning because they did not know what to do in a thunderstorm.

First of all, it is safer to be indoors than out. Most people get killed when out in the open. If you are caught in a thunderstorm, then don't be afraid of sheltering under a tree just because you have heard that it is dangerous.

It is dangerous to shelter under a solitary tree, because lightning likes to strike the highest point, and a solitary tree is the highest point as a rule for some distance around. But you are pretty safe if you take shelter in a wood. A tree in a wood is seldom struck.

Certain trees are more dangerous than others. If you have a choice between an oak and a beech tree, then take the beech tree all the time. A far greater number of oak trees are struck than beech trees. Elm trees are nearly as dangerous as oak trees.

DEVELOPER OF PITCHERS

Will Robinson Has Knack of Bringing Out Best in a Man

When he is not developing the Giant's young pitchers and teaching Rube Marquard how to keep his smoke ball under control, Wilbert Robinson, the old Baltimore catcher runs a cafe in Baltimore.

Robinson played on that wonderful Oriole team of 1894-5-6 put together by Ned Hanlon. He was one of the game's best backstops and in 1896 he tied with Clements, the Philadelphia catcher, with the splendid average of .962.

As a developer of pitchers, Robinson proved to Manager John McGraw of the Giants that he is able to bring out everything in a man, by taming Rube Marquard and making Jeff Tesreau worth while.

It was Robinson who gave the late John T. Brush some return for the $11,000 he invested in Marquard. In Baltimore Robinson took hold of Joe Corbett, after Joe had drifted from pillar to post, and made him one of the greatest pitchers in the land. Corbett was a wonder in his day and he owed it to the big catcher.

In addition to Corbett there were McMahon, Hawke, Esper, Hoffer, Pond and Hemming tossing curves to Robinson, and one and all felt more secure with him back of the plate taking their curves.

Although not a heavy hitter, Robinson was a consistent batter and broke up many games with his timely hits.

WILL ROBINSON

His best batting average was in 1894, when he hit .354. Robinson has a job with the Giants as long as he is able to use a big glove, and he is without doubt the most valuable lieutenant Manager McGraw has on his pay roll.

Remnants of a Host

The bison population of North America to-day is estimated to be about 2,000 head. This includes the 350 wild buffalo that inhabit the territory of Athabasca, and individual specimens kept in small enclosures in zoological gardens throughout Canada and the United States, as well as those confined in the various Parks in which herds of buffalo are preserved in the United States and Canada. Buffalo Park, in Alberta contains the biggest herd in the world to-day, about 1,200 head.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

PROTESTANTS CONTINUALLY INSULTED.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—In view of the late discussion in Peterborough with respect to the attitude of our Catholic fellow citizens towards ourselves, I would like to make a statement which will show why it is that the reconciliation, for which sometimes so much is hoped, is hindered by the very people who profess to wish for it. We are all aware that Protestants have nothing but good feeling for Roman Catholics and wish them well in their religion so far as it does not interfere with the State. I wish, however, to call your attention to the amazing statement contained in the following extract from The Catholic Register and the Western Watchman and being the opinion of a Roman Catholic Bishop. If this is the way Protestants are to be continually reviled how can there possibly be any hope for good feeling? The following is the extract to which I refer:

> "We have heard and ourselves attempted many quips to show the absurdity of the statement that the Protestant religion is better than no religion at all. We never quite came up to the latest from the pen of Bishop Dunne: 'A counterfeit half-dollar is better than no money at all only in the estimation of a confidence man.'"

THE SHANDON BELLS

With deep affection,
And recollection,
I often think of
Those Shandon bells,
Whose sounds so wild would,
In days of childhood,
Fling round my cradle
Their magic spells.

On this I ponder
Where'er I wander,
And thus grow fonder,
Sweet Cork, of thee;
With bells of Shandon,
That sound so grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the river Lee.

I've heard bells chiming
Full many a clime in,
Tolling sublime in Cathedral shrine
Whilst at a glib rate
Brass tongues would vibrate—
But all their music
Spoke naught like thine;

For memory dwelling
On each proud swelling
Of the belfry knelling
Its bold notes free,
Made the bells of Shandon
Sound far more grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the river Lee.

I've heard bells tolling
Old "Adrian's Mole" in Their thunder rolling
From vatican
And cymbals glorious
Swinging uproarious
In gorgeous turrets
Of Notre Dame.

But thy sounds were sweeter
Than the dome of Peter
Flings o'er the Tiber,
Pealing solemnly—
O! the bells of Shandon
Sound far more grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the river Lee.

There's a bell in Moscow,
While on tower and kiosko
In Saint Sophia
The Turkman gets,
And loud in air
Calls men to prayer
From the tapering summit
Of tall minarets.

Such empty phantom
I freely grant them;
But there is an anthem
More dear to me—
'Tis the bells of Shandon,
That sound so grand on
The pleasant waters
Of the river Lee.

A GOOD BALANCE COUNTS

Heavy Hitting Teams Not Always the Pennant Winners

Every ball club wants good hitters but the best hitting teams do not always win the pennant, and many a time a light-hitting, well-balanced team will succeed in finishing ahead of their heavier-hitting opponents in the race for the bunting.

The light-hitting Chicago American club won a pennant in 1906, although it never had a man hitting over .280 and but four players hitting above the .250 mark, and one of these was George Rohe, who was used the greater part of the time in utility roles.

The following is one of the exceptions that prove the rule, and in the majority of cases, the heavier-hitting clubs always finish well up in the race. In 1909 the two clubs which played for the world's championship, namely Pittsburg and Detroit, led their respective leagues in team batting.

For some time the old Philadelphia National League team, with such wonderful hitters in its line-up as big Ed Delehanty, Larry Lajoie, Elmer Flick, Sam Thompson, Billy Hamilton, Jack Clements, et al., were never able to capture a pennant. In the Southern league it is the exception when the heaviest hitting teams win the gonfalon, as in most cases it is generally won by a well-balanced club that possesses few good hitters.

THE GREAT DERBY

The first Derby was run in 1780, and was won by a horse called Diomed who later on found his way to the United States, and helped to lay the foundation for the trotting horse family. In fact Diomed, and Messenger, another English thoroughbred, and Bellfounder, a Norfolk trotter or hackney, were the progenitors of the modern trotting and pacing horse, there being few, if any, trotters that do not trace back to all three of them. The Derby was named in honor of the Earl of Derby, one of the gentlemen who made the original match. The conditions of the race have been several times altered as to distance and other requirements, but it remains a sweepstakes, each owner contributing a certain amount to a general fund which is divided among the winners. The owners, therefore, are racing for their own money.

For many years the value of the race to the winner fluctuated, rising to more than $35,000 in 1879, and sinking to something more than $15,000 in 1888. For the past ten years the amount of the stake has been fixed independent of the number of entries, and it is now $33,250. The St. Leger is an older race than the Derby, and remains one of the classic events of the turf, but because the Derby is decided early in the year, and is the first real test of the promising youngsters of the previous season, it has attained a popularity and distinction that belong to no other sporting fixture, on the turf or off it.

The Derby is a race of a mile and a half, and is not decided on the sort of course that Canadians are used to. It is up hill and down dale over the turf, and on this account, and also on account of the distance, it requires a stout horse as well as a swift horse to make a good showing in it.

BATTLE OF STONEY CREEK

The Battle of Stoney Creek, which is now commemorated by a suitable monument, was one of the most notable actions in the struggle of a century ago between the British forces in Canada and the United States army.

On June 1, 1812, Gen. Dearborn, commanding a United States force of over 2,500 men, left Niagara and marched to within seven miles of the British camp at Stoney Creek, a small settlement some miles from Burlington. According to Miss Agnes Fitzgibbon, one of the best authorities on the war, the place did not receive its name on account of the pebbly bed of the creek, but from an early settler named Edward Stoney. The British force, under Gen. Vincent, numbered 1,600 regulars and a small detachment of militia. A night attack was planned on the Americans at Stoney Creek. The British left Burlington on the night of June 5, and at two in the morning reached the American position. They rushed the camp with fixed bayonets, after killing the sentries. The fight was over in an hour and a half, and the British carried off 120 prisoners and a number of field guns. The camp was destroyed and the Americans defeated and scattered. Seventeen Americans were killed and 38 wounded. The British lost 23 killed and 136 wounded.

Gen. Dearborn reported to his Government that he had gained a victory, and in many American histories this is the story told. But the fact remains that the Dearborn army—a formidable one as forces were measured in that war—was completely demoralized, running away in such disorder to Forty Mile Creek that they left their dead unburied and their wounded uncared for.

CRIME IN CANADA

Half Our Criminals are Natives—P. E. Island's Good Showing

Taking the Dominion of Canada as a whole, within the last twenty odd years, the number of criminals in proportion to population has shown a remarkable increase. In 1891 the persons convicted of serious offences numbered 8.2 for every ten thousand inhabitants. Now they number 17.5. The proportion of criminality is highest in the Yukon where it is 30.5 per ten thousand inhabitants. British Columbia comes next with 20.2 in 1901; next is Alberta with 24.5; Ontario is fourth with 23.4. In Quebec the proportion of criminality to population is only 10.2, and in Prince Edward Island (where it is lowest), it is only 2.2 per ten thousand inhabitants.

Of the persons convicted of indictable offences, about 50 per cent. are Canadian born, while according to the last census 77.9 per cent of our population are natives of the Dominion.

ELECTRICITY DEVILS

Red Indians Terrified at the Dangers of Civilization

An Indian camp was established on the roof of one of the newest and most fashionable hotels in New York. The encampment consists of a number of Blackfeet Indians, who have not hitherto been off their own reservation in the Montana Rockies. They have visited New York as attachés to an industrial exhibition, and absolutely refused to sleep within the four walls of an hotel bedroom.

The chief, Three Bears, who is eighty years old and the only one who knows any English, is frightened at the "skyscrapers," and refuses to allow his people to sleep inside the house, so he and Long Time Sleep, White Calf, Lazy Boy, Big Top, Medicine Owl, White Calf's squaw, Medicine Owl's squaw, and a ten-year-old Indian girl pitched their tepees above the eaves, whence they can look out over the city's artificial peaks and canyons.

The party are very fearful of the dangers of civilization, and are highly suspicious of the tall buildings and the "steam and electricity devils." They are visibly impressed by the wonders of the great city, but absolutely refuse to leave their hotel roof after darkness has set in.

"Electric Snuff" Upsets Audience

The story of how a mischievous boy nearly caused a panic in a picture theatre was related at Dundee Police Court. The mischief-maker was a grocer's apprentice named William Donaldson. He appeared to answer a charge of having scattered in the picture hall a quantity of "electric snuff." The result was disastrous so far as the further interest of the audience in the pictures was concerned, and a panic almost ensued. Admitting his guilt, the boy was penalized in 50 cents, with the option of twenty-four hours' imprisonment.

Fond of Picture Palaces

In Falkirk Juvenile Court a girl fourteen years of age, residing with her parents in Grangemouth, pleaded guilty of a series of frauds and wilful impositions on Grangemouth shopkeepers as the result of which she obtained a considerable quantity of clothing, and also to obtaining board and lodgings without intending to pay. The mother of the accused said the girl seemed very excitable, and there seemed to be nothing in her head but picture palaces. The sheriff put the accused on probation for a year.

Joseph Skelding, a youth, died at Llanelly (Carmarthenshire) Hospital from scalds. He fell the night before into a well of boiling water connected with the power station.

TALE OF THE SMOKING PINE

Indian Legend That Accounts for the Tree That Is Found in Maine.

When the chief, Assaimo, who presided over the tribe of Indians that dwelt on the banks of the Sembahook, was struck dead by a thunderbolt, the people of the tribe buried him near the banks of that stream. And there today, near Hallowell, Me., over the spot of his grave stands the smoking pine. This is the story the Indians tell of the origin of this tree.

When the first white men came to inhabit this land they found the Indians a strong and sturdy race inhabiting this new country. To them the white men brought vice and disease and soon the Indians' native strength and vitality began to ebb. They grew feeble, lost their former hardihood and vigor, and were soon unable to cope with the more powerful stranger in the land.

Chief Assaimo saw this and warned his people that the Great Spirit had spoken their fate, which was to be that of destruction. He counseled them not to join in strife with the white man, but to call him into council and to smoke with him the pipe of peace.

"I am soon to die," added the old chief, "and where my body lies there shall arise a great pine which shall forever smoke as a token of eternal peace between the red and the white people."

The prophecy of the old chieftain was fulfilled. The compact of peace between the Indians and the English was made and soon thereafter Chief Assaimo died struck down by a thunderbolt. Then it was that his tribesmen decided to leave the land and move on westward.

On visiting their beloved Chief Assaimo's grave to bid him a last farewell, they beheld with awe and wonder the complete fulfillment of his prophecy. There stood a beautiful tall pine from whose leaves and branches a haze of smoky mist was constantly rising. Hence it is that from that day on this tree has been called the smoking pine.—Colin [illegible] Smith.

Strange Guests at St. Bernard.

An enormous flock of swallows was overtaken by a heavy snowstorm near the famous hospice of St. Bernard in the Alps last winter. [illegible] When the good monks saw the birds they opened the doors and windows of their building that the little feathered strangers might have shelter.

All the rooms were crowded with them, thousands remaining there all night. The next day proved fine and the guests pursued their way towards Italy. This is very pleasant to learn, but it is saddening to know that a vast number of the feathered birds failed to reach the hospice and were found dead in the snow [illegible]

PLAN YOUR KITCHEN ON SCIENTIFIC LINES

Modern Conditions Demand That It be Run on the Principle of a Factory

Perhaps no part of a new home has quite such an allurement for a woman as has the kitchen—and if the house be old this is very apt to be the point from which all plans for rejuvenation begin. The little drawers, the cupboards, the flour bins all delight the feminine heart, so much so, alas, that the housekeeper is prone to multiply these unnecessarily. Every drawer, one should remember, is an additional care, every cupboard and every locker a place that must be dusted periodically—washed frequently. This takes time and strength. It adds minutes to the length of each working day—hours to the net result of energy wasted during the year.

Not that drawers, cupboards and lockers are undesirable. On the contrary it is these very compartments, intelligently designed, that make of the kitchen a practical place in which to do the work of the house, but these appointments must be used understandingly. Too many or too few seriously cut down the efficiency of the kitchen. They add to the complexity of the business end of the house when they should eliminate friction and reduce the amount of labor required.

There is only one way to successfully plan a kitchen and its accessories which is to follow out the same method employed by efficiency engineers when they take hold of a man's factory, store or office and convert cumbersome methods into a simple, frictionless system, highly organized to do work efficiently. This way consists in carefully analyzing the requirements of a business and then designing the simplest apparatus with which to do that business.

In small houses a "buffet kitchen" is frequently installed and has proved itself almost a necessity to the housekeeper who does her own work. This combines every function of the kitchen, pantry and serving-room in one room and has proved itself practicable in houses accommodating a family of as many as six people.

A very unique plan carried out in a number of bungalows is that of completely eliminating the dining-room and dividing its functions between the kitchen and living-room. The main idea of this innovation is to provide at small cost a house where the mistress can do her own work. This is made possible by a pivoted arrangement of the partition between kitchen and living-room. When meals are ready to serve this partition is opened and the small dining-table, ordinarily kept in the kitchen, is pushed into the living-room, which becomes for the time being the dining-room. At conclusion of a meal the process is reversed, the table being pushed back into the kitchen where the dishes are washed and put away.

As to the sanitary equipment for the kitchen much is to be said for glass shelves, glass covers and also for cloth wall covering. These, however, are quite expensive, and any housewife can work wonders in a kitchen, even an old kitchen, without them. All that is absolutely necessary is a clean floor with a hard, smooth surface, well-painted walls and woodwork in some light color, a can of white enamel paint for shelves and pantry, a judicious selection of modern, labor-saving devices, the daily use of the common household chemicals, plenty of sunshine and fresh air.

The Force of a Jet of Water

A factory in Grenoble, France, utilizes the water of a reservoir situated in the mountains at a height of 200 yards. The water reaches the factory through a vertical tube of the same length with a diameter of considerably less than an inch, the jet being used to move a turbine. Experiments have shown that the strongest men cannot cut the jet with the best tempered sword; and in some instances the blade has been broken into fragments without deflecting a drop of water, and with as much violence as a pane of glass may be shattered by a blow from an iron bar. It has been calculated that a jet of water a small fraction of an inch in thickness, moving with sufficient velocity, could not be cut by a rifle bullet.

Queen Elizabeth's Time

Teetotal hospitality would never have done for Queen Bess, for wherever Elizabeth went there had to go ale—strong ale. One recalls the trials of her host, the Earl of Leicester, as expressed in a letter from Hatfield to Lord Burleigh: "There is not one drop of good drink for her here. We were fain to send to London and Kenilworth and divers other other places where ale was; her own beer was so strong as there was no man able to drink it." And one quart of this "excellent wash" of good strong ale for breakfast, we are told, put the queen in good spirits for the start of the day's work.

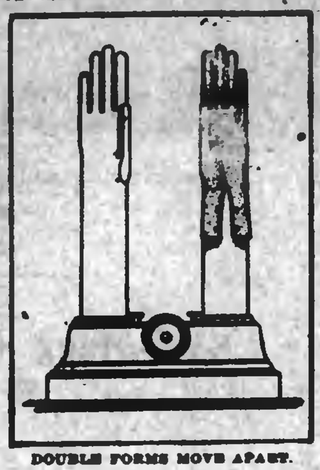
Trees on the Prairies

On the prairie, shelter belts and woodlots are protecting crops, stock and houses from the extremes of climate, and are providing the farmers with fence posts and stringers.

GLOVE STRETCHER

Turn Lever and Forms Expand and Stretch Gloves on Them

A new type of glove stretcher has been patented by a Canadian woman. A base has two glove forms rising from it, in the attitude of a person approached by a highwayman. These forms consist of separate parts that are movable away from each other, or rather, one is stationary in each case and its companion is movable. The thumbs are also made on the same principle. The movement of the forms is controlled by a lever which is operated by the wheel in front. To stretch a pair of gloves, draw them over the forms snugly. Then turn the lever and the movable section of each form will separate from the stationary section, the double thumbs, performing the same movement. As will be readily understood, this expands and stretches the gloves gradually and without straining the stitching if done properly.



DOUBLE FORMS MOVE APART.

"Three Good Meat Meals"

"Writing generally of Canadian home life, I can only express the opinion that people in a similar rank of life live there upon a much better scale than in the Old Country. The working classes especially are better off, and the workman gets three good meat meals a day, as a rule, which compares very favorably with what he has been accustomed to before arrival in Canada."

This statement, published in "The Coloniser," London, England, was written by an Englishman who had lived in Canada.

Indians Degenerating

Mrs. J. B. Willmott, president of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, in an address at Toronto, said work among the Indians of the Canadian West was very discouraging. The work of the missionary," she said, was retarded everywhere by the gross immorality, which is the curse of the redmen. She read a letter from Rev. Lowski, of the Norway House Settlement, Manitoba, in which he stated that instead of being aided by the white people of the district they were being hampered.

Billions in Timber

Canada possesses some six hundred billion board feet of merchantable timber, worth perhaps ten billion dollars. Canadians are cutting off this timber at the rate of about 100 board feet per acre, or eight billion board feet a year.

Modern Dress Sensible

The decency or indecency of dress depends a good deal on the person who wears it; and, more still, on the manner in which she wears it, says a writer in The Winnipeg Saturday Post. The costume of the present day is far more becoming, much more sanitary, and incomparably more common-sense than many of the fashions which have prevailed in the past fifty years.

In the Interests of Suffering Humanity

February 26, 1913.
245 Spence St., Winnipeg.
The Sanol Manufacturing Co. Ltd., Winnipeg, Man.
Gentlemen,—
I beg to draw your attention to the fact that I have suffered from rheumatism for the last nine years, and particularly for the last five. I have been unable to stand, walk, or in fact, help myself in any way, my knees and elbows swollen, drawn and stiff; could not bend them in any way; I tried everything, went to the Banff Springs three months in 1905, twice to Hot Springs, Arkansas, two months in 1907, four months in 1908 done me no good. I heard of SANOL last September and have been taking it ever since, and I am glad to say the swelling is about all gone. I am going around the house on crutches, also my joints are [illegible] and straightening, and I fully expect that SANOL will cure me.
I believe SANOL will cure rheumatism, for my case is a hard one, and in fact has been pronounced incurable and if I improve for the next three months as I have for the last three I will be walking in good shape.
I remain,
Yours truly,
John J. Lane.
P.S.—You can show this letter to anyone you feel like, and send them to me as I can tell them better than I can write it.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of poor shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parisite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

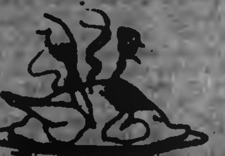
HOW TO CARVE

Done Properly It Adds Zest and Enjoyment to Meal

The art of carving is a simple, dignified accomplishment, not difficult to acquire, yet comparatively rare. Slashing spoils the joint, discomfits the carver and makes it unpleasant for the guests.

Roast fowl, including turkey and chicken, should be placed on platter with breast up and neck to the left. Place the fork across the breastbone.

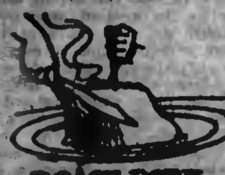


TURKEY.

Cut thin skin between leg and body close to the body. Force back the leg with the knife and separate it by running point of the carver through the joint. Do the same with wing. Remove both legs and wings before carving breast. Cut the latter crosswise in very thin slices.

Leg mutton or lamb—The small end of the roast of mutton or lamb should be placed at left on platter. Carve in thin slices across grain to bone. Begin at large end.

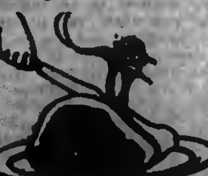
Rib roast of pork should be cut into individual chops. Loin of roast should be cut cross grain in medium slices like chops, through the tenderloin. Serve a small part of the latter with each cut.



ROAST PORK.

A roast of veal should be placed flat side down. Cut across grain.

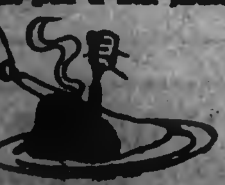
Steaks should be cut through to platter with grain of meat, close to bone. A porterhouse steak should be cut crosswise half on each side.



HAM.

Roast of beef should be placed on platter, ribs down. Cut slices with stroke of knife right through to bone and at right angles to it. End of roast or rump should be carved with grain of meat.

A saddle of mutton should be cut beside the grain of meat parallel to backbone. Put knife into meat close to the ribs to separate the slices from them.



MUTTON.

Antiquated Tall Hats

During the hearing of an action at Longford Quarter Sessions by a draper's assistant for a year's salary against a draper who failed and was evicted, Mr. Daisy (for defendant) said the assistant stayed on when there was no business being done, and when there was nothing to sell in the place. For months before the eviction the shop stock consisted of hundreds of bandboxes and some antiquated tall hats that nobody would buy. His honor gave a decree for salary for portion of the time claimed for.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

ABOUT THE HOUSE

When kitchen towels wear thin stitch two of them together around the edges and diagonally across the centre.

When furniture does not actually need polishing it is a good idea to wipe it off thoroughly with a cloth dipped in linseed oil.

A good furniture polish may be made of one-half pint each of linseed oil and turpentine and a quarter pint each of vinegar and methylated spirits. Shake together thoroughly in a bottle.

Round centrepieces may be dried by laying them while wet on a sheet of clean glass, kept for the purpose. See that the linen is placed smoothly, and then set the glass in the sun.

A most convenient little steamer to fit the top of a teakettle may be made from a five-pound lard pail with a tightly fitted cover. Punch holes through the bottom with a large nail.

To remove discolorations from enamel pans boil a little chloride of lime in the water with which they are filled.

When polishing the stove add a little sugar or syrup to the polish and it will not burn off so quickly.

Unable to Read at Thirteen

At Paisley two boys, John Cooper and Edward Cooper, thirteen and seven years respectively, were charged with having been found wandering. It was stated that they frequented fair grounds in various towns, and within the last year had resided at many places. The elder boy was absolutely uneducated and could neither read nor write, while the younger boy had never been at school. They were committed to Paisley Industrial School.

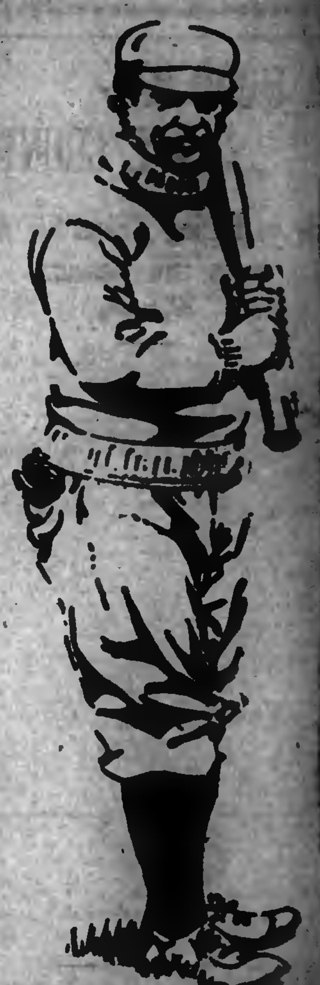
MARVELOUS BATTER WAS WEE WILLIE

Now He Only Has to Watch His Bank Account Not His Batting Average

Will baseball ever see another Willie Keeler?

"Wee Willie," the batting marvel of the game; one of the few to get into the .400 class and the only batter that ever played an entire season without fanning is now a real estate broker and apartment house owner in Brooklyn, and his heaviest work is collecting his rents and banking the money. Keeler vies with Fielder Jones, Cy Young and Bill Lang as the richest retired ball player. Any of the four can write his check for more than $100,000—and have it honored, too.

Willie Keeler was one of that wonderful Baltimore outfield of 1894, '95 and '96, with Walter Brodie and Kelly. Brilliant fielders, hard hitters and giant base runners were they, and

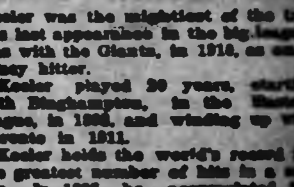


WILLIE KEELER

Keeler was the mightiest of the trio. His last appearance in the big league was with the Giants, in 1910, as emergency hitter.

Keeler played 20 years, starting with Binghamton, in the Eastern league, in 1892, and winding up with Toronto in 1911.

Keeler holds the world's record for the greatest number of hits in a season. In 1897 he [illegible] singles for an average of .432. He was the most scientific batter that ever played ball. He invented "choking" the bat. Small and light, he realized he could do more effective hitting by merely tapping the ball "where they ain't" than by "swinging his head off" in an effort for long hits.



"Choking the Bat"

Always crowding the plate, Keeler grasped his bat near the middle and hit to any field at will; the fielders never knew where to play for him. Right or left-handed pitchers looked alike, and, no matter how they pitched to him, "Wee Willie" placed the ball where he wanted to.

A Remarkable Case

A remarkable case has been treated in Aberdeen Royal Infirmary. A married woman, who was a patient there, was operated upon, when no fewer than seventy-three ordinary pins, eleven hairpins, and a small piece of steel wire were found embedded in the bowel. The woman is unable to account for their presence there, the only possible explanation being that for a considerable period she had, during sleep, extracted a pin from her nightdress and swallowed it. She is stated to be recovering.

HIS WIFE'S SECRETARY

"You are my wife's social secretary?" he asks of the beauteous creature who is seated at the small desk in the study.

"Yes, sir," she replies. "I am supposed to take Mrs. [illegible] place for as many social details as possible."

"Well—er—she doesn't seem to be coming downstairs this morning, and it has always been her custom to kiss me good-bye when I start for the office."

"Futurist" Evening Coat

This white evening coat is a "futurist" design by Mme. Ripley and is of white satin stencilled in red and green tulips. It has broad revers and cuffs of black satin.

Securing a Veil

A good way to keep a veil tidy under the chin, and so that it may be easily lifted when required, is to get a piece of the finest round elastic, about an inch and a half in length, thread through the foot of the veil in the middle, about a quarter of a yard, then draw in to the size of elastic and secure both sides. This is a much better way than twisting the veil round, which, if "spotted," generally catches and tears.

Removing Jar Labels

To remove the label from a jar or bottle is often rather difficult. This method is always successful: Wet the label thoroughly and then hold it near a fire for a moment. The steam thus generated immediately acts on the paste or gum.

SCHOOL LUNCHES

When They Are Necessary They Should be Appetizing

"Mercy, I haven't anything in the house for John's lunch!" says John's mother. "I'll just boil him an egg and butter some of these biscuits we had last night and give him some money for ice cream cones."

Johnnie goes off not very happy because his lunch is awkward to carry in his pocket. Mother has forgotten to buy him a box; poor child, he does not realise that it will harder to carry it home in his little "tummy" after he has eaten it.

There should always be something for the school lunch in the house as long as there are children going to school from it. To leave this important matter until school time may make all the difference between a fine, healthy child and a nervous dyspeptic. Many children are loggy and unable to concentrate their minds after eating their lunches because the badly balanced and badly arranged food does not agree with them.

A great statesman as well a great gormet said: "Food must appeal to three of the senses: seeing, smelling and tasting." There is nothing pleasing to the eye in four biscuits not too carefully spread with butter, and certainly the odor of hard boiled eggs is not pleasant. A torn paper that lets the salt drift all over everything does not conduce to making a lunch more palatable.

Where there are short session schools, children do not need big lunches; three or four sandwiches, a relish and a sweet is all that is necessary. Do not make them monotonous. Try and have a little surprise every day. You know how much children like surprises.

Have plenty of oiled paper and white tissue paper napkins in the house. They are very inexpensive and very necessary to a successful school luncheon, which to be altogether successful must give the child a feeling of pride as well as satisfaction when he opens it.

Mothers should pay a great deal of attention to these school lunches, as they will often make a great difference in the child's standing in his school grades.

It is a good idea to have more than one kind of sandwich in the lunch box; but when using peanut butter, cheese, or beans as filling do not add meat sandwiches, as there are enough carbonates in the cheese, beans and nuts without this addition.

Above all, see that the luncheon is put up daintily without any "messy" bits of food about it. If you have relishes that must be eaten with salt and pepper, put these condiments in different colored tissue paper, and if you have pickles be sure that they are wrapped up securely in oiled paper so that they will not spoil other food near which they are placed.

A tin lunch box should be provided, as it is not only more convenient but the mere fact of having to remember to take it to and from school teaches responsibility.

The lunch box should contain a relish, a heavy sandwich, a sweet of some kind, and fruit if possible. This will not be expensive if a mother puts her mind to it. The expenditure of mind is always greater than of money in the making of a successful home keeper, and the children's lunches are a very important part of home keeping.

GIVE SOME DETAILS OF ROYAL TRAGEDY

Countess Marie Recalls the Tragedy of 1889 When Heir and Baroness Were Found Dead

Countess Marie Larisch, niece of the late Empress of Austria, made public what purports to be the true story of the mystery surrounding the death of Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria. Since 1889, when the bodies of the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary and Baroness Mary Vetsera were found in the royal hunting lodge at Meyerling, there has been no official explanation of the double tragedy.

"The accidental shooting of the Crown Prince when on a hunting expedition," is the way the court circular referred to the tragedy, while there was no inkling whatever that the death of the young Baroness had occurred at the same place or at the same time.

The Countess says, in effect, that the Crown Prince killed his sweetheart and then took his own life because he feared that a plot in which he was engaged was about to be discovered, and that he would be court martialed and shot. That plot, according to the Countess, was a conspiracy on the part of Rudolph, the Archduke John of Tuscany and some others to disrupt the Austro-Hungarian Empire by making Rudolph King of Hungary.

Blames the Baroness

The Countess says that although the Crown Prince was a dissolute man whose conduct had cost him the love of father, mother and wife, he was not primarily to blame for the affair with the Baroness. The girl fell in love with him before he had ever noticed her, and wrote him a letter begging him to meet her. The Countess appears to have assisted to arrange some of the stolen interviews that followed, though she protests that she only shielded the girl. But soon gossip connected their names. The indiscretion of the young Baroness went the length of publicly insulting the Crown Princess Stephanie, and it seemed probable that she would be dismissed from the court.

A Ghastly Ride

It was in this crisis of their affairs that Rudolph took her with him on a hunting expedition to Meyerling. One morning when they did not appear at the usual hour, Count Hoyos the attendant of the Prince, broke open the door and found both dead a small revolver in the hand of Rudolph. Calling in another servant whom he could trust, the Count removed the body of the girl to another room. Then he had both doors locked and guarded while he hurried to Vienna with the news of the tragedy. It was announced that the Crown Prince had been injured, and after a noted doctor had been hurried to the scene the death was announced. In the meantime, the family of the Baroness Vetsera were communicated with. Two uncles went down to Meyerling to bring the body home. The police insisted that the girl should be dressed, and that the body should be held upright between the two uncles on the seat while they drove in a carriage from the hunting lodge. A few miles away, the carriage turned into the gates of a monastery, and here the body was hurriedly buried, neither the father nor mother being allowed to be present and everyone who knew anything of the scandal being sworn to secrecy.

Bad Stomach Rumblings Distress Before Meals

HAS SELDOM FREE FROM THAT WEARY, DROOPY, HALF-DEAD FEELING.

Now Cured, and Gives Good Advice to Others With Dyspeptic Tendencies.

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins:

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salt or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour and always after eating there was pain and fullness and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter can cure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute. Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box or five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers, or post paid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

New Sheds Ready Here

The hangers for the sliding doors of the new C.P.R. freight shed, which being delayed stopped several of the carpenters from work, arrived yesterday. Mr. Dodd, the efficient local agent of the C.P.R. told The Times yesterday that the new sheds will be completed within thirty days from present date.

Police Court Paragraphs.

Frank Campbell charged with supplying liquor to Michael Fallon, a blacklister, was fined $25 at yesterday's police court.

Albert Legree and Alex Irwin, charged with acting in a disorderly manner in front of the roller rink, were fined $5.75 forthwith. Both pleaded guilty and claimed that they were acting in self defence.

May Bell Marks Co.

"The Counterfeiters," an English melodrama in four acts, drew a capacity house to the Grand Opera House last night. The play proved the best of the week. May Bell Marks, as Kate Medland, again demonstrated her dramatic ability. To-night, the new play, "Wife in Name Only," this is also Amateur Night. Saturday Matinee, "Lena Rivers." Saturday night, "The Ranch Queen." A large number of amateurs have handed in their names to compete for the prizes.

Why Bricks Are Laid

The Times was asked twice yesterday why firebricks are laid parallel with the rails of the Peterborough Radial Railway Co., instead of the asphalt laid on the whole street. Mr. Munro, the efficient manager of the Company explained that the vibration caused by traffic on the road would disintegrate the pavement if it were adjacent to said rails. Another is that in case of necessary repairs to the rails, the bricks can be removed and [illegible] up the pavement.

Teachers' Institute.

The first session of the Teachers' Institute of Peterborough County, was held in the Lecture room of the Normal School with President Tremouth in the chair. After the minutes and the correspondence had been read, the president gave an excellent address on "Education." This was followed by a discussion on "The Strathcona Trust," led by Mr. Andrews, of Havelock. After the report on the Ontario Teachers' Alliance was read, a discussion was held on the use of the School Manuals. Inspector Broderick and Loes were both present.

Sanitary Inspector Spoke.

Sanitary Inspector Spence addressed a meeting of the Local Council of Women, which was held in the Assembly Hall of the Public Library. There were about fifty members present, when the presiding officer, Mrs. J. C. Davidson, addressed the meeting. Matters pertaining to education and the "white slave traffic" were touched upon. Inspector Spence gave an educational and instructive address on local sanitary conditions.

A Local Circus Attraction

Our esteemed evening contemporary of Hunter street in its Wednesday's issue, describing a lamentable accident in the North Country, says a girl was out looking for "cows on horseback." Such a circus feature as suggested thereby would be a great attraction for the "big top." An enterprising circus press agent would probably advertise it as a "beautiful bovine balancing act" or an "unequalled equine equilibrium!" If our contemporary will only give us the name of the owner of these cows it will hear something to its advantage.

Holes in the Hose.

Every woman hates to see bystanders see a hole in her hose. However, the holes in the hose, used in the street paving work on George street, and lying on the western sidewalk caused many a maid and matron to show yesterday, holes in their respective hose. The holes in the ladies' hose were not all the various openings in which their little dimpled toes entered either. The way that antique hose of the pavement contractors spread puddles on the sidewalk was a holy terror.

Local Man After Pheasants

Mr. J. C. McConkey, of Smith, in conversation with a Times representative, told of the way he spent Thanksgiving Day one year ago in British Columbia. It will be remembered that Mr. McConkey, some 15 months ago went to Vancouver to reside. However, business exigencies impelled his return to Peterborough County. He quoted that on Thanksgiving Day, 1912, he was out shooting on Lulu Island. Mr. McConkey spoke in glowing terms of the splendid pheasant shooting in British Columbia. He said, in part that the pheasants are plentiful there. Only the cock birds are allowed to be shot. Mr. McConkey said "It seemed a hardship to kill so beautiful a bird."

40th Anniversary.

Mr. Frank Mason, the well known local florist, this week will observe the 40th anniversary of his going into business in Peterborough. To mark this event he has decided to give a 20 per cent. reduction on cut flowers, jardinieres, bulbs, etc. for a few days. The public are invited to call and inspect his new emporium on Water street, where a magnificent display of flowers will be shown.

Got What He Wanted.

Whilst The Times deprecates any attempt to get ahead of the splendid license law, now so admirably administered by the Whitney Government, there is a story, absolutely true, possibly worth giving. Last night a gentleman living on George Street had a few friends call on him. Being of a hospitable disposition he took a big jug and went to a local hotel. He told the bartender to "give me 25 cents worth of ale in this jug." The wine clerk replied: "We are not allowed to serve drinks except for consumption on the premises." The host, looking towards his visitors' entertainment replied: "Well give me a great big schooner of ale." This was served, as allowed by law. As the bartender was making change for 25 cents, the host quickly poured his glassful into the jug on the counter. This went on for five successive times. At last the wine clerk, who had not seen the deal, as he made change, remarked "You beat my time! I never saw a man yet who could down five schooners of beer inside five minutes." The host retired with a carefully balanced jug. W

(Beauty Notes.)

It is not longer necessary for a woman to go through life with a face disfigured by a hairy growth, for if she will apply a plain delatone paste to the objectionable hairs for 2 minutes, then rub off, every trace of hair will vanish. To make the paste, mix some water with powdered delatone. After the paste is removed, the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. Better results are obtained if the delatone is purchased in an original package.

Shoe-Thieves in Whitby?

Yesterday a man from the country called at a local shoe store and said to the proprietor: "A year ago I bought a new pair of shoes in your store and putting the new ones on, I left my old shoes, intending to call for them, but I forgot [illegible] to get them now." The proprietor searched everywhere for the parcel but in vain. At last behind some shoe boxes on a lower shelf he found a parcel. "Here you are," he said to his customer. The parcel was found to contain two sealed bottles of whisky that some other customer, possibly accompanied by his mother-in-law, had left or hidden on the shelf. It is hardly to be believed that a [illegible] had uttered a [illegible] "They [illegible]," [illegible] a pair of [illegible] 71 [illegible] two bottles of foolish water. Hence the mother-in-law theory.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once —Stops falling out

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW ON THE DIAL OF A CITY LIFE

Some 14 feet of the dock at Port Hope was torn away when the steamer Belleville in a heavy sea ran into it, the dock.

Owing to the heating apparatus in the Public School at Norwood not being in working order yet, there has been no school this week.

A few years ago, Dr. Osler is said that men of 60 years of age should be chloroformed as their usefulness was gone. There are more than a dozen of young fellows of 60 and over in Peterborough who do not agree with the worthy doctor.

Capt. R. W. Carson, fisher inspector in this district, sends word to the city that last Sunday night a capture was effected of over 1,000 yards of fish nets and a quantity of Salmon at Third Island, Lake Simcoe. He reports cold weather and snow.

It looks as though there may be trouble on the sidewalk on the south side of Hunter street near the Palace Hotel, when the spring comes. The street pavement is on a level with the surface of the sidewalk and melting snow will probably irrigate the latter.

Dr. Osler says that there is "no use in worrying about yesterday, to-day or to-morrow." We'll bet our last suspender button that Dr. Osler never had to move his furniture in Peterborough and looked for three days running by unkept carters' promises.

A local gentleman yesterday remarked to The Times thusly: "Poor old Sir Wilfrid! In his Joliette speech he seemed to claim more importance for a moulting brahama hen and her 11 eggs than Canada recognises, as per Sir Wilfrid, the maintenance and support of the Empire. Tis not politics from a distinguished politician."

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE--"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel and Pills act on Liver and Bowels like pepper acts in Nostrils—Danger!

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

PRISONER'S NAME IS NOT HEARD IN COURT

Kiev, Russia, Oct. 23.—When the trial of Mendel Beilis for the murder of the Christain boy Yuschinsky in March, 1910, re-opened this morning, the prisoners counsel called the attention of the presiding judge to the fact that although the court sat yesterday from early in the morning until midnight the prisoners name had not been mentioned even once. Counsel asked the President to put this on record and he consented to do so.

The newspaper Kievlianen returned to the attack on the trial of Beilis to-day, calling it blind and gross blunder. At the conclusion of the article it said; "When the Duma passes a law enabling Golubef, the leader of the black hundred arbitarily to send Jews to hard labor, then perhaps it will be unnecessary to seek to prove the existence of ritualists among them.

VOTES FOR WOMEN WILL BECOME A FACTOR IN THE COMING TORONTO MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

ELECTIONS MAY TAKE PLACE IN ENGLAND BEFORE CHRISTMAS AGRICULTURISTS GOT CABINET

Mr. Lloyd George's Land Scheme is Said to Resemble Dissolution of the Monasteries by Henry VIII.--Revolution of English Policy

London, Oct. 24.—Canadian emigration agents little thought when so successfully denuding the English country side that they were acting as advance agents for a revolution of the English policy comparable only in design with Henry VIII's dissolution of the monasteries; yet so it is proving. It is especially the wholesale emigration to Canada which induced the Cabinet, many members of which, including Mr. Asquith, Lord Haldane and Earl Grey, are decidedly Whiggish and themselves intimately associated with high society, to assent to the Lloyd George proposals to set up new rural conditions which may check the exodus of the honest and ablest part of the agricultural population. The proposals amount to nothing less than placing the landed aristocracy under the iron control of State Commissioners, from whose verdicts on all questions relating to rent, wages and hours of labor, housing accommodation and conditions of tenure there will be no appeal.

Peer's Influence.

It is necessary to know how effective is the present mastery over a good half of England of the great land owners like the Dukes of Norfolk, Westminster, Richmond, Devonshire and Bedford, not to mention hundreds of Lords, Baronets, Knights and Squires, to understand the far-reaching effects of such a revolution. Mr. Tristram Eve, perhaps the highest authority on English estates, says that Mr. Lloyd George's mere threat, backed as it is by the whole Cabinet, has already knocked the equivalent of five years' rent from the value of agricultural land.

This will make the policy of occupying-ownership for small men much easier as a State loan can now be spread over a less number of years.

OTTAWA FRENCH PUPILS QUIT EMPTY ROOM FOR INSPECTOR

Refusal of $5,000 Grant by Ontario Government Sees Bi-Lingual Fight Grow More Intense

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Following the announcement that the Whitney Government would withdraw its grant of $5,000 a year to the Ottawa separate school board, the fight regarding bi-lingualism here is taking on an acute aspect.

Yesterday Inspector Summerby when he went to inspect [illegible] school here, found only the teacher awaiting him, the children all having walked out in protest. The remarkable scene was duplicated in St. Peter's school this morning and threats were made by the French-Canadian residents near the school to eject Summerby. This morning Samuel Genest, the militant chairman of the separate school board, and Dr. Anthony Freeland, who claims to represent the Irish Catholics in support of the French, angrily asserted that the separate school board will sue the Government and the Separate School. "The French Canadians," said Genest "are guaranteed certain rights under the law and will take steps to get them."

The whole trouble centres around clause seventeen, which provides that English be taught one hour in bi-lingual schools, thus ensuring all children a liberal education in English as well as in their mother tongue. On advice the Ottawa Separate School Board, the French School Board, the French School of Ottawa have flatly refused to comply with the regulation and will not receive Protestant inspectors. The grant has accordingly been withdrawn by the Government and the Separate School Board will sue the Government for the portion of the grant which it claims the English section of the separate schools are entitled to.

VOLTURNO VICTIMS PLACED AT 134

New York, Oct. 24.—The total death roll in the Volturno disaster was fixed last night by the Uranium Steamship Company at 134. Of these 102 were passengers.

Capt. Griffiths of the steamship Star of Ireland, which arrived yesterday from Cardiff, reported to the Uranium Company that he had passed the Volturno last Thursday still burning about 120 miles west southwest of the place where she was abandoned.

GENERAL BOOTH MAY MEET BROTHERS

London, Oct. 24.—General William Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, sails for New York to-morrow on board the Lusitania. It will be his first visit to America, where he expects to secure some Salvationists for China for the work of the Salvation Army is to be vastly increased in the near future.

While in New York, General Booth may meet his brother Ballington Booth, but it is felt in Salvation Army circles here that all hopes of a reconciliation will be futile unless the Volunteers of America make the first advances.

LIBERAL CHIEF AT WALKERTON TUESDAY

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier after a good deal of hesitation has finally decided to speak in South Bruce bye-election. He will speak at Walkerton next Tuesday.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, will speak in the constituency the same day.

ROYAL COMMISSION CLUB OVER HEAD OF RAILWAYS

London, Oct. 24.—The appointment of a railway Royal Commission was a complete surprise. The Government intends through it to check the system of a working agreement which has grown up among British lines during the past ten years, practically eliminating competition. It will further use the commission to elaborate a plan for cheap freight rates on home-grown agricultural produce in connection with the new land scheme as forecasted by Lloyd George.

Although railway nationalization is one subject in the reference, no one anticipates that the commission will help nationalization forward, its membership being evidently conservative. Railway servants advocate nationalization, claiming that Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill support them. Premier Asquith, although professing an open mind, is well known to consider nationalization now impracticable.

The commission, which significantly includes no representatives of the companies or men, can be regarded as a club over the heads of the railway interests which have lately largely fallen out of public favor owing to the unrest among employees and numerous accidents.

INSURANCE CALLED CHIEF ENEMY OF CONSUMPTION

Berlin, Oct. 24.—The effect of insurance in the campaign against consumption, was the subject of an interesting discussion during this morning's session of the International Tuberculosis Congress, at which twenty-two nations are represented. The reduction of mortality from this scourge by treating patients in special sanitoria, the improving of housing conditions and education either by Government or private enterprise of the people to the danger of infection were all exhaustively dealt with.

Several German speakers, including Dr. Kaufmann and Dr. Wilhelm Koch, presidents of different sections of the German Imperial Insurance office, described the amazing results of the institution of sanitoria for consumptives among the compulsory insured working classes not only in reducing mortality, but in rendering life easier for sufferers and their families and in curing and restoring to a useful working life many of those who had been attacked.

Dr. Kaufmann in his report, declared that 92 per cent. of the patients in sanitoria in 1912 showed such improvement that invalidity in their case was not to be feared. Of the patients successfully treated in these institutions in 1907, no fewer than 57 per cent. were at the end of 1912 still capable of earning their living.

The speakers generally at to-day's session, urged that early childhood was the best time to fight consumption and to prevent its spread.

JEALOUSLY COST HIM TERM IN JAIL

Montreal, Oct. 24.—Mad with rage because Matthew Davidson had wooed and married the girl he was courting, Alex. McFarlane waited for the couple on their way home from the wedding ceremony, yesterday afternoon, knocked the husband down and assaulted his wife. McFarlane then went to the home that Mr. Davidson had prepared, smashed in the windows and destroyed most of the furniture.

McFarlane this morning, was fined $20 and sentenced to two months in jail for his assault on Mr. Davidson and two months for his assault on Mrs. Davidson.

SICK CONVICTS ILL-TREATED MANY HARDSHIPS DESCRIBED

Kingston, Oct. 24.—Interesting evidence of two convicts without any qualification for the work, dressing wounds of patients at operations in the penitentiary hospital, was given by F. 208 this morning. His description of the crude [illegible] was impressive. Dr. Edwards made a point of the fact that this was tolerated by Dr. Phelan. Witness also told of the crowding of the meals on holidays and Sundays. The three meals were served within five hours. Breakfast at 8, dinner at 11 and supper at 1.30. Nothing more was served until 6 o'clock the next morning. These conditions did not obtain in the penitentiary generally. Convicts not in the hospital for dinner had rations served sometimes after two and could eat it when they liked.

In the hospital the convicts were supposed to eat their dinner at once as the orderlies were supposed to remove all the dishes from the cells.

The testimony of K. 551 a convict who was a professional nurse, was very strong against conditions in the hospital. The stench from some of the patients was terrible. If the wounds and bad sores had been properly dressed and the patients bathed this could not have developed. He cited two or three cases of men now in the hospital who had been there from 3 to 8 weeks without getting a bath.

REFERENDUM ON QUESTION OF GIVING MARRIED WOMEN VOTE TO BE TAKEN JANUARY NEXT

Board of Control Unanimously Decide to Grant Request of Suffragette Deputation--First Step in Dominion Wide Campaign

Toronto, Oct. 24.—After hearing a deputation from the local suffrage organizations, the Board of Control to-day unanimously decided to recommend to Council that a referendum be taken on January 1 on the question of whether or not married women owning property in their own right should be granted the municipal franchise. The City Solicitor was instructed to draft the question.

Dr. Margaret Gordon headed the visitors. The opinion of Toronto, if favorable to the extension of the voting power to married women property owners, would be a potent influence upon the Provincial and Federal Governments, she said. If the majority of the local voters favored giving women the municipal franchise those heading the movement for equal suffrage rights would be greatly strengthened in their endeavors. Moreover, the consequent discussion would prove a very great education. The married women of British Columbia enjoy voting privileges, she said, and the married women of this province are as good as they.

Representing the National Suffrage Association, Mrs. Flora McDonald Denison stated that it was a source of pride that while in Europe she could tell audiences that every civic official in Toronto is a woman suffragist. The announcement never failed to arouse enthusiastic applause.

Will Not Stop There.

"We are not going to be content with the municipal suffrage," she said. "We want this referendum for propagandist purposes."

"Why don't you convert Mr. Hanna? He's a 'ladies' man,'" suggested Controller Church.

OUR FOREST FIRES

Comprehensive Report of the Conditions in the North Country, Giving Valuable and Authentic Information---Areas Burned Within the Trent Watershed

The Times has secured from Mr. Burnham, M.P., the report on our North Country, made privately by those who have set themselves to work to find out the true conditions prevailing there. The "back" country, as it is familiarly known, has been in the past a source of much wealth and prosperity to Peterborough. In fact, without the lumbering interests and, to a smaller extent, the settlers there, Peterborough would still be a village. What are the prospects for the future? That is the question which we understand Mr. Burnham is investigating. The back country has been seriously neglected in the past and this report made by thoroughly competent and disinterested authorities, will help the Government at Toronto and the people of Peterborough to get a grasp of a serious situation. The report is as follows:

THE TRENT WATERSHED.

It is stated in the body of this report, under the heading Financial Losses by Forest Fires, that 600,000 acres of cut-over pine lands in the Trent watershed had been burned in the past 30 to 40 years. Of these nearly 390,000 acres had been burned two and three times; 150,000 acres four to eight times, while only 75,000, or one-eighth of the whole, had escaped with only one burning. An idea of what these repeated fires have cost the Province in terms of potential dues and stumpage values may be obtained by referring to the table following. It was shown that these burned-over lands contained enough poplar and young pine to justify an attempt on the part of the proper authorities to save them from further destruction by fire, since at the present time, for reasons stated later on, THEY ARE ENTIRELY WITHOUT FIRE PROTECTION. The necessity of effective protective measures has been forcibly presented by the widespread and destructive fires of last summer. The fires of last July and August burned over approximately 175,000 acres in the region considered by the preceding report. This represents nearly 15 per cent of the forested area within the Trent watershed, and 28 per cent of the area classed as former pineries. The extent and distribution of these burns are indicated on the accompanying maps, as well as in the table below. The four largest areas are grouped to represent continuous burns.

Marriage Feast Turned to Wake

From county Kerry a remarkable succession of events is reported as having occurred in a house situate between Tralee and Castle island. The first event was the marriage of one of the members of the household. While a merry party the same night was in the height of the enjoyment of the wedding feast the guests were shocked to learn of the death in an adjoining room of a two-year-old child who had been ill for some time, but not seriously. The wedding party then resolved itself into a wake, the traces of the festival being removed. While the wake was in progress it was announced that a birth had just taken place in the house, the mother being a near relative of the family.

To Launder Silk Underwear

To wash silk mesh and crepe de chine underwear satisfactorily prepare a suds of pure soap and soft water, warm but not hot. If the water is naturally hard dissolve a little borax in it. Then knead the silk garments about in the suds with the hands until all the dirt is loosened. Put them in one piece at a time, as they must be thoroughly kneaded if they are to be thoroughly cleaned.

If they are badly soiled they will need to be immersed in a second suds bath.

After they are clean rinse them in two changes of clear lukewarm water and wring them gently dry. Hang them out of doors in the shade, or else in the house in an open window, where there is no sun. When they are almost dry iron them. If possible iron them with a piece of thin muslin between them and the iron. This method prevents a shiny gloss from coming to the silk.

Caring for Knives

To prevent knives not in daily use getting rusty rub them over after cleaning with a little sweet oil. Then wrap in tissue paper and afterwards in thick brown paper, tying the parcel tightly up, so that as little air as possible may get to the knives. Keep them in the driest storing place you have. If wanted for use put them in hot soapy water, dry, and give a slight rub on the knifeboard to restore the polish.

Discovery of Ancient Coins

An Italian farmer has made a valuable archaeological find in a field near Lodi. He discovered an earthenware vase containing 5,000 silver coins of the Roman republican period. The vase weighs about 50 pounds. Most of the coins are rare specimens and are in an admirable state of preservation. The field is owned by Count [illegible], who has renounced his right to a claim of one-half of the value of the discovery and has allowed Prof. [illegible] to remove the coins to the museum at Ancona for identification. Only one-half of them have been examined as yet, but their value is estimated at more than $1,000,000. The Government gave the farmer $25,000.

Bloodhounds' "Evidence"

Benjamin Chant, charged at Hampshire Assizes with setting fire to a haystack, was acquitted by direction of Commissioner Radcliffe. It was stated in evidence that two bloodhounds taken to the scene of the fire followed a trail which ended at Chant's house. Later, when Chant was placed with five other men, the dogs singled him out. Counsel for the defence said that there was no case, as no one could tell what was in the dogs' minds. The Commissioner said the dogs' evidence was valuable, but it only proved that the man had been near the stack.

CHILDREN'S PROTECTION

J. J. Kelso has an article, brief but decidedly worth reading, in "Conservation," the organ of the Dominion Commission. It is on "Protection of Children in Canada."

The test of a country's civilization, says the article, is to be found in the treatment accorded its children. Judged by this standard, Canada, and the province of Ontario in particular, ranks high. Over twenty years ago the Ontario Legislature enacted a children's charter that has since been copied by all the other provinces, by many of the adjoining States, and in some of its important features by Great Britain and foreign countries. In fact, it paved the way for the large and ever increasing interest now being taken in social and child welfare.

There is a head office in the Parliament Buildings at Toronto, under the direction of J. J. Kelso, which furnishes information and encouragement to the Children's Aid Societies organized in the various cities and counties. Over ten thousand children have been placed in foster homes in the past twenty years, and in addition to the direct benefit conferred on the children, the public funds have been saved to the extent of at least one million dollars in the lessened expense for the maintenance of this class.

Gained in Weight, Digestion Restored, Health Renewed

Here is More Proof of Quick Cure For All Folks That are Weak, Ailing, Nervous.

More Praise for Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

For a period last summer the thought of food excited feelings of nausea," writes Mrs. C. A. Dodge, of Bloomsbury. "The heat had made me listless and the distaste for food reduced me to condition of semi-starvation and brought me to the verge of nervous collapse. Tonics were useless to restore an active desire for food. The doctors told me my liver and kidneys were both at fault, but the medicines they gave me were too severe and reduced my strength so that I had to abandon them. At the suggestion of a friend who had been cured of blood and skin trouble, I began the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The difference I first noticed was, that while they cleansed the system, instead of feeling weaker I felt better after taking them. Indeed their activity was so mild it was easy to forget I had taken them at all; they seemed to go right to the liver, and in a very brief time not only did all source of nausea disappear, but I began to crave food and I digested it reasonably well. Then I began to put on weight until within three months I was brought to a condition of good health. I urge Dr. Hamilton's Pills for all who are in poor health."

Get this best of all medicines today and refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers, 25c. per box or five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

ROYAL WELCOME FOR DUKE AND DUCHESS

Quebec, Oct. 24.—While appreciating the wish of the Governor-General that his return to Canada might be recognized as simply and democratically as possible, the Duke of Connaught, who, with the Duchess and the Princess Patricia will reach here on the Empress of Britain to-night, will be officially greeted by Premier Borden and Mayor Drouin.

If the Duke decides to leave at once for Ottawa on the special train waiting here, the Mayor will read an address of welcome, which has been prepared, to-night. But it is hoped that the Governor-General will stay over till to-morrow morning, when he can be received in a more formal manner.

MONEY SOURCES OF GERMAN SOCIALISM ARE DRYING UP

Party Leaders Say Cost of Elections is Bankrupting Organization

Berlin, Oct. 24.—German Socialism is facing a crisis, and there is every evidence that a slump in its fortunes has set in.

At the annual congress of the party, which was held recently at Jena, it was frankly admitted that if the Socialist agitation is to be continued the "comrades" must put their hands in their pockets more deeply than they have been doing, and that the revolutionary wing of the party must be suppressed.

A pessimistic note was struck by Herr Braun, the treasurer of the party, who announced that although last year showed a surplus of $160,000 in the party funds, and although $85,000 of this was added to the reserve, the party was being crippled financially by the increasing cost of elections.

"The election of 1912," he declared, "cost us $250,000, while we only spent $75,000 on the election of 1903.

"If the cost of elections goes on increasing like this our financial reserves will be swept away, and we shall be bankrupt.

"You must bear in mind that Socialist agitation cannot be carried on by enthusiasm alone. A heavy purse is even more necessary."

The dwindling circulation of the official Socialist press was also referred to by Herr Braun, who stated that 13,000 fewer copies were sold this year than last.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Finance Minister Has His Officials Make Test of New System

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—The question of preventing infection from bank notes has been engaging the attention of Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, and a new method for the sterilization of bank notes is being tested.

The new Bank Act provides that the Treasury Board may make regulations providing for the disinfection and sterilization by the several banks of bank notes, and Dominion notes which have come into the banks possession, before a re-issue of such notes to the public. After the close of the session the Minister of Finance with a view of ascertaining whether bacteria likely to injuriously effect the public health were to be found on the notes, instructed the officers of laboratory of the Department of Agriculture to make an examination of notes chosen at random from a number which had been returned by one of the banks as being unfit for further circulation.

MANY MICROBES

The finding of the laboratory is, in brief, that there is a possible danger of conveying infection by means of soiled bank notes, but that the degree of danger is an unknown quantity and is lessened in proportion to the time elapsing between the inspection of the note and contact with a susceptible person.

The Department of Finance now proposes to have some experiments made with formaldhyde gas. This method has been adopted, apparently with success, in the United States. One of the leading banks in Boston informs the department that it has been advised by experts that the process kills all pathogenic germs, and is a thorough disinfectant. The mode adopted is simple. A small receptacle containing the disinfectant, which is very powerful, is placed every day at the close of business in the vault where the bills are kept.

The Finance Department will subject soiled notes to this treatment, and have the bills immediately turned over for examination to the bacteriological laboratory.

If the danger of infection is lessened by the experiments being made the Hon. W. T. White will deserve the gratitude of many people.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Addition and alteration to Public Building, Orillia, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 P.M., on Wednesday, November 5th, 1913, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of Mr. Thos. Hastings, Clerk of Works, Postal Station "F", Yonge St., Toronto, at the Post Office, Orillia, Ont., and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

OUR FOREST FIRES

much larger areas." The Tudor fire also burned a much larger area outside of the territory upon which this report is based. At least 175,000 acres of the total given above are in the former pine lands.

The burned areas as given above originated from sixteen fires. In regard to the origin of the fires, 4 are reported as unknown; 4 as having been set out with malicious intent; 3 from farmers working in hay marshes; 2 from railway engines; 1 from the campfire of tourists; 1 from berrypickers; and 1 is reported having originated from lightning. TEN OF THESE 16 FIRES STARTED ON CROWN LANDS NOT PATROLLED BY A FIRE RANGER. Two of the six fires on patrolled lands are reported as deliberately set out. The three largest areas burned, namely the Anstruther-Burleigh-Cavendish area, the Glamorgan-Snowdon area, and the Lake-Methuen area, totalling 149,420 acres, or 85 per cent of the entire area burned, were the result of 5 fires, and THREE OF THESE STARTED ON CROWN LANDS TO WHICH NO FIRE RANGER IS ASSIGNED. The two fires that started in patrolled timber limits were in a region where one ranger looks after about 100 square miles.

In regions not affected by forest fires there is a tendency to minimize their damage. One often hears the expression; "No particular damage was done, as the fire ran through cut-over lands." It is well to consider how little comprehension of the facts of the case such statements involve. For example we may make the following charges to the account of the recent forest fires in the Trent Valley.

EXPENDITURES IN FIGHTING FOREST FIRES.

Peterborough Lumber Co.	$2,500
Wood Products Co., of Canada	350
Gull River Lumber Co.	250
Minden Village (100 days' labor)	200
Farmers of Anson and Lutterworth 75 days' labor	150
Farmers in Glamorgan and Snowdon, 180 days' labor	360
Farmers in Anstruther, Burleigh, and Cavendish (200 days' labor)	400
Farmers in Lake and Methuen, 50 days' labor	100
	$4,310

The sums accredited to the lumber companies were actually expended in labor and provisions for men fighting fires. The labor of farmers is considered at $2.00 per day. The number of days employed is obtained by accrediting to each farmer, whose property was endangered, an average of three days' work—a very moderate estimate. In most cases the women and children aided as well.

VALUE OF STANDING TIMBER KILLED.

Peterborough Lumber Co.	$35,000
John Winters, Tudor	28,000
Pearce Lumber Co., Marmora	10,500
English Land Co., Haliburton	5,000
	$78,500

Much of the standing timber killed by fire will be saved by immediate cutting, but every large operator reports more timber killed than he can possibly cut before it is rendered useless by disease. In addition, as is well known, the cost of cutting and handling burned timber is greater than that of green timber. On account of these factors, it is difficult to estimate the actual loss in fire-killed timber.

The coming of the rain during the last week of August, was providential, as it found the fire endangering farm buildings in nearly every township, and several villages, would doubtless have been burned but for the rain. Therefore the loss of buildings was not as great as might have been expected. No farm buildings within the area considered by this report were burned, but several just outside the area were destroyed. One lumber company reports $15,000 as the loss from camps, dams and equipment burned.

The farmers suffered severely by the burning of marsh hay. The farmers in many of the townships are always dependent upon the supply of marsh hay, and this was all the more pronounced the past summer on account of the almost complete failure of the cultivated hay crop. In one township alone over 200 tons were burned. A moderate estimate would place the marsh hay burned at [illegible] tons. The hay was considered to be worth $8 a ton. [illegible] to the farmers. Another item [illegible] in this report is the destruction of the marshes upon which the farmers are dependent. Many of them were burned to the depth of two feet, the roots of the grasses being completely killed, so that it will be several years before they can regain their productiveness. The cost of rebuilding fences will be no small item to the farmers, for many miles of these have been burned.

The estimate of the cost of the fires as given above is sufficient to refute the claim that "No particular damage was done, as the fire ran through cut-over lands," but it is a mere bagatelle when compared with the potential loss in young growth. As shown above it is estimated that the cut-over lands, in which most of the recent fires were located, would yield at maturity on the average seven cords of poplar pulpwood per acre. 175,000 acres of these lands have been burned, or, in other words, 1,225,000 cords of potential pulpwood. This at maturity, say in 25 years, would be worth one dollar a cord on the stump, that is, $1,225,000. The present value of $1,225,000 due in 25 years at 4 per cent interest, is $559,090. It is stated in the table shown above that 75,000 acres within the Trent watershed contains young pine at the rate of 30 per acre. At least 50,000 acres of this kind of land were burned by the recent fires. Had the young pines not been killed off, they would have yielded 3,000 feet per acre at maturity, 50 years hence, or, in other words, 150,000,000 feet. Reckoning the dues at $2 per M (1000) and the stumpage value at $7 per M, the value of this timber would have been $1,350,000. The present value of $1,350,000, due in 50 years, at 4 per cent interest, is $189,945. It is also shown in the table referred to above that approximately 390,000 acres contain on the average 6 young pine trees per acre. 100,000 acres of this nature were burned. They would have yielded at maturity, if unburned, 75,000 M feet of pine lumber, whose values in dues and stumpage would have been $675,000. The present value of this sum due in 50 years at 4 per cent interest if $98,972.

It will be seen by the estimates above that the fires in the Trent Valley last summer destroyed young pines worth nearly $2,000,000 at maturity, besides sufficient pulpwood to be worth about $1,000,000 at maturity. The present value of these sums is $848,000. This must be charged to the fire account. The present capital stock of the forest in the Trent Valley has been reduced by so much. This reduction of future forest values (young growth) by fires goes on without apparent abatement, yet the future supply of timber must come from these cut-over lands, which AT THE PRESENT TIME ARE WITHOUT FIRE PROTECTION. Forest fires can never be entirely eliminated, any more than can the fires in a town, but like the fires in a town, experience proves that they can be reduced to a minimum, even in a dry season. They must be reduced to a minimum if there is to be an adequate supply of forest products in the future.

HOW THE OLD CHURCH WAS REPAIRED.

(Published by Request.)

W-e-ll, yes, I may say I'm proud of it, I think it's lookin' fust rate,
'Bout as neat lookin' church, on the whole, as you'll come acrost in this state.
You see, I was committee on repairin'—may account why the work was well done;
When I tackle a job like this, Mister, I surely don't do it for fun.

We'd worshipped forty years in the old building and spent little on't to repair;
Paint was off, glass broken and a cold place, unless the weather was fair.
Yet somehow we didn't get about it; it really seemed a pity—
But no good man at the head, 'twas before I was 'p'inted committee.

You know how 'tis with farmers, [illegible] the ready money [illegible] on hand,
We've got to have wagons and [illegible], and sometimes a little more land.
Yet we didn't forget the "welfare of Zion," and prayed [illegible] both loud and long
To the Lord to come down [illegible] and I gener'ly led them quite strong.

Last spring, we got about it. Judge Simpson, who lives in the city,
Give us five hundred dollars to fix things, and I was put on the committee.
We raised five hundred more in the church, and I think you'll say 'twas well spent—
You see, as I was committee, we never wasted a cent.

The sisters, they bought the carpet; the young folks, they bought the bell;
You'll hear it ring Sunday mornin' and I think you'll say it sounds well.
'Squire Peters, who lives at the Corner he give the lamps and their fixtures;
Sister Peters furnished the Sunday-school room—everything, even the pictures.

How much did I give? W-e-ll, really you see as I was committee
And Judge Simpson done so well by us — him as lives down in the city—
I didn't seem called to give money, but I've given much talk and some prayers,
For I'd told the Lord in prayer meetin', for years, how much we needed repairs.

A WAR CORRESPONDENT AND THE ROYAL PRINCE

Correspondent Making Free With Prince of Royal Blood

The Duke of Teck is a keen soldier and a well known sportsman. He was in South Africa with the 1st Life Guards, of which he was then a major, during the South African War. One day, with several other young officers, after a long day's work, he came upon a war correspondent, whom he asked how he liked being under the Boer fire. "Not at all," replied the wielder of the pen; "anyone may have my share of such adventures who cares for them." The officer, in much worn khaki clothes, said, "Well, we have to go under fire whether we like it or not, you know." "Yes," retorted the correspondent, "but that's what you're paid for, isn't it?" The other in the group laughed, and the correspondent was much taken aback to find that he had thus been making free with a prince of royal blood.

WHEN AT BEST IN OLD AGE

None of the Distractions of Youth to Bother Them

Sir George Birdwood of London, who is over eighty, agrees with the saying of Lord Alverstone that judges are at their best from 65 to 80.

"I cannot understand why people imagine that this is the day of the young man," he said. "Now, more than ever, it is the day of the old man with vitality. The older a man is, so long as he is quite fit, the better he is intellectually—the broader his vision, the saner and wiser his outlook and the more mature his opinions.

"How deeply I appreciate Lord Alverstone's sane remarks, and also Justice Phillimore's pregnant saying that the work he does now is so hard that if he was a younger man he could not do it. Of course he couldn't.

"No young man could do his work for his old age gives him the power he needs. Though I am weak in the body, my brain is as clear as ever it was, and on certain things I can concentrate and think better to-day than I could when I was 30, surrounded by distractions to intellectual development.

"I stand by the old man as the best for all great and responsible posts—the best to keep in those positions as long as it is possible.

"The old man of vitality is the youngest man in the world, for he has done with the illusions of youth, but he has not done with life, and to the end it remains full of savor."

HISTORIC MANSION SAVED TO CANADA

Wolfe's Boyhood Home to be Saved as Monument to Hero of Quebec

Quebec House, Westerham, Kent, England, where James Wolfe, the immortal hero of the Plains of Abraham, spent his childhood, was secured for the Canadian people as a whole by the public-spirited act of Mr. Joseph Bowles Learmont, of Montreal, well known in the business world, but better known as one of the leading antiquarians of Canada and one of the most eminent patrons of the arts in the Dominion. With the exception of Sir William Van Horne's palatial residence on Sherbrooke street, Montreal, there is probably no private home in the Dominion which has more artistic and historical treasures than the Learmont homestead.

When it was announced that Mr. Warde, the present representative of the historic Kentish family which has owned Quebec House for many generations, was compelled by reason of the increased taxation, to dispose of the property, an agitation arose amongst Canadians resident in England, lead by Mr. Beckles Willson, the author, who was the tenant of Quebec House, to endeavor to secure the house and grounds as a Canadian shrine in England. The government of the day took no action, however, and an attempt was made to secure the purchase of the property, or at least its securing on long lease, by a Canadian syndicate but; but this proved unfeasible, and it looked very much as if the prize would fall into American hands until Mr. Learmont stepped into the breach and secured the property for Canada.

It is his intention to convert the house into a Wolfe museum, to be filled with relics of the great soldier who led the British forces to victory on the Plains of Abraham. It is intended to so refurnish the house as to make it as closely as possible a replica of the residence when James Wolfe and his parents lived there. As a start, Mr. Learmont secured from Mr. Warde his priceless collection of Wolfe letters, commissions and portraits. The house itself dates back as far as 1507. It has wonderful old fireplaces, Jacobean stairways, the arms of Henry VII. and great oak-panelled rooms.

Apart from its association with Wolfe, Quebec House possesses historic interest as having been mentioned by W. M. Thackeray in his great novel, "The Virginians," it being made the meeting place of Colonel Lambert and Henry Warrington.

Westerham is historic ground indeed. It includes Squerryes court, where Wolfe played as a boy with Jack Jervis, who afterwards became the great Admiral Lord St. Vincent. On one of the terraces of the court is a cenotaph bearing the inscription:

"Here first was Wolfe with martial ardor fired,
Here, first with glory's brightest flame inspired;
This spot so sacred will forever claim
A proud alliance with its hero's name."

Mr. Fred. C. Wade, K.C., of Vancouver, who possesses the finest collection of Wolfe portraits and literature in Canada, and who was chiefly instrumental in the erection of the monument to Wolfe on the Plains of Abraham and of a monument by Canada over his grave at Greenwich, was keenly interested in the movement to save Quebec House. He is author of the phrase: "Had Wolfe not succeeded at Quebec, there would have been no North America for Nelson to save."

CANADA'S PULPWOOD

Increasing Demand For Fir and Hemlock—a New Process

Statistics show that spruce still constitutes over seventy-five per cent. of the pulpwood cut in Canada, but there is an increasing use of balsam fir in the eastern provinces and hemlock in British Columbia with very satisfactory results in each case. When the sulphate process, recently brought into use in Canada, comes into wider use, there will be a decided increase in the amount of fir and hemlock used for pulp. This process, which is used at present by three mills in Quebec, yields excellent pulp for the manufacture of finer grades of paper and for wrapping. The solution used for dissolving the chipped wood into pulp, consists of seventy-five per cent. sodium sulphate, "salt cake," and twenty-five per cent. of lime. No acids are used, giving economy of maintenance, and almost all kinds of wood are adaptable to the process, which is, in this way especially, superior to soda and sulphite methods.

Get All of the Milk

Careless milkers do not always get all the milk. It is a dangerous practice to leave the cow incompletely milked, as it not only robs the dairyman of the richest portion of the morning or evening supply, but damages the cow. If the milk is not all taken, so that the udder is completely empty, it tends to lessen her daily supply and shorten her period of lactation. It may require a little more time and patience to secure the last bit of milk from the udder; but this is as important as getting the first part, which comes easy. The cow that is only partly milked will soon be giving less milk. Clean milking does as much as anything to develop the cow into a heavy milker. This is especially true of the younger cow or heifer with her first or second calf.

ENGLISH FARM HANDS ARE BEING VERY POORLY PAID

Landlords Hold Their Homes and Engage Men For Yearly Periods

The lot of the average agricultural laborer in England is not an enviable one. That the laborer exists in a condition of virtual slavery is established by the fact that 70 per cent. of English agricultural laborers die in the workhouse. Throughout their lives they earn barely enough to support themselves and their families, which, as a rule, are larger than those of their employers, and when the day comes that they can no longer earn wages, they have not enough to put by to save them from "going on the parish."

The minimum wage theory of Mr. Lloyd George—five dollars a week, a cottage and an acre of ground—revolutionary and socialistic though it may be considered in this country, is not such an innovation as might be supposed. All that is necessary is for the Government to declare that agriculture is a "sweated industry," and the minimum wage provision is automatically applied to it. Tailoring, paper-box making and chain making have been declared sweated industries by the Public Wage Board, and minimum wages now govern them.

Some Earn $3 Per Week

For several months Mr. Lloyd George carried on an investigation into the condition of English farm laborers. He had hundreds, if not thousands, of investigators at work. Most of them went about the country, and spent their evenings in the village inns, where they came into informal contact with the laborers and learned their grievances. In certain parts of England, and particularly in the south, it was found that the farm laborer could earn only $3 a week, while the highest wages ran $5 or $6 per week. In addition, of course, there was the board of the laborer, and the curious fact was that the lower the wages the poorer was the board.

The English farm laborer is engaged under a different system to that which prevails on this continent. Here a man is paid so much a month, and his board is, generally speaking, the fare of the farmer's family. When he meets a mean farmer his board declines in quality, but the demand for labor of this sort is so keen in Canada that the dissatisfied laborer can easily move to another job.

Not a Straight Wage

It is different in England. There the farmer engages his laborer for a year, usually at Michaelmas, at a certain weekly wage. He also undertakes to supply him with a cottage and certain vegetables and other perquisites. For instance, there is "journey money," which means ten cents or so for every journey away from home of more than ten miles. There is also "lamb money," which amounts to a couple of cents for every lamb that is alive at a certain age. A certain amount of vegetables, wood, and perhaps bacon is supplied.

Mean employers have been known to buy the cheapest of meat and vegetables for their laborers while selling the produce of their own lands at a much higher price. Calculating upon no rent for the laborers' cottages, they, in many cases permitted them to sink into decay, and no satisfactory method has been found of forcing the employer to live up to the obligations he entered into when hiring his laborers.

Can go to the Mines

In the north of England the farm laborer is treated well. This is not due to the superior kindliness of his employers, but to the fact that the mining industry remains as an alternative to a dissatisfied laborer. The system of giving the laborer a cottage is a great benefit to the farmers. It tends to restrain the workers from seeking new employment, for they know that if they throw up their jobs they must also throw up their homes, and so until a man has a new cottage in sight he does not quit his job.

TO TEASE A HORSE IS UNWISE

A mean Practice That Spoils Disposition of Animal

To tease any animal is unwise, and even dangerous. Animals never forget. You have doubtless read the story of the "Pope's mule," that laid up a kick for seven years until her tormentor returned, and then the buffet was so terrible that they saw the smoke of it from afar.

I know of two little boys and an old family mare, not an unusual combination on most farms. This old mare has often been teased by one little boy, and when he comes near she lays back her ears, and with flashing eyes and snapping teeth tries to get at him. Some time when he is off guard perhaps the chance will come, and who knows what will happen?

The other lad always petted and played with the old mare and talked to her, and she will come to him and follow him about anywhere. When she is hitched up he can drive her any place, and she obeys every word he says. But he never teases her, and she shows her gratitude in her only way.

Teasing colts, horses or other dumb animals shows a streak of hidden meanness and should not be permitted. It also spoils the disposition of the animal; and it would be utterly useless for them in after years to try to do anything with the embittered animal and expect entire success. Brute force may compel obedience for a time, but how much better to have them act from motives of affection rather than fear.—C. R. Davis.

Saved Money in Vain

After working and saving his money for two years in the Canadian West, Daniel Seale, a Norwegian, was struck by a wagon and had his leg broken while in Montreal on route to Christiania to see his aged parents. Between sobs he told of the trouble he had had in getting enough money for the trip. "Now I will have to spend it all on having my leg fixed and it will take three years more to get money enough to go home.

The second officer, Arthur Floyd, acting in self-defence, shot and killed one of the mutineers.

A Flying Bicycle

A prize of $400 for the first winged motorless bicycle to cover a distance of 16 feet 6 inches at a minimum height of 8 inches was won by M. Doctor's Opinion of Diabetes Cure

Believes No Remedy So Effective As SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES.

In the treatment of Diabetes Mellitus we distinguish between remedies for the disease itself, and those for complications which may arise. Within the last few years numerous preparations, promising complete cures, have made their appearance, but none of them have been able to reduce, or even eliminate sugar secretions as effectually as SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES. This preparation is successfully applied in cases where sugar remains in spite of a diet free of carbo-hydrates. Experience has proven that this remedy has caused no bad effects, whatever.

The above paragraph is made up of extracts from a written statement of one of the most eminent physicians on the Continent of America. We strongly request anyone suffering from this dreaded disease to write to us for a copy of his letter. We can also send testimonials from some of the most prominent people in nearly any town in Canada who think it a privilege to be able to recommend a medicine which brings such relief to any person who has suffered like themselves.

This remedy is manufactured by the Sanol Manufacturing Company, of Winnipeg.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a basin of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parisite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

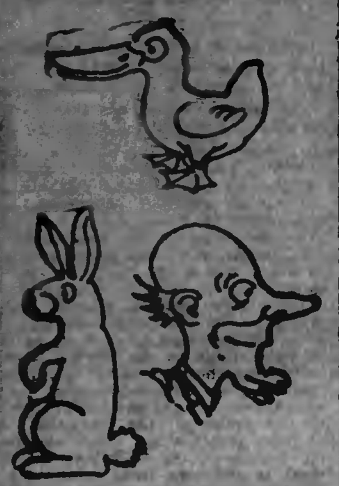
WHAT DO YOU SEE IN A CROOKED LINE?



Here's an idea for entertaining a party of young folks with materials always at hand—pencils and paper. Let each member of the party draw at random on the center of his sheet of paper a short, crooked line. The line should not cross itself at any point. When this has been done all the guests exchange papers and each tries to make a picture on the paper he receives, using the crooked line as part of the outline of his drawing. The pictures shown herewith were made in this way, the original line being distinguished by being made heavier than the rest.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained on application to the Postmaster at Lakefield, Ont., at the office of Mr. Thos. Hastings, Clerk of Works, Postal Station "F," Yonge St., Toronto, and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

MUCH PRIZED HEIRLOOM

Indian Chief Has Valued Relic of Troublous Days

Chief American Horse, of the Caughnawagas, is a staunch Britisher, despite his name. American Horse is the proud bearer of a tribe trophy which has been handed down from father to eldest son since the war of 1812. This trophy is a silver epaulette such as were conferred on the Indian leaders of courier bands during the war, by the British generals. To win one was an honor such as the decoration of the Garter or the Iron Cross. Chief American Horse may therefore, quite properly be proud of the distinction of belonging to the first Canadian nobility. True, the epaulette is a bit tarnished now from its century of use on state occasions, but it has been rather well preserved, and the distinguished looking son of the forest wears it with quite a military air on state occasions. He is with a travelling Indian show.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

CARE OF THE HANDS

During the cold weather the skin on the hands is liable to chap and the finger nails are liable to become brittle and break off. Both give the hands a very neglected appearance, which with just a little care and time can be avoided.

Before retiring for the night rub cold cream or a preparation of rosewater and glycerine on the hands till it has been entirely absorbed, also after washing the hands rub on a bit of cold cream, not enough to make them oily but enough to soften the skin. This will prevent chapping.

A new thrill for Alpine tourists is a ride through midair from one point to another on a suspended cable starting from Chamonix, at an altitude of 3,600 feet, ascending to the Glacier des Bossons at 7,500 feet, with two intervening stations and a grade of 50 to 60 degrees. The line will be finally extended to the Aiguille du Midi, at an altitude of 11,500 feet. Each carriage will accommodate 24 persons, and three cabins are used.

In France 31.24 per cent. of the population is engaged in farming, while in England the percentage is 6.86.

FARMING ON SHARES

"There is in vogue in Ontario, a system of land tenure, which is practically unknown in England, that of renting out on a share basis. This arises mainly from the labor scarcity, and in some cases, from the fact that young men leave their fathers' farms and go into cities to enter the professions. Consequently it is that many a farmer is prepared to make an arrangement whereby the newcomer, if he is competent, is able to settle at once upon a thriving farm, have the use of implements and stock, and share alike in the profits, he, of course, doing the work. Many excellent opportunities are open for experienced men there from England and Scotland in this way. They can by close application in a very short time, be able either to rent a place and pay the money as rent, or, if they prefer, buy a small place to start on their own. The arrangements are varied in different cases. At the present time, a farmer in Lambton County is looking for an experienced man to run his farm. He will pay a wage of $30 per month; provide suitable dwelling-place, and if the dairy work can be performed by the wife, she will receive 25 per cent. of the profits. That is for the first year. For the second year the wage arrangement is to be the same, but the profit-sharing is to be extended to 25 per cent. of the profits of the whole farm."

Flower Language

Rose (full bloom)—engagement; Rose white (withered)—I die in despair; Rosebud (red)—inclined to love; Bay-leaf—I change but in death; Calla Lily—beauty, maiden modesty; Chrysanthemum (red)—I love; Chrysanthemum (white)—truth; Chrysanthemum (yellow)—slighted love; [illegible] Justice; Clover (white)—think of me; Clover (red)—industry; Four-leaf clover—be mine; Geranium—gentility; Heliotrope—devotion, eagerness; [illegible]—courage, my compliments; Jonquil—can you return my love; [illegible]; Lilac (white)—youthful innocence; Mulberry (white)—wisdom; Orange blossom—you are pure and worthy; Pansy—pleasant thoughts; Lily of the Valley—perfect [illegible]; Carnation (variegated)—refusal; Snowdrop—friendship in adversity; Tulip (red)—declaration of love; Violet (blue)—love, faithfulness; Violet (white)—modesty, candor.

Leopard and Tiger Coats.

So numerous are the coats of leopard and skin that one might imagine it child's-play to pop one of these animals into oblivion and rob him of his pelt. Even the tiger must be ever on the alert if he does not wish to donate his striped skin to adorn some smartly dressed daughter of civilization. It would not be a wise plan for the woman who can barely afford one fur coat to buy one of leopard skin—she would then be compelled to advertise to her friends that she owns her only fur coat, for a leopard skin is not easily forgotten. This very quality, however, makes the coat desirable to the woman who changes her fur coats as many times a day as she does her cloth coats.

Talking Money the Latest.

"Money talks" is a well-known aphorismal saying, but if the latest idea to prevent counterfeit notes is carried out, we may yet hear our dollar bills asserting their genuineness with no uncertain sound. The proposal is that each note should carry a given phrase, which would be inscribed on the edge just as on a phonograph cylinder, a specially prepared paper being used for the purpose. When a note is tested it will simply be placed in a specially designed phonograph, which, if genuine, it will repeat, giving the phrase, but if counterfeit, will either remain silent or give itself away by using the wrong sound.

CHOSE OWN SWIMMING HOLES

John Muir Relates How, by Their Own Method, Bathing Was Made a Delight to Boys.

It appears natural for children to be fond of water, although the Scotch method of making every duty dismal contrived to make necessary bathing for health terrible to us. I well remember among the awful experiences of childhood being taken by the servant to the seashore when I was between two and three years old, stripped at the side of a deep pool in the rocks, plunged into it among crawling crawfish and slippery wriggling snake-like eels, and drawn up gasping and shrieking only to be plunged down again and again. As the time approached for this terrible bathing I used to hide in the darkest corners of the house, and oftentimes a long search was required to find me. But after we were a few years older we enjoyed bathing with other boys as we wandered along the shore, careful however not to get into a pool that had an invisible boy-devouring monster at the bottom of it. Such pools, miniature maelstroms, were called "Sookin-in-goats," and were well known to most of us. Nevertheless we never ventured into any pool on strange parts of the coast before we had thrust a stick into it. If the stick were not pulled out of our hands we boldly entered and enjoyed plashing and ducking long ere we had learned to swim.—John Muir, in Atlantic.

"The old-world village of Lindfield, Sussex, is regarded as an old ladies' paradise. Within 200 yards of each other there are living three ladies whose ages are 96, 94 and 90. Mrs. Anne Anscombe, who is 90, was very friendly with Charles Dickens, who in the forties frequently visited Lindfield to see his chum Albert Smith, celebrated as an entertainer. In those days Mrs. Anscombe lived at the house of the village doctor, and in the surgery Dickens often used to joke with her. "He was a kind-hearted man and so sympathetic, and I received from him one morning, as a token of his regard, a copy of 'A Christmas Carol.' Little did I think when I took it that I should live to see his memory revered as it is to-day." The novelist once gave a recital at Hayward Heath and raised $500. This he gave to the then vicar of Lindfield, who used it to build a reading room. The room stands on the common to-day and is used nightly by the village lads as a gymnasium and a reading and games room.

Mrs. Anscombe prefers to live alone and does her own cooking and housework. Work and moderation in eating and drinking, she says, have preserved her life. She has not [illegible] [illegible] during her lifetime.

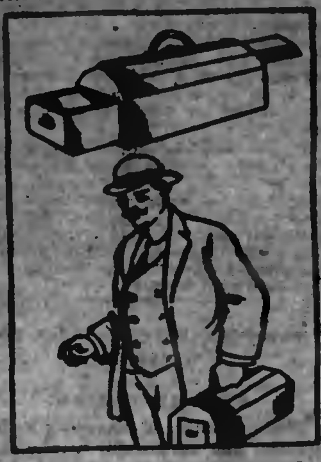
PORTABLE REFRIGERATOR

Ice Compartment in Top and Water Reservoir Below

An ingenious invention in the form of a portable refrigerating case is this longitudinal receptacle which has a drawer running its length. Above this drawer is another, smaller drawer, designed to contain crushed ice, preferably sprinkled with rock salt. At the bottom of the box is a water reservoir.



HANDY TO CARRY ICE-CREAM.

and when the receptacle is placed a nipple from the icebox registers with an opening in the reservoir and the melted ice runs into the latter. In a refrigerator like this articles may be kept ice cold for hours at a time, and it is especially convenient to carry ice-cream, or similar perishable things for long distances. There is a handle at the top, and when the case is closed it resembles a long grip more than anything else.

ORIGIN OF GYPSIES

The first official recognition of the presence of Gypsies in England is contained in an act prohibiting their itinerancy, dated 1540. Bands of Gypsies appeared in Germany, Italy and France early in the fifteenth century, but it is to be supposed that they did not reach England in considerable numbers until the early part of the sixteenth century. The law proceeded to commanded Englishmen to refrain from all intercourse with the dark-skinned tourists, and during the reign of Charles I. thirteen persons were executed at one assize for having associated with Gypsies. In both England and America, up to comparatively recent times, Gypsies were treated as vagrants, and often persecuted. There are many theories in regard to the origin of Gypsies, but the one most generally accepted is that they are the descendants of low-caste Hindus expelled by Timour about 1399. Despite their association with other peoples, the manners, customs, superstitions, visage and appearance of the Gypsies remain practically the same as when they made their first appearance in Europe five centuries ago, and they continue to make the same pretense of a knowledge of futurity.

Why Cakes are Often Failures

1. Because inferior ingredients are used, such as damp flour and doubtful eggs.

2. Butter insufficiently beaten with sugar, or eggs not beaten.

3. The mixture is beaten after the flour is added.

4. Mismanagement of oven.

5. Cakes not tested to see if they are cooked.

6. Either left in tin or put flat on table to cool, whereas they should have air underneath.

Couldn't Breathe Through His Nose Stuffed With Catarrh

Catarrhozone Inhaler the One Means of Relief, and it Cured Quickly

The extraordinary efficacy of Catarrhozone is without parallel. A sneezing cold is cured in ten minutes, a harsh cough is cured in an hour, the most offensive catarrh is thoroughly drawn from the system. In case of asthma and bronchitis the quickest and certain cure that comes from the healing balsamic extracts in Catarrhozone is simply wonderful. "For more than twenty years I suffered with a cough, bronchitis, asthma and nasal catarrh," writes J. F. Fenwick, of Staunton, P.O. "Every attack I had seemed to grow worse and I could hardly breathe on account of an accumulation of phlegm in the nose and throat. One day I tried Catarrhozone and in ten minutes was wonderfully relieved. I could breathe freely and naturally through the nose, and blood spitting was stopped—the phlegm was cleared away and my regular breathing restored. No remedy can do more than Catarrhozone."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c. At all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Too Small in Calibre.

Willie Sawyer, a twelve year old boy residing a few miles from Minden, in Lutterworth Township, while out shooting partridge, met two wolves, one a female wolf with large cub. The boy only had a 22 calibre rifle, but wounded the mother badly and killed the cub.

Hydro Work Nearly Done.

The work of installing the street lighting system in connection with the Hydro-Electric scheme, is nearing completion. The ornamental iron poles have been placed in position together with the brackets that will support the magnetite arc lamps.

A Coming Lecture.

Dr. Horning, Prof. of Modern Languages at Victoria College, Toronto, will deliver a lecture on the evening of November 7th, in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall, on "England."

Garnet Innis Committed.

Garnet Innis, the young express man, was committed for trial on a charge of administering noxious drugs to a girl in trouble, by Magistrate Dumble, in yesterday morning's police court. He will come before His Honor Judge Huycke for trial at an early date. He has been allowed out on $1,000 bail, two sureties, of $500 each.

A Local Missionary.

The many friends of Mr. Herbert Johnston, the son of Mr. A. J. Johnston of this city, will be interested to know that on Wednesday of next week he leaves here for New York, from which place he sails on Nov. 8th to Ecuador, on the west coast of South America, where he is to labor as a missionary under the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Local Fall Fair Figures.

The final figures dealing with the finances of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, show that both the receipts and expenses were higher than any other year.

Total receipts	$6,200
Total expenses	5,900
Balance	$ 300

Typical Jack Canuck.

The living representation of Jack Canuck, seen in newspaper cartoons was on a Park street car yesterday at 2 p.m. A sturdy, strong featured Canadian, with the typical western sombrero, who was clad in a well worn suit of grey cloth, was examining work being done on the Park street line, north of Weller street. The likeness was startling.

Why Sand is Used.

The Times was asked yesterday why the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. are putting sand between the recently laid rails. This is only a temporary condition. In the spring the sand will be removed and replaced by stone blocks. The company is unable to get the required blocks this fall, and in their anxiety to complete a thorough and permanent job will not use anything but the best material.

Teachers Elect Officers.

At the Teachers' Convention held yesterday, the officers for the following year were appointed as follows:

President—Mr. Frederick.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. H. Andrews.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss Waters.
Executive Committee—Miss Duff, Miss Weir, Mr. Tamouth.
Delegates to O.E.A.—Miss Edgar, Miss R. Carter.
Delegates to Agricultural Conference—Miss Hubble, Miss Fuses.
Auditors—Miss MacLaughlin, Miss MacNaughton.

Herbert Miller.

The body of the late Herbert Miller, who met death at Winnipeg, arrives in the city on the 1.01 a.m. C.P.R. train to-morrow, Mr. F. W. Miller having received a telegram to this effect, from his son George, of Chicago, who went to Winnipeg to take charge of the body.

The funeral will be held from Mr. Miller's residence, Water street, on Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Sherwood Forest Camp, Woodmen of the World.

A National Hotel Rumor Nailed.

An esteemed evening contemporary on Wednesday had what would appear to be wrong "dope" about the National Hotel. The report said that Mr. Geo. Graham, who formerly conducted the Oriental Hotel, had made an offer of $15,000 for the National. A Times representative interviewed both Mr. Harry Winch, manager of the Chamberlain estate, owners of the National, and the Toronto representative of the Toronto Guarantee Co. Both of these gentlemen assured the Times that, whilst a tentative offer might have been made for the hotel by Mr. Graham, nothing definite has yet been accomplished.

A Barber Bathed.

Yesterday Mr. Al. Haskell, the Simcoe street barber took a bath. It must not be inferred from the above statement that this popular tonsorial artist never took a bath before, or that he does not bathe frequently. The fact remains however, that he took a bath and a mighty cold one yesterday afternoon. He was engaged with others at the wharf in front of his boat house getting his trim gasoline launch, Alma, to her winter quarters. In some way Mr. Haskell slipped off the dock and found himself clasped in embrace of a very wet and cold river. He got out without further misadventure than a ducking. It is said that by the time he got home the tail of his coat was gathered in a loving clutch at the back of his neck from shrinkage.

Y.W.C.A. Notes.

Vesper service will be held in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26th, at 5 p.m. This is a short interesting service to which all who feel inclined to spend a [illegible] half hour with us are very cordially invited. Sunday afternoon, Miss Jessie Munro, who spent many years in Japan as principal of the Young Ladies' Boarding School, Tokio, will deliver the address. With the interest we all have in the Flowery Kingdom, the address cannot but be appreciated by all. Miss Gertrude Allison, as soloist, will add greatly to an enjoyable half hour together. We hope our old friends will accept this invitation, and that those who are strangers will be present also, that we may learn to be friends.

SUPERFLUOUS MASSAGE AS WRINKLE REMOVER

(The Woman Beautiful.)

Many women regularly visit the beauty specialist to have their wrinkles ironed out with the help of hot applications, cold creams and massage. Most of us realize that there comes a time when no amount of persuasion of this sort will avail. This process of "wrinkle removing" is wrong in principle. Both the hot water and the massaging tend to expand and loosen the skin, besides softening the muscular foundation.

The very opposite result should be aimed at. The tissue should be strengthened, the skin tightened, so there'll be no room for wrinkles. The best known preparation for the purpose, can be made at home by dissolving 1 oz. saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. The effect is really marvelous. Tell the druggist you want the powdered saxolite, which dissolves immediately.

An Old Accident Recalled.

Mr. Harry Winch was in a reminiscent mood yesterday. Talking of old times in Peterborough he noted that forty-two years ago from yesterday a serious shooting accident occurred at Sandy Lake, in this county. It seems that the late T. B. Clementi, D.L.S., had a hunting party at that spot. Among the party were the late Eugene Clementi-Smith, the late George Mitchel and Harry Winch. Mr. Clementi Smith lost his life later in the Boer war. He and Mr. Mitchell were in a canoe chasing a big buck. Mr. Clementi-Smith's rifle was found to be out of order. He was in the bow and asked Mr. Mitchell for his. In handing the weapon under the thwart it exploded. The bullet entered and tore Mr. Clementi-Smith's thigh badly. Mr. Winch borrowed a sorrel mare from a settler and rode to town for Dr. Kincaid. He said the [illegible] of his ride was over a [illegible] road from Scott's [illegible] lured him away [illegible] in a small steamboat [illegible] thence to town in [illegible]

The new rails laid down by the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. weigh 80 pounds per yard.

A Lindsay blacklister who admitted partaking too freely of whiskey was warned that it would be jail for him next time he fell off the water waggon.

No Sadie, the squirrels in Victoria Park will not spend the winter in Castle Nesbitt. They have snug winter quarters of their own.

The young man Innis, charged with administering noxious drugs to a girl he got in trouble, has been committed for trial.

It may not be generally known that the Toronto World daily gets out a special edition of that paper for the City of Hamilton. Still such is the case.

Samuel Peoples, of Belleville, was instantly killed by a train at the cement works at that city. An inquest will be held.

Whilst Jack McAvoy was repairing the Port Hope pier he found among some boulders two human hip and tibia bones. A year ago a human foot encased in a boot was found at the same spot.

The temperance people of Port Hope are circulating petitions this week for signatures asking the council to submit a local option by-law in January next.

Miss M. Gibson, Mr. A. McKenzie and Miss L. B. Logan are the Peterborough representatives at the convention of the Ontario Sunday School Association now in progress at Ottawa.

A Port Hope paper in referring to Mrs. Smith's big "look," printed it "Mrs. Smith's big foot," and now Mrs. Smith won't speak to the editor.

Lindsay is going to stop children and young girls from parading the streets at night. A good move, as the little ones are liable to get lost when they cross Kent street.

There must be something in that acrobatic stunt as told by The Review when it said a Cavendish girl went to look "for cows on horseback," as Lindsay Warder, in exactly the same words tells of Cavendish cows on horseback.

Last night at 6.30, a telephone message was sent to the Fire Department, which brought them to the corner of Robinson and Burnham streets, where a chimney fire occupied the attention of a couple of the fire laddies for about 46 seconds—no damage.

Kaiser William holds investments in Canada as does King Alfonso of Spain. What's the matter with getting some of their money placed in Peterborough? The local brewery might possibly be able to use a few thousand dollars and Emp. Bill could not find fault with the quality of Peterborough beer.

NEW CONVENIENT TRAIN TO WINNIPEG

CANADIAN PACIFIC

The popularity of Canadian Pacific service, and the excellence of that road's equipment, has been so greatly appreciated by the travelling public that it has been found necessary to put into service an entirely new Through Standard Express Train between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Commencing Sunday, October 26th, the "Gate City Express" will leave Toronto at 2.30 p.m., and will run daily thereafter, arriving Winnipeg at 8.25 a.m. second morning. The train will consist of the highest-class modern equipment: Observation Compartment Car, Standard Sleeping Cars, Tourist Sleeping Car, Dining Car, First-class Coach and Colonist Car. This will be found the most convenient and best train between Toronto and Winnipeg on account of the daylight departure from Toronto at an hour when the Union Station is not badly congested, and also on account of the early hour of arrival at Winnipeg.

...The present "Vancouver Express" will continue to leave Toronto at 10.20 p.m. daily and will consist of the same equipment as the "Gate City Express." This train is the best to take for points west of Winnipeg and east the "Gate City Express" is the right train to travel by.

Full information from any Canadian Pacific Agent or write M. G. Murphy, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

THE LURE OF ORIENTAL-LIKE FABRICS AND ACCESSORIES

From the top of her head to her dainty feet the modish woman aims to look as Oriental as possible. Everything tends toward this—trimmings, fabrics, accessories and even the outlines of the figure. The closely dressed hair with perhaps just an upstanding feather frond or a jewelled comb, such as Cleopatra might have worn, harmonizes with the loosely draped gown of oddly patterned silk and its accompanying wide hip sash.

New ways of draping these sashes are being shown daily. The large bow in the back after the Japanese manner is becoming to many, but the sash that swathes the waist, giving the new broad line, crosses in back and is draped low over the hip, is most becoming, lending, as it does, the distinction of height and grace to the figure.

Canary color crepe de chine used with 7980 would make a stunning frock. The broad, deep yoke could be of lace, veiled in the palest yellow chiffon, and the sash of figured silk duvetyn in a shade or shades harmonizing with the crepe de chine.

In 7984 the overblouse offers an attractive way of introducing contrast. Here a quaintly figured Futurist silk is used with an underblouse of figured net and a foundation skirt of plain satin lame. The result is charming.

U. S. READY TO ISSUE ULTIMATUM THAT INTERFERENCE FROM BRITAIN IN MEXICO WILL NOT BE BROOKED

President Likely to Give Out Note in Day or Two That He Believes Will Check England as Did Document in Venezuelan Boundary Dispute

Washington, D.C., Oct. 26. — President Wilson is prepared to announce to the world the attitude of the American toward Mexico, and that the United States will brook no interference from any power in the Western zone of that attitude.

While the note is addressed to the world it is the British Government at which it is directed.

Secretary of State Bryan and Counsellor for the State Department John Bassett Moore prepared the data, and President Wilson wrote the document which, if despatched, will take place alongside the ultimatum issued to Great Britain by President Cleveland in 1895, when the British Government by disputing the boundary between Venezuela and British Guiana, attempted to obtain additional territory in South America. President Cleveland's note and message to congress on the subject checked Great Britain's plan. President Wilson and his advisers believe that if the president i decided to issue the note it will have the same effect as did the Cleveland note.

The developments in Mexico City have sunk into insignificance for the time being, having been crowded out by the injection into the situation of the British policy in Mexico, as indicated by Sir Lionel Carden.

Britain Unchanged.

President Wilson received a despatch this morning before leaving Washington from Ambassador Page, giving in detail that official's interview with the British foreign office yesterday. According to high authority, Ambassador Page reported the change in the British policy. The British foreign office, like Sir Lionel Carden, stated that Great Britain desired peace in Mexico as much as the United States and was working to that end. President Wilson objects to the manner in which the British Government i endeavoring to obtain that end. It is at variance with the policy of the administration and the president believes that inasmuch as the United States is "nearest neighbor," it should define the policy which the world should follow. If the president issues his note, he will so state this fact.

C.P.R. MEN GET PRIZES.

Agent at Jack Fish, Lake Superior, Winner.

To have merited the distinction of having the most beautiful station garden on the whole Lake Superior division of the Canadian Pacific Railway is to have won the admiration of every stationmaster on the company's lines reaching from ocean to ocean. This honor has just been awarded to F. A. Nicol, station agent at Jack Fish, in winning the general superintendent's prize of twenty-five dollars. Since the C.P.R. inaugurated the system of beautifying the station houses, round-houses and section houses by supplying seeds and offering prizes for the best gardens, competition has become keen among the officials at various points of the system. Each year has brought forth better results until a perfection has been reached, and now the railway station, which was ever unsightly, has assumed the aspect of the Swiss chalet. Each property, by the individuality of its respective officials, has its own unique characteristics, and is artistic and wholly beautiful.

The other prize-winners of the Lake Superior division were as follows: [illegible]

POSITION OF THE C. P. R.

Official Statement in Connection With the Austrian Situation

In connection with the Austrian situation the following statement has been issued by the Canadian Railway in Montreal:—

Seeing that considerable misconception appears to exist as to the nature of the activities of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the continent of Europe, it should be explained that in conducting its passenger business strict instructions have been issued to all Canadian Pacific agents on the continent of Europe to follow strictly the letter of the law in their respective countries as it has always been the desire and policy of the Canadian Pacific Railway to conform without question to the wishes of the Governments of the countries in which these agents are permitted to do business. In the case of Austria, the Canadian Pacific Railway, knowing the natural dislike of the Austrian Government to the heavy immigration over its frontiers, went out of its way to show the Austrians how they could control that immigration, namely by concentrating the stream on the Austrian port of Trieste, where careful examination could be made of the emigrants, antecedents and papers. It was also recommended that Austrian government inspectors should travel on all steamers from Trieste to ensure the proper treatment of Austrian subjects on the voyage, and to prevent the possibility of exploitation by undesirables. Such examination and protection could not be effectively made under previous conditions, where emigrants could leave by so many different frontier stations that no effective control could be maintained. The Canadian Pacific Railway obtained its concession for emigration business in Austria as a carrying company, and has strictly forbidden its agents to conduct or promote any propaganda whatever in favor of emigration, the tickets being almost prepaid by friends and relatives who have settled in Canada or the United States, and who therefore would have left their native country in any case. Passenger offices were established in Austria with the consent of the Austrian Government, and the Canadian Pacific agents were in each case approved of and in some cases were even nominated both by the central authority in Vienna and by the local authorities in the respective provinces, the object being to forestall any possible abuse by irresponsible agents.

The line of steamers established by the Canadian Pacific Railway from Canada to Trieste was put on at the direct request of the Austrian Government in order that the merchandise business between Austria and Canada might be shipped direct from an Austrian port.

The carryings of Austrian subjects by all Canadian Pacific steamships lines this year have amounted to only 11,981 as against 14,000 in 1912. This is but a small percentage as compared to the carryings of the Continental Pool lines which numbered 160,123 in 1911 and 201,284 in 1912.

THREE KILLED IN LONDON ACCIDENT

London, Oct. 26.—A serious railway accident, resulting in the death of three people and injury to several others, occurred to the Southeastern & Chatham Railway at Waterloo Junction this morning.

While a local train which runs between London Bridge and Charing Cross was standing at the station an express, whose driver had confused the signals owing to the dense fog which prevailed, came into violent collision with the rear-end of the stationary train, telescoping the three end cars.

GOVERNMENT TO PROCEED WITH HOME RULE BILL

Ladybank, Fife, Scotland, Oct. 26. —The British Government intends to proceed with the home rule bill during the coming session of parliament, according to a definite announcement made by Premier Asquith, speaking at a meeting here this evening. He said the government could not be false to its trust and would not be intimidated, but was prepared to consider proposals with an open mind.

UNFERMENTED WINE AT HOLY COMMISSION MAY NOW STOP

World W. T. C. U. Request Bishops to Stop Use of Alcohol

New York, Oct. 26.—The convention of the world's Women's Christian Temperance Union adopted a resolution today requesting the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church to "consider the propriety" of using unfermented wine at the communion sacrament in the place of fermented wine "which contains a narcotic poison alcohol."

The resolution was a substitute for one originally offered setting forth that fermented wine "could not truly represent the blood of Christ."

This phrase was objected to by English delegates, who declared that it would antagonize the Church of England. The English delegates also objected to an amendment declaring that "Jesus commanded unfermented wine in the holy communion."

The objections were voiced by Miss Agnes E. Slack, honorary secretary of the organization, who declared that the Bishop of Lincoln had told her the Church of England could not offer the sacrament in unfermented wine, and that the Archbishop of Canterbury had said to her, "If you pass such a resolution I shall use my influence to see that no member of the Anglican Church joins your organization."

"I implore you," said Miss Slack, "not to pass a resolution which would hamper our work in Great Britain. I ask that you eliminate the words 'which Jesus commanded at the holy communion' from this resolution. We cannot afford to antagonize our churches. We are getting at this question in the Church of England from the inside and we expect to accomplish it by all means."

Catholics and Protestants in Vancouver are engaged in a squabble in regard to participation in civic affairs.

STAG CANON RESCUERS NEAR FATAL CHAMBER

Dawson, N.M., Oct. 25.—Rescue crews today succeeded in working their way well into the fatal chamber, No. 18 east on the high line where 300 miners are entombed in the Stag Canon Mine, and before nightfall they expect to be within a few feet of the jammed door connecting this chamber with the last on the east high line. It is beyond this door that a large number of bodies are expected to be found, among which are those of General Superintendent Wm. M. McDermott and Henry P. McShane, the wealthy young New Yorker.

That the men will be found dead is the unanimous opinion of all concerned in the rescue work. Mine experts including J. C. Roberts and his assistants of the United States Mine Rescue Service, agree that the amount of black damp which penetrated the nineteenth chamber as the result of the explosion was sufficient to have killed all of the occupants instantly.

But that so many of the miners, almost 300, should have been in one chamber is the puzzling feature of the men who are directing the rescue work.

From the conditions found in the adjoining chamber it was believed that the centre of the explosion was in either the 18th or 19th chamber, and by this reasoning, they are unable to see how the miners could have reached the chamber if there they are.

The rescue work has been systematized with a directing head at each phase of exploration.

ENGLAND MIGHT GET RAILWAYS AT A COST OF $60,000,000,000

No Sane Politician, However, Believes Commission Can Bring State Ownership Within the Range of Practical Politics

London, Oct. 26.—The Railway Commission has almost displaced the land scheme as a principle topic of public interest. There is general approval of the exclusion of special interests, whether railway proprietors or [illegible], from assisting on the commission.

For the moment the commissioners' dealings with nationalization are obscure. In most other aspects of its work, railway shareholders would be unanimous to nationalization, if made on their terms.

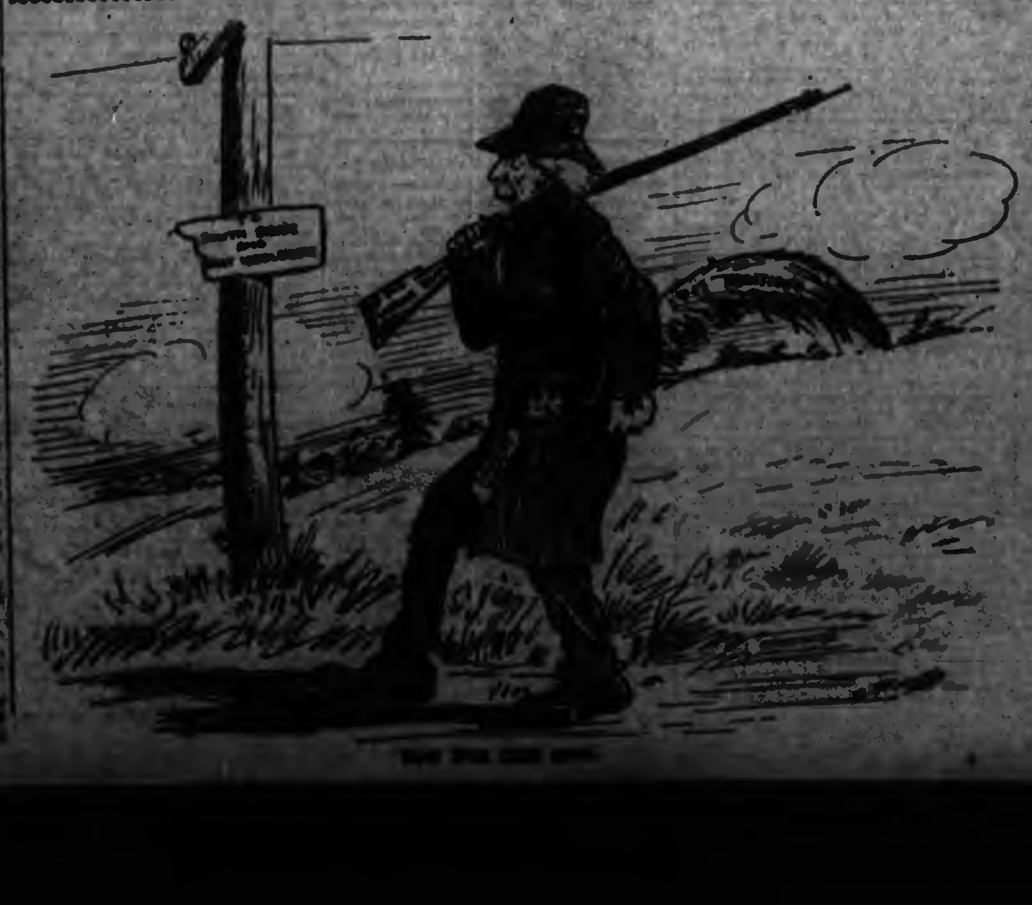
$60,000,000,000 is invested in British lines. The purchase on the basis of twenty-five years' profits would cost $60,000,000,000.

Home railway stocks fell generally and sharply yesterday. Railway servants' representatives continue to welcome the commission as the first step towards nationalization. While immediately its investigations must take eighteen months to two years, and despite the widespread interest in the nationalization issue, no sane politician believes it will bring State ownership within the range of practical politics.

Berlin Conservatives have decided to organize a Boston Club.

The Federal Government will build an experimental cold storage plant for fruits at Grimsby, Ont.

The Canadian Lines notified their Agents at various points to refuse all freight in fibreboard, pulpboard, or double faced corrugated strawboard packages, unless the packages are fully strong enough to carry the contents. Complaints have been received from time to time, indicating that these packages are reaching destination in a damaged condition, evidence that shipments are being sent to the Railway in packages that are not of sufficient strength to safely transport their contents. Agents have, therefore, been notified that henceforward they must positively refuse to accept shipment of any nature, in fibreboard, pulpboard or double-faced corrugated strawboard packages, that do not comply fully with the requirements and specifications provided in the Canadian Freight Classification. In the past, Agents have had the right to accept such packages at an increased freight rate of 20 per cent. From now on, Agents have no option in the matter, and must refuse such packages.



CANADA'S FINANCIAL PROSPECT LEAVES NO ROOM FOR PESSIMISM FEARS FOR SAFETY GIVE WAY

Calamity Howlers Who Declare That Cycle of World-Wide Depression is at Hand Forget That Large Crops Have Been General in Every Country

Toronto, Oct. 26.—It must be with a feeling of considerable gratification that Canadians peruse the history of the last three months. World-wide expansion, partly legitimate and part illegitimate aided by the destructive Balkan war, had used up the limit of available capital and forced compression had become necessary to bring matters back to a normal state. International unrest caused a hoarding of gold in the leading European money centers and London, which is only perturbed under stress, made its claim good for a share of the yellow metal by raising its discount rate. This hoarding of money was immediately felt by borrowing countries, of which Canada is one of the chief. The effect of this was, first of all, to cause Canadian banks to protect their own resources, and second, to check up expenditure, public and private, throughout the Dominion.

Leading financiers in London foresaw part of the result of this withholding of capital, and for a time had misgivings as to the extent of the money squeeze, especially in Canada, Brazil and India. New Yorkers predicted calamity in Canada, but both in London and New York predictions were founded on false premises and failed to come true. That such was the case may be attributed to the foresight exercised by Canadian financial institutions and the excellent crop harvested throughout the Dominion. Brazil and India have not been so fortunate, and Canadians can well afford to extend their sympathies to those nations and express the hope at least that their worst difficulties have now been surmounted.

INTERDICTED LE PAYS IS NOW OUT WITH A PRINTED LETTER

Scatchingly Answers Criticism of Lieutenant-Governor Langelier of Quebec

Montreal, Oct. 26.—Mr. G. Langlois, M.L.A., whose paper, Le Pays, was interdicted a few Sundays ago by Mgr. Bruchesi, is out with a spirited open letter to Sir Francois Langelier, lieutenant-governor of Quebec, who it appears, in an address to the students of Laval in Quebec, criticised severely Le Pays and advised his young friends to be obedient and submissive sons of the church.

"What a change has been operated in our old friend Francois Langelier of the past," says Le Pays, "for we remember your fight over the famous undue influence trial the outcome of Charlevoix election, when Mgr. Laflèche denounced you as the author of the worst scandal ever known to the Canadian church, and when the old Minerva newspaper wanted you expelled from the faculty of Laval. Your present attitude, is in direct contradiction with your forty years of public life, for in 1876 you asked squarely the question, is the priest beyond the influence of the law or must he like other citizens submit to the law of the land. Then in 1884 you courageously told the apostolic delegate charged to settle the affairs of Laval, and who was on the point of closing the university, that the moment Laval's doors were closed lay schools of law and medicine would be opened. Where you then an obedient and submissive son of the church?

"Later on in 1896, when in company with Laurier, Tarte, Dandurand, Fitzpatrick, Lemieux, brother and others, you signed a document asking that Rome should relieve you from the authority of the bishops and appoint a resident delegate to Ottawa. Then after Laurier came into power, you gave the famous interview to The Witness, preaching revolt because of Tarte's entry into the cabinet. Were you then obedient and submissive? You in fact have been in open revolt all your life."

NOTED CATHOLIC DIES AT BERLIN

Rome, Oct. 26.—The death of Mons. Montagnini, reported to the Pope today from Berlin, has caused great grief at the Vatican. He had been suffering recently from an affection of the throat and was operated on a few days ago.

Mons. Montagnini was very popular at the Vatican and was much esteemed by Cardinal Merry Del Val, who took him to London when he went to attend King Edward's coronation.

PREMIERS WILL ASK QUESTIONS HARD TO IGNORE

Inter-Provincial Conference on Monday Likely to See Hot Discussion

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—Judging from the list of questions which the Provinces of Quebec, Saskatchewan and Alberta have given notice they will bring before the conference of Premiers which opens on Monday, there will be some lively discussions at the conference with probably little opportunity of any unanimous decision being reached.

Certainly the Dominion Government will not assent to all the proposals.

Quebec has given notice that it will revive the old question of increased subsidies and will introduce a resolution for still larger subsidies.

At the last conference British Columbia was the chief trouble maker in regard to increased subsidies and Sir Richard McBride walked out of the conference because the other Provinces would not assent to the coast Province's demand. British Columbia, however, is not affected this time as her requests have been placed in the hands of a commission for arbitration.

One resolution proposing an increase in the salaries of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province will likely meet with the unanimous approval of all the Premiers. At present the Lieutenant-Governor receives $10,000.

The Ontario Sunday School Association will hold conventions next year year in London and Kingston.

ARE THE ITALIANS IN AMERICA ROMAN CATHOLICS.

One of the grave question confronting the Roman Catholic Church upon this continent is the loss of the Italian population, says the Christian Guardian. The Catholic Citizen, of Milwaukee, estimates that nearly a million Italians have been lost to the Roman faith, and while some of these may have been attracted to Protestantism many more have drifted into the non-church-going class. One of the Protestant missionaries declares that not five per cent. of the Italian populations of New York goes to church. The Citizen comments as follows:—"Our Italians are children of a generation whose ideals of political liberty collided with the established order and also with the temporalities of the Church. It is said that he comes to us from the religious atmosphere of a Catholic land. Perhaps he does; but in a state of mental and moral reaction. He belongs, by the tendencies which rule him, quite as much to the army of the unchurched as to the ranks of Catholicism. For instance, there are eighty Italian newspapers in the United States, not a single one of which is religious or Catholic." The Citizen also points out how actively Protestants have been taking advantage of the situation. It infers to the Methodist claim that they have sixty ordained Italian workers, and declares that the Presbyterians and Baptists each claim nearly as many more. The Citizen continues' "Counting in with the ministers the lay workers engaged in mission work, we believe that there are to-day more Italians working under the banner of Protestantism in the United States than there are Italian Catholic priests in the United States. Rev. Mr. Testa (The Missionary Review, 1908) lists twenty-three Italian Protestants churches and missions in Greater New York. The number of Italian Catholic churches in Greater New York in 1908 was 14. According to The Missionary Review of the World (1911, p. 862) Dr. Morse estimates the number of Italian Protestant churches in the United States at 250. We can not count more than 150 Italian Catholic churches in the United States ('Catholic Directory,' 1913). "So that Protestantism actually has more churches in the United States than has Catholicism." This is a somewhat different story to the other one that "Protestantism is dead," but it is one that the Church of Rome must face. Protestantism is not dead, but Rome is failing to hold even those who were born in the very shadow of the Vatican.

Are You Dopey, Tired, Worn Out?

THERE IS GOOD ADVICE TO ALL WHO FEEL AS IF THEIR VIGOR AND LIFE ALL OOZED AWAY.

This Condition Can be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the daytime, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

INGENIOUS PAINTER

Turner's Amazingly Contrived Effects Due to Children Collaborators

George Jones, R.A., while discussing the merits of Turner's "Bay of Baiae" with a traveller who had recently seen the bay, was surprised to learn that at least half the scene was pure invention.

Turner not only took strange liberties with the topography and architecture of the landscapes he painted, but showed his eccentric genius in the materials he employed. He obtained some masterly effects in ways that are amusing and ingenious, but quite foreign to the proper methods and materials of his art.

On one occasion he put in a common red wafer to represent a setting sun, and finding that it looked as he desired, left it there and painted up to it. Again, when he wished to secure the contrast of some animated figure upon a terrace, in silhouette against a golden sky, he cut out a barking dog in black paper and pasted it on the canvas. It proved successful, and the paper dog remains there to this day.

Still more extraordinary is the story of Turner's invitation to three children to collaborate with him. The artist was staying at the house of a friend, and had brought with him a sketch in which the background was carefully outlined, while the foreground still remained blank.

One morning, instead of resuming work himself, upon this canvas he called in his host's children, and rubbing in three separate saucers three cakes of paint, red, blue and yellow, he gave one to each child. Then he told them to dabble their fingers in the bright colors and amuse themselves by making prints and marks upon the unfinished picture. Of course they accepted the unexpected invitation with glee, and there he sat gravely looking on, while thirty smeary finger-tips did their very best to convert his sketch into a crazy rainbow.

Suddenly, in the midst of their frolic, he cried out, "Stop."

They stopped, and he took back the canvas, added landscape forms suggested by the accidental blotches of color, and rapidly completed what proved to be a striking and beautiful picture.

CENTURY OLD HOUSE

Gone From City Street After Cut in Two From Spite

Toronto lost a landmark when the last half of Captain James Spark's log cabin was removed from Broadview Avenue, near Queen Street, where it stood for over a century.

Old Captain Sparks for the whole of his working life was engaged in the navigation of the lakes, and commanded many schooners, his last vessel being the "Beaver," which was wrecked at Rochester about 1865. He died in 1883, having almost reached his 74th birthday.

His widow died in 1911 and the old log cabin and the property upon which it stood was left to two sons. The two sons could not agree. One wanted to sell the property and the other did not. So the first decided that he would cut the old log cabin in half and take his share away, that the second might not be able to live in it himself or let anybody else live in it. Accordingly he engaged several men with crosscut saws and the southern portion of the old cabin was shortly taken away. That was in 1911. Until recently the northern half stood on its original site, where it was built over a century ago. Finally, however, the land became too valuable to lie idle and was sold, this necessitating the removal of the house, which was one of the oldest buildings in the city.

PROBLEMS OF THE AIR

French Scientist Says He Has the Key to Aeronautical Puzzles

The director of a French Technical College, M. A. Magnan, announced before the Academy of Science the discovery of a formula by means of which he suggests to solve many of the remaining puzzling problems of aeronautics.

Up to the present, says M. Magnan, aeroplanes have been constructed practically without reference to nature's own principles as exemplified in the flight of birds. It has been thought that the great relative difference in weight between a bird and an aeroplane made the fundamental principles of bird flight inapplicable to the man-made machine. M. Magnan declares his formula solves this difficulty. By means of it he is now able, for the first time, to give the dimensions, curves and other figures of a man-lifting machine constructed on the principles of bird flight. It is simply a question, he declares, of magnifying the bird measurements according to a formula which will scientifically adjust the various parts as the human machine increases in size.

CONSUMPTIVE AS LODGER

The Housekeeper Was Awarded Damages by the Court

Judgment for the plaintiff was given at Monaghan Quarter Sessions in a case in which Eleanor Gwynne, a boarding-house keeper, sued Mr. Thomas Clarke, merchant, Monaghan, executor of the will of the late Benjamin Clarke, to recover damages for injuries to her premises caused by Benjamin Clarke, when residing as a lodger in the house of the plaintiff, in that he infected the house and furniture with a contagious disease—pulmonary consumption. Judge Johnson quoted a number of decided cases, showing that a person who, knowing that he is suffering from an infectious disease, succeeds in gaining admission as a lodger, either by falsely representing that he is not suffering from an infectious disease, or by warranting that he is not suffering from some particular infectious disease, renders himself liable in damages. The plaintiff was entitled to the full amount of her loss through the disinfection of the room and the destruction of some of the articles, $60 and to $20 for the loss of lettings.

Tombstones in Garden

Digging in his garden at Cardiff, a local resident, Mr. D. Evans, unearthed a series of tombstones bearing the date 1874. Mr. Evans was not in occupation of the house, and apparently the garden had not been thoroughly dug up for years. It is believed that the stones are simply memorials, and that the bodies repose in one of the Cardiff cemeteries.

Hatched in a Top-hat

Thrushes on the Lilford estate, Northamptonshire—a famous bird sanctuary—built their nest in a top-hat in a railway hovel between Barnwell and Wigsthorpe. Now there are three young thrushes in the nest, although the platelayers use the hovel at meal times.

BLACK AND WHITE

Colored Miner Weds the Girl With Whom He Eloped

The ending of the love story of a black man and a white girl was foreshadowed at the London Sessions when a good-looking young man of color, named George Wilson, pleaded guilty to causing bodily harm to David Davies. For a long time, said Mr. Macdonald (for the prosecution) the two men had worked side by side. Then Wilson fell in love with Davies' daughter, a girl of eighteen. Her stepmother was in favor of the match, but nothing could persuade the father to give his consent. The lovers eloped and went to London, where Wilson went to a registry office, and paid the necessary fees. Before the wedding had taken place, however, the girl's father followed in pursuit, and, having obtained their address from his wife, he discovered the couple at an hotel in Hammersmith, from which the marriage was to have taken place. There was a scene, and Wilson, in a fit of temper, struck "the typical old Welshman" on the jaw, which was fractured. Prior to the elopement, added counsel, the girl was warned that marriage would result in her being turned from home, but she was still determined to marry the man she loved. The marriage would now take place as soon as possible—probably next day, for the father had withdrawn his objection. At first he was heart-broken, but he had told counsel that he had a vision. "The Lord appeared to me last night," he said, "and told me to behave in a Christianlike way to this girl and man, and to forgive him, although he is black."

ACCIDENTALLY HANGED

Suspended From a Rope Used For Beating Carpets

A tragic occurrence took place in Cork involving the death of John Lawrence, aged fourteen. The boy was playing in the garden of Miss Mayne, on Patrick's Hill, having gone there on a visit with his mother. A rope used for the beating of carpets was suspended in the garden, with a loop attached to the end. His horror-stricken mother discovered him suspended from this by the neck, presumably whilst playing, and though at once medically attended life was found to be extinct.

AUTUMN.

Written for The Times.

The gloomy autumn days are here
Of withered flowers, leafless trees,
Dull, leaden skies and prospect drear,
With drizzling rain and chilling breeze.

The birds have southward winged their flight,
To seek a more congenial clime,
Where fields and forests still are bright
With verdure of the summer prime.

We hear no more the warbling song,
That made the woodland glades resound,
But sparrows in a noisy throng
With twittering discord flock around.

Deserted, silent is the park
Where oft at eve gay crowds repair;
The music's hushed, and not a spark
Of animation lingers there.

The pasture lands are cold and bleak,
Withered the grass and brown and bare,
Poor shivering kine for shelter seek
And mutely plead for better fare.

No more the lonely vales we roam,
Fishing and golf no zeal inspire,
Boating is done, and gladly home
We turn where glows the cheerful fire.

Tho' dreary is the outward scene,
And drifts the storm-wrack on the air,
Yet pleasant friends, and smiles I ween,
With social joys await us there.

So when life's transient summer flies,
May death's hoar frost prove not unkind,
But in fair mansions of the skies,
Welcome and refuge may we find.

Relief for Rupture Without Operation

No Big Expense—No Time Lost From Work
No Misery-Causing Belts or Leg-Straps

60 Days Trial To Prove It

Operation for rupture would hardly ever be heard of if it weren't for the mischief done by elastic and spring trusses.

Mighty few people ever have to be operated on when first ruptured.

But wearing makeshift trusses year after year is sooner or later almost sure to make work for the surgeon.

You know that from your own experience—you know you're worse now than a year ago—probably getting worse all the time.

If you keep on that way, how long will it be before you'll have to undergo a dangerous and expensive operation?

Aren't you willing to let us prove—by a sixty-day demonstration—how you can save yourself from all that?

Especially when you can make this sixty-day test without having to risk a penny?

Won't Cost You a Cent If It Doesn't Stand the Test

Here is something—a guaranteed rupture holder—which has saved thousands of people from ever having to be operated on.

It has so thoroughly proved its merits that we are willing to send it on 60-days trial.

We'll make it especially for your case—make it to your measure—and practically lend it to you just for a test.

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or bothering you in any way, no matter how hard you work or strain—if it doesn't prove every claim we make—then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single penny.

Will You Spend Two Cents To Find Out.

We don't want you to send any money. All we ask you to spend is the price of a two-cent stamp in writing for our big free book which will tell you everything you want to know.

It shows how our guaranteed rupture holder [illegible]

ANIMALS' RESTAURANT

One of the most interesting restaur- ls in the world is one in which the ly diners are domestic animals. e Restaurant is in Westminster, ndon ,England. The sign on the ndow reads:

"Restaurant For Domestic Animals. glish Meat Only. Fresh Twice ily."

The restaurant is arranged so that domestic animals which patronize may be perfectly comfortable while y are getting their meals. Those t wish to do so many sit down ile eating. The women who serve diners are very fond of animals, d know the wants of each particu- customer. One of the regular cal- s at the restaurant, a dog, prefers ving his meals in private, so instead eating his luncheon in the restaur- t he walks from his home to the ace every day, buys his luncheon d carries it home. He pays his u bill at the end of each week, rrying the money tied in a little llet around his neck.

Cats, canary birds, goldfish, parrots, nkeys, squirrels and goats are also vided for in the restaurant.

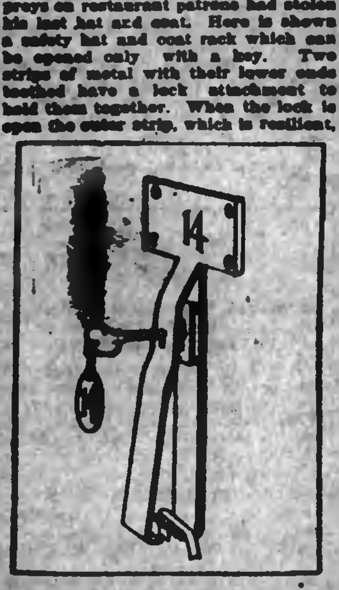
NO MORE STOLEN COATS

At Least, Not in Restaurants That Have This Device

At last it looks as if the thief who preys on restaurant patrons had stolen his last hat and coat. Here is shown a safety hat and coat rack which can be opened only with a key. Two strips of metal with their lower ends toothed have a lock attachment to hold them together. When the lock is open the outer strip, which is resilient, can be pulled out an inch or two and the hanger of a coat and the brim of a hat inserted. The strip then springs back into place and is locked, the hat and coat being gripped safely between the teeth. The idea is that each person who enters the restaurant, or whatever the place is, is given a key with a number corresponding to one of the racks. He locks his clothing up while there and upon leaving deposits the key at the desk.



A KEY FOR EVERY PATRON.

Punishment no Preventive

Commissioner Starr of Toronto's Juvenile Court, stated in an address that the object of the institution of which he is the head, was to do something for every boy and girl towards making them good and loyal subjects of Canada, and the empire. Punishment had not proven to be a preventative. What the juvenile court was trying to work with was love. Restitution, daily reports, parole, these are the instruments employed. In one year 28,000 children had come before the court and of these 90 per cent. did not come back a second time. Of those on probation, fully 90 per cent. made good, and if the feeble-minded might be eliminated, the number might be raised to 95 per cent.

"Tramp" Ships and Captains

A tramp steamship is a "tramp" because she wanders the world over, carrying the most advantageous cargoes she can procure, and proceeding to any port, no matter how unfamiliar and remote, to which her manifest takes her; she is not a "tramp" because she goes about in the tatters of poverty. Quite the contrary is true. There are great tramp lines immensely wealthy and powerful, and the ships flying these flags are modern in every respect, equipped with wireless, of vast tonnage, and most comfortably appointed in respect to the officers' quarters.

Motor Bike Policemen

Having found motorcycles of prime value, in policing cities and counties, Kansas went a step further and made the entire state a unit for motorcycle police work. Under the plan which is being worked out, the organization will have one or more motorcyclemen in each city and town—men who will be ready to respond quickly to any call. No matter what portion of the state finds the sudden need of swift pursuit of a criminal, there will be available motorcyclists who can take the trail at short notice and overtake "anything on wheels."

CHINA'S MILLIONS OVER-ESTIMATED

Vast Tracts of Territory Unpeopled and Unproductive in Land of Flowers

It has been generally assumed that China is so densely populated that millions of its people are unable to find a livelihood on land, and are compelled to live in houseboats on the rivers, and some authorities, in considering China's problems, have regarded the possession of her vast territories beyond the Great Wall as being absolutely necessary in order to provide for her surplus population. Inquiries, however, have been made by those in a position to make them, and the results of these have done much to disprove the generally accepted theory that China is over-populated. For instance, Sir Alexander Hosie, while acting as commercial attaché to the British Legation, wrote in his report on the foreign trade of China:

"Having visited 15 of the 18 provinces of China proper, as well as the three Manchurian provinces, and seen how scantily many of them are populated, I doubt very much whether the whole of China, Manchuria and the new dominion contain a population at all approaching the usually accepted 400,000,000."

Mr. Rockhill, who travelled extensively in China before he was appointed United States Minister to Peking, estimated that China proper had not a larger population than 200,000,000. A Chinese newspaper in referring to the frontier troubles stated that "the root of all these troubles is that we have done nothing to populate the vast territories along our borders. A fair land, vast, undefended and unpopulated is sure to attract the attention of aggressors."

But as the rich have not shown any inclination to leave their comfortable homes to sojourn in this remote land, and as the poor have not the means to enable them to leave their homes and develop this land, it would seem as if China had very little use for these outlying territories at the present time.

FOUL FEET IN CATTLE

Keep Animals Away From Filth and Cleanse With Coal-tar Dips

It is not at all uncommon for cattle to show a very sudden lameness which on careful examination proves to be an abscess-like formation between the hoofs. The starting point is usually a small scratch or abrasion in the skin, which offers a suitable avenue of entrance for the germ causing the trouble. These germs live in the soil, manure and other filth about the yards and feedlots. During dry weather they cause very little damage. When the yards are muddy, or the stables unclean, the growth of germs is favored. At this time also the continued action of the wet, foul material makes the skin between the claws tender and easy to injure.

An examination of the lame foot will usually reveal swelling and tenderness. If the space between the claws be cleaned out, the skin abrasion is usually plainly evident. Sometimes there is a thick, cheesy covering of grayish pus over the surface of the sore. At other times the pus may burrow beneath the skin, and even form pockets that are filled with this cheesy material.

Treatment consists in keeping the affected animals out of the mud and wet manure for several days. Thorough cleansing of the part with any of the coal-tar dips, using five teaspoonfuls per pint of water once daily, is very necessary. All loose shreds of skin should be cut away and pus pockets well drained. In mild cases the application of pine tar proves a very effective treatment. The severer forms should receive, in addition to a thorough cleansing, a dressing of equal parts of iodoform and boric acid under a bandage for several days. Taken in time and vigorously and persistently treated, healing should not be prolonged beyond a week. If left alone, some cases soon assume the most severe type, which means delayed healing and more bandaging and dressing.—C. C. Lipp.

PRESERVING FENCE POSTS

Creosote Pays For Itself in Lengthening Life of Wood

Wood-rot, in all its forms, is due to the action of fungi working under suitable air and moisture conditions. In fence posts these conditions are most favorable at or near the surface of the ground and hence it is there that decay first starts. Some woods, like cedar and tamarack, are more resistant to fungus attack and may last, in fence posts, from eight to ten years. Unfortunately, however, the supply of these woods has grown very scarce, and one is faced with the alternative of importing durable material at a high price or of applying preservatives to the common non-durable woods which grow in the wood lot. The latter alternative is not only cheaper but also much more effective.

Creosote, a "dead" oil of coal tar, is perhaps the best preservative for this purpose, as it does not dissolve out of the treated wood, when in contact with moist earth. It costs from eight to fifteen cents per gallon.

There are two methods of applying the creosote, but before either method can be applied it is necessary to have the posts well seasoned if the best results are desired. This seasoning is best accomplished by peeling the bark from the posts and then [illegible] them in loose piles in the open air for several months.

Then they can be given two coats of creosote with a brush or dipped to a point six inches above the ground line. In either case the creosote should be heated to the boiling point.

Mr. John B. Don, of Maulesden, has offered $5,000 to the community of Forfar for the purpose of erecting and equipping a clinic, where accidents to factory workers and the minor ailments of school children may be treated.

Hanged on Clothes Pole

A tragic discovery was made by Mr. Cook, Shuttle street, Kilsyth, who, on going out to the clothes green behind his dwelling house, found the body of his son hanging to a clothes pole. Deceased, who was a miner, aged thirty-four, had fastened the end of the clothes rope round his neck, and when found his knees were practically touching the ground.

Fatal Rifle Practice

While practising with a gun in some woods at Rhiwlas, a few miles out of Oswestry, Mr. William Corbett, a well known resident of the town, met with an accident which had fatal consequences. The trigger got caught in some undergrowth, and the gun being loaded, the contents were discharged into his head. Mr. Corbett was taken to Oswestry Cottage Hospital, where he died.

Quarrelled About Lloyd-George

When charged at Ammanford with obstructing the highway, it transpired that Hugh Thomas and Thomas Davies had met in the Amman Hotel, where they quarrelled about Mr. Lloyd-George. Thomas challenged Davies to fight. Later a policeman found a crowd assembled in Glanamman square, and saw Thomas on the ground with Davies on top. The magistrates dismissed Davies and fined Thomas 25 cents and costs.

Lord Rosebery Ironical

Lord Rosebery has made a complaint about the condition of the Roman road, an ancient bridle road near his home at the Durdans, Epsom. Writing to the Epsom Rural District Council he said: "I have a great respect for the ancient Romans; but they must have been an even more remarkable race than they are reputed if they were able to make use of this road in anything like its actual condition."

Found Unconscious

Constable Gwilym Jenkins, and David Thomas, a farmer, were found unconscious on the road near Carmarthen on Sunday night, the constable suffering from a fractured skull and the farmer with his arm broken. Jenkins, who is stationed at Llanarthney, six miles away, had used the farmer's trap to drive a prisoner to Carmarthen and the men were on their way home again. The policeman was in a precarious condition, but Thomas was able to return to his home.

Ill-paid Pastors

The Rev. Morgan Price, Chwilog, speaking at Portmadoc in support of the movement to ensure a minimum wage of $400 a year to Welsh Congregational pastors, said there was a danger of Welsh Congregational churches losing some of their best ministers unless a living wage was guaranteed. As one who had at one time worked in the collieries, he might say that boys of fourteen or fifteen years of age working in the collieries were earning more wages than a good number of Welsh Congregational pastors.

Hoodwinking Poor People

At Llanrwst County Court Judge Moss exhibited a blue paper, and said a tradesman had sent it to a debtor. On the top of the form in large type were the words: "County Court.—For the recovery of debts as per Act of Parliament," thus giving ignorant persons the impression that it emanated from the county court direct. This was a very serious offence, and he would punish very severely persons guilty of using such forms. It was threatening the court itself. If this method of hoodwinking poor people was not stopped he would have to send the guilty persons to prison.

WATER DIVINERS AND THEIR RODS

Not by Any Means a Humbug Says Scientific Authority

There took place in Paris and its suburbs a series of experiments arranged by the Congress of Psychology and carried out by different finders of springs and seekers of metals using a hazel rod, a pendulum and a magnetised metal wire. If the results were not always conclusive, they nevertheless showed that at the bottom of it all there is something and which is worthy of being studied.

We cannot in fact ascribe to hazard so many lucky coincidences, says Camille Flammarion, the great French astronomer, although that is the way in which embarrassing questions are sometimes solved. We must therefore resort to systematic analysis and many controversies will doubtless arise before everybody is in agreement on the subject of the mysterious power of the rhabdomancers.

It really seems very difficult to explain the facts which were observed; such, for example, as these: in the Bois de Vincennes, diviners guided by their rods were charged with discovering some dry subterranean cavities. They explored the ground and their helm of wood or metal wavered here and there. One of them, Mr. Peintrat, announced the existence of a cavity at sixty feet. The controllers examined the plan of the locality and certified to the correctness of the fact. Next, Mr. Probst, king of the rhabdomancers, with his bamboo sceptre, discovered an invisible quarry. He showed its limits, indicated its depth, its width, its length and noted the presence of four pillars near three ancient wells. This was verified and found to be correct.

Messrs. Probst and Ferren succeeded in recognizing the contents of sealed envelopes in which were inclosed pieces of silver, lead, copper, aluminum and zinc. There is something that seems to belong to sorcery, and, as in principle one has always a tendency to deny what one does not understand, more than one sceptic will smile on reading the results of these experiments. Let no one forget that in the fifteenth century the art of printing was treated as magic and that Louis XI. was obliged to protect the printers against those who believed them sorcerers, for no one imagined that writing could be reproduced all by itself and people supposed that it was necessary for the devil to mix himself up with it. Today very many minds scarcely reason better in regard to the unknown forces of nature, which they would like to imprison in a nutshell—or, to speak more exactly, in the restricted limit of present undefined theories.

The experiments spoken of and the hypotheses which they suggest are very much older than is generally imagined. At the end of the seventeenth century the famous Malebranche showed these phenomena, attributing them to the devil and declaring dogmatically that if the rod turned it should do so in everybody's hands. The discussion begun in 1689 was still current in 1693, the year in which saw the Abbe de Vallemont demonstrate in his "Physique Occulte" that, all human persons not being endowed with the same nervous sensibility, there was nothing surprising in the fact that the emanations caused by subterranean waters should reveal themselves to certain temperaments and not to others.

MOST FAMOUS STREET

Identified With Financial Matters For Centuries

Someone has said that in the history of Lombard Street lies the history of London. This to a great extent is true. For centuries past Lombard Street has been practically the hub of the money market of London, and where the money is there one usually finds the people who make history.

The name Lombard is derived from Longobards or Lombards, who, about the thirteenth century, supplanted the Jews, who from the Norman conquest were the great money-lenders. The sign of the three golden balls was first used by the Lombards, the forerunners of the modern "uncle." It was the emblem of St. Nicholas, the patron saint of citizens, merchants, and mariners.

It was with the Lombards that Edward III. and Henry V. literally pledged their crowns and jewels to obtain funds for the wars which culminated in Crecy and Agincourt. They were, moreover, the accredited financial agents to the Papacy, collecting and remitting to Italy the moneys due in respect of English benefices held by foreigners and of other ecclesiastical claims.

To them we owe a good part of our financial vocabulary—such words as "debtor," "creditor," "bankrupt," "cash," "journal," "ledger," and "diary." They also introduced the use of the letters "£ s. d."—libs, solidi and denarii.

Among the famous goldsmiths who lived in Lombard Street were Sir Thomas Gresham, who built the first Royal Exchange, and gave it to the City of London in 1566, and also endowed Gresham College; Sir Robert Vyner, who made Charles II.'s crown at a cost of $105,000; and Edward Blackwell, who was chief financier to Charles II., to most of the nobility, and to the East India Company.

Among other curious facts, it might be mentioned that the first London directory was issued in Lombard Street by Sam Lee in 1677.

Doctor's Opinion of Diabetes Cure
Believes No Remedy So Effective As SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES.

In the treatment of Diabetes Mellitus we distinguish between remedies for the disease itself, and those for complications which may arise. Within the last few years numerous preparations, promising complete cures, have made their appearance, but none of them have been able to reduce, or even eliminate sugar secretions as effectually as SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES. This preparation is successfully applied in cases where sugar remains in spite of a diet free of carbo-hydrates. Experience has proven that this remedy has caused no bad effects, whatever.

The above paragraph is made up of extracts from a written statement of one of the most eminent physicians on the Continent of America. We strongly request anyone suffering from this dreaded disease to write to us for a copy of his letter. We may also send testimonials from some of the most prominent people in nearly any town in Canada who think it a privilege to be able to recommend a medicine which brings such relief to any person who has suffered like themselves.

This remedy is manufactured by the Sanol Manufacturing Company, of Winnipeg.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World
Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, feeding itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4930, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

Catarrh or Colds Never Quickly Cured By Swallowing Drugs

Cough Syrups, Tablets, etc., go to the Stomach, Perhaps Sicken It, But Don't Kill the Germs of Catarrh.

The Direct Breathing Cure is Best.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to root out Catarrh or Asthma it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhozone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhozone mix with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal catarrh than I suffered a month ago" writes Mr. G. E. Root, a well known resident of Bridgetown, W. I. "My head ached terrifically, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Ten minutes' inhaling Catarrhozone gave me a little relief so I continued to use Catarrhozone every hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhozone quickly cures me I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. At all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Ottawa Football Player Here

Mr. M. Killian who played with the Ottawa team against Hamilton, in the Interprovincial series, at Hamilton, was in the city yesterday, guest of his friend, Mr. Nagle Phelan. During the afternoon Mr. Killian was shown the city including the lift lock. He left for the capital last night. The score stood Hamilton 23, Ottawa 3. During the game Mr. Killian received a cut on his forehead.

She Stepped Into That Cement

On Saturday morning a young lady, formerly of this city, now of Toronto, who is visiting relatives on Charlotte street, had occasion to cross George street where the paving operations are in progress. Possibly from short-sightedness or embarrassed by such enterprise she stepped into the juicy cement substructure on the street. The foreman yelled "Look out there, lady, you will get your feet wet!" The lady replied "I've got my feet wet now and I'm going to cross." She did but when she looked at her cement covered shoes the young lady made an exclamation that sounded like ham or jam or some such synchronous word.

"There Sere and Yellow Leaf."

No, Sadie, you do not quote correctly when you ask "Did you see 'er yellow leaf?" The expression you refer to is presumably "In the sere and yellow leaf." Still you are to be pardoned if you refer to the same lady that caught our eye on George street, Saturday. The lady in question was a dainty little maid whom we understand did good service, as a nurse, at the first battle of Bull Run. She wore a slit skirt of brilliant green and a hat surmounted by yellow leaves. She looked like the product of a "D.T." patient who considered making a joint holiday of the 17th of March and the 12th of July.

The Noblest Work of God

The man who put a "p" in Proverbs once said "The noblest work of God is an honest man." This product of Providence was seen on Saturday afternoon by a Times representative. As an east bound Jackson Park car was passing Dr. Amy's office a passenger jumped up quickly and pulled the bell cord. He had seen a man named W. Ferguson, when pulling a hand out of his trouser's pocket drop a roll of bills on the pavement. The street car passenger got the roll, caught up with Mr. Ferguson and returned his money. The modesty of our street car friend forbids mentioning his name.

Local Curlers 30 Years Ago

Thirty years ago from last Wednesday the Peterborough Curling Club held its annual meeting. The officers elected were—Patron, Judge Dennistoun; President, Dr. Boucher; Vice-president, Robt. Hall; Chaplain, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw; Sec.-Treas., C. McGill; Representative members: James Dennistoun and A. Bertram; Committee, Adam Hall, W. G. Ferguson, Andrew McNeil and Melville Miller; Skips, Geo. Brown, Dr. Boucher, T. P. Attrill, H. Phelp and Geo. Dunsford. The following gentlemen were elected honorary members: Geo. A. Cox, Dr. Kincaid, John Burnham, M. P., Dr. Pigeon, T. Blizard, M.P.P., Dr. Halliday, Rev. V. Clementi, A. White, R. A. Morrow, John Carnegie, M.P.P., Jas. Campbell and Geo. Hilliard, M.P.

Battery Bulletin.

On Saturday Staff-Sergt. Milner and his assistant, Gatchell left for Kingston. They have been engaged here in applying the fixtures for the sights on the 18 pounder guns of the 24th Field Battery. These soldiers are attached to the Canadian Ordnance Corps. These dial sights are the "last word" in gun sights. They are practically the same as the sights used on submarine boats. By them the gunner can see in every direction, so that in shooting over a hill the marksman can get a line from an object behind him. The soldiers returned to will go to Gananoque to perform similar work done here. On their return to Peterborough they will complete the sighting of the guns.

ANY WOMAN CAN HAVE SMOOTH, HAIRLESS SKIN

(Beauty Topics)

Here is a simple treatment, which if used, will quickly banish hair or fuzz from skin, cheek or lip: Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the hairy surface, apply and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and the hairs are gone. Then wash the skin to rid it of the remaining paste. This is quite harmless and does not injure the most sensitive skin. Definite results are had quickly if the delatone is bought in an original package.

Murderer Arrested Here

Thirty years ago from last Wednesday the Italian murder, Carmenio, was found wandering the streets by P. C. (now sergeant) Adams and arrested. Carmenio had a loaded revolver in his pocket. He was [illegible] and committed for examination by Dr. Kincaid. He later was sent to an asylum.

THE MURDER.

In conversation with Sergt. Adams The Times on Saturday learned some particulars as to why a murderer was at large. It seems that Carmenio, some weeks previous to the arrest noted, was working with a gang of Italians on the C.P.R. near Westwood. Carmenio, as the Italians sat around their camp fire cooking meat on sharpened stakes in the evening got into an altercation with another one of [illegible] [illegible]

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IS YOUR LAXATIVE

Best Liver and Bowel Cleanser and Stomach Regulator in the world —Work while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters which merely force a passageway through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your "insides" pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

Mrs. J. M. Scott, of Hamilton, returned home on Saturday, after spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Lytle, 484 Gilmour street.

Miss M. Quinn is in town visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances formed while living here. Since leaving Peterborough Miss Quinn has spent over 14 years as a missionary in China and has had many interesting experiences in that vast country.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW ON THE DIAL OF A CITY LIFE

Mr. Stabler ships a car load of cattle to Toronto today.

Poultry were plentiful at Saturday's market. So were the prices charged for them.

Thirty years ago Peterborough had 62 telephone subscribers, Port Hope 50 and Lindsay 30.

The market on Saturday was largely attended and the prices were still larger.

Work on the Hunter street pavement, east of George street, was begun Saturday morning.

Duck shooting is reported good near Lindsay. These shy birds naturally take to quiet spots.

Thirty years ago a pear tree in Peterborough was covered with blossoms.

A meeting was held in the White Hall on Tuesday evening to consider the advisability of starting a local option campaign in Marmora.

The local press of 30 years ago roasted the gas company over prices charged and inferiority of the gas sold. Things are different now.

Thirty years ago from last week the district telephone lines were completed and connection made available with outside towns.

Mr. Thomas Arnott, market gardener, Braidwood Avenue, has raised a cabbage head of the great weight of thirteen pounds.

The rainfall in Peterborough for this year up to the last week in October is not more than 18½ inches. The average rainfall is 33¼ inches.

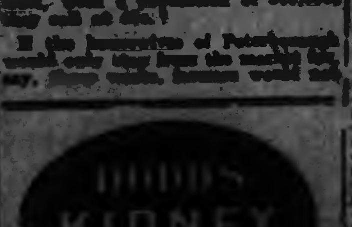
Ducks are plentiful at Rice Lake this fall. Chickens are also too numerous on George street after 10 p.m.

Thirty years ago from last Wednesday Lieut. Col. H. C. Rogers and Mr. R. B. Wood returned from Albany, N.Y., where they attended a meeting of the American Canoe Association.

Owing to the dropping of of a block from one of the gates of the lift lock, that structure has been out of commission for the past three or four days.

How is it that in a town like Peterborough, in the heart of an agricultural district, eggs sell on the market at 35 cents while in [illegible], with a population of 500,000, they sell at 30c.?

If the housewives of Peterborough would only stay from the market for, say, three weeks, hucksters would not be asking 3 cents each for eggs worth 1½ cents and many of them—the eggs—"ripe" at that.



Dr. Horning, Professor of Modern Languages at Victoria College, Toronto, will deliver a lecture on the evening of November 7th, in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall, on "England."

Mr. E. J. Kelly, of this city had a chat on Saturday over old lacrosse days of 30 years ago, with Mr. W. Rudkins. Mr. was then on the Ottawa "Metropolitans" the old champion team against which Peterborough played.

No, Sadie, the Italians who use those wooden slabs on their feet whilst rolling the new pavement, are not practising for a snowshoe race. Those wooden slabs are used to prevent their little tootsies from being burned by the hot asphalt.

Those local disciples of Baccus whose seat on the water wagon is somewhat unsafe should know that it has been decided, at Lindsay, that any man arrested twice in three months for being drunk may be sent to the Industrial Farm.

Cotton's Weekly, a Socialist paper asks "What has capital done for you." It seems to us that capital played a big figure in establishing the C.G.E. Co., Quaker Oats plant, etc., in this city. Such a question is enough to give a thinking man the "willies."

Cotton's Weekly, a Socialist paper speaks of the Borden Government and says it gives only slavery. Does Cotton's Weekly pay its two boys and an office dog as high wages as are paid for similar work done in Peterborough?

London Sphere of last issue gives the picture of a Calcutta, India, cow being milked. Beside the cow stands a wooden facsimile of her recently taken calf. The "calf" looks like a combination between a dachshund and a cyclone. One could not fool a Peterborough cow that way.

No, Sadie, those eight farmers you saw on the market, among others, were not playing "pigs in clover." Those 39 pigs in boxes on the farmers' waggons were for sale and at a price that proved the farmer gets the best end of the game these days.

No, Sadie, the local coal combine did not put the "c" in coal. They only place a "k" in the kink put on your bank roll.

EVICTION OF BACHELORS

Must Get Married or Give up Their Houses

Many complaints are made by married laborers in Ireland that they cannot obtain cottages to live in, and that a number of cottages provided by public authorities are occupied by bachelors. The Trim Rural Council gave notice some time ago to bachelors occupying cottages that they must either get married or give up possession, but despite the fact that the publication of this decision brought proposals of marriage from all parts of the world, it was reported to the council that none of the bachelors had found wives. Some of the tenants asked for an extension of time, but the order went forth that the unmarried men must go.

Young Bigamist

William M'Gregor, laborer, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment at Glasgow for bigamously marrying a Bridgeton woman. The accused, who is twenty-three years of age, married previously, the marriage apparently not having been a happy one. The accused met the second woman in Arrah, where she was employed as a tablemaid in an hotel, and where he was working on a farm. After contracting the irregular marriage he deserted the woman within a few months.

NEW CONVENIENT TRAIN TO WINNIPEG

CANADIAN PACIFIC

The popularity of Canadian Pacific service, and the excellence of that road's equipment, has been so greatly appreciated by the travelling public that it has been found necessary to put into service an entirely new Through Standard Express Train between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Commencing Sunday, October 27th, the "Gate City Express" will leave Toronto at 2.30 p.m., and will run daily thereafter, arriving Winnipeg at 8.00 a.m. second morning. The train will consist of the highest-class modern equipment: Compartment Library Observation Car, Standard Sleeping Cars, tourist sleeping car, dining car, First-class Coach and Colonist Car. This will be found the most convenient and best train between Toronto and Winnipeg on account of the daylight departure from Toronto at an hour when the Union Station is not badly congested, and also on account of the early hour of arrival at Winnipeg.

The present "Vancouver Express" will continue to leave Toronto at 10.20 p.m. daily and will consist of the same equipment as the "Gate City Express." This train is the best to take for points west of Winnipeg and east the "Gate City Express" is the right train to travel by.

Full information from any Canadian Pacific Agent or write M. G. Murphy, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

- KEEP THE PUBLIC INFORMED -

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its fineness and price.

He discusses these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this new through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his servic to keep the public informed.

MAHER'S ENGLISH HOME

Spends a Good Deal of His Time in the Saddle, Fox-hunting

"Danny" Maher, the jockey, has settled more or less permanently in England. A few years ago he rented a house near his friend, George Williamson, the famous ex-steeplechase jockey, and was so charmed with the district that he bought about a hundred acres of land. He now spends the greater part of the winter season there keeping himself in condition by hunting with the Earl of Harrington's hounds. Maher, whose parents came from Tipperary, did at one time think of buying a place in that county in order to settle down when he retired from riding, but gave up the idea.

IRISH FORSEE NO REDRESS IN PRESIDENT ASQUITH'S WORDS

"We Deserve a Better Fate Judging by Our Services to the Empire"--General Election Best Way to Settle

Mr. Asquith's speech on Saturday takes the Home Rule discussion out of the realm of mere speculation in which it has left since Mr. Churchill's Dundee speech. Liberal papers this morning entirely approve Mr. Asquith's pronouncement, their comments differing very little, but in method of expressing. Practically every Unionist journal on the other hand expresses disappointment. The Times can see nothing but ambiguity in the speech.

"Mr. Asquith," says The Times "declares he will not drop the bill and is quite ready to coerce Ulster if a statute deliberately enacted by Parliament were to be met by organized and armed resistance."

London, Oct. 27.—In commenting on Mr. Asquith's speech to-day the Irish Independent Nationalist says an exclusion of Ulster would be unacceptable.

Capt. Craig, Ulster Unionist M.P., says the speech destroys the last illusion any Loyalist might possess regarding the patriotism, honesty and justice of the present Cabinet so far as the Irish policy is concerned. We deserve a better fate to judge by our service to the Empire. We are not going to take it lying down."

Reference was made to Lord North who in the eighteenth century attempted to force the hated system upon the reluctant peoples of a small community on the other side of the Atlantic which was not in point of numbers much more than twice the size of Protestant Ulster.

"But impressive orations of Cabinet ministers and eminent judges of that day did not make them less ready to lay down their lives rather than submit to injustice which they thought flagrant.

"What the English public tolerated at the end of the eighteenth century will not be tolerated now. No one knows this better than Mr. Asquith. The Daily Mail, which heralded Mr. Churchill as showing the olive branch is more wary to-day, declaring a general election is the most hopeful means of reaching a pacific settlement. The Daily Telegraph finds the general tone of the speech unfriendly to a compromise, and arrogant of her threatened resistance.

"It is most unlikely," says The Telegraph, "that anything valuable will come of the offer which gives so sparingly and makes such hard exactions, and seems so manifestly resigned to manoeuvre the Unionist party into a false position."

FRENCH PARENTS INSTRUCT CHILDREN TO LEAVE SCHOOL

Provincial Inspector Summerby May Expect to Find Nothing to Inspect at Ottawa School

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—If Provincial Inspector Summerby enters a French school in Ottawa this week it is quite likely he will find nothing to inspect. The exploit of the pupils of the Guigues school, who walked out on Thursday last, has set every French parent and pupil talking, and the word has been passed around that the inspector is not to be recognized in his official capacity. The pupils of the Guigues schools have been publicly congratulated by a French paper, Le Justice, and naturally all the other pupils would like to receive similar praise.

All Walk Out.

"They'll all walk out when he walks in." Mr. S. Genest, chairman of the Separate School Board and representative of the French members was the speaker. In this case "they" referred to the pupils and "he" to Inspector Summerby. Continuing he said:

"The parents have taken the bit in their teeth and have ordered their children to do as they have done; the School Board is in no way responsible. It would make no difference if they sent a squad of police along to compel the pupils to stay; they would defy the inspector in some way equally forcible. I expect that the result will be the same in all schools that the inspector enters.

"As I understand, when an inspector enters a French school he will be politely told by the teacher that the regulations are being lived up to, but that French is the official language of communication between the teacher and pupils," continued Mr. Genest.

The chairman had not heard of any assault or in any way show violence to Inspector Summerby. He did not see how the Government could come against the trustees by taking away the general grant, for he claimed that there was no neglect of duty on their part. "Why should the English schools, which have done nothing culpable, be held responsible as well," he queried.

Quarter a Head.

Mr. Genest asserted that the whole thing was a colossal attempt on the part of the Government to make the French people bow to their will. "Supposing they should withhold their grant of $5,000, what then? We have already lost over $30,000 in municipal taxes, so that is the odds. The loss of $5,000 figures out to be about 25 cents a head, and we are not prepared to lose our language for that paltry amount.

"The whole thing was premeditated as I do not see how we can be held guilty of any negligence on that account. We have no fault to find with the inspector; he was merely doing his duty."

Inspector Doesn't Talk.

Inspector W. J. Summerby is, to say the least, reticent about the Guigues schools incident. He positively declined to discuss it at all, declaring that action by the Government would prove the most effective answer to such a proceeding.

"What nature is the action to take?" asked the newspaperman.

"Hard to say," was the short answer. "They might cut off the grant."

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Mr. John Foley.

John Foley, 73 years of age, passed away at the House of Providence on Saturday evening. He was born in Ireland, but came to this city two years ago from Parry Sound. The funeral was held yesterday morning to St. Peter's church and cemetery.

Mrs. P. Duhaire.

The death occurred yesterday afternoon of [illegible], wife of Mr. P. Duhaire, at her home 174 [illegible].

The late Mrs. Duhaire was 49 years of age, and was born in Lower Canada. Most of her life was spent in [illegible]. She was a faithful member of St. Peter's church.

She is survived by five daughters and one son.

The funeral will be held to-morrow morning to St. Peter's church and cemetery.

Herbert Miller.

The last sad [illegible] in the life and death of Mr. Herbert Miller, son of Mr. [illegible] Miller, Water street, was [illegible] yesterday afternoon. His funeral was held from the latter's residence. The service was conducted by Rev. J. [illegible] of Murray street Baptist Church, and was under the auspices of the local branch of the Woodmen of the World. The following Woodmen were pall bearers: Messrs. A. Heard, H. Way, E. Williamson, E. Pelissen, E. Le Duc and [illegible].

A very large number of friends of the deceased were present at the funeral and a large [illegible] followed the body to the grave.

DENY ANY NEGLECT OF DUTY WILL FIGHT CASE IN COURTS

Ottawa, Oct., Oct. 27.—In reply to the charge made by Hon. I. B. Lucas Provincial Treasurer, that the trouble in the Ottawa Separate Schools was of political origin, Trustee S. M. Genest, Chairman of the board declared this morning that this was far from being the case.

"Immediately the question becomes a political one," said Mr. Genest, "I will hand in my resignation. I sincerely deplore the fact that this politics story has gone abroad."

Another member of the Board, Trustee, Dr. Freeland, who is collector of inland revenue for the port of Ottawa, said that the politics charge was easily refuted. There were men of both political parties on the Board, and he, as well as the Chairman, Mr. Genest, were civil servants and as such eschewed politi[cs].

Policy of Persecution.

"If the Government perseveres in its present attitude in this matter," said Dr. Freeland "then it is committing itself to a policy of persecution, for to legislate to the injury of one part of the people at the bidding of another."

AUSTRALIAN LADS FLOCK TO COLORS; NEW IDEA SUCCESS

Compulsory Service Not Proving Irksome--In Tasmania Every Boy Came Foward

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—In a report to the trade and commerce department D. H. Ross, Canadian Trade Commissioner for Australia gave an interesting account of the progress of compulsory service conditions under the Defence Act which go to show that the law is apparently not proving irksome to the youth of Australia. The latest training figures indicate that of the 18-year-old boys who were due to join the citizen soldier rank at the beginning of July last, 16,849 out of 17,194 responded to the call to arms. In Queensland, only 46 lads failed for training; in Ne wSouth Wales, 43; in Vivtoria, 79; i nSouth Australia, 81; and in Western Australia, 96; while in Tasmania every boy eligible to join the fighting line promptly took his place. Throughout the States 38,718 lads registered their names for service, but 19,528 of them were exempted, principally on account of distance from a training centre.

Montana won four more thus givpete.

LORD BERESFORD WOULD AID ULSTER

London, Oct. 27.—Lord Charles Beresford, speaking at Portsmouth, said should civil war come he would go to Ulster because he believed it his duty. Many officers and men who had served in the army and navy were, like him, not prepared to stand idly by while the loyal and devoted people of Ulster were being shot down.

EASTLAND DISCHARGED ON CHARGE OF THEFT

At yesterday's police court, F. Eastland was accused of stealing $50 and a watch from Thos. McKinley. Mr. McKinley said he had been out with the accused. They had been drinking. He had $65 when he came to town. He identified the watch in court as his. He paid $3 for the watch. He bought a suit of clothes for $30 on Friday. He had $30 in his inside pocket, the rest was in his hip pocket. He found the $30 in his vest on Monday when he went to buy liquor. The money was gone from hi ship pocket. He did not remember seeing Eastland on Saturday or Monday.

To Mr. Gordon, for the defence, he has known Eastland for years. He did not remember asking Eastland to take care of his watch. Witness had been drinking heavily. He bought a bottle of whiskey for Sunday, but some one swiped it so he had to go dry. Henry Walker, next witness said he saw McKinley and prisoner in a hotel on Monday, in the sitting room. McKinley was drunk. Eastland was sitting near McKinley and one of the latter's hands was across McKinley's breast and his other hand in McKinley's hip pocket. He told Eastland, he should not have his hand in McKinley's pocket. Eastland told him it was none of his business. Witness told the bar-tender. This was on Monday. Detective Meagher said he arrested Eastland at the Grand Hotel. Eastland had the watch, in court, Eastland had $6 in bills and over a dollar in silver. Prisoner said McKinley had asked him to take care of the watch. Mr. Linton, of the Peterborough Lumber Co. said Eastland was paid $14 on Oct. 10. Eastland got $14.73 Oct. 20 from the company. The prisoner next said he saw McKinley in a Hunter street hotel Monday. McKinley gave him his watch to take care of. He did not see McKinley since to return it. It was his own money on his person when arrested. He denied having had his hand in McKinley's pocket. Mr. Gordon put up a strong story for his client who was discharged.

MR. BENSON FOUND THAMES WAS SHALLOW

Well Known Shakespearean Player Struck Head on Bottom of London's Creek.

London, Oct., Oct. 27.—Mr. F. R. Benson, leading man of Stratford-on-Avon Players, had a narrow escape last Saturday from drowning here, when he attempted to take a dive into the Thames at a spot where the river is shallow. He is a devotee of cold water plunges and at every opportunity takes a swim in rivers or lakes situated near the cities which he plays. Where he dived into the Thames here the water was shallow and his head struck the bottom. Fortunately he was not rendered unconscious, and to this fact alone he owes his life. He appeared at the concluding performance here with his nose and forehead covered with plasters.

DEFENCE BURDEN ON BRITISH TAXPAYERS

London, Oct. 27.—How heavily the burden of defence falls on the British taxpayers in the absence of adequate support from the other parts of the Empire is shown by the Economist, which declares that by next spring Mr. Asquith during his six years of Premiership will have added £15,000,000 sterling to the annual expenditure on the navy, a sum which at 3½ per cent interest represents a capital debt of £461,540,000.

This is a pretty startling record for the chief exponent of a party who's motto ever has been peace and retrenchment and reform.

The Economist adds: "A financial semi-crisis is seen in the increasing dearth of capital, increasing rates in interest whether for short or long loans, and the desperate anxiety of public authorities, companies and individuals to obtain accomodation on almost any terms. This is compelling the attention of serious men all over the world to the causes of our difficulties, the enormous sums devoted to war and armaments.

Quartette of Haileybury Boys With .22 Rifle—Mrs. Phillips Hit by Bullet.

Haileybury, Oct. Oct. 27.—Firing at a bottle with a22 calibre rifle, four Haileybury boys ranging in ages from 13 to 14, are in the charge of the police to-day following the accidental shooting of Mrs. A. F. Phillips, who is in the hospital with a bullet wound in the head.

The bullets fired from the rifle were spattering against the wall of Mrs. Phillip's house. She opened the door and a bullet struck her just below the right ear. The wound may not be fatal.

BILINGUAL ADVOCATES WILL DEFY ONTARIO GOVERNMENT

Chairman Genest Declares Ottawa Separate School Board is Not Negligent

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—There is little probability of any conference between Sir James Whitney and the Separate School Board bi-lingual advocates while the Provincial Premier is here.

"Not a word," replied Sir James Whitney when asked for an interview on the situation to-day.

"We might not be received," remarked Trustee Genest, when asked as to the possibility of a conference with Sir James and Mr. Lucas.

Trustees Genest and Freeland declare they will defy the Government to make members of the Board pay individually the amount of the grant.

"The law states this can only be done when the Board has been negligent," declares Mr. Genest. "No one can say we have neglected our duties."

"The grants are not paid to any school board which refuses to conform to the regulations," asserted Hon. I. B. Lucas.

The situation consequently assumes the appearance of a deadlock. Mass meetings of French Canadians to protest the withdrawal of the grant may prove the next development.

Bourassa Volunteers.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—Henry Bourassa and Armand Lavergne to-day volunteered their services to the local Separate School Board in the bilingual contest.

PRESIDENT HUERTA IS STILL THE BIG BOSS OF MEXICO

Army to be Increased to 150,000 and New Congress Will Do His Will

Mexico City, Oct. 27.—Returns from the Mexican election to-day showed that less than five thousand votes were cast in the federal district, including this city, where there are 80,000 voters.

In spite of the meagre vote it was expected that the Congressional candidates, with the approval of Gen. Huerta, would declare themselves elected and organize. Their first act, it is said, will be to declare the Presidential election of yesterday null and void because the total vote cast was not sufficient to make a constitutional majority for one candidate.

They then are expected to "request" Huerta to remain President ad interim until another election can be held, which will be whenever Huerta sees fit to call it.

The stumbling block in this program is the difficulty of calling the Congressional election legal and satisfactory while declaring the Presidential election void, when the same ballots were used in both. Those opposed to Huerta, though, say that a little thing like that will not bother him.

The Mexican constitution sets forth that there are approximately three million voters in the Republic and that one-third of them must vote in order to make a Presidential election binding.

Diaz Party Did Not Vote.

The Diaz leaders and the Catholic party, of which Federico Gamboa was the candidate, requested their partisans not to vote. Few of them did.

Early returns showed that very few votes in the Federal district were cast for Huerta and Blanquet. Huerta left the capital early yesterday and was away all day, but Blanquet was on guard at the national palace.

REPRESENTATION MAIN ISSUE AS THE PREMIERS MEET

Maritime Provinces Asking 'Original Forty Members as Their Quota--Ontario Likely to Oppose Move

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—The Inter-provincial Conference opened this morning with all the representatives of the various provinces present. Premier Borden spoke a welcome.

The opening session was devoted to organization and it will not be until this afternoon that the Conference will get down to business in earnest.

The Maritime members preliminary to the opening of the conference held a short session when the memorandum in regard to representation and increased subsidy was discussed and finally approved. It was to be laid before the conference this afternoon. Premier Mathieson of Prince Edward Island, and Premier Flemming of New Brunswick, have been here working on their memorandum for several days and to-day it was approved by Premier Murray, of Nova Scotia.

ASK ORIGINAL 40 MEMBERS.

The Maritime members will ask that their representation be restored to the number it was at Confederation and that this be the minimum for the three Provinces. They claim that this was the understanding at Confederation although there was no provision to this effect in the agreement signed in 1866. The Maritime Provinces at Confederation had 40 members. This has since been reduced to 35 and by the coming Redistribution Bill will be cut down three more.

At Confederation, Prince Edward Island had six members, Nova Scotia 19, and New Brunswick 15.

Prince Edward Island now has four, Nova Scotia 18, and New Brunswick 13.

This question of representation is the big problem before the conference and it is difficult to see how there can be an unanimous decision. The Western representatives at the conference express sympathy for the Maritime Provinces and would like to see a satisfactory settlement if such were possible, provided the principle of representation by population was not infringed on and the West was not handicapped. How they can reach any satisfactory basis they fail to see.

Sir James Whitney, Hon. J. J. Foy and Hon. I. B. Lucas are representing Ontario. Sir James, like Premier McBride has no definite proposals to make. It is not expected Ontario will agree to the proposals of the Maritime Provinces.

MOTHER FINDS TOT FLOATING IN WELL

Help is Prompt, But Not Soon Enough to Rescue Child While Life Remained.

Cobalt, Oct. 27.—Looking down the well at Argentite, near Cobalt Mrs. Poisson saw the body of her four-year-old son floating there. She screamed for help but when the body was pulled out life was extinct. A board had been misplaced over the well near the house and the boy playing round the yard had fallen into the water.

GIBSON JURY QUITS FOR SECOND TIME; NO AGREEMENT RESULTS

Goshen, N.Y., Oct. 27.—The indictment against Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer, who was tried twice by Orange County juries for the death of Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo by strangulation on Greenwood Lake, on July 16, 1912, was dismissed here to-day. The juries at both trials failed to agree.

SUFFS BURN TILL HOUSE.

London, Oct. 27.—Militant suffragettes this morning set fire and burned to the ground Till House, a fine residence at Bramshott, twelve miles from Aldershot, belonging to Mr. T. McKenna, a brother of the Home Secretary, Reginald McKenna.

COMPENSATION

A labourer who fell off a building and fractured his ribs was awarded $100 compensation by the Court. But his lawyer left $75 for professional services. The labourer gazed at the $25 that was handed to him in great surprise. "What are you looking at?" asked the lawyer. "Well, as you asked me, sir," replied the poor man, "I was just wondering which of us it was that fell off the building and broke his ribs."

Two Suicides in a Family

An inquest was held at Warrington on James Tomlinson, forge minder, who was found hanged in his bedroom. It was stated that Tomlinson served in the South African War, and was in receipt of eightpence a day pension. His wife committed suicide [illegible] years ago, when he gave way to drink. A young daughter stated that about eighteen months ago her father sent her brother to a reformatory, and this worried him a good deal.

GEORGE OF GREECE A GOOD MONARCH

The assassination of George of Greece came at the very time when his life work was being crowned with success. That lifework was the creation of a nation in the land which had been the cradle of European civilization. It was no light task. The pessimists of Europe said 50 years ago that it was an impossible task. More than one eligible younger son was offered the chance to try it and was held back by the wise advice of older monarchs, who reasoned from precedents that only assassination or deposition after failure could be the lot of the man who seated himself upon the throne of Greece. In a sense the gloomy prediction was fulfilled in the case of King George, but assassination did not come till after a reign of 50 years had raised a half-savage population of warring tribesmen into a compact, orderly and civilized nation and had brought under its flag a greater territory than was ever at any one time united into a single government even during the most glorious days of ancient Greece. This, of course, assumes that Philip and Alexander are properly to be classed as Macedonians and not as Greeks, and that the Greece of their day was a conquered province, not an independent nation. Upon the resignation of Otho in whose reign there was constant insurrection the powers of Europe looked around for a successor, and finally offered the throne to Christian of Denmark's son William who at the age of eighteen was crowned King George of Greece. This Danish boy was no weakling. He could ride, run, box, fence. He was an unerring marksman. He is said to have repeated the feat of Lysander by swimming the Hellespont. After he had established himself, he was accustomed to enter athletic contests incognito, and he carried off many a prize. Once he was denounced as a professional and precipitated a riot, escaping only by disclosing his identity to the police. He mastered the Greek language, making himself a genuine Greek in speech and sentiment. He established a constitution and a free parliament. He adopted the principle of ruling by allowing his people to rule themselves, but at the same time he kept always a guiding hand on public affairs. When rival politicians quarreled so fiercely that it became impossible to form a ministry, King George calmly announced that he could get along without a ministry, and he did until the politicians came to their senses. He fostered education. He gave all possible aid to the study of Grecian antiquities for the purpose of reviving among the modern Greeks a proper pride in the achievements of their ancestors. And most of all he set himself to develop an army, for he was ambitious to place his country in a position in which it would no longer be obliged to depend on the protection of the powers for its existence.

How Pat Proposed to Make the Petrol Hang Out

Of course you know the story of the Irishman who was painting a fence, and who worked for all he was worth in order that he might get his job finished before the paint gave out.

It was one of those jokes our grandmothers laughed at before our grandfathers bought razors.

Well, here's a new version of it.

The hero, again, is an Irishman, but this time not a painter. Oh, no; a chauffeur driving his master home from the country late one evening.

The nearer the car approached the town the faster it went until, when about ten miles out, it was travelling at something like fifty miles an hour.

"Steady, man, steady!" cried the master to his servant. "If you go on like this we shall get held up by the police."

But the Irishman set his lips firmly, made the car go faster still, then hissed:

"We're still nine miles from home, sir, and I've only enough petrol for three. If we hurry we may just do it!"

Died at 100

Mrs. Hannah McKinnon, Ballygawley, county Tyrone, has just passed away at the remarkable age of 100 years, having retained her faculties up to the last.

Hat Causes Suicide

Upset apparently because she had to wear one of her mother's black hats at her employer's funeral, [illegible] Bertini, fifteen, afterwards drowned herself in the Thames. A verdict of "Suicide during temporary insanity" was returned.

"THE NURSERY OF THE CHURCH"

The Sunday School of the early part of the Twentieth Century has no greater task than that of re-adjustment. To-day it is far from what it was a generation ago, and equally different from what it will be a generation hence! For a hundred years of its history in America it was regarded as the school for children, commonly called "The Nursery of the Church." At the present time it is struggling to enforce a new ideal upon its constituency, namely that it is "The School of the Church," or as Bishop Vincent, of world-wide fame, has set it, "The Church Studying and Teaching the Word of God." Since it is always difficult to change a "life habit," it is not novel that those who grew up in other days and in due course "dropped out" of Sunday School, find it rather a difficult task to return. The serious aspect of it is that these maintain a "subtracting influence" from the present enrollment by their example.

That rapid strides are being made in enlisting the interest of the mature population in the Sunday School is seen in the fact that whereas in previous trienniums the increase in the Sunday School enrollment of North America was told by a few thousand, the report of the last triennium showed the increase to be in excess of 1,000,000. No one doubts, and those who know, are sure that the cause of this increase is the rapid growth of the "Organized Adult Bible Class Movement." In Ontario alone we have now passed the 1500 mark of individual classes which are recognized as having come up to the standard, and secured the "International Certificate of Recognition."

Not in the matter of attendance or enrollment only is a real difficulty experienced, but in modernizing its method of work in an effort to keep abreast of the recognized advanced made in secular educational work and other movements in the interests of the "Unfolding Life!" For more than a decade the Sunday School Camp of North America was divided as to the need for an improved curriculum! The contest resulted in optional courses of study known as the "International Uniform" and the "International Graded" courses of Sunday School lessons. The latter of these courses is materially assisting in the solution of several long time problems, but others remain.

Just at present a constraint challenging the Sunday School working force is adjustment of relations to a larger field. The Sunday School vision of to-day is not limited to any one-hour on Sunday afternoon affair, but it is a "seven day opportunity," a continuous process, taking account of every available means to influence clean living.

The programmes for the Twin Conventions of the Ontario Sunday School Association at Ottawa and Owen Sound during the last two weeks of this month were arranged with this larger view in mind. Rev. T. Albert Moore, D.D., General Secretary of the Department of Temperance and Moral Reform for the Methodist Church, will present the subject "The Sunday School and Good Citizenship" at Ottawa, and Rev. D. C. MacGregor, B. A., B. D., of the similar Department in the Presbyterian Church will introduce it at Owen Sound.

The Provincial Sunday School Association is organising a special campaign in co-operation with the Ontario branches of the W. C. T. U. and the Dominion Alliance to secure 100,000 guaranteed peldge signers in Ontario in the next two years. Mrs. Zillah Foster Stevens, of Alton, Ill., who is in charge of the temperance work in Sunday Schools for the International Sunday School Association, will present the importance of the campaign, and conduct a conference at each Convention.

A similar effort to secure 1,000,000 pledge signers on next "World's Temperance Sunday," (Nov. 9th) in the United States is being pushed by the International Sunday School Movement through the different State Associations. It is in part to stir up moral support to the national prohibitory law to be introduced into Congress in December.

These phases, as also the attempts to provide for the social, literary and athletic interests of its youthful element are becoming acute problems before this "Bible Study" Department of the church. Much attention has been given in the last ten years to an effort to introduce special pedagogical training into Seminaries and Theological Colleges. The recent joint session of the affiliated Allumni of the Theological Colleges of Toronto University devoted one-half day to this phase of the Church's work.

For at least fifteen years the statement that 85 per cent. of all additions to church membership come from the Sunday School constituency has been generally accepted. Present day statistics abundantly prove it. The closing address of Mr. W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, Associate Secretary of the International Sunday School Association, at Ottawa, is on the International Sunday School Association, at Ottawa is on this theme "Sunday School Evangelism," while at Owen Sound Mr. Marion Lawrence gives the final address on "The Challenge of the Future." Truly the Sunday School of to-day with all its limitations and feebleness is larger in effort and outlook than last century.

"Do your ears roar and buzz?"
"Are you hard of hearing?"

If you have any of these indications of Catarrh, cure the trouble now—stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes—then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhozone," a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medication on every spot that's tainted by catarrh germs.

"No one can know better than I the enormous benefit one gets from the very first day's use of Catarrhozone," writes T. T. Hopkins, of Westvale, P.Q. "I had for years a stubborn case of bronchial catarrh, ear noises, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhozone cured quickly."

The dollar outfit last two months, and is guaranteed; smaller size, 50c, sample size, 25c, at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" and in Five Minutes You'll Wonder What Became of Misery in Stomach

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little "Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful — it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go in and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

MUSIC and DRAMA

"THE QUAKER GIRL"

The "Quaker Girl" will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Saturday next, Nov. 1st, matinee and night, and will be presented by practically the original company, headed by Victor Morley, and including Harry Short, Barnes McCabe, Mlle. Corday, Murray Stephen, Dixie Girard, Phil. J. More, Connie Mack, Wm. Blaisdell, Adelaide Folger and Gladys Parsons. This announcement means that the most important attraction for the current year will be presented in Peterborough for there are few, if any, who will not concede this honor to "The Quaker Girl," peerless success of three continents, with its marvelous record of two years in London, one year in Paris and one year in New York. A company of eighty-six players are used in the presentation, which includes a stunning chorus and ballet. Lionel Monckton's tuneful score has by this time been hummed and whistled a great deal in this city and it needs no advance praise. The book is by James T. Tanner and the lyrics are by Adrian Ross and Percy Greenbank. The sale of seats opens at Box Office, Thursday, Oct. 30th.

London and Its Lumber

London is the most conservative city in Europe, if not in the world. It loves its lumber. You may still see there notices attached to lamp posts which announce "Standing for Four Hackney Carriages," or whatever the number may be, though [illegible] years no vehicles of any kind have stood there. Perhaps it is as well that these relics should remain; they are a tiny part of our social history. They will probably remain when we are flying to dinner or the theatre in aeroplanes. By that time people won't know what "hackney carriage" meant, and there will be [illegible] in the "Notes and Queries" of the period. [illegible]—The London [illegible].

RUGS IN COWSHED

How a Dairyman Blinded an Inspecting Committee

After having had several bouts with the Portland Sanitary Committee about cowshed regulations, a Dorset dairy farmer had an elaborate joke at the expense of the inspection committee. He made preparations for the visit by spreading linoleum over the floor of his cowhouse, displaying hearthrugs in convenient positions, hanging the walls with pictures, a mirror, and a motto, "Until we meet again," and furnishing the interior with chairs and a harmonium. When the committee called he gravely asked them to wipe their feet on the doormat, and explained that the harmonium was for the cow to play while the calf danced. The committee were too much amused to feel hurt, but when they had gone the farmer informed his friends that they were so taken up with the decorations that they had forgotten to examine the drains or to fulfil any of the objects of the inspection.

Gladstonian Henchman

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

LET EVERYONE SWEEP BEFORE HIS OWN DOOR

(Published by Request.)

Do we need the homely adage, handed down from days of yore?
"Ere you sweep your neighbor's dwelling, clear the rubbish from your door."
Let no filth, no dust, thine gather — leave no traces of decay, [illegible] brush the [illegible] away.

If we faithfully have labored thus to sweep without, within,
Plucked up envy, evil-speaking, malice, each besetting sin,
Weeds that by the sacred portals of [illegible] grow,
Poisonous weeds the heart defiling, bearing bitterness and woe;

Then, perchance, we may have leisure o'er our neighbor watch to keep;
All the work assigned us finished, we before his door may sweep;
Show him where the mosses clinging, tokens ever of decay,
Where the thistles, thickly springing daily must be cleared away.

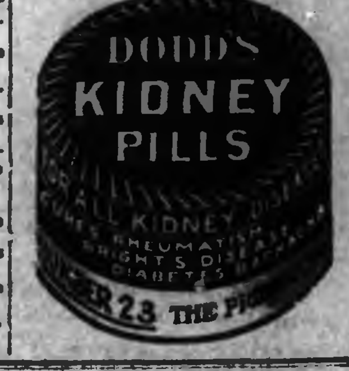
But, alas! our work neglecting, oft we mount the judgment seat,
With his failings, his omissions, we our weary brother greet;
In some hidden nook forgotten, searching with a careful eye,
We the springing weeds discover — some slight blemish there descry.

For his slothfulness, his blindness, we our brother harshly chide,
Glorying in our strength and wisdom, we condemn him in our pride;
Ask not why he has neglected thus before his door to sweep,
Why, grown careless, he has slumbered, failed his garden-plot to keep.

On the judgment seat still sitting, we no helping hand extend
To assist our weaker brother his short-coming to amend:
For his weariness, his faltering, we no sweet compassion show—
From our store no cordial bring him, no encouragement bestow.

But, while busied with our neighbor, urging him to ceaseless care—
Calling to the thoughtless idlers, to their labor to repair,
Lo! unseen the dust has gathered, weeds a[illegible]rowing where of yore
Flow'rets rare and sweet were blooming when we swept before our door.

Ah! how ea[illegible] or our brother faith-[illegible] watch to keep;
But, alas! before our dwelling hard indeed to daily sweep;
Harder than to share the conflict, "by the stuff": at home to stay—
Easier far to sit in judgment than to humbly watch and pray.



-- KEEP THE PUBLIC INFORMED --

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its fineness and price.

He classes these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this news through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his servie to keep the public informed.

VERY FEW BIG SALARIES ARE PAID TO PREACHERS

Not Many Opportunities For Minister in Canada to Amass Much of a Fortune

It is said that there are not a dozen clergymen in the whole of Canada whose official stipends are five thousand dollars a year or better. The number of those whose incomes are between four and five thousand dollars a year does not exceed a score or so, while less than forty-five get anything between three and four thousand dollars a year. That is to say that, of all the clergy of all denominations, in the whole of Canada, there are considerably less than eighty who are in receipt of a stipend of three thousand dollars a year or over. There is no other profession in the country which does not offer both immensely more numerous and also immensely richer prizes.

The clergyman who draws the largest salary of any in Canada is Archdeacon Cody, of St. Paul's, Toronto. His stipend is eight thousand dollars a year. The next highest ministerial stipend in the Dominion is drawn by the Rev. R. Bruce Taylor, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Montreal, who receives seven thousand dollars a year. Outside the Anglican, Presbyterian, and Congregational churches, it may be noted, there are no salaries of five thousand dollars and over paid. Besides Mr. Bruce Taylor, four other Presbyterian clergymen are in receipt of annual stipends of five thousand dollars and over. Two of these ministers are in Toronto, namely, the Rev. John McNeill of Cooke's Church and Dr. Neil of Westminster Church, whose annual stipend is five thousand. The remaining Presbyterian ministers with "plums" are Dr. Du Val, of Knox Church, Winnipeg, who receives five thousand five hundred a year, and the Rev. Dr. Herridge, of St. Andrew's, Ottawa, who gets a like sum.

There is no compilation giving the figures of the incomes of the clergy of the Anglican Church in Canada, as a whole. But, in the diocese of Toronto, there are two other Anglican clergymen, in addition to Archdeacon Cody, whose official incomes are of the amount of five thousand dollars a year and over. These are the Bishop of Toronto and Canon Plumptre, of St. James' Cathedral. There are probably not more than three other Anglican clergymen in Canada whose official incomes amount to five thousand.

Of the twenty or so ministers who receive an income of over four and under five thousand dollars a year, some six or seven are, it is estimated, Anglicans. Eight are Presbyterian ministers, three of them, namely, Dr. Gilray, Rev. A. B. Winchester and Rev. T. Crawford Brown, are ministers of Toronto churches, while the other five churches which pay such big salaries are the Crescent Church, Montreal; St. Andrew's, Westmount; Westminster Church, Winnipeg; First Church, Edmonton; and St. Andrew's, Surrey. Five Baptist ministers receive annual stipends of four thousand dollars. Three of these minister in Toronto, one in Vancouver and one in Winnipeg. No minister in the Methodist Church in Canada is paid as much as four thousand dollars a year, and only two—or, at the most, three—get over three thousand. Grace Church, Winnipeg, pays its minister three thousand five hundred and Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, Toronto, pays three thousand two hundred.

Two or three other Methodist ministers receive three thousand dollars a year, one in Winnipeg and one in Toronto. The Methodist minister is nearly always supplied with a parsonage house fully furnished. The Baptists seldom provide their ministers with a residence, but manses are often provided for Presbyterian ministers, and rectories or vicarages for Anglicans.

WILD MAN OF THE WOODS

He Kept Posted, However, on Topics of the Day

Thomas Lewis, the "wild Welsh man," who spent a solitary two years in the woods and fields, is taking things easily in Caersws Workhouse. He boasts that he has kept in touch with passing events during his "outlawry," and can converse intelligently on important topics which have arisen during the last two years. When arrested he was wearing a silver watch and chain. The watch showed correct time. He says he used to compare it with the Llanidloes town clock which at nights he could hear strike distinctly from his haunts in the hills.

LORD ROSEBERY GUEST AT ANNUAL PRESS CLUB DINNER

Weighty Appeal to Newspapers to Avert Horrors of War—"Great Steam Engine"

Lord Rosebery was the guest at the annual dinner of the London Press Club at De Keyser's Hotel, and in the course of an interesting speech the ex-Premier stated that he believed the British Press was the best and purest in the world.

The Press, he said, were critical, were not dispassionate, they sounded occasionally the bugle notes of war and strife from the top of the mountain, but in the secluded spot he occupied he had neither passion nor wish to stir up strife, and he observed the whole drama in an atmosphere to which they could not aspire.

So far as he could make out the reporter had largely disappeared. Now he only reported the great lions of the Front Benches, every wag of whose tails it was necessary for every citizen to observe. The removal of verbatim speeches from the newspapers gave space for other matter of a more interesting kind, and that was probably one of the greatest reliefs that the newspaper reader ever experienced. The Press, though a great steam engine in power, was a little sensitive in its relations. If it were not sensitive it would not have the sympathy of the public and could not speak the views of the nation. He believed in the power, the potentialities, and even more in the responsibilities of the Press.

The Press has developed greatly since the days when the Spanish Armada threatened in 1588. Then a mere fly sheet was issued. Now every day we produced not a newspaper but a library. The pouring of this great Niagara of information upon the public carried its responsibility as well as it conferred great benefit. One heard a great deal about the apathy of the public on the great questions of the day; and he thought it was perfectly true. There was a profound apathy. People had no time to bother about anything except their own concerns and the last football match.

Was not that apathy due to the prodigious amount of startling news which the Press offered to every inhabitant of these islands? Was it not a fact that this great number of impressions, hastily and consecutively made, had blunted the receptivity of the brain? Was it not possible that the population nourished on the perfect journalism had not the slightest interest in any possible event that could occur to-morrow?

He felt that the responsibility for the apathy of the country as regards public questions was largely due to the perfection to which journalism had been brought.

The power of the Press was enormous, far greater than that of any member of Parliament or any Minister of the Crown. He prayed journalists in issues which involved peace or war to diminish them as much as possible. From the bottom of his heart he asked the Press when any such issue might occur, and the atmosphere was electrical enough at the present moment, not to say a word that might unnecessarily or except in defence bring about on their fellow-countrymen the innumerable catastrophies of war.

THE FIRST WIRELESS

Marconi's First Demonstrations Made in 1898

The "Wireless World" contains an interesting article dealing with some early experiments in wireless telegraphy. Mr. A. E. Hanscomb recalls visiting Mr. Marconi in a little room which he occupied near the Bournemouth pier in 1898, on a day when the fashionable watering-place was, in consequence of a storm, practically isolated from the outside world. Mr. Hanscomb says:

"I remarked: 'This is where you come in, I suppose?' He smiled, and modestly replied: 'We'll see what we can do.' He then retired behind a screen, and I heard a few moments' 'clicking' on his transmitter. He was inquiring of his assistant in the Isle of Wight what sort of weather they were having at Totland Bay. In a few moments he handed me a reply message stating that the weather was 'cold but fine.' At the same time he remarked: 'I am glad to have been able to demonstrate in so unexpected a manner the superiority of my form of telegraphy. You see, I am independent of fog and snow or any of the other elements which go to make the English weather.'"

It was, indeed, one of the first illustrations of the triumph of "wireless."

Dickens as a Reporter

Mr. J. D. Irvine, one of the best known London journalists, has just retired from the press gallery of the British house of commons after thirty years' service. In the course of some reminiscences he tells that when he first entered the gallery, he came into contact with a chief reporter who had had Charles Dickens on his staff. The chief had a very poor opinion of the novelist, and in supercilious tones, used to say—"He was a very poor reporter; but I believe the silly fool made money by writing books."

SOME INFORMATION ABOUT EVERGREENS

How to Tell the Different Varieties of Pine—the White a Giant Tree

To the observer and lover of Nature, the pine trees of Canada give infinite delight. From one end of the country to the other, they adorn the fields, the woodlands, and many a lofty hilltop. When many other trees of the forest are stripped of their glory, these claiming all seasons for their own, provide evergreen foliage which protects the weary traveler from the hot suns of summer and the stormy blasts of winter.

The pines stand among us as representatives of an ancient race. They were known in Bible times, being mentioned in Sacred Scripture. There are several species of pine. Amongst the most important is the White pine, which grows to a height of about 200 feet, attaining an age of from two to three hundred years. From the stem of this tall tree project large branches, from which spring smaller ones, bearing the twigs, on the end of which are tassels, composed of green needle-shaped leaves of a feathery lightness and arranged in clusters of five. This tree flowers in the spring, and the fruit ripens into long, slender, woody cones within two years. The cones appear either in pairs or several together, and are found projecting horizontally from the branches, to which they often cling for several years. In color they are green at first, but later become brown, eventually falling, to remain for many years unchanged on the ground.

Beneath the scale of the cone, when opened wide we find nestled at the base two little seeds in twin boxes each provided with a little wing so that it can sail off with the wind to find a place to grow. The pine is one of the most useful trees, providing us as it does with the material for our homes.

Though found in poor soils, and in the same localities, the Red or Norway pine, is less common and less valuable than the white pine. It grows to a height of about 150 feet, having a large diameter, and can be easily recognized by its reddish bark. The long, slender needles, which grow in pairs, are half-round, and are more or less covered with a glaucous bloom. The wood of the Red pine is used extensively for interior building purposes. This variety is valuable for planting as a landscape tree on account of its beauty of foliage and rapidity of growth.

Amongst the most valuable and best known of our native conifers is the Pitch pine. It usually grows to a height of 80 feet. The bark of the trunk has scales like the covering of an alligator. The color of the foliage is lighter than the White pine; the needles are stiff and coarse and in bundles of three; the cones are large and very much broader than those of the White pine, the scale being armed with a stout, sharp spike at the middle of the outer margin. The cones remain on the tree after the winged seeds have been shed, so that one of the easiest ways of recognizing the tree is to look for these broad, short cones hanging from the older branches.

The Grey, or Jack pine, is a small tree quickly distinguished from its neighbors by a dark reddish bark upon the trunk, and gray-green foliage clustered on short branches, giving a sombre aspect to the tree. After the seeds have been scattered from them the small, short cones cling for several years to the branches. Under adverse conditions of soil and moisture the Jack pine is very hardy and thrifty.

The pines, which are the harps of the lonely places, are very susceptible to the wind. When stirred by the breezes, they send forth strains of music which delight the ear. When in a meditative mood there is no place more luring than a fragrant piny wood, filled with the musical undertone of its own soft and low murmurings, for securing that quietness, so essential as a preparation for the incoming of high and noble thought.

Setting aside the economic value of the pines their magnificent beauty should alone render them worthy of protection and preservation. Therefore we should use all our influence to save them from destruction, and should see that no tree is needlessly sacrificed.

NEW INSECT IS DISCOVERED

Looks Like an Aeroplane and Lives Only a Few Days

A new insect, which has only recently been discovered, was shown at the exhibition of the Royal Society at London.

It was named the protura, and it is barely discernible with the naked eye, but when viewed under a microscope it has a striking resemblance to a monoplane. The protura is extremely rare and there are only a few existing specimens in the world.

Of its activities nothing is known so far, beyond that it lives on decayed vegetables and that its span of life does not extend beyond three days.

NEWSY COLLECTION BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Some of the Events That Have Been Recorded in England, Ireland and Scotland

Mr. Foster Coates, who became a clerk with the old Ulster Railway in 1854, and rose to be managing director of the Great Northern Railway of Ireland, died in Belfast, at the age of eighty-five.

Bad Church-going Reputation

Speaking at a Berwick presentation the Rev. J. Scott Morrison, Scottish Church minister, said he knew of no community where churches were so badly attended by men, women and children as in Berwick.

Land Agent Fired at

Mr. Richard Maunsell, a well known local agent, was fired at while driving into Ennis, county Clare, and wounded on the top of the head. The outrage is attributed to a dispute about herdsmen.

Mill Tragedy

A terrible accident occurred at Messrs. Robinson's saw mills, Armagh, resulting in the death of Mr. Wm. Mann, manager of the firm. While descending a ladder after winding a clock over the shafting, the tails of Mr. Mann's coat caught in the machinery, and he was immediately drawn in. He was whirled around and almost dashed to pieces, his skull being fractured, both arms broken, and his legs and body badly torn.

Well Kown Surgeon

Sir Henry Rosborough Swanzy, a former president of the Royal College of Surgeons of Ireland, died at his residence in Dublin after a few days' illness. The deceased, who was seventy years of age, was one of Ireland's best known doctors. He was an eye and ear specialist, and was president of the Ophthalmological Society of the United Kingdom in 1897 and 1898. He was created a knight in 1907.

Lioness at Large

A lioness, belonging to a menagerie visiting Athy, escaped from her cage and gave the attendants an anxious time while they surrounded the animal in the tent with boards and other articles. A woman connected with the show with a revolver succeeded in subduing the lioness by firing blank shots whenever there were signs of bad temper. Before the animal was got back to the cage she mauled a pony, which had to be destroyed.

Saved by Killing Another

Robert Paxton, sixty-two, carpenter, was killed in Leven Shipyard, Dumbarton, under remarkable circumstances. While James M'Robbie, twenty-six, joiner, was working on the glass roof of a shed he fell through to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. He alighted on Paxton's head, fracturing the man's skull and causing almost instantaneous death. M'Robbie sustained only slight injuries.

Chivalry of Boy Scouts

The Marchioness of Tullibardine, speaking at the Scout Craft Exhibition in the Music Hall, Edinburgh, said she thought the knights of the Middle Ages had handed on the torch of chivalry to the boy scouts, and it was for them, with their ideals of politeness to women and their daily search for opportunities of being helpful, to keep that torch burning brightly and to grow up fearless and of stainless honor.

Nightingale's Comrade

The death took place at the Hospital of St. John and Elizabeth, Grove End, St. John's Wood, of Mother Stanislaus Jones, one of the community of Sisters of Mercy at the institution. She was ninety years of age, and was the last survivor of the band of Sisters of Mercy who accompanied Miss Florence Nightingale to the Crimea in 1854 to minister to the sufferings of the sick and wounded. In 1897 Queen Victoria conferred upon her the Order of the Royal Red Cross.

A "Penniless" Gentleman

For breaking two windows in the office of a local solicitor, James Albert [illegible], gentleman, was, at Berwick, fined $2.50, and ordered to pay $2.50 damages. Defendant stated that he was penniless, and that the solicitor held a policy on his life which he wanted in view of his financial condition. The solicitor said that the policy belonged to defendant's wife, and defendant received a weekly allowance sufficient for his maintenance.

Child's Fearful Experience

A six-year-old girl, daughter of a laborer named Charles Craig, of Ardmore, near Limavady, had an alarming experience, and narrowly escaped a fearful death. When playing with her sisters near the sluice at the Walk Mills she fell into the mill pond and was carried through a large pipe almost to the wheel of the mill, which was in motion at the time. Fortunately, when almost touching the wheel, her foot caught and held her fast. Her little sister raised the alarm, and the girl was extricated by some of the mill hands in a semi-conscious state.

Doctor's Opinion of Diabetes Cure

Believes No Remedy So Effective As SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES.

In the treatment of Diabetes Mellitus we distinguish between remedies for the disease itself, and those for complications which may arise. Within the last few years numerous preparations, promising complete cures, have made their appearance, but none of them have been able to reduce, or even eliminate sugar secretions as effectually as SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES. This preparation is successfully applied in cases where sugar remains in spite of a diet free of carbo-hydrates. Experience has proven that this remedy has caused no bad effects, whatever.

The above paragraph is made up of extracts from a written statement of one of the most eminent physicians on the [illegible]. We strongly request anyone suffering from this dreaded disease to write to us for a copy of his letter. We can also send testimonials from some of the most prominent people in nearly any town in Canada who think it a privilege to be able to recommend a medicine which brings such relief to any person who has suffered like themselves.

This remedy is manufactured by the Sanol Manufacturing Company, of Winnipeg.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholy, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strong people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure, and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4939, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

MAN AND WIFE FIGHT A DUEL

Tragedy Follows Jealousy in the Fencing-room of a Moscow Institution

Great excitement was caused in Moscow by a fatal duel between a man and his wife. Nadja Putekin was the wife of a fencing-master, and was herself exceedingly clever with the foils. She had won the first prize in a fencing competition, and this fact made the fencing institute that she and her husband ran more popular than ever. Expert fencers considered it a great honor to have a few bouts with the beautiful swordswoman. The harmony between Putekin and his clever wife was disturbed by the appearance of an officer in the fencing-room. The officer paid more attention to the woman than her husband liked. The fencing-master became jealous, and at last the officer challenged him to a duel. A remarkable thing now happened. When the fencing-master arranged with the officer's seconds he received a visit from other seconds who had been sent by his wife. The woman considered that she had been insulted by her husband's behaviour and sent him a challenge. She insisted that he should fight with her before his meeting with the officer. At first the fencing-master was not inclined to accept the challenge, but he eventually accepted it in the hope that it would lead to a reconciliation between them. But instead of the reconciliation a tragedy resulted. Putekin faced his wife, and the order "Allez!" was given. The wife attacked fiercely, but the husband drew back, contenting himself with parrying the lunges and letting it be seen that he was not fighting earnestly. While it was clear to the spectators of the duel that Putekin had no thought of wounding his wife she fought with only one object in view—to vanquish her husband. In the third bout she sprang upon him and plunged her weapon in his breast. It was the end of the fencing-master.

Masked Intruder Caught

A struggle in the night with a masked man was described in Widnes Police Court, where Joseph Jackson was remanded on a charge of burglary. Mr. Hughes, a householder, was roused from sleep by his wife and saw a man in the bedroom rifling a dressing-table drawer. He immediately jumped out of bed and gripped the man by the throat. A struggle ensued, and Mr. Hughes pinned the intruder against the wall until help arrived. The man, who proved to be Jackson, was wearing a large black mask.

The Cat and the Pigeons

A novel small debt action decided in Hamilton by Sheriff Shennan involved a claim for damages for alleged loss sustained through a cat entering a loft and killing several pigeons. The sheriff, in dismissing the action, stated that the best fed cats are frequently keenest sportsmen. It was preposterous to hold that the cat owner was under the obligation to so control it as to prevent it from killing birds. The pigeon owner must guard against hawks, rats, weasels, or such animals, as well as against cats, and if he caught a cat in "flagrante delicto" he had the right to treat it as he would treat a rat or weasel.

In his annual report as school medical officer for Cardiganshire, Dr. E. W. Rees stated that clogs are almost universal among infants and girls, and produce injurious effects by hampering the movements and development of the body and counteract the beneficial effects of organized physical exercises. Clogs are not often worn by the children. They are undoubtedly the best footgear for country children, the report said, and should be more generally adopted.

The Tramp's Tale

A tramp called upon a pronounced advocate of woman's right. His tale was a very plausible one, but did not seem to meet with much sympathy.

"Why don't you go to work?" asked the lady.

"Please, ma'am," explained the beggar, "I made a solemn vow ten years ago that I would never do another stroke of work till women were paid the same wages as men."

He was taken in. So was she.

Life for a Cat

Ernest Ellis, mate of the Hull trawler Sea Horse, who was drowned during the week-end voyage, gave his life to save the ship's pet cat. The cat had climbed into a precarious position over the side of the vessel, and Ellis went after it to rescue it. The skipper leaned over to drag him back, and both fell into the water. The skipper was rescued, but Ellis was drowned. He leaves a widow and a young child.

Cruel Rabbit Coursing

Three colliers were fined by the Ystrad magistrates for cruelty to rabbits in a coursing match. A police sergeant stated that the box in which eight rabbits were confined was surrounded by about twenty dogs "barking and yelling." When a rabbit was put down it was too terrified to move, and had to be pushed away. Two dogs were released and caught the rabbit, which they dragged about until a man from the crowd took it from them and killed it.

"MAK' IT PILLS"

How a Shrewd Doctor Knew His Patient Was a Miser

Curious habits of the Aberdeen miser, George Anderson, were described in the Court of Session, Edinburgh, during the hearing of the action by his brother to have the old man's will reduced. A witness said the room in which Anderson lived was very dirty, and she would not have put a dog in the bed. He had a pair of blankets, but they were like coal-bags. When he left his belongings were put in half a dozen sacks, which appeared to contain rubbish, and the room had to be disinfected. According to a neighbor Anderson said he had not much money and he did not know how long he would live. He used to collect cigarette and cigar ends and all sorts of rubbish. He would bring home skins, bones, and potato parings from ash buckets, and when asked what he was going to do with them he said they made grand "tattie soup." With crusts of bread gathered in the same way he made "breadberry," but used buttermilk instead of sweet milk. A cat or dog would not have looked at the crusts he ate. For the defence evidence was given that Anderson had nothing mentally abnormal about him, and that he was shrewd and intelligent in regard to business affairs and investments. His doctor thought Anderson was a sane man. He had an eccentricity: he had a great deal to say about himself; but there were "plenty of other men like that." Anderson, it was stated, had the air of a country-bred man who had been a servant in a good family. But he was a miser of a man. The doctor knew that because when he said to him, "Well, Mr. Anderson, I'll give you a mixture," Anderson would reply, "You couldna mak' it pills?" The reason for the question was that the pills might cost a penny and the mixture would cost a shilling.

News has been received from Southern Nigeria of a remarkable discovery just made by Mr. P. Amaury Talbot, a District Commissioner, of what is known as the "Sacred Lake of Life," on which, according to popular belief, the existence of a hundred thousand people depends.

When, some months ago, Mr. Talbot returned from extensive travels in unknown parts of Nigeria, he announced as one of the most interesting discoveries the finding of the Lake of the Dead in the Oban country. This he visited after great difficulty, and in spite of the fact that porters and carriers refused to proceed to the dreaded spot. The scene about the lake, he said, was full of mystery and dread. The surface of the water was absolutely still, and spread about were [illegible] high bushes, bearing what looked like great tufts of crimson flowers. These, however, proved to be nests of tree frogs. The place was a sanctuary for all wild things, for no hunter would dare to penetrate the bush by this fearsome place. Hither, the natives believed, came by night the ghosts of long dead Efiks, to drift in sad companies, hopeless and wailing, over the surface of the water. On Mr. Talbot's return to Nigeria he found that the news of the discovery of the Lake of the Dead had brought to light the fact that another sheet of water to which mysterious powers were ascribed existed in the neighborhood of Ikot-Obo, the chief town of the Ibibios, and one afternoon Mr. Talbot and Mr. [illegible], accompanied by Mrs. Talbot and her sister, set out to endeavor to locate it.

Hitherto the knowledge of the lake had been kept a jealously guarded secret from all Europeans, and not even the natives, with the exception of the high priests, had been allowed to approach the sacred water—the dwelling-place of the greatest deity of the race. Access to the lake was through a sacred grove so cunningly contrived that a stranger might pass within a few yards, yet never find the holy pool. Mr. Talbot and his party, guided to the spot, found that the water was full of great fish, on the welfare of which depended the life of the Ibibio race. The fish were so tame that they fed from the hand of the reigning high priest, the only native human being allowed to look upon the water. Formerly many victims were annually sacrificed here, though at the present day human life was not permitted to be taken.

Countless legends had grown up round the spot. It was said to be placed by its first guardian, the Thunder God, under the care of a python and a leopard, who ceaselessly kept watch and ward, and destroyed anyone rash enough to seek to penetrate its mysteries. It is especially sacred as the dwelling-place of the most powerful Deity—the Great Mother—whose symbol is a holy rock facing the entrance. Near by the travellers found a second pool ancillary to the lake itself. In the centre of this is a palm tree, near which, in the water, are stationed a man, a girl, and a boy, who bear the name of the goddess, as they were granted to the parents in direct answer to prayer.

A Frenchman Thinks He Can Make the Trip in Two Days

A stir was caused by a paper read before the members of the French Physical Society, Paris, by Robert Esnault Pelterie, the brilliant young engineer, on how to get from the earth to the moon in forty-eight hours. M. Pelterie insists that his idea is practicable, based on scientific calculations, and not reminiscent of Jules Verne's romance. The vehicle for first travellers to the moon will, he says, be a closed vessel of extreme lightness, provided with a motor of great power, a combination which the astonishing advances of locomotion during the past one hundred years brings well into sight.

Since there is no atmosphere in the space between our planet and the moon no system of propellers would be of any use, and the only possible means of driving the vehicle forward would be an adaptation of the rocket principle, which, he says, works as well in a vacuum as in air.

The motor then would work a kind of continuous rocket, and M. Pelterie has made calculations of just how much power the engine must have to carry the vehicle along at the 240,000 odd miles between the earth and its satellite.

For a vehicle weighing one ton the motor would have to be of 414,000 horse-power. For added weight the horse-power must be proportionately increased. When this combination was realized the journey would be divided into three parts. The first would be to drive the vehicle with increasing speed until the sphere of the earth's attraction was passed. During the second the vehicle would continue its journey by inertia until it reached the point where the moon's attraction began, while the third would be the simple matter of dropping on the latter's surface, no motive force being necessary.

The first of these phases, according to the lecturer, would last 24 minutes and 9 seconds; the second phase, 48 hours and 5 minutes; the third, 8 minutes and 46 seconds, giving a total of [illegible] hours, 17 minutes 55 seconds.

During the first 4,000 miles, he says, the passengers would have the sensation of weighing one-tenth more than usual, but afterward they would cease to weigh at all and have the sensation of falling indefinitely into space.

To remedy the bad physical effects which might result from these phenomena, special appliances, says M. Pelterie, might be installed.

Refreshing Sleep

A glass or two of the "Beer That Builds" at bed time, will bring restful, refreshing sleep. The tired business man—the woman who is nervous and run-down—will find this tonic and food most beneficial. Rich in food value—easily digested—and extra mild.

Shorthand Notes, It is Learned, Cover the Ten Years of the Great Methodist's Life.

In the old strong room in City Road, London, England, where the Wesleyan Methodist book room keeps the archieves of nearly two centuries of Methodism, the Rev. Nehemiah Curnock, editor of the new official edition of John Wesley's Journals, has made a surprising discovery of Wesley manuscripts. The chief of these is a diary in shorthand covering the greater part of the last ten years of Wesley's life.

This dairy has been hidden in the last pages of a little book known as "Wesley's Last Account Book," and until Mr. Curnock re-examined it no one suspected that the hieroglyphics at the end were priceless notes written by Wesley himself in his old age. Mr. Curnock is the discoverer of the key to the cipher in which John Wesley wrote his early journals.

This last account book, which Wesley closed on July 16, 1790, also contains the shorthand diary from 1782 to 1790 which has now been discovered. The book shows in minute detail how the old man, almost to the very last, kept his accounts [illegible], ending the record with the often quoted sentence, written with a tremulous hand, "I will not attempt it any longer, being satisfied with the continual conviction that I save all I can, and give as I can, that is, all I have."

Oldest Church Treasurer

Mr. Robert Smellie, the world's church treasurer, died at Langholm in his ninety-fourth year. He had been treasurer of Langholm Free Church since the Disruption in 1843, and had collected money for the Free Church cause before the Disruption. He had been treasurer of the church for seventy years.

Swimming in Porter

At Ladyswell Brewery, Cork, a vat of porter, with a capacity of 800 barrels of thirty-six gallons, burst, the contents rushing like a flood through the brewery yard and into the cellars. A workman had a narrow escape and had to swim through the engulfing liquid.

Time Limit for Marriage

In connection with an order made by the [illegible] Rural District Council that a laborer should leave his cottage if he did not marry within a month, an amusing letter was read at the last meeting protesting that it was not possible to find a suitable partner within the time limit, and asking any ladies of the Board, "young or middle-aged," to [illegible] up their minds to marry in a month.

Bright, Ruddy Cheeks For Pale Girls

NO LONGER ANY NEED TO BE PALE, WEAK OR ANAEMIC.

By Following the Advice of Miss McEwen You Can Quickly Become Strong Again.

The pallid girl always lacks appetite. What little she eats is badly digested.

At night she is restless, she dozes, but doesn't sleep soundly.

Vital force must be increased, new blood must be supplied and a general rebuilding take place before she will feel like she ought.

Dr. Hamilton has invaluable experience in these cases and found nothing so prompt in building up young women as his vegetable pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills begin by cleansing the system and purifying the blood; they also improve digestion and render food ready for absorption. Additional nourishment is quickly supplied and the patient is thus strengthened and invigorated.

Full of spirit, ready and strong is the girl that assists her system by the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The following recent letter from Miss Rita McEwen, of Haliburton, speaks for itself:

"In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills I find my system is wonderfully built up. It is certainly the most effective remedy I ever used. I have now a good appetite, sleep more soundly, and awaken in the morning feeling quite refreshed.

"Formerly I felt tired and depressed. I looked as if a severe illness were hanging over my head.

"Nothing could give quicker results than Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I strongly advise every young woman to use them."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

A CORRECTION

In our issue of yesterday a sad blunder we made in our report of the Lindsay-Peterborough Collegiate game. This was a mistake on the part of one of our operators. It should have read Peterborough 3; Lindsay 1.

Peterborough County Man Hurt.

Mr. John Burrison, of Roseneath, has received a telegram notifying him of a serious accident which befell his son, Archie, who has been in Saskatchewan for a year or more. Archie was badly scalded when an engine exploded and the request was made that Mr. and Mrs. Burrison come at once.

An Old Local Bigamy

Thirty years ago from this week, Mr. Thomas Irwin, described in the press of those days as "a gay and festive old codger," married one wife in Ashburnham and another in Lindsay. A warrant was sworn out by the Ashburnham mother-in-law, but Irwin had left town for parts unknown.

An Old Time Civic Row

At the town council of Peterborough, held 30 years ago from yesterday, Councillor Dunn accused Councillor Sawers of "having gone to Cavanagh's Hotel and endeavoring to get a mob to clean out the Council at one of its meetings." Mr. Sawers denied it. Taxcollectors said the charge was true and he could bring proof. Councillor Sawers accused the two former speakers of pulling together.

Police Court News.

At yesterday's police court Robert Kearney, charged with using bad language toward Albert Legros was fined $4.00. Michael Fallon, charged with being drunk, was placed on the black list. Arthur Donaldson pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk in a public place, and was assessed the usual $2. "Give me time to get it?" asked the prisoner. "You should think of these things before," remarked his worship in making the fine payable forthwith.

Another Pea-Shooter Accident.

A pea-shooter came near being the cause of a fatality yesterday. Little Frederick Meagher, the 18-months-old little son of P. C. Meagher, was playing with a pea-shooter in his mouth, and he suddenly fell, the tin instrument running back in his throat. The lining was torn off the throat and the roof of his mouth deeply gashed. Two doctors were summoned and the cuts were sewn up. This is the second similar accident here recently.

Indian Bones Found.

The last old and sadly discolored remnants of members of an almost bygone race were discovered yesterday on the Vermont Marble Co. premises. James Conroy, whilst digging, found six skulls and other human bones. The bones were found buried two feet below the surface about fifty yards from Little Lake. The bones had evidently been interred many years ago.

Street Car Conductors

Local street car conductors do not have to jump off their respective cars and plough through the mud at the Grand Trunk crossing on Charlotte street, to see if a train has left Fraserville or Lakefield. The system of gates and warnings prevent this delay. At the C.P.R. crossing they have to follow the old plan, possibly owing to the proximity of that crossing to the bridge and the immense traffic at that spot. Possibly when the new freight shed is in operation this will be unnecessary as the C.P.R. has on George street the last word in gates.

Attempted Canine Suicide

On Sunday afternoon Messrs. R. Hay and John (N Sy) Palmer took a walk to the new dock to see the steamer Niobe. On the edge of the dock sat an ayrdale terrier. The dog suddenly let out a yelp and jumped into the cold and wet river. It is not known whether the dog saw its reflection in the river or was simply attempting suicide. Anyhow the cold water caused it to give it courage. Mr. Palmer, with [illegible] difficulty got the poor creature out. It was too cold even to give the usual shaking that besprinkles bystanders. Another dog that seemed to have the [illegible] characteristics of Dachshund, Russian Wolf hound and King Charles spaniel showed its evident sympathy by [illegible] licking (not in Italy [illegible]) distress.

Yesterday a typical John Bull here in [illegible] and a local business man who was born [illegible] Hastings and who is as good a British subject as any true Canadian. Mr. John Bull, in speaking of the Mexican decision as bearing on the Mexican [illegible] remarked, "The United States has lost its power and prestige in international affairs." The man from Hastings, assuming a straight face, replied, "Oh, how did America get her independence? Some 300 [illegible] their [illegible] after the Boston Tea Party and chased the British Army into the Sea." The Englishman, [illegible]

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 29th, 1913

IN THESE "MILL-ENDS" OF DRESS GOODS THERE IS GREAT SAVING AT $1.25 AN END

To buy good things cheap is the motto of economy that hangs in every home. And to produce good things cheaply is the aim of every manufacturer in Canada. But there are ways, as everyone knows, by which it is possible to buy good things cheaper than usual; and one of these ways, in buying dress goods, is to buy "Mill Ends." In the first place, these Ends are sold cheaply at the mill, yet they are of sound quality, being pieces from the finished bolts of regular cloths. Those for sale on Wednesday comprise heavy wool reversible coatings, tweed and worsted suitings, and plain and fancy dress fabrics. The lighter weight goods vary in length from 3½ to 4 yards, while there are some splendid coatings and suitings that are 1½ to 2 yards long. Knowing as we do, the value of these goods when bought by the yard, we do not hesitate to say that $1.25 seldom buys such sterling worth; for they would cost anything from $2.50 to $4.00 in the ordinary way. Thus we would point out to you, the advantage of buying Mill Ends in the Annex.

Health and Beauty Helps

By Mrs. Mae Martyn

Twenty-Two: I am convinced that the lifeless, aged appearance of your skin is the result of using powder to excess. A plain spurmax lotion is an excellent skin cleanser, beautifier and tonic. This is made at home by dissolving four ounces spurmax in one-half pint hot water (or witch hazel), then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine. This spurmax lotion does not give to the complexion that "powdered" appearance. It brings out the natural health-tone, banishes the shine of the oily, sallow, "muddy" condition and insures a perfect complexion. This lotion will not spot nor blow off and seems part of the skin.

A. L.: The delatone treatment for hairy growths is quite harmless and rarely is more than one application required. Mix a little powdered delatone with water and apply to the objectionable hairs, then after two or three minutes rub it off, and the hairs come with it. Washing the skin leaves it firm and free from blemish.

Dolly: Your itchy scalp can be relieved and cured, as well as the falling hair, by the use of a quinine tonic which at least a dozen of my personal friends are using and making at home from an ounce of quinzoin dissolved in a half pint of alcohol, to which should be added a half pint of water. They use this regularly by massaging into the roots of the hair and they claim the itching stops immediately and the tonic improves the growth of the hair and helps nature make it beautiful and healthy.

Gertrude: I am sure you are wrong [illegible]

[illegible] fat. Make up and take this simple reducer and your weight will soon be just where you want it: Dissolve four ounces parnotis in one and one-half pints hot water; when it cools strain and take a tablespoonful before meals. This parnotis reducer acts quickly, is quite harmless, and entirely satisfactory results are quickly attained.

Hortense: Indeed, you can easily cure that tired, depressed feeling, which is accompanied [illegible] such a sallow condition of the face. They are caused by sluggish blood (very common in the fall months) which is not properly eliminating the poisons from the system. Try this blood purifier and tonic: Into one-half pint alcohol (whisky must not be used) pour one ounce kardene, then add one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take one tablespoonful of this old-fashioned blood cleanser and tonic before each meal. This is splendid for that weak, worn feeling and restores the kidneys to normal action and the blood to a healthy condition. Its timely use will save much serious sickness.

Olive: Yes, I know a sure cure for wrinkles which can be cheaply made at home. I mix one ounce almozoin with one-half pint cold water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir and let stand for one day. To remove or prevent wrinkles, apply this vegetable cream-jelly thickly and massage thoroughly. At night leave the face covered with the cream. You will find nothing to equal almozoin jelly-cream to remove wrinkles and keep them away and it contains no oil or fat which might promote hair growth. You will also notice by its use not only your wrinkles disappearing, but the large pores of the entire face getting much smaller and the skin very soft and velvety.

Lucy: You want to brighten and strengthen your eyes and can easily do so by using this plain eyebrow [illegible]

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, constipated, bilious, stomach sour, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

Judging by a Madoc Review fish story concerning a local catch all the disciples of Ananias do not live in Peterborough. There are others!

No, Sadie, the nursery for local [illegible] is not called a "Seminarium." It is on the "Jagtonium," located just north of the Registry office.

The skull of a long since deceased Indian now decorates the editorial department of a local contemporary. Look out for some hot stuff from that paper now.

No, Sadie, the gang of men working on Park, north of Water street, are not digging for oil. They are putting in new bridges and the present interruption of street car traffic will be ended this week.

No, Sadie, boys are not allowed to ride bicycles on the sidewalks of back streets. [illegible]

No, Sadie, it is not the fault of the hens that eggs sell here at 35 cents a dozen. The average hen is as patient and hard working as were our grandmothers when they tackled the woodpile with a [illegible] axe.

CHOICE BAIT WAS PUT OUT TO SECURE BRITISH FUNDS

Prospectus Stated That the Concern Was Doing Biggest Business in Canada

"The history of the company has been one of unexampled progress. It has secured more business in Canada during the past eight years and has a larger number of policies in force in Canada than any other Canadian life assurance company, either ordinary or industrial."

Toronto, Oct. 28.—The prospectus by which the stock issue of the Union Life was advertised in Great Britain is a mass of anomalies. It exhibited in big black letters the above paragraph.

Evidence of glaring mis-management and frenzied financing to keep alive the allied companies, the National Agency and the Union Life Assurance Company at the Crown investigation into the conditions by Referee Kappele to-day. Obvious "kiting" of debentures and securities to pad the assets, yet representing little or no real money was adduced by Mr. C. A. Masten, K.C., who delved deeply into the conditions leading up to the reason for the prospectus prepared to induce British investors to come to the aid of the almost defunct institution. Whether or not a criminal investigation will later be held is a matter of question that lies in the hands of the Superintendent of Insurance at Ottawa.

Boosting Assets.

The net results of the transaction by which the Union Life Assurance Company obtained the debentures of the Stratford Loan and Savings Co. was to enable the Union Life to show among its assets the debentures of the Stratford Loan.

"The transaction did not mean any real money to the Union Life" asked Mr. Masten.

Mr. Symonds admitted it did not, but stated that the object in acquiring the debentures was to add to the company's assets and make its position square with the Department of Insurance.

The National Agency, he stated, during 1909, did not get in any real money for the Union Life. The sources of revenue that had been drawn upon since the company's inception in 1909, were dried up, except the ordinary domestic revenue, premiums and interest on securities. The extraordinary revenue acquired from the National Agency by premiums on capital stock no longer existed.

New Source of Supply.

It became necessary to seek a new source of supply for the continued life of the Union Life and the management authorized Mr. Symonds to visit London with a view to disposing of an issue of debentures of the National Agency, but the form the flotation eventually took was an issue of stock of the Union Life.

Mr. Symonds explained that he had another object in going to London, to satisfy the Board of Directors of the National Agency, of which he was then president, that the valuation of the shares of the Union Life held by the Agency was justified.

Mr. Symonds explained that Mr. Edward A. Rusher, F.I.A., F.S.S., actuary of the Prudential Assurance Company, had told him that the method in England was to take as an asset moneys spent in establishing the business. When the cost of establishing the company was included there was no deficit.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Cloudy and a little cooler.

WILL FIGHT RATHER THAN LOSE RIGHTS

Captain Craig Rejects the Olive Branch Held Out by Sir E. Grey.

London, Oct. 28.—Ulster stalwarts as expected scoff at the notion that they will accept a settlement on the basis already outlined in these cablegrams, and yesterday publicly propounded by Sir Edward Grey, namely, full autonomy for Protestants in Ulster on education, police and kindred matters, while preserving an united Irish Parliament in Dublin. Captain Craig, M.P., declared: "We always said, we say again, we refuse to have anything to do with a Parliament in Dublin. Our Parliament is at Westminster. What have we done to forfeit our rights as free subjects of the King? We will fight rather than yield that heritage."

These first thoughts may, however, be moderated by a fuller appreciation of the extent of concessions to Protestant Ulster.

FOREIGNERS TO BE TAXED IN FRANCE

London, Oct. 28.—The increase in the defence expenditures in France is expected to compel the Government to implement the proposed law to tax the [illegible] of all foreign residents in France. Canadians living in France, whose incomes exceed 5,000 francs will thus help to pay additional £19,000,000, which the three years' service act is estimated to cost.

HON. DR. ROCHE TAKES PRACTICAL STEPS TO PRESERVE OUR FORESTS

Minister of Interior Taking Great Interest in Problem and Has Established a Practical Laboratory

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—Hon. Dr. Roche, Minister of Interior, has given since he became Minister careful attention to the development of his department so that it can be made more useful to the general public. One branch to which he has given special attention is the forestry work.

The prime object of forestry is to manage the forests and the products so as to reproduce them and to use them as efficiently and as economically as possible. For this purpose provision is being made within the jurisdiction of the department for the protection of the forests from fire, for the elimination of waste in lumbering operations and for educating public opinion to co-operate in these objects.

Laboratory Established.

To completely fulfill the objects of forestry it is necessary to go further and investigate the possibilities of conserving our forests by reducing waste in manufacture, by prolonging the life of forest products used in construction and developing uses for products now wasted for the lack of knowledge as to how they may be employed. Keeping this object in view Hon. Dr. Roche has had established a Dominion Forests Products laboratory, with A. G. McIntyre, a well-known expert in charge.

Such work has already been carried on in Germany and other European countries. Four years ago a laboratory and investigating staff was established by the United States forest service at Madison, Wisconsin, in co-operation with the University of Wisconsin for investigations of this nature. The work has appealed strongly to the manufacturers who have given it every encouragement.

Practical Research.

The Forests Products Laboratories are laboratories of practical research. The purpose might be summed up in the following terms:

1. To secure authoritative information on the characteristic mechanical and physical properties of commercial woods and products secured from them.

2. To study and develop the fundamental principles underlying the preservative treatment of wood, its use for the production of fiber products.

3. To develop practical ways and means of using wood which, under present conditions is being wasted.

4. To serve as a public bureau of information on the properties and utilization of forest products.

5. To co-operate with consumers of forest products in improving present methods of use.

Better Utilization.

The work carried on at the Forest Products Laboratories leads to a better utilization of our forest resources, viz:

1st—Finding more efficient methods of manufacture of woods.

2nd—The elimination or utilization of the wastes of manufacturing and logging.

3rd—Finding use for woods not now commercially useful from a study of their mechanical and physical properties.

4th—Finding better use for woods now used to make the lower grade commodities.

5th—Looking for Canadian woods to substitute for imported woods either in their natural state or after treatment.

6th—Studying and developing the fundamental principles underlying the treatment of wood in its use in the manufacture of fiber products—alcohol, turpentine, resin, tar, etc.

7th—Serving as a public bureau of information on the properties and utilization of forest products.

8th—Co-operating with consumers of forest products in improving present methods of use and formulating specifications and grading rules for commercial woods, materials secured from them (such as gums, oils, resin, etc.), and materials used in the treatment of wood (creosote, zinc chloride and other preservatives).

LEGAL BOARD MET LAST NIGHT

Two Small Claims For Damages Settled--No Action Re C. E. Adams' Threat to Sue

The City's Legal Committee met last night with Ald. Gordon presiding. There were also present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Johnston, [illegible], G. Walter Green.

On advice of the City Solicitor, the city recognizes its liability for the accident to J. [illegible], who fell into an open sewer on Charlotte street, and will settle for damages up to $140. The [illegible] of the sewer work is considered by the Council to have been [illegible] in not having had the opening covered or protected.

Mrs. Katherine [illegible]'s (Keene) claim for damages by reason of having been thrown out of her rig on Hunter street, has been settled to the amount of $[illegible].

C. E. Adams, of East City, was present and stated that he considered the [illegible] his property on Maria street had been practically cut off by the railway siding to the Vermont Marble Company; he considered he was entitled to $500 damages. Mr. Adams threatened legal proceedings.

To the Mayor, Mr. Adams admitted that he had seen the plans of the siding before it was laid and had made no objection thereto.

Ald. [illegible] pointed out that the engineer of the Dominion Railway Board had advised him that the curve of the railway siding complained of by Mr. Adams is the only one possible for practical use, and would have to stay there.

On motion of Ald. Green and the Mayor, this committee will make no recommendation to Council in regard to Mr. Adams' claim. The Committee had on a previous occasion recommended that no action be taken, which recommendation Council adopted.

PRINCE ARTHUR AND CANADIAN CLUB

London, Oct. 28.—Prince Arthur has written a charming letter ti the Canadian Club, expressing heartfelt thanks for the Clubs great kindness and generosity in presenting him with a wedding gift of two pianos. He says "I cannot but feel I owe this gift to the fact that I am the son of the Governor-General of Canada, and I deeply appreciate the fact you have not forgotten his son on such an eventful occasion. The Princess and I are great lovers of music. You could not have chosen a present which could have given us more pleasure."

GENEST THINKS SCHOOL ROW MAY BE SETTLED

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—Trustee Genest of the Separate School Board and leading bi-lingualism advocate, to-day suggested a conference of the Separate School Board, Premier Whitney and Hon. I. B. Lucas with a view of reaching a settlement in the present difficulty. Premier Whitney and Hon. I. B. Lucas are here attending the interprovincial conference.

It is understood to-day that the school board may suggest an extension of school hours with corresponding extension of time for teaching French as is done in parts of the Maritime Provinces.

Trustee Genest suggests a commission to fix the standard of qualification for all teachers and inspectors in Canada so that Ottawa Separate School may, if it so desires, secure Quebec teachers.

LABOR MEMBER THINKS THAT WOMEN WILL GET SUFFRAGE

Not in Accord With Pankhurst Methods Which He Says Are Unfortunate--Fought His Way to Prominence

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Mr. Tom Richardson, M.P., for Whitehaven, England, who will address the Toronto labor men on Friday in the Labor Temple, has arrived in Toronto. He is the son of a Durham miner, who has fought his way to the front. "I was born in Usworth, County Durham, in 1868," said Mr. Richardson, "and had little chance of getting an education. My father was a miner and I was the eldest of seven children. I went to school in Usworth until I was scarcely eleven years old and then I went into the mines along with my father.

"I became a member of the Miners' Union when I was 14 years old and am yet. In 1885 my father was one of the 42 miners killed in the explosion at the Usworth colliery, and I, a lad of 17, was compelled to feed my younger sisters and widowed mother.

Elected to Board.

"I was elected a member of the Executive Board of the Miners a year later and in 1892 the great strike was called and all the mines of the north country were closed down.

"That was the turning point in my life. I threw myself heart and soul into the work of emancipating the working class. I spent my efforts in trying to secure labor representation in politics as well as in industrial field.

"I was elected to the Usworth Rural District Council, which office I held for 17 years. Then I became a member of the Durham County Council. I have been connected with that body for 12 years.

"In 1910 the Labor Representation Committee asked me to contest Whitehaven in Cumberland. The seat had been Tory for 50 years with only two changes in that time. I was expected to fight for it with only six days to go before the election, and without any organization.

"Col. Jackson had been the member for many years and the Liberals had considered the seat a sure thing. None were more surprised than we miners were when the result showed a victory for us."

How about the suffragettes?

"The women will get the vote, there can be no doubt for that. The militant tactics adopted by the Pankhurst faction is unfortunate. I cannot agree to such methods."

OPPONENTS CLAIM BILINGUAL REGULATIONS ARE ILLEGAL

Trustee Genest Repeats Statement That Matter Will Go to Courts

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—In threatening to take the bi-lingual troubles to the Courts the French element on the Ottawa Separate School Board maintain that the regulations making English the language of communication and instruction are illegal and that the Provincial Government has no power to enforce them.

Trustee Genest, the leader of the French forces, claims the regulations are illegal on two grounds: First, because the action of the Legislature in passing them was in the form of a resolution, brought in an irregular manner in the dying hours of the session, when a third of the members were away and without the necessary notice having been given; and, second, the Ontario Government, in passing such regulations, is over-riding a higher power—the Dominion Government, which recognizes both languages.

Both Equal.

"While the British North American Act, at the time of Confederation, gave the Provinces the power to legislate with regard to education and to control it, it provided for the use of both the French and the English languages in official capacity by the Dominion Government," said Mr. Genest. "The natural inference was that both languages were to be on an equal plane throughout the country. Although no question was made as to language in the chapter relating to the control of education by the Provinces, it was implied that both were to be recognized when they were made official.

"Therefore, we contend that the Provincial Government is going over the head of the Dominion Government in attempting to deprive us of our language. It has not the power to do this, and hence the regulations are illegal and cannot be enforced.

"On these two grounds, therefore," declared Mr. Genest, "the regulations are illegal. And when they tell us that we are guilty of neglect and have broken our oath of office by resisting the enforcement of these regulations, tell them that they are guilty in the first place in passing them and that those who are themselves guilty of illegal action cannot prosecute us for refusing to obey their illegal measures.

"At the time of the fusion of the Provinces the Act of Confederation recognized the French-Canadian as the pioneer of the country and recognized his language, and in trying to force us to abandon our language Sir James Whitney is going contrary to that Act."

CONNAUGHT DYNASTY IN CANADA IS NOT CONSIDERED SERIOUSLY

Prince Arthur is Authoritatively Denied as Successor to Present Governor General

London, Oct. 28.—The Times reports what seems to Englishmen a somewhat surprising suggestion from Canada, that the Dukes of Connaught might be made hereditary Governor-General of Canada, founding a new dynasty and giving Canada practically a King. An authoritative person in the entourage of the Duke of Connaught was recently asked if Prince Arthur would be likely to act as Governor-General. He replied:—"Oh, no. That is out of the question. Some years hence perhaps a suggestion of that kind might be discussed."

The idea of a Connaught dynasty for Canada would raise so many new delicate matters affecting the person of the Sovereign and the whole constitutional basis of monarchy that it is most unlikely the subject will be seriously considered here.

What would be far less difficult to accomplish if Canada wished it, would be the adoption of Sir John A. Macdonald's conception of Canada as a kingdom directly under the Crown, Canadian Ministers being fully recognized as King's Ministers, and second only in status to the King's Ministers of the United Kingdom.

COMMITTING BIGAMY WITH GRANDNEPHEW

Mrs. Hattie Fountain is Placed Under Arrest—Is 39 Years of Age

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Hattie Fountain was arrested to-day by Detective Grigg on a charge of committing bigamy with her sister's grandson.

Mrs. Fountain's first husband, according to the police information, is a farmer of Peterlaw, Ont. Her second husband, according to the same information, is Nelson Godfrey, a carpenter of 130 Queen street east, who is said to be her grandnephew.

Mrs. Fountain is said to be thirty-nine years old and good looking, and Nelson Godfrey is 26 years old.

Chauffeur's Strike in New York Postal Dept. Becomes a Serious Affair

New York, Oct. 28.—Nearly a million pounds of mail were piled up in the post offices and railroad stations of New York early to-day as a result of the sudden strike of the chauffeurs of the Postal Transfer Service Corporation, which has the contract for the transfer of the U.S. mail in New York and which handles on the average upwards of 5,000,000 pounds of mail matter every day. The strike was begun at eight o'clock last night, and grew gradually until an early hour this morning all of the 125 motor trucks operated by the Postal Transfer Service had been deserted. The motive was said to be to force recognition of the chauffeurs' and stablemens' union and to bring about a new arrangement of runs. The men complained that they were under constant danger of arrest for speeding their trucks at the rate required of them in order to catch trains and boats.

Most of the mail affected is that to and from out-of-town points, as the greater part of the local mail is handled by pneumatic tube service. Postmaster Edward M. Morgan and John Magee, the general superintendent of the transfer service, declared that [illegible] would be [illegible].

It was stated that if necessary the United States troops would be called on to prevent disorder or further demoralization of the mail service.

BUILT RIGHT
Stomach Nerves and Thinker Restored by Grape-Nuts Food.

The number of persons whose ailments were such that no other food could be retained at all, is large and reports are on the increase.

"For 12 years I suffered from dyspepsia, finding no food that did not distress me," writes a Western lady. "I was reduced from 145 to 90 lbs., gradually growing weaker until I could leave my bed only a short while at a time, and became unable to speak aloud.

"Three years ago I was attracted by an article on Grape-Nuts and decided to try it.

"My stomach was so weak I could not take cream, but I used Grape-Nuts with milk and lime water. It helped me from the first, building up my system in a manner most astonishing to the friends who had thought my recovery impossible.

"Soon I was able to take Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast and at night, with an egg and Grape-Nuts for dinner.

"I am now able to eat fruit, meat and nearly all vegetables for dinner, but fondly continue Grape-Nuts for breakfast and supper.

"At the time of beginning Grape-Nuts I could scarcely speak a sentence without stopping words around or 'talking crooked' in some way but I have become so strengthened that I no longer have that trouble." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

SCIENTIFIC WRINKLE REMOVER EASILY MADE

(From Ladies' Favorite Magazine)

A few dermatologists have long held the secret that a certain product known to the drug trade as saxolite, had the property when used in solution, of instantly reducing wrinkles. Any one can readily make this same solution by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in this—and note the immediate transformation! The skin tightens, becomes firmer—deepest wrinkles at once begin to smooth out. This action will of course reduce hanging cheeks or double chin.

When the hands show signs of aging, the skin becoming coarse, creased or flabby bathe them in the solution. Since the recent publication of this formula, men and women all over the country have taken advantage of the information, according to reports, with most satisfactory results.

Fast in the Mud.

A Briton and a German were arguing about their different navies.

"Oh," said the German, "there is always something the matter with your navy. Only a few days ago a battleship was fast in the mud."

"Well," said the Briton, "if a battleship is fast in the mud it would be a record-breaker in the open sea."

TRANSIT TO THE MOON

A Scientist Thinks It May Yet Become Practicable

Garrett P. Serviss, who has written a number of works on popular astronomy, believes that the problem of aerial navigation is so far solved that we may now indulge ourselves in speculations about possible voyages beyond the atmosphere of this globe.

"I have begun to think that now that we have achieved the navigation of the air the providing of sufficient food and air are the only difficulties which remain to be overcome before man fly to the moon. To be sure a new motive force must be obtained, but electrical propulsion hints at what it may be.

"There are only two forces known which overcome gravity—namely, pressure of light and electricity. So I say that the first flying to the moon will be done on the principle of the [illegible], which flies away from the [illegible] of an electric machine.

German Battleships and Cruisers are to be Equipped

The Berlin correspondent of The Naval and Military Record announces that at an early date it is probable that all the larger German battleships and battle-cruisers will be equipped to carry their own hydro-aeroplanes. The idea is, of course, only in the experimental stage, and is far away different from the huge, cumbersome erection of timber that made us the laughing stock of the flying world last summer. The Germans are quite aware of the fact that the aeroplane does not require a launching-platform able to stand a traction engine, and as a matter of fact have no launcher at all. The machine is simply let down into the water on the lee side of the ship and skims off the surface. The machine is carried on the ship out of the way of the artillery and out of the way of the general working quarters, and is housed in a light steel-framed shed to protect it from the weather. It is proposed to provide four machines to each of the latest type "Dreadnoughts" and two to the smaller craft. The Pritzig aerodrome near Dantzig where the budding naval flyer is taught his business, is a busy spot just now, and conveys a different impression from the usual empty "nothing-doing-to-day" look of our military and flying centres. The Teuton places no little reliance upon the hydro-aeroplane.—The Sphere, London.

FOOD FOR RATS

The Rodents Cause an Enormous General Impoverishment

It has recently been estimated by a French statistician that $1,000,000 worth of food a day is wasted on rats in Great Britain alone. In other countries the expense runs equally high, and even higher. Every rat in France costs 2 cents a day for his keep. In England a rat costs from ½ a cent to 5 cents a day to the person upon whose property it preys, and there are 40,000,000 rats in the British isles. In our country there are more rats than men, women and children, and doubtless their appetite is just as expensive here. In India, however, a country least able to bear the burden of supporting these pests, they are four times as numerous as the population, and each rat consumes on an average 3 cents' worth of food a day.

Not long ago an international union was organized in France to rid the world of these unwelcome creatures. The rat commits another sin besides impoverishing the country. He carries disease, and it is probable, because he is dangerous to health rather than because he is a thief, that he finally will be exterminated. There is a race war going on between rats themselves which will help solve the problem. The black rat is being driven out by the gray rat. The black rat is a much greater nuisance than the gray. All along the Atlantic coast he has been driven out, and only the gray rat now is found. Perhaps if the war between the fair race and the dark is kept up they may exterminate each other.

Man With the Grouch Draws His Conclusions From Observation of Pet Pair of Geese.

"I don't believe in suffragettes nor in the so-called new woman," said the man with the grouch. "They're against the law of nature!

"I'll tell you why it isn't natural," he went on. "I've been observing life in the barnyard, and I've learned by analogy the real place of woman in the economy of life.

"My wife has started in to raise a couple of geese, and they are the most human things you ever set eyes on. She calls 'em Darby and Joan.

"We have no goose pond, so we've sunk a tub in the backyard for the recreation of the two geese.

"Well, Darby simply owns that tub! He waddles up to it very solemnly the first thing in the morning and takes an eye-opener.

"Joan comes waddling behind him, meek and wife-like, and tries to follow her lord's example. He pecks her and drives her back. She obeys with becoming feminine gentleness.

"Then, with the utmost care and deliberation, Darby proceeds to take his morning bath and make himself beautiful. He sputters in the tub, preens himself and has a beautiful time in his lordly, masculine way.

"When he has entirely finished he cackles with glee, comes out of the sunken tub and waddles off to graze on the new shoots of grass.

"Now that he is through with the tub Joan may have her turn. She may have what is left, now that her lord and master is quite finished.

"It's a lesson in wifely subjection to see Joan make her toilet and then waddle around contentedly in the wake of her proud, domineering male.

"It goes to show what woman's place in the world really should be, according to the law of nature."—New York Telegram.

"A Progressive Peterborough"

Our Point of View

The popular advice may yet be "Young man, go north." Farmers from Old Ontario who have taken up homesteads in Northern Ontario have done so after careful investigation. They prefer Northern Ontario to the prairie provinces.

They are going to revive the old-fashioned plowing matches in this province. And indeed the man who can plow a straight furrow in less time than any competitor is as well worthy of honor as the man who wins a foot race!

The men and women beggars of Los Angeles have formed a union to fight an order of the city forbidding them to ply their trade on the street corners. The police in their war on this union should have the support of the citizens as a whole. An organization of beggars is the limit.

Scarcity and inefficiency of servants are respontible for the growing preference for flats and the desertion of first-class self-contained houses. says The Standard, of London, Eng., in a news item that goes on to tell of the good work being done by societies that turn abandoned orphans into self-respecting household workers. The self-conditions in question are common to more places than London. The problems of big cities everywhere are much the same.

The trainmen of the Illinois Central Railway have been ordered not to place photographs in their watch cases, as such pictures may distract attention from duties on which the lives of passengers depend. The regulation may seem peculiar, but little things count greatly at times. The trainmen will still be able to picture their wives and sweethearts in their mind's eye or in the locomotive's fire. Which mirrors may make up for the loss of the miniatures in their watches.

A subscriber handed the following to the Times for publication. He claimed it was the product of a little Peterboro Miss, who was asked by her teacher to write a composition on men:—"Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear, but don't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. They are more logical than women and also more zoological. Both men and women sprung from monkeys, but the women sprung farther than the men."

"I Sleep Soundly, Feel Like New"

ALL WHO LACK VIGOR, THOSE WHO ARE DISPIRITED AND WORN OUT SHOULD READ THIS CAREFULLY

Proof That Health and Renewed Vitality Quickly Return When Right Remedy is Used.

"I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night, and in the morning felt so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration on slight effort would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicines and mixtures,D r. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged-up system. My spirits rose. I felt much better. The sluggish action of the system 've way to normal activity. Dizziness and headaches ceased. appetite, good color and ambition to work returned, and have remained. I am like a new man, and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parkhurst, a well known grocery dealer in Jefferson. Follow his advice, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for your stomach, kidneys and liver, and you'll enjoy long life and robust good health. All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, 5 boxes for $1.00, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

HARD TO EXPLAIN

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is now taking the position that the Government ought to lower the tariff because there is a fifty-million dollar surplus. The money, he argues, ought to go back into the pockets of the people through a reduction of the duties.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has a convenient memory, or rather a convenient forgetfulness. Heand his party were in office for fifteen years, coming in as free traders and staying in as protectionists. Did they reduce the tariff? They increased it in some notable instances—that of cement for one. Could they have reduced it? With Sir Wilfrid's own argument as a basis, they could have done so. Here is what the Montreal Telegraph says in announcing the advent of its new editor, Hon. W. S. Fielding:—

"Mr. Fielding had the distinction unique in Canadian history of introducing the budget for sixteen successive years, in each of which, excepting the first after he took office, he was able to report a surplus."

Here were no less than fifteen opportunities for the application of the argument which Sir Wilfrid Laurier finds it convenient to make now that he is no longer responsible for the administration of the country's finances.

RUSSIA'S DASTARDLY COURSE

As a pretext for beginning their atrocities, persecution and villainous course towards the Jews, the Russians have started a trial over the blood ritual fake story that has been going around until every decent nation has condemned them.

There must be an end to this infamous business sometime and Jew-baiting must cease to be. The civilised world is shocked by it.

The Jewish people are united in all countries with a view to taking some positive action against the Russian Government. There is no longer any reason for the dastardly course Russia is pursuing. The czar can offer no excuse for the wicked policy of holding a subject to be guilty of everything which he is charged merely because he is a Jew.

FISH AND FISH FARMING.

At a time when complaint is made of the scarcity and high price of meats, there should be interest in anything that promises to increase the supply of fish for human consumption. Mdch has been learned by observation of the habits of fish. and something has been done to maintain if not to increase, that available natural supply by the regulations as to when and how particular kinds may be taken. Fish hatcheries have also been established and many millions of fry distributed in the waters of the country. It has been sometimes thought that the results of this labor were not as great as could be wished. A reason for the alloged failure is suggested in a paper on the insect food of fresh water fishes, by Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion entomologist, reprinted by the Commission of Conservation. Mr. Hewitt opens a wide field for study, and suggests a reason for the phenomenon sometimes noted of nearby and even connected lakes being frequented by different kinds of fish. Brook trout and some other kinds of fish live almost entirely on insects and their larvae. Their are an immense number of varieties in larvae and, seemingly, each variety of fish has its favorite food. The physical and chemical conditions of the water of a lake or stream will affect the larvae and insect life therein, and what does this in turn affects the fish life. It is possible therefore, that, without study, fish fry may be put in waters where they will surely die; and so time and labor will be wasted. Mr. Hewitt in the course of his argument disgressed naturally enough and said something about fish farming. The Government stations which gather and distribute fish fry are in their way fish farms, and the great expanse of inland fresh waters of Canada, as well as sea waters, suggests that they may in time place an appreciable part in providing a food supply for the people. Fish farming, however, can be carried on in a smaller way in every section of the country almost, where there are books and low lying or wet lands. A dam that will create a pond is often all that is required, and if the site is well chosen the results may be satisfactory in more ways than one. There is so much other waste on this continent that wasted water is little heeded. The suggestions of the paper in this latter regard are for the future and the man with theories out of the common run, who can venture into new fields, and who often is a leader of his fellows in good.

BEST LAXATIVE FOR BOWELS—"CASCARETS"

They Clean Liver, sweeten Stomach, end Sick Headache, Bad Breath Indigestion, Constipation.

Get a 10-cent box.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascarets to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

AUSTRIAN OFFICES TO BE RE-OPENED

Campaign Against Canadian Pacific by Feel is Failing—Public is Aroused.

London, Oct. 28.—The presence in Vienna of Mr. McLaren Brown, European manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway is evidently helping to relieve the Railway's difficulty there. Vienna telegrams to-day say that the Austrian Government will shortly re-open their offices, and the company will resume all business except emigration, which will be suspended till the judicial inquiry is completed. The Government realizes that the evidence against Altma is very weak. The Neue Freie Presse and other leading journals say that the public is now asking why such severity should be directed against the Canadian Pacific and not against the others.

The Government is being attacked for failing to support the Canadian Pacific, to whom it gave concessions with the express object of breaking the monopoly of German and other lines.

PROVINCES WILL ASK FORTY CENTS PER HEAD

Minimum Allowance for the Administration of Justice Is to Be Asked From Borden.

Ottawa, Oct., Oct. 28.—The Maritime Provinces are not going to havetheir way in the matter of representation. The other Provinces are opposed to the principle of representation by population being infringedu pon by the establishment of an irreducible minimum of Federal members.

There was no formal declaration against the Eastern Provinces, in fact there was a good deal of sympathy for them by the three Premiers from the Atlantic Provinces were given to understand by the other Premiers that sympathy was all they could expect and that they had better not put forward a resolution.

This morning the conference got down to the real purpose of the gathering and discussed ways and means to get more money out of the Federal treasury. Various plans were discussed, and it was finally agreed that the best basis upon which the demand could be made was to make an allowance of forty cents per head of population for the administration of justice.

PRACTICAL COW RECORDS

They Help the Up-to-date Farmer to Build up His Herd

Almost every dairy farmer who commences to weigh and sample his cows' milk individually says at the end of a few months, "I find some in my herd were kept at a loss." Some men find only one or two cows, others find too many in the herd play a losing game.

What does this mean? Just this: that, despite all the experience gained from years of practical dairying, the farmer finds that, in order to become thoroughly "practical" he must requisition the aid of dairy records. Neither the cow's appearance nor the owner's knowledge of some short-period yield of milk (extraordinary as that yield may have been for a day, or one week, or a month) will testify with certainty to each individual cow's ability to pay her way for the whole year. Cow testing provides a simple and eminently practical way of discovering, not only if each cow pays, but which cows pay the most profit on the 12 months' transaction of food consumed, and milk and fat produced. Those large-profit cows are revealed only by practical cow testing.

Cows are apt to cheat the unsuspecting dairyman unless he keeps tab on the performance of each one; many dairymen have found this out to their utter astonishment and regret. Don't take chances with your herd; be certain that each cow pays; it pays you to find out. Individual cow records help the practical farmer to build up a profitable herd.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

NEW TYPE OF TRUCK

Chain Hooks Over Rim of Barrel and Into Handle Slot

Here is a truck especially for the transportation of barrels and kegs, but that can be used, of course, for boxes and other freight. The etching shows the thick wheels, designed for heavy weight, and the short spikes in the upright supports that engage the barrel sufficiently to keep it from rolling off the side. The chief feature, however, is the chain. This chain has one hook on one end and two in the other. From the top of the truck handle to a little below its middle is a vertical slot, in which are a series of crossbars. The double-hooked end of the chain is thrown over the rim of a barrel and the other end is hooked into one of the crossbars in the slot at whatever distance is required to make the chain taut. The barrel is then held firmly on the truck.

-- KEEP THE PUBLIC INFORMED --

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its fineness and price.

He classes these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this now through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his servie to keep the public informed.

EARL ROBERTS WILL BE SUCCEEDED IN PEERAGE BY DAUGHTER

Some of Those Who Have Succeeded to Peerages in Their Own Right

Like the late Lord Wolseley, another British field-marshal, Earl Roberts, the hero of Kandahar, will be succeeded in the peerage by a daughter. Lady Aileen, Lord Robert's daughter, had only one brother, who died fighting during the South African War in heroic circumstances which won for his memory the glory of the Victoria Cross. The late Lord Wolseley's only daughter was born in 1872, and is unmarried. She was made heiress to her father's viscounty by special remainder to her and her male issue. Others distinguished peeresses in their own right are H.H. Princess Alexandra Victoria, Duchess of Fife, the Baroness Elizabeth Clifton of Leighton Bromswold, Lady Hambledon and Lady Macdonald. The Barony of Fauconberg and Conyers and the Barony of Amherst both are held by women; so also is that of Burton; whilst the Countess of Cromartie is yet another of the several ladies who are peeresses in their own right.

Theory Better Than Practice

The two Short brothers, whose aeroplanes have met with great success, have a solemn compact neither will fly, and that both will succeed or fail in their calling as constructors of flying machines solely by their theoretical knowledge, leaving the practical side of the work to others. The compact was made several years ago, and to-day both can say that although they have been successful in inventing and building aeroplanes, neither has ever been up in one.

Yellow Piano Keys

The foundation of a piano key is made from pine wood, which always contains a certain amount of resin that would yellow the ivories if it were not for the rather modern method of placing a thin layer of basswood between the pine foundation and the ivory. This method accounts for the fact that our modern keys do not discolor so much as the keys of the old-fashioned piano of our grandmother's time.

FOWLS FOR MARKET

Should be in Good Condition—Fatten in Close Confinement

It does not pay to send fowls to market in poor condition; they neither sell readily nor at best price, and often the dealers must lose by them. Fowls that are poor should be fattened before going on the market; they should be put in rather close pens and fed not less than four times a day, and nothing is better to feed than ground corn or cornmeal, the latter preferred, mixed with water or milk. They must be given all they want of this each feed; they must be penned in a quiet place, with nothing to excite them, and, with the mash, must have access to plenty of water and grit. Two weeks is long enough to fatten; a longer time than from ten to fourteen days in close confinement tends to make them restless, after which they lose flesh instead of gain.

The chickens that go in the fattening pens must be in good health and free from lice. Charcoal in the water tones up the system of fattening birds and a little Epsom salts in the water occasionally is a good thing.

THE NEW DRAMA

Mr. Du Maurier Finds the Only Novel Movement in Ragtime

Mr. Gerald Du Maurier had some amusing things to say of the stage at the annual dinner of the Playgoers' Club, held at the Hotel Cecil. After all, he went on to say, it was the playgoer who created the fashions in drama. If the state of the playgoer were healthy, then surely must the drama be healthy too. He was continually hearing and reading of the new movement in drama, but, personally, he had been unable to detect it unless it were ragtime. But that was not new. It was merely a good melody marred, or a poor one galvanized into life. The one-step was supposed to be a new movement in dancing, and the success of it was that it need not be learned. Anybody could do it; in fact, it was the first thing a baby did when it could walk by itself. All these new dances, such as the Bunny-hug and the Turkey-trot, were only forms of the oldest dance in the world—St. Vitus dance. As regarded the drama—the successful drama, that was to say—he could not see that it had changed much since the days of Shakespeare. A good deal of fuss was made nowadays about producing, but it was very difficult to spoil a good play or make a bad one. If a stone were good, what matter the setting. The greatest service the producer could do the author was to let the play play itself—that was to say, if the author knew his job. As a manager he believed in the play that was commercially successful.

MR. CODY HAS REVEALED PLAN TO FIGHT ZEPPELINS

Mr. Cody's Plan For Using Bombs Two Thousand Feet Up

Mr. Cody, London, has revealed a highly ingenious plan for fighting dirigibles of the Zeppelin type. He says: "I call my method 'fishing for the enemy,' and that is really what it is like. My device is based on the knowledge that aeroplanes can fly faster and higher than any Zeppelin, and the process has been already tested and found practicable and efficient. My plan is to fly up until my machine is one or two thousand feet above the dirigibles and then to fish for them with a long, thin steel hawser, at the end of which I propose to have a bomb of my own invention. That bomb will be of a very high power and easily exploded. In fact, the least touch will fire it, and it will shoot flames in six directions at once to a distance of eight feet each. If my first 'drag' misses its mark, all I have to do is to wheel round and try again. Following after the spurts of flame there will issue from my bombs pieces of lighted tow or other material soaked in some highly inflammable spirit, which will inevitably fire any portion of the structure of the dirigible that may have escaped the first effects of the explosion. The vessel would be absolutely at the mercy of the man in the aeroplane sailing a thousand feet above it. He could trail his bomb backwards and forwards to any point. The enemy meanwhile would have nothing to aim at with their guns except the quickly-moving 'plane, and would have to fire upwards. I have seen experiments in firing from dirigibles, and I am quite sure their work would be practically useless. Suppose a Continental enemy has determined to attack us with a fleet of dirigibles, she will have to employ vessels that can keep flying for long periods. All that we require to destroy them is a fleet of aeroplanes that will keep flying for a few hours. There is a good deal of loose talk about these dirigibles of the Zeppelin type. We are told they can lift twenty-seven tons. That sounds formidable. But they have a weight of their own of twenty tons, so that their real capacity is only about seven tons. With an aeroplane of my own and a 3 pound gun I could circle round and round and above any airship I know of and fire a shot through every ballonet. I have been up over 7,000 feet, and could easily get above them."

LADY'S "MENAGERIE"

Stockbroker Complained of Being Annoyed by His Neighbor

A further case arising out of a Sydenham lady's domestic "menagerie" was heard at the Greenwich Police Court. Mrs. Juliette Hughes was summoned for abusing her neighbor, Mr. T. Owen, a stockbroker. Mr. Thomas, counsel for Mr. Owen, said that Mrs. Hughes kept a number of dogs and ducks and geese—quite a menagerie, in short. He read a letter which she had written to Mr. Owen, saying that he had accused her of stealing a garden hose. "You have spoiled my character," she wrote, "and children call me a French pincher." The conduct of Mrs. Hughes had become unbearable. Mr. Owen had been in his house for seventeen years, and was most anxious to stop this annoyance. Mr. Owen, sworn, said that Mrs. Hughes from her front garden called to him, "Can you smell the geese? Can you smell the rubber burning?" There had been some words over the garden hose and some geese, and they had had to call in a sanitary inspector about the smell from the geese. He had put up with the annoyance for two years. Mrs. Hughes now said she remarked to someone in her house, "Can you smell the rubber burning?" She did not apply the remark to Mr. Owen. She admitted sending pictorial postcards to him on which she had written, "Can you smell the geese?"

Mr. Hutton bound Mrs. Hughes over to keep the peace for twelve months, and ordered her to pay 50 cents costs.

STRIKE RIOT

A Lively Time at a Boot Factory in England

Owing to the introduction of outside labor during a strike at the boot factory of Messrs. Leake Brothers at Melbourne, England, a riot took place. the firm, who do not employ unionists, dismissed one man who joined the union and endeavored to persuade others to do so. Forty men handed in notices and Messr. Leake imported five men. The others resented the introduction of such labor, and a crowd of 600 demonstrated outside the factory. Police reinforcements were hurried on to the scene, but were assailed with stones. The rioters, after smashing the factory windows, attacked the manager's house, wrecking the windows. The police made baton charges, dispersing the strikers.

No Decrees for Drink

Judge Wakely, at Athlone Quarter Sessions, said he never gave decrees for drink supplied over the counter. There was a man in Sligo who, on finding this out, entered such transactions in his books as "nails." This recollection of his honor evoked laughter, which was renewed when Mr. Kelly observed that there was a case on record of people being supplied with "lamps" in a bottle.

VICTIMS OF CANCER

Increase in the Number of Deaths Last Year Compared With 1851

Cancer statistics by the Society for the Prevention and Relief of Cancer show that in 1851 17,365 persons died in the United Kingdom from cancer, a rate of 497 per million persons living. Last year the number of deaths was 43,124, or 960 out of every million persons living.

In 1851 the percentage of cancer deaths to deaths from all causes in England and Wales was 1.22; last year it had risen to 7.16. The highest percentages of deaths—12.3—occurred, in the case of men, between forty-five and fifty-five years of age. In the case of women it was between the ages of thirty-five and forty-five, and reached 18.6.

WONDERFUL OLD PASTOR

At Eighty He Was Preparing for a Divinity Examination

The funeral took place at Leicester of the Rev. James Nelson, M.A., a Free Church minister, who died at Narborough in his eighty-second year. Born at Colne, in Lancashire, he was brought up at Bradford, where he became a hand-loom weaver. His parents were very poor, and he had no schooling and little to eat during those hard times. He acquired a knowledge of several languages, and at fifty graduated B.A. at Dublin University. Ill-health compelled him to quit the ministry for a time, when he went to live in France. Returning, he became a railway clerk at Bradford, and later resumed his ministerial career at Nottingham and Leicester. At eighty he was preparing for examinations for his Doctor of Divinity degree. He had acquired a knowledge of Greek, Latin, Hebrew, French, German and Italian. He was strong physically, and at seventy-seven rode 100 miles—from Leicester to London—on a bicycle in a day. He rested one day and returned the next.

INDIANS TORTURED

Attempt by Police to Extort Confessions of Robbery

Distressing facts about the torture of Indian natives by the police were narrated in the British House of Commons. Sir William Byles asked the Under Secretary for India if "he had received official information about the Poona torture case, in which four policemen were convicted of torturing three respectable Indian peasants for the purpose of extorting a confession of robbery from them;

"If he was aware that it was proved to the satisfaction of the judge and jury that the charge was deliberately concocted by the police, and that the stolen property was found afterwards on the real thieves, who were convicted in Bombay;

"If the torture inflicted on these peasants was described by the Crown Prosecutor as revolting to humanity, and included stringing up one peasant by a rope passing through his fingers to a beam and lashing him till he became unconscious, and in the case of the others forcing their arms through their legs to their toes and keeping them for hours in that position, and in depriving them of sleep for four days and four nights, and compelling them to dig in a field for the alleged stolen property (buried there by the police to bolster up the extorted confession);

"If the extorted confessions were recorded as voluntary confessions by a third-class honorary magistrate, who questioned the accused in the presence of the policemen who had inflicted the tortures without making any adequate examination of the bodies of the accused, and who then remanded the accused to the custody of the same policemen."

Mr. Montagu regretted to say that the facts stated were substantially correct.

Of Course He Knew.

"Willie, can you tell me what a vegetarian is?"

"A vegetarian is a person who lives on vegetables," replied Willie.

"That is correct. Now, I wonder who can tell what an octogenarian is?"

"I know," replied Eddie.

"Well, what is an octogenarian?"

"A octogenarian is a person that knocks the other generians."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A ROMAN FARM

Remarkable Discovery by Excavating on the Dorset Border

Mr. Sumner, F.S.A., who has been excavating with the sanction of Lord Shaftesbury, the landlord, has discovered a Roman farm at Cranborne Chase, on the Dorset border. The farm, which was ninety-six acres in extent, was surrounded by a low earthen enclosure, while the buildings, consisting of a dwelling house, bake house, and granary, were in a quadrangle 150 feet by 80 feet, enclosed with a ditch. Among the remains were a quantity of corn, bones of horses and oxen, large number of fragments of New Forest, Samian, and other ware, including a perfect jug, pots, Purbeck marble vessels, spindle wheels, knife blades, and coins, from Gallienus to Constantine. Inside the ditch is a barrow belonging to the bronze age, and an urn with cyst and arrow-head.

ON THE PRECIPICE

Englishman's Awful Adventure With Bandits in Mexico

News of the extortion of $5,000 from an Englishman by a Mexican rebel comes from Chihuahua. The rebel leader, Vaciovio Herrera, entered the camp of the workmen who are damming the Conchos River and demanded $12,500. He threatened that if this amount was not forthcoming he would kill the English heads of the construction works. This was refused and he tied Mr. J. W. Fuller, the manager, astride a donkey, and threatened to send the animal down the mountain side. Mr. Fuller's companions offered Herrera $1,500 but he insisted on having $5,000 which was finally paid.

Mr. Fuller was then released, and the bandits proceeded to loot the homes of the foreigners.

DEATH OF FAMOUS TENOR

The First British Representative of Lohengrin and Tannhauser

Mr. Barton McGuckin, one of the best known British tenors, died at his residence, Mimosa Cottage, Stoke Poges, from heart complications, at the age of sixty.

Mr. McGuckin, like his brilliant contemporary of younger days, Joseph Maas (who was cut off early by an illness contracted by sleeping in a damp bed when on tour), was an Irishman. In his day he was one of the foremost tenors. He was the first Lohengrin and Tannhauser in this country, frequently appearing at the Handel and other English festivals, and for fifteen years was principal tenor in the Carl Rosa Opera Company. He also sang at Covent Garden during several seasons. Among Mr. McGuckin's attributes was that of being a remarkably quick study. On one occasion, when a new oratorio was being produced at the Albert Hall, he filled the place of Edward Lloyd at short notice. He was pressed into service in the morning, and sang the part the same evening. He leaves one son, Mr. Noel Fleming.

BIGGEST IN THE WORLD

Largest Dock, Tallest Chimney and the Greatest Bank

The extremes in age and size always awaken interest. England is well to the fore in this respect, the largest dock in the world being at Cardiff, Wales; the greatest bank, the Bank of England. University College, Oxford, is the most ancient college existing; it was founded in the year [illegible]. The largest bronze statue extant is that of Peter the Great, which stands in St. Petersburg, Russia, 1,100 tons comprising its weight. Cape Henry, Virginia, has the distinction of possessing the largest lighthouse, and the mammoth monolith—[illegible] feet—is to be found in Egypt. Paris lays claim to the largest theatre in the world, the Opera House there covering three acres of ground. Historians adjudge the far-away city of Damascus to be the oldest in the world. The tallest chimney is to be found in Glasgow, and is 474 feet high; whilst Washington possesses the highest monument, the height being 555 feet.

Echoes of Great Disaster

Some idea of the value of jewellery alone which was lost in the Titanic disaster may be gathered from the following claims for compensation. Mrs. Charlotte Cardeza put in a claim for $175,000 to cover the loss to her wardrobe and personal effects. Her inventory included a Burma ruby ring, $24,000; a pink diamond, $20,000; hatpins, $300; an evening coat, $800; and a white petticoat, $65. The Countess of Rothes asked $10,000 for the loss of property, including a diamond marquise ring worth $1,000, some old lace, and a set of black fox and ermine furs. The smallest claim submitted, $45, was by the United States Government, the value of a mail bag containing registered articles.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a basin of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parisite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The old-school physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

ALFRED NOYES

a successful English poet. He maintains that there is money in the writing of verse, and proves it by keeping up a considerable establishment entirely from the sale of his published works.

In Ben Johnson's time mutton, which we use exclusively to-day to designate the flesh of sheep prepared for food, was commonly used as a synonym for sheep.

The word wife, now used almost universally to designate "spouse"—that is, in the feminine sense, a wedded woman—was formerly and is still, but only in compound words and a few dialects, as that of central Yorkshire, merely a synonym for "woman."

But some words which are now exclusively in the feminine gender were not formerly so restricted in their application. For example, the word girl at one time designated an infant of either sex.

Militia, used at one time to designate the entire military forces of a nation, lost its original significance, perhaps, during the Civil War in England, when the citizen soldiers of the Commonwealth replaced the trained bands.

Nephew and niece, restricted in their applications to-day to the children of a brother or sister, formerly designated the children of sons and daughters, that is, grand-children. Another restriction characteristic of more modern times is that of the use of the word buxom, by which we mean "comely," "well-developed," or "plump," meant, formerly, "yielding" or "tractable." Ignorance of the true meaning of the word led to this mutation, and at one time the people spoke of buxom, rather than of good, health. Shrewd, from denoting one who had a malignant temper took unto itself the meanings "accursed," "vicious," and "dangerous," but soon cast them off for "characterised by keen insight; discerning; sagacious; astute."

Girl Lassoed in the Street

At Greenock Leslie Morton Mitchell, an actor, was fined $7.50 for having assaulted a girl in Greenock by throwing a rope round her body and dragging her along. Mitchell is a member of a company which appeared in a Western drama, "The Cattle Thief." It is the custom of the company to walk dressed in their cowboy costumes and preceded by a cowboy band through the streets of the town in which they are playing. The accused was on horseback in the procession swinging a rope, by means of which he lassoed a girl and dragged her along the street. Members of the company said the whole affair was a joke.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

WHAT LIVINGSTONE DID FOR AFRICA

His Call to the Civilized World Not Answered Until After His Death

Nyasaland is the Cinderella of British Protectorates, yet no other is so full of romantic charm and beauty, says Rev. Donald Fraser. When Livingstone first found her and fell in love with her he was recalled by the Government before he had time to find his way to the northern reaches of the Lake, because Lord Russell felt that his expedition was costing more than was expected. He had even to bear the cost of his little steamer out of the profits of his own book. The land was saved from anarchy, and the Arab slaving empire that was forming was broken by the Scots pioneers, who had to buy their own cannon and engage their own native soldiers. The Protectorate was forced upon the Empire by the clamor of Scots missionaries and traders, and afterwards it was saved from bankruptcy and dissolution, not by subsidies from Britain but by the generosity and foresight of Cecil Rhodes.

Livingstone and the Lake

It was in 1859 that Livingstone discovered Lake Nyasa. His first journey up and down the Zambesi had revealed the wealth of vegetation and the great population that lay [illegible] pected by Europe within interior Africa. But what he saw on the Shiré Highlands and along the Lake shore amazed him. Here was a teeming population and a land that fired his imagination with possibilities of colonization and of plantations of cotton, sugar, and other products that would enrich the barbarous people, and by creating legitimate commerce annihilate the slave trade. He was prepared to lay out $10,000 or $25,000 of his own money to assist the emigration of deserving poor from Scotland. But his letters home proposing a scheme which would have been as disastrous as the Darien expedition, happily received a cold response.

Meanwhile Livingstone himself was following his favorite method of travel, revisiting the lands which he had first traversed, and pushing quietly a little further on as the people gained confidence in him. Then his eyes were opened to the awful anarchy of these ungoverned lands. War had swept over the country that he had first seen with its smiling villages, and had turned it into a blackened desert. Villages were burning. The paths were strewn with the victims of slave raids. The paddle wheels of his steamer had to be cleared in the morning of corpses that had floated down the river, and had not been eaten by the surfeited crocodiles. For three days he and his companions were lost in the woods of a deserted country, unable to find food that they could eat. Frequently he was left without guides, traversing broken land whose gullies presented almost impassable obstacles. And before his journeys were over his optimism had been greatly modified by the sense of the unsettledness of the land.

His Plans

In his latter days when he mused over the civilization of these lands, which he never ceased to love, his plans were to open the country by sending out industrial missionaries who with their wives would quietly live and work until they had opened the way for others to follow. The slave trade was then at the height of its activity. Nineteen thousand slaves from Nyasaland were annually sold at Zanzibar, and Livingstone reckoned nine times as many had perished by war and famine and the hardships of the way before these arrived at the coast. He recommended the placing of a gunboat on the Lake to stop the traffic at its source, and urged the establishment of commerce as the best demonstration of the utter wastefulness of the traffic in human beings. But he did not live to see any of his plans carried into action. When he died at Bangweolo his spirit was darkened with an awful sense of the horror of the slave trade and of inter-tribal war, while Europe was apathetic, and made no answer to his appeals. Yet his death was the call to the civilized world to take up the service for which he died.

CIGARETTES IN GERMANY

Enormous Increase in the Consumption of the Weed

Statistics showing the growth of cigarette smoking in Germany are given by the American Consul-General at Frankfort-on-Maine, in his report issued from Washington. He states that in 1897 110,000,000 cigarettes were manufactured in Germany, while the present production is about nine times as large. Cigarette cartridges and papers used by smokers who make their own cigarettes, and which also pay a revenue tax in Germany, must be added to cigarettes in order to show total consumption. Between 1907 and 1912 the number of cigarettes manufactured has grown from 5,604,000,000 to 9,232,000,000. It is estimated that German smokers spend about £18,000,000 annually in cigarettes, and that some 20,000,000 Germans smoke an average of 620 cigarettes a year.

Writer Points Out How Impossible It Is to Mark Culminating Point in Man's Career.

Who talks of fifty years as the culminating point in man's career? Were all the great work performed by men even beyond seventy erased from history the human race would be bereft of some very proud achievements.

Jefferson founded a university by his own activity after he had passed three score years and ten. John Quincy Adams, although he had been president of the United States and five times a foreign minister, wrought as a congressman by far his greatest deeds after he was sixty-five. His robust father sat in a constitutional convention when he was almost a nonagenarian. Franklin did valiant service in helping to frame the Constitution of the United States after he had turned a serene and contented eighty.

Seventy saw Gladstone so vigorous that he was still good for the greatest battle of his political life and a premiership. England's foremost living historian, Sir George Otto Trevelyan, who is even now completing his monumental story of the American revolution, occupied a seat in parliament half a century ago. This brilliant nephew of Lord Macaulay has done his best writing since reaching seventy.

Germany's first emperor, the venerable William, saw Waterloo as a soldier, but fifty-five years later he was directing armies at Sedan and welding an empire after the fall of Paris. John Bigelow at four score was mentally as virile as a boy, and his powers as an author were not dimmed.

Our own Frederick Fraley was an active business man, president of a bank and the national board of trade almost the Spanish-American war, and yet he was prominent enough in 1844 to serve on a committee that welcomed to Philadelphia Daniel Webster.

Science is making lives longer than they were in the days of our grandfathers, and also far more comfortable. The same agency that prolongs bodily vigor will surely lengthen the span of man's most virile mental labor.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE LONG SLEEVE

Some Hints to Amateurs to Secure a Good Fit

The long sleeve is being built into all the new dresses. And strangely enough the sleeve is always the knotty problem in the amateur's work. As every woman knows, a sleeve can make or mar an entire dress. Long sleeves have been out of fashion so long that the younger dressmaker may have forgotten how to make them. Probably the sleeve will be made from a pattern. At the outset then it is wise to remember the necessity of following the pattern very closely and observing the directions minutely. Notches must match if any pattern is to prove a success.

After accurately cutting the sleeves, basting is of the utmost importance. Firm basting may be more trouble to take out, but it assures better fitting. Take short stitches always. Gather the fulness where the marks indicate, and when both seams are basted lay the sleeve flat on the table. If cut and basted correctly, the inner seam will turn to the under part of the sleeve from elbow to wrist, while the seam from shoulder to elbow will be exactly on the edge. Now, if this [illegible] the entire length of the sleeve, the seam will look crooked when worn. Some persons don't know of this and think the seam should be seen the whole length when the sleeve is laid flat upon the table.

In stitching the seams on the machine, do not stitch through the basting threads as it will make the latter difficult to draw out. Stitch just inside or just outside. To finish neatly at the wrist, take a strip of crinoline and slip into the sleeve. Baste it in position, leaving a margin of sleeve to turn over the crinoline. Do this while the sleeve is on the outside. Now turn inside out and face with a bias strip of the material or silk. The result will be a smooth fit. If the sleeve had been turned to put in the stiffening the sleeve will probably draw.

Sewing in the sleeve is important. To sew it in correctly draw on the arm, getting the elbow at the right point. Pin the top of the sleeve to the shoulder. The pattern usually indicates the location of the inner seam. But the sleeve does not always set right when this is followed. It should then be moved either above or below the notch on the pattern until the fit is correct.

Amateurs often cut the armhole out too much. Don't be in a hurry to do this. The armhole should be neither tight nor loose, but remember that when the sleeve is sewn in it will become an inch or more than at first.

AN OLD SCHOOLHOUSE

Took Nearly a Century For Toronto to Grow Out to It

The oldest landmark on the banks of the Don River, which flows through Toronto, disappeared when the one-roomed log schoolhouse which stood in Todmorden for well on to a century was torn down in order to make way for modern homes.

All the Todmorden children of several generations were educated in its solitary room, which accommodated about seventy pupils. There was a bell tower, but no bell was ever installed. The building was abandoned when it became too small, in 1886, and after that it was occupied by market gardeners. The last teacher was Mr. Tom Gould of the Customs Department at the Toronto Postoffice.

A Waltz King

M. Poincaré enjoys the title of being the Waltz King of Paris. The Society of Dramatic Authors, of which he is counsel, gave a ball some years ago, and organized a waltzing competition in which Poincaré took part. He is an admirable waltzer, and was considered to have won the competition and to be entitled to have the distinction of "Waltz King" conferred upon him. Poincaré was presented with a laurel wreath, but he would rather not have won the competition, for when it came to an end all the ladies wanted to dance with him. He danced a hundred waltzes that night, and became so tired that he left the ballroom, as he was almost unable to move his legs.

Duke of Marlborough is Putting Blenheim Park Uunder the Plough

The Duke of Marlborough proposes to put Blenheim Park under the plough. He says:

"So far as I am concerned I mean to make an effort to show that in my locality it is possible to grow corn stuffs and vegetables for suitable markets. The Park which you know so well, and on which a brigade of yeomanry has been trained, will no longer be offered as a training ground for national defence, but will be employed for the purpose of producing food for a national food supply. A thousand acres or more will be under the plough, and a greater number of laborers employed. When I have succeeded, as I mean to do, I shall then have given a lead to my farming neighbors. I shall be a captain in a different kind of an army from that which I have previously had the honor of commanding in Blenheim Park, but it will be an army quite as useful and quite as necessary to the welfare of the State."

SUN-POWER PLANT

One of Unusual Interest Is Produced in Egypt

At Meadi, a suburb of Cairo, is a sun-power plant of unusual interest. It consists of five reflectors, each 204 feet long, whose cross section is in the form of a parabola, with the generator units at the focus. The last-named are of zinc, built of rectangular sections 14 inches wide. To render them efficient, they are painted with a black paint of high heat-absorbing capacity. The water is introduced at the lower end and the generator at its upper end is provided with a steam connection four inches in diameter. The reflectors are lined with silvered glass mirrors. The plant works best at a pressure slightly below the atmosphere.

Plucky Invalid

A plucky rescue was witnessed on the Tay at Perth, when the five-year-old daughter of John Morrison was saved from death by an invalid. While playing the little girl fell into the river. Alexander Gallacher, a gardener, who was just recovering from a serious operation, had his attention drawn to the drowning child, and, weak as he was, he threw off his jacket, and plunged into the flooded river. After a severe struggle Gallacher managed to bring the girl to the bank, both being in an exhausted condition.

The Five Pauls

Here is a good example of what frequently happens in the polyglot Balkans. A man named Pavel—that is, Paul—had five sons; one settled in Athens, called himself Pavlopoulo, the Greek form of Paulson; the second went to Belgrade and called himself Pavlovitch; the third, in Sofia, called himself Pavloff; the fourth made his home in Bucharest under the name Pavlescu; while the youngest set up in business in Constantinople, assuming the Turkish form of Pavloglu.

Quit Sniffling, Stop Sneezing, Cure Your Cold Now

Thousands of Cases Prove the Quickest Cure is Catarrhozone.

When germs attack the lining of the nose, make you sneeze and gag—when later on they infect the bronchial tubes—how can you follow them with a cough syrup?

You can't do it—that's all. Cough syrups go to the stomach—that's why they fail.

But Catarrhozone goes everywhere—gets right after the germs — kills them—heals the soreness—cures the inflammation—makes Catarrh disappear.

"Nothing I have ever used gives the warm, soothing sensation of Catarrhozone," writes Isabel Fry, of Niagara Falls, Ont. "I was in a frightful way with catarrh of the nose and throat—had droppings, hard breathing, bad breath and indigestion. Catarrhozone relieved at once and cured me thoroughly. It is invaluable in colds, sore throat and bronchial trouble." Not difficult for Catarrhozone to cure, because it contains the essences of pine balsams and other antiseptics that simply mean death to catarrh. Large size costs $1.00, and contains two months' treatment; smaller size, 25c. and 50c. All druggists and storekeepers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Lindsay Lunatic Escapes.

Kate Angus, an inmate of the Lindsay House of Refuge, made good her escape. The woman was sent from the Mimico asylum to the house accompanied by three other subjects of the same turn of mind, and since entering the institution she has never spoken to either inmates or the superintendents of the building. She was looked upon with suspicion by the superintendent and considered dangerous, having at times endeavored to push other inmates down the stairs. She was later on captured.

Good Presence of Mind.

Yesterday morning at 7.30, as Mr. J. J. McDonough was passing along Charlotte street on his way to business, by observation and quick presence of mind, he undoubtedly prevented a serious accident. He noticed that the fire waggon at full gallop was coming north on Aylmer street and also that an eastbound Park street car, filled with people was approaching, and also that unless something was done, and done quickly, a collision was inevitable. Mr. McDonough waved an umbrella vigorously and stopped the car just in time. The fire waggon was also stopped just in time, and skidded round the east corner of Charlotte street.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES.

The Bible Study Class on "The Manhood of the Master," conducted by Mrs. Gray, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., every Sunday morning, is attended by a number of interested, enthusiastic students.

It is our earnest desire that more young ladies will join us for both Bible and Mission Study Classes. This is an age of study and research along Biblical lines, and we, as young women, cannot afford to neglect it.

This is to remind you—"Donnybrook Fair" is to be Friday evening, October 31st, at the Y.W.C.A.

Special arrangements have been made for excursionists. Cheap rates prevail—remarkably cheap, considering all you will see and all you will hear. Information cheerfully given at the office on Simcoe street.

Former Local Education.

At a meeting of the "Lime Juice" Club held here 25 years ago from Monday, the minutes show the following extract. "Bro. Geometry Hill, Chairman of the Committee on Education, submitted the following report, . . . This committee has done a pile of walking around and asking question. The cause of education can't be put in a bottle and shook out into a tumbler with nutmeg and sugar at the bottom of it. I gave the pupils 40 different books to study. None of them have over 35 now. The text books should be changed about eight times a year. They aren't changed but once in two months now and the kids gets tired of them. Every school department should have 400 rules. They only only have 365 each now."

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now — Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die — then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine to-night—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 29th, 1913

IN THESE "MILL-ENDS" OF DRESS GOODS THERE IS GREAT SAVING AT $1.25 AN END

To buy good things cheap is the motto of economy that hinges in every home. And to produce good things cheaply is the aim of every manufacturer in Canada. But there are ways, as everyone knows, by which it is possible to buy good things cheaper than usual; and one of these ways, in buying dress goods, is to buy "Mill Ends." In the first place, these Ends are sold cheaply at the mill, yet they are of sound quality, being pieces from the finished bolts of regular cloths. Those for sale on Wednesday comprise heavy wool reversible coatings, tweed and worsted suitings, and plain and fancy dress fabrics. The lighter weight goods vary in length from 3½ to 4 yards, while there are some splendid coatings and suitings that are 1½ to 2 yards long. Knowing as we do, the value of these goods when bought by the yard, we do not hesitate to say that $1.25 seldom buys such sterling worth; for they would cost anything from $2.50 to $4.00 in the ordinary way. Thus we would point out to you, the advantage of buying Mill Ends in the Annex.

TRY THIS TREATMENT FOR HAIRY GROWTHS

(Helps to Beauty)

A single application of a paste made by mixing together a little powdered delatone and water and applied to objectionable hairs for about 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off, takes with it every trace of hair or fuzz. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining paste and it will be firm and spotless. This is a quick, painless treatment, but its success depends greatly on using fresh delatone, which can be purchased only in original packages.

HEAD AND NOSTRILS STUFFED FROM COLD

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends colds and Grippe in few hours—Tastes nice—Acts gently.

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

PASTOR'S BABY KILLED BY CAR

Boston, Oct. 28.—While running across Saratoga street, East Boston, to meet playmates on their way home from school yesterday, Louise B. Sundstrand, 9-year-old daughter of the Rev. Augustus J. Sundstrand, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran Trinity Church, dodged in front of an inbound Lexington street car. Before Motorman Joseph DeRivo, of 219 Princeton, could shut off the power, the child's body had been ground beneath the wheels. She was dead when picked up by a bystander and carried into her home.

DeRivo was arrested charged with manslaughter and released on $5,000 bail. He will be arraigned in the East Boston court.

UNIONIST LEAGUE FORMED READY TO ASSIST ULSTER

Membership is Over Fifteen Hundred in Toronto--Utmost Secrecy is Maintained Regarding Organization--Small Army to be Initiated To-night in West End

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Under circumstances of such a secret nature that they have baffled all efforts to trace the sponsors of the movement, the Unionist League of Toronto has been organized, having for its purpose the avowed intention of supplying both men and money towards the anti-Home Rule campaign in Ireland. So well advanced is the movement that it is said that no less than 800 Toronto residents in the east end had been enrolled in the cause, while another 750, who live in the West end, will be enlisted to-night. In spite of the formidable growth of the movement, however, every precaution has been taken to guard against publicity.

Prominent citizens were asked this morning concerning the league, but, while admitting that there was such an organization, they declared that they could say nothing and could not allow their names to be mentioned in connection with its formation.

It is understood however, that its origin dates from the occasion of the mass meeting in Massey Hall on Oct. 15th, which was featured with a stirring address by Rev. William Magrath, of Ulster, and speeches by several well-known citizens. At this meeting, which was one of the most enthusiastic ever held in the big assembly hall, the gathering unanimously pledged themselves to the cause of the Ulsterites in the following resolution:

THE RESOLUTION.

"We, the loyal citizens of the Empire, desire to place on record and assure the loyal Protestant people, not only of Ulster, but throughout Ireland, that we view with alarm the proposal to grant Home Rule to Ireland. We protest against this obnoxious measure as it would place the loyal [illegible] in the power of a [illegible] disloyal element, who have, from a thousand platforms, [illegible] they would never be satisfied until the last link binding Ireland to the Empire is severed. This is not a measure affecting Ireland alone, but the whole Empire, and occasion warrants us in assuring our loyal fellow subjects that to the utmost of our power we will assist them in maintaining their present position of the Empire, believing that no Government has a right to place in jeopardy a loyal people who fought for and purchased with their blood the rights they now enjoy."

The Mayoralty Question

With the tax rate growing year after year, a large majority of the ratepayers believe that the Mayor of Peterborough during the coming two or three years should be a man of experience, good judgment and established business capacity.

In addition to the training, ability, inclination, and strength of character necessary to enable him to check municipal waste and extravagance, the Mayor should possess civic spirit and knowledge of Peterborough's resources and needs such as would ensure intelligent initiative and leadership in any movement designed to promote the city's growth along commercial and industrial lines. We believe William H. Bradburn is qualified to meet these essential requirements, and it is for that reason that The Times urges his re-election.

HALTON FARMERS NEED NOT PAY THE FARMERS BANK

Master-in-Ordinary Removes Two Names From Liquidator's List of Contributories

Toronto, Oct. 29.—"I think the names of the above contributories should be removed from the list as presented by the liquidator, and that they are not indebted for the amount said to be unpaid on their subscription or under the double liability imposed by the Bank Act."

In these words Master-in-Ordinary Alcorn, of Osgoode Hall, revives interest in the Farmers Bank drama, and, incidentally, relieves James Murray and the estate of the late John Sproat of claims aggregating $27,000, including double liability.

An interesting story is related in His Honor's judgment, notwithstanding the recent investigation conducted by Sir William Meredith.

Murray and Sproat were Halton farmers when asked to invest in Farmers Bank stock.

The Master says:

They Sued in '08.

"By writ tested of the 22nd Oct., 1908, they brought an action against the Farmers Bank, its provisional directors and executive officers, asking by its endorsement, among other things for a declaration that their subscriptions were void, for rescission and for an injunction restraining defendants from proceeding thereon, and alleging that such subscriptions were obtained by fraud and misrepresentation.

"The liquidator now asks to retain James Murray on the list for double liability under two subscriptions, one for 25 and one for 10 shares of $100 each, and James Murray and John Murray, executors of John Sproat, for double liability for a subscription for 100 shares of like amount, each obtained from them by one W. J. Lindsay, an agent of the bank.

"On the return of a motion by plaintiffs for the injunction prayed on 27th October, 1908, an affidavit by Lindsay was filed, in which he says that on the previous day he had interviewed all the eleven plaintiffs, including Sproat and James Murray, with the concurrence of the manager of the bank and its solicitors; that he had at that interview paid back to each all moneys paid for stock—had given an undertaking to return notes for unpaid balances, and had obtained from each an assignment of his stock to him, Lindsay. He had, in fact, paid James Murray $300, all the latter had paid. Sproat had paid nothing. The assignments by James Murray and John Sproat so obtained are produced by the liquidator, each having annexed a writing entitled in the court and cause, duly signed and witnessed, in which each states that he has [illegible] in this litigation and [illegible] that this action be not proceeded with."

PROTEST AGAINST RITUAL TRIAL.

London, Oct. 29.—A meeting of protest against the blood ritual trial held under the auspices of the English Zionist Federation, passed a strong resolution of condemnation last night.

Members of Winnipeg Board of Control express themselves as in favor of church property being taxed to the same extent as business places.

Good progress is being made on the new Parliament buildings at Winnipeg. The preparation for the foundation for the buildings is said to be the biggest caisson job ever attempted in Canada.

CHICAGO BANKER HAS WARNING FOR TORONTO

Chicago, Oct. 29.—George B. Caldwell, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, in opening its second annual convention here to-day said that the stocks and bonds were down almost to panic prices because of the dissatisfaction of capital with the present and the last administration.

"Municipal ownership of street railway and lighting plants," he says, "fails in ninety per cent of cases. Toronto, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Seattle are cities leading in this movement, whose acts will be watched by every banker and investor."

MINNEAPOLIS BUYS CANADIAN WHEAT

Minneapolis, Minn. Oct. 29.—In the face of a duty of ten cents a bushel still imposed, the Washburn Crosby Company of Minneapolis, in the first move of the kind since the Underwood Tariff Law was passed, yesterday bought 100,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and will grind it in its mills at Buffalo, N. Y. A certified cheque for $10,000 was made out for payment of the import tariff.

DUKE A GOOD SPORT.

Rome, Oct. 29.—The Duke of the Abruzzi, former suitor of Miss Katherine Elkins, cabled congratulations as soon as he was informed that she had married "Billy" Hitt of Washington.

DR. MURET GETS 7 YEARS IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN 30

New York, Oct. 29.—"Dr" Muret, the fake dentist found guilty of counterfeiting was to-day sentenced to serve a term of seven and a half years in the Federal prison at Atlanta by Federal Judge Hunt. Muret was arrested soon after Father Hans Schmidt confessed to the murder of Anna Aumuller. Muret told Judge Hunt that if he would suspend sentence on him he would leave the country at once as he wished to return to his mother in Germany. The Tombs physician testified that Muret was suffering from tuberculosis and the sentence was made comparatively light.

Muret might have been given thirty years.

SAFETY DEVICE WAS CAUSE OF TRAGEDY

Berlin, Oct. 29.—The explosion of the dirigible Zeppelin LII., which on October 17, cost the lives of 28 officers and men of the German navy and army, composing the entire crew is attributed in the official report on the disaster to a partial vacuum formed in the centre gondola behind a new kind of windshield. This was used for the first time on the ill-fated airship for the better protection of the crew and it sucked the aluminum structure of the dirigible into the gondola, where it was exploded by a spark from the motor.

The possibility of such suction has been overlooked by the Zeppelins constructors and the naval aeronautic experts and it has now been decided that the shield is not to be used in the future.

LORD SIDMOUTH DEAD LAST OF NOTED BANK

London, Oct. 29.—Lord Sidmouth of Upottery Manor, Devon, who died at Bournemouth yesterday, aged 89, was probably the only survivor of the distinguished little band who saw the last Franklin expedition, which left the Thames seventy years ago. He is succeeded by his eldest son Gerald Anthony Pell Barnell Addington.

IMPERIAL PRESS PRAISES DECISION OF NEW ZEALAND

Times Argues That It Does Not Cover Canadian Case--"Fleet of Its Own is Right Policy," Says the Post

London, Oct. 29.—New Zealand's decision to abandon the policy of naval subsidies for a fleet of her own has been very favorably received by the most pronouncedly Imperial newspapers here. The Times, while arguing that it does not affect the Canadian case, and, while enthusiastically eulogizing the gift of a New Zealand Dreadnought, admits that the former arrangement was not one to stimulate the pride and patriotism of a country in its own work for Imperial defence.

Local Flotillas Essential.

"We have long maintained that the creation of local flotillas while it cannot completely provide for naval security, must be an essential part of any adequate and lasting scheme of common naval defence."

The Morning Post, while it usually represents the extreme naval school says, "New Zealand launches herself upon the blue waters of the Pacific like a true chip of the old block, with pluck and devotion. It is we are more and more convinced, the right policy for our Antipodean Dominion. It will help teach them the realities of life, and will go to give them strength and self-reliance from the naval point of view. It will at first mean a certain loss of strength and unity, but in the end may add more to our imperial strength than anything which could be hoped for from a cash subsidy policy."

Praises Spirit; Deplores Method.

The Daily Telegraph, while loudly praising the spirit shown by the New Zealanders, deplores their committing themselves to a navy of their own, whose heavy cost will grow like some wizard's gourd. "This shackling of these young people, with their urgent problems still unsolved, by the bonds of naval rivalry, is one of the most regrettable incidents in the story of the Empire since it first woke to the consciousness of itself."

THE BI-LINGUAL QUESTION

The prompt action of the Ontario Government in withdrawing the grant from the Ottawa Separate Schools, entitles it to the heartiest congratulations. This action will commend itself to the people of Ontario generally, since because of the bilingual regulations the Ottawa Board has presumed to act as a law itself—to hold itself, indeed, superior to the Government and the laws made by the Government.

If Sir James will show the same energy and courage in dealing with this whole wretched bi-lingual business as it is now displaying, the people of Ontario will have much less cause for complaint than they now have.

Certainly, any school board that takes the impudent position that it is superior to the authorities must be put in its proper place. The Government is greater than any School Board.

TORONTO WINS IN APPEAL BEFORE PRIVY COUNCIL

Judicial Committee of the Privy Council Did Not Call Upon the Counsel for the City to Answer the Appellant's Case

London, Oct. 29.—The argument was concluded in the Privy Council to-day in the case of Toronto and York Radial Railway vs. Corporation of the City of Toronto concerning the rights to deviate the railway. Answering some arguments by the appellant's counsel, the Lord Chancellor remarked: "I have the strongest suspicion that the corporation is very much interested in not having the streets cut up, therefore, you must show that the railway has power to do so."

Judgment was reserved, the Privy Council not calling upon respondent corporation to reply to the appellant's arguments.

What the Decision Means.

The Privy Council's apparent decision to refuse the Metropolitan Railway permission to deviate from Yonge street means that after June 25th, 1915, that radial will have no franchise below Farnham avenue. Its franchise for the 1,300 feet of Yonge street above the C.P.R. tracks expires on that date, having been made for 21 years from June 26, 1894.

This means that the most important of the Mackenzie radials is to be shut off from its own terminal, and, what is even more significant, from connection with Sir William Mackenzie's C. N. R. steam lines and the C.P.R. lines where they cross upper Yonge street.

It is conjectured that the Mackenzie forces may appeal to the Legislature. "Let them appeal," said City Solicitor Johnston to-day. "They will be unable to secure legislation over-riding the rights which the courts have confirmed us."

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Easterly to north-east winds with rain or sleet.

THIS IS A FISHY YARN.

New York, Oct. 29.—"We will now proceed to angle for the facts," said an attorney in a Brooklyn court, when it was discovered men by the name of Fish, Fisher and Fishline were members of the jury.

RURAL POSTAL EMPLOYEES TO TO GET SUBSTANTIAL INCREASES

It will be good news for the rural postmasters and postal clerks of Peterborough and surrounding country to learn that Postmaster-General Pelletier is following up his other measures for the improvement of conditions in the postal service by increasing the remuneration paid to country postmasters. He has done much and is doing more to produce a better spirit and a more loyal effort in all branches of the postal service, and the results are already being shown in the remarkable strides which the Post Office Department has made under his administration.

SALARIES INCREASED.

As already announced in The Times, the salaries are to be substantially increased. In the past this has been $25 per annum; in the future it is to be $50 per annum. This action of Mr. Pelletier will be generally approved. The increase should have gone into effect years ago.

MISERABLE THING.

"While it is true that the duties of some of these postmasters are very light, and while it may be that there are indirect benefits connected with the position of postmaster in rural districts, it has always seemed to us a miserable sort of thing for His Majesty to hand to these public servants as wages an amount so inadequate.

HARD WORKERS.

"The Canadian post office is probably one of the most efficient of the departments of the Dominion government; its officers are generally admitted to be the hardest worked of any in the government employ; it is the department that comes in direct contact with the public every day and that contributes most to the comfort and convenience of the people; yet the salaries paid in the Post Office Department are taken as a whole, lower than those paid in any other department."

SPEAKING OF THE NUT SEASON.

THE CITY WANTS TO REGAIN FULL CONTROL OF ITS STREETS

Will Take Up Question of Municipal Underground Conduits for all Wire Systems Next Year

The City's Board of Works met in regular weekly session last night, Chairman Ald. Buller presiding. There were also present Mayor Bradburn, Aldermen Anderson, Johnston, Gillespie, Duncan, Duffus and City Engineer Parsons.

A temporary plank sidewalk will be laid on Elias avenue for service until next spring when a concrete walk will be laid.

Engineer Willis Chipman submitted his outstanding account of $723 in connection with his services on the Romaine street sewer and pumping station, and asking settlement by note or otherwise. No action was taken.

J. C. Matchett was granted two weeks' holidays in November.

Bell Co's Underground System.

The letter from the Bell Telephone Co. published last Tuesday, asking for overhead privileges in rear of streets on which they propose to lay underground conduits next spring, came up for action.

The Board concluded they could do nothing in this connection. The Board also thought it time municipalities got back from the Dominion Government the control of their own streets. Many years ago, to encourage extension of telegraph and telephone systems, the Dominion Government gave such companies the right of way along the roads of municipalities without any street franchise from such municipalities being necessary. The municipalities throughout the whole of Canada are now petitioning the Dominion Government to return to them the control of their own streets, above and below ground, without any restrictions whatever.

Ald. Buller contended that Ald. Duffus' policy for municipal underground conduits is a right one and will have to be taken up by the city next year. The streets are now alarmingly netted with underground work of one sort and another.

Ald. Johnston regretted that the different corporations appear to tear up the streets at their own discretion without reference first to the City Engineer. When making gas connections on Charlotte street the other day, the men picked through the electric cable installed for the Hydro Electric service. Had the company notified the Engineer of their wish to tear up this street, the men would have been cautioned as to the location of the cable, and thus avoided its damage.

The Clerk was instructed to notify the Bell Co's general manager, that the city is willing that they extend their conduits under an agreement like that entered into with them in 1910, but the city has no right to grant them privileges over private lands.

Sewer a Foot Above Cellar.

The complaint of Miss Dickson that the sewer on Dickson street is a foot above the cellar floor of her property, and [illegible] would cost [illegible] or $300 to rectify. The lady's solicitor notified Council that they expected the city to remedy the faulty sewer at the city's expense. This sewer was laid two or three years ago.

The Board has no funds with which to relay this work. The City Engineer will report as to the exact cost of doing so, and the sewer will be reconstructed next year.

Will Hold City Responsible.

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company's notification that they will hold the city responsible for damages should surface water overflow into their property at the corner of Hunter and George streets by reason of the lowness of the curb at that point. This was referred to the Mayor to consult with Mr. [illegible] of the Toronto Savings & Loan Company.

$3000 on Hand.

Ald. Buller reported $3000 only on hand to the credit of the Board of Works.

Make Bridge Safe.

His Worship contended that the small road bridge at the foot of London street, over the raceway to the Peterborough Light and Power Company's power house is in a bad state of repair. At his suggestion the ownership of this bridge will be ascertained, and is being made passable and safe assured. It seems uncertain whether the city owns the bridge or the Power Company.

Cuts Road to Pieces.

His Worship pointed out that the narrow width tires in use on the heavy vehicles destroy the roads. Filling in is being done on Homewood avenue, and the heavily laden rigs on narrow tires are simply cutting the roads to pieces. The Board regretted that legislation does not demand a width of tires that will preserve the roads, as considerable expenditure is needed each year to repair roads cut up by heavy loads.

In regard to the new pavement, Ald. Buller thought merchants should be cautioned against sweeping lemon peel and other debris on it. His Worship also remarked that carters driving gravel and stone over the pavement must be prohibited from dropping stones on it. Stones being driven over by vehicles will do the pavement no good.

Plank Crossing.

A temporary plank crossing will be laid across George street at Denison place. It is thought George street at this point may be paved next year.

A crossing will be laid across Aylmer, south side of Dublin.

Ald. Duffus contended that the city would make no mistake in buying a plant and continuing street paving next year as generally as possible.

BATTLESHIPS SELLING VERY CHEAP NOW

Marked Down From Four Millions to Two Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Portsmouth, Eng., Oct. 29.—Battleships are awfully cheap this year. At the naval remnant sale in the dockyard the other afternoon there were some really nice ones marked down from $4,000,000 to $200,000, and three slightly soiled submarines went for a mere three or four hundred pounds.

It makes one wonder how the admiralty can let them go at the price. You would think these old warships would be such useful things to have knocking around, not for reviews and dressy affairs, of course, but just for dirty weather and collisions.

The battleship bargain counter is in a sort of hole, and the buyers bid so quietly that a reporter had a narrow escape from buying a battleship himself, just through coughing at the critical moment. The auctioneer was on the point of saying, "And shall we send it on, sir," when some one else bid another thousand.

LIVING AT 105 YEARS

As a Child Was Held in the Arms of Napoleon

A man is living in Paris who was held in the arms of Napoleon as a small child. He has survived two French Emperors and three Kings and lived through the terms of ten Presidents. He has witnessed two revolutions, one coup d'etat, and one civil war. He is M. Pierre [illegible], 105 years old, who lives in Neuilly, happy and in good health, on 30 cents a day allowed him by the poor law authorities. He has lived on milk since he was sixty.

Coach and Four Wedding

A wedding couple began their honeymoon with a drive in a coach and four through London, which came up specially from Redhill. The bridegroom was Lieutenant Percy [illegible], Royal Munster Fusiliers, while the bride was Miss [illegible] Chaplin, only sister of Mr. [illegible] Chaplin, the well known Sussex amateur cricketer. The ceremony took place at Marylebone Church, where a number of the bridegroom's comrades formed a guard of honour. Lieutenant [illegible] is well known in sporting circles, while the lady is a leading player in the Sussex county hockey team.

German Battleships and Cruisers are to be Equipped

The Berlin correspondent of The Naval and Military Record announces that at an early date it is probable that all the larger German battleships and battle-cruisers will be equipped to carry their own hydroaeroplanes. The idea is, of course, only in the experimental stage, and is far away different from the huge, cumbersome erection of timber that made us the laughing stock of the flying world last summer. The Germans are quite aware of the fact that the aeroplane does not require a launching-platform able to stand a traction engine, and as a matter of fact have no launcher at all. The machine is simply let down into the water on the lee side of the ship and skims off the surface. The machine is carried on the ship out of the way of the artillery and out of the way of the general working quarters, and is housed in a light steel-framed shed to protect it from the weather. It is proposed to provide four machines to each of the latest type "Dreadnoughts" and two to the smaller craft. The Pritzig aerodrome near Dantzig where the budding naval flyer is taught his business, is a busy spot just now, and conveys a different impression from the usual empty "nothing-doing-to-day" look of our military and flying centres. The Teuton places no little reliance upon the hydroaeroplane.—The Sphere, London.

CARE OF FEATHERS

Use Only a Blunt Silver Knife to Curl Them

Feathers are not difficult to keep in condition; all that is required is patience; though this is the one quality that most women who adorn feathers do not possess.

In the first place, if you are possessed of an expensively garnished feather hat, do not start out on a damp evening without a large chiffon veil. The veil may save you a substantial bill at a cleaning and renovating establishment. If the kitchen stove is alight when you return home, sprinkle salt over it and shake the feathers over the heat. This will often restore them to condition with no further effort, but if they have become really lank and limp, they must be recurled. Take plenty of time and a thin, rather blunt silver knife—a small butter knife is a good instrument. Never under any circumstances attack a feather with a steel knife or the edge of a scissor blade. Each flume must be lifted separately and drawn slowly between the edge of the knife and the thumb. It should not take more than an hour to curl a long feather after one becomes expert, and short tips may be done in much less time. Do not, however, attempt to hurry the process by curling more than two flumes at a time. The result will be a stringy looking feather with ends all a different length and some of them straight and spiky. White feathers may be cleaned by dipping in a lather of warm soap, rinsing well and then shaking well over a hot stove till dry. Afterwards proceed to curl the feather as above described.

Playing With Live Cartridges

Reuben Rawlins, a boy living at Heath End, near Farnham, was seriously wounded by the explosion of a live cartridge. He and another lad were playing on Caesar's Camp, the training ground for Aldershot, when they found two live cartridges. Taking them home, they lighted a fire in a bucket and laid the cartridges on the top. As the fire did not burn very well one of the lads stooped down to blow it. Suddenly the cartridges exploded. Rawlins was so seriously injured about the head and face that he was taken to Trimmer's Cottage Hospital at Farnham in a precarious condition. The second lad escaped with slight injuries.

Not According to Fact

In his annual report to the Newport Education Committee Dr. H. R. [illegible]pitt says that false information was attempted in many cases, notably as the child approached the leaving age, and was useful for household duties. Close co-ordination between the medical and attendance departments, however, invariably detected such cases. Still, there was often an apparent desire that speedy recovery should not take place in the cases of such children. "An illness such as ringworm is a stroke of fortune to their parents, because there is so much more time for work." One lad suffering in this way was too busy to attend the clinic for treatment, because he was delivering bread to the public. A couple of brothers, having contagious skin diseases, were purveying pastries.

MRS. PANKHURST.

Mrs. Pankhurst has been relieved of the deplorable necessity of starving herself to death and is now filling a series of lecture dates at a rate of compensation that will make the salary of vaudeville's best artists look very small.

The hysteria awakened by her temporary detention at Ellis Island shows that the sanest element in the suffragist party was right in protesting against her admission to that country. The tone of the letters, telegrams and public utterances of these excited adherents of the "cause" is not one calculated to impress reasoning human beings with woman's fitness for the ballot. There is much talk of the "outrageous treatment" of the militant leader, of the necessity for "rousing the nation" in her behalf and of the "vaunted freedom of the United States," but the legal aspects of the case—the real point at issue—do not seem to enter into the discussion.

Mrs. Pankhurst and her followers have done so much to retard equal suffrage in England that a powerful wing of the party has voiced its detestation of their methods in no uncertain terms. It is not likely that her speeches in defence of militancy will do any harm in the United States or Canada except to the cause which she professes it is her wish to aid. Those far-seeing women, and there are many, who have the real interests of that cause at heart deeply regret her coming but tidings of her admission will bring joy to the hearts of the anti-suffragists, and there are many of them, too.

That Terrible Fatigue Can Be Overcome

A Simple Home Remedy Now Cures Lack of Energy, Loss of Ambition, and a Feeling of "Don't Care."

Successful in Nearly Every Case.

That miserable nervousness and half-sick tired-all-the-time condition is due nine cases in ten to a clogged-up system. You grow irritable and despondent, you lack ambition, energy seems all gone. Surest road to health is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will make you feel like new all over in a short time.

Writing from his home in [illegible], Mr. Frederick G. Mayer [illegible] "I think no one ever suffered as severely as I did for nearly six months. So many serious symptoms were developing as a consequence of this evil condition of my system that I realized I must find a remedy. The strong pills of various kinds I tried seemed after their first effects were over to make me far worse and I did not know which way to turn for relief. I saw Dr. Hamilton's Pills advertised, and the first box used satisfied me. I found a true remedy. Instead of griping with undue activity, Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted as naturally as if physic had not been taken. I never had to increase the dose, and, indeed, within a month I reduced it, and when the system finally acted of its own accord as a result of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I took a dose twice a week only, just to make sure the old condition would not come back."

No other remedy cures constipation and billiousness so easily or safely as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are an ideal family remedy for all disease of the stomach liver and bowles. Sold in 25c. boxes, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

TO HELP WESTERN FARMERS

Hon. Dr. Roche, Minister of Interior, has had important amendments made to the existing water regulations which will result in the encouragement of the use of small powers for farm and industrial purposes in western Canada. A qualified engineer of the water power branch has been sent west for the purpose of inspecting each application that is before the department. The applicant will be furnished with the necessary engineering advice and assistance required to enable him to say whether the scheme is a feasible one and if so to decide on the best method of development.

Recently there have been numerous applications before the department for the right to develop small water powers of less capacity than 200 horse power at various points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Dr. Roche on his recent western trip investigated personally the matter, and it is as a result of this trip that the amendments to the existing regulations have been made.

It is the intention of the Minister to give every possible encouragement and reasonable assistance to the development of the many small water powers throughout the West, especially where these developments will result in the power being available for farm factory purposes in the rural districts.

RELIGION IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

What is the attitude of the Roman Catholic Church toward the public school, asks the Christian Guardian. This is a question which seems sometime a little difficult to solve. The Roman Catholic hierarchy and the Roman Catholic newspapers unite to upbraid Protestants with the evils of our public schools, and they jointly brand them as godless and, of course, unfit for any children, Protestant and Roman Catholic. But if there is the slightest mention of teaching even morals in the schools, there is a tremendous uproar, and the reading of the Bible and the offering of the Lord's Prayer are heinous sins. Some of the Roman Catholics themselves realize the absurdity of their position, and the Western Watchman voices an opinion which must be widely shared. It says: "Catholic papers and Catholic priests and Catholic stump orators, from the lakes to the Gulf, are now heaping denunciations on our public school system as godless and unmoral. Dire disaster awaits us unless we introduce religion in our public schools. The children are perishing for want of religious instruction. The country is going to destruction because it is losing religion, and, with religion, morality. A Dane up in Minnesota stopped his paper last week, telling us that he had read it because he wished to learn what the Catholic Church really teaches; and, having read, he is convinced that Catholics do not know what they want—that they are a lot of chronic grumblers who it is simply impossible to satisfy. For once we felt like pleading guilty. We growl and grumble, and we do not know what we want." The Watchman itself does not want Protestant religion taught to Protestant children in the schools, and it says so. The editorial winds up in this characteristic way: "There is no morality in Protestantism. Protestants resent the imputation of good works. Chastity among Protestants is what it was among the Jews—a virtue for women." We submit that if this be true the criminal records of Canadian penitentiaries are singularly misleading, and the moral status of certain Roman Catholic countries is singularly misrepresented.

BEGINNING OF HATS

Charles II. is Said to Have Originated the Custom

Hats did not become a well established custom until some 500 years ago. In the year 1449, when Charles II. entered Rouen after its recapture by the French from the English, the people there had never before set eyes on a hat. Their amazement, therefore, can be pictured as they gazed upon their king riding past them in pomp and on his head a gorgeous hat lined with varicolored silk and gayly bedecked with huge plumes. Of course every one followed his example. Hats began to make their appearance in shop windows and women and men alike labored over the constructing of elaborate headpieces, each one attempting to surpass his neighbor if possible. But they were expensive and it was a long time before they could be worn except by the prosperous classes. In the course of time, however, they became a more commonplace thing and people of all classes were able to afford them.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

CHAINED LIKE DOGS

Foxes in an 18-Gallon Cask and a Milk Churn

Harry Smith, a laborer, was, at Whitehal, Hants, fined $40 for cruelty to two foxes. Sergeant Clarke said he found a fox and a vixen confined in an eighteen-gallon cask and an ordinary milk churn respectively. Both utensils were turned up on end, and the foxes, which apparently had been there for some time, had no room in which to move, one being curled up like a hedgehog and not being able to stand. The bung-hole of the cask had been gnawed away to three times its ordinary size. Both foxes were very savage, and growled like dogs when approached. They could not be handled, but when liberated could hardly run off, as they were so stiff. They were well fed.

"I should think so," exclaimed Smith; "they had twelve rabbits in three days. I've handled foxes since I was a boy, and am like a lady with a new-born baby with them. I was keeping them for the huntsmen. The foxes were only confined during the daytime; at night I chained them up with collars, just like dogs."

LIFE "DOWN UNDER"

Australia Offers Inducement Favorable to Longevity

As an inducement to possible emigrants, Australia might with some justice be advertised as a health resort. The death rate throughout the continent only averages about ten per thousand. The number of deaths last year, for instance, was 47,869, against 122,193 births. The Government of the Commonwealth offers various inducements favorable to longevity. Old-age pensions of ten shillings a week are paid to every person over sixty-five who has resided there for twenty years. In addition to this, there are invalid pensions, payable to anyone incapacitated who has resided there for at least five years. Lately, however, the young men of Australia are being asked to make some sacrifices for their country, which may go somewhat as a set off against these benefits. A system of compulsory training has been set in vogue. The service is mainly for those between eighteen and twenty-six years of age. Two years are served in a kind of citizen force. After this, the young men serve as soldiers. The whole service, however, is, if anything, easier than that in the British Territorial Force.

DIPPING SHEEP

A tick seems smart enough to know that he will find more tender and juicy pasturage on a lamb than on an old sheep, but ticks annoy sheep of any age.

In order to be sure that one has a dip that will be effective, he should mix up a sample according to directions and test it on a few isolated ticks to see if it does actually cause death or only temporary unconsciousness. Many of the dips are not standardized and, even when made up in the solution as directed, will not be found to be strong enough to kill ticks. If warm water is used in making the dip it will penetrate to the skin better. Many fleeces are so oily that cold water can scarcely make its way through them.

One should take great care to see that the sheep is entirely immersed in the dip and that it is kept there for at least one and better two minutes. To simply let the sheep walk through the dip in great haste does not ordinarily produce very good results. A forked stick or a broom can often be used to advantage in keeping the sheep under the dip.

Sheep should be dipped a second time in about ten days after the first dipping. This is because the dip will not kill ticks in the embryo or egg form. On any sheep there are likely to be a great many eggs and these developing will make good foundation stock for another crop of ticks unless they are killed by the second dipping.

THE OLDEST KILTIES

None of Britain's Highland Regiments Century and Half Old

The average man rarely can recognize one regiment from another, but he cannot fail to recognize the kilt.

The kilt, of course, makes the wearer the most distinctive fighter in the world, for no other soldier is similarly uniformed, and it is this as much as anything else that gives him an air of permanence in our military system.

The Highland regiments were raised by great landlords, partly because the country was in urgent need of soldiers, partly to utilize the fighting force of the Highlanders which had been roused by the Jacobite rebellions, and partly because the heads of the clans wished to stand well with the conquering House of Hanover and the new order of things. The private origin of these corps is still symbolized in the use of family crests as regimental badges and by the appearance of officers' arms as trappings to the pipes.

Dating the Black Watch from 1667 we find that all the Highland corps were raised after the first Jacobite rebellion—the Seaforths in 1778, the Camerons in 1793, the Gordons in 1794, and the Argyll and Sutherlands in 1794.

FOOD MADE FROM WHEY

Apparatus Converts Liquid By-Product Into Edible

Another by-product can be utilized by this machine for making food from whey. The food consists of a whey powder that contains approximately 75 per cent. of milk sugar, 15 per cent. of milk albumen and 10 per cent. of mineral salts, and is substantially free from fat and casein. When the casein, etc., of milk is coagulated by rennets and acids, as in making cheese, the clear liquid that remains behind, and which is chiefly milk sugar, is whey. In this apparatus the whey is sprayed into a chamber in which there is intense heat. Most of it is dried almost instantly, and as it drops down on the other side of a barrier in the chamber it is sucked into a pipe which conveys it to a storage chamber. Particles that are not converted into powder fall to the bottom of the first chamber and remain there.

-- KEEP THE PUBLIC INFORMED --

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its fineness and price.

He classes these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this now through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his service to keep the public informed.

SEIZURE FOR TITHE RENT

Two Gravestones Were Seized to Satisfy a Claim

The death of Mrs. John Roddis, of Acock's Green, recalls the fact that it was this lady's husband who, some thirty years ago, challenged the right of the late Canon Eliot, the then Vicar of Aston, to demand tithe rent from him. As Vicar of Aston Mr. Eliot was entitled to certain tithe rents, which in the event of the property owner declining to pay, could be recovered by distraint from the tenants in occupation. Mr. Roddis was a prominent member of the Liberal party in those days, absolutely declined to pay and finally the vicar levied for value of the tithe. As Mr. Roddis was a stonemason in the Aston Road the bailiffs found some difficulty in selecting an adequate or convenient artticle to seize, and finally carted away a couple of gravestones. The matter created considerable sensation at the time.

A ROYAL ARTIST

Princess Louise Excels in Watercolors and Sculpture

Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll besides being an accomplished painter in water colors, studied sculpture under the direction of the late Sir Edgar Boehm, although in all likelihood she gained her first knowledge of the art from watching the late Mrs. Thorneycroft at work. This accomplished lady, the mother of the Royal Academician, was "attached" for many years to Queen Victoria's household, and modelled all the young Princes and Princesses at various stages of their lives. The well known portrait of Paderewski and the statue of Queen Victoria in Kensington Gardens are good specimens of Princess Louise's work. Unlike many artists, the Princess is of a most practical turn of mind, and knows as much about the internal arrangements of a house as the workmen who built it. She has many friends in the literary and artistic world, devotes much of her time to practical philanthropy, and rejoices to leave behind her the strict rules of Court etiquette.

A BULL-ROARER

Roaring During the Performance of Sacred Ceremonies

Describing the initiation ceremonies of an Australian, a writer in "Customs of the World" says the boys now see for the first time in their lives a bull-roarer. This is a piece of wood of a painted oval shape, to one end of which is attached a string. When the instrument is swung round it produces a humming noise. No women or children are ever allowed to see a bull-roarer; they hear the noise made by it, and are told that this is the voice of a supernatural being. The bull-roarer is swung during the performance of sacred ceremonies, and is to be heard continually while the Bora is in progress. When it is shown to the boys and explained to them, they are warned never to mention it to a woman, nor ever to let her see one. If a woman should inadvertently see one of these sacred objects she would be killed

JAPANESE SUPERSTITION THE ANCESTRAL GHOSTS

Each Home Has Its Godshelf Where Are Enshrined the Tablets of the Dead

In an article by Dr. J. Ingram Bryan in the "Japan Magazine," there is an interesting glimpse of Japanese superstition. He says the happiness of the dead depends on the respectful and loving service of the living; and the happiness of the living depends on the due fulfilment of pious duty to the dead. That the dead need affection, and that to neglect them is cruelty, are among the most sacred instincts of Japanese life. Accordingly, each home has its family altar, its god-shelf, where are enshrined the ancestral tablets, before which, every morning and evening, the sacred lamp is lighted, the family prayers said, and food offered to the spirits of the departed ones. The ancestral ghosts are made happy by these amenities and bless those who render them. Hovering unseen in the glow of the shrine-lamp, the stirring of whose flame is but the motion of them, they guard the home and watch over the welfare of the old domestic circle. Their chief dwelling place, however, is in the lettered tablets which at times they can animate as a human body in order to succor and observe all that happens in the house, share the family joys and sorrows, and delight in the familiar voices and in the geniality of life about them. They chiefly delight in the daily greetings of the family, and for nourishment vapor of food contents them. To forget them, or in any way to treat them with rude indifference, is the most undoubted proof of an evil heart. They stand for the moral experience of the family and nation, and to deny them is to deny that, and to violate that is to offend them, and to offend them is the supreme crime. Each Japanese believes himself to be under the constant supervision of the ancestral ghosts. Spirit eyes are watching his every act; spirit ears are listening to every word, to approve or blame. The whole of life, its thoughts, words, deeds, must be under constant control, as in the presence of the unseen. If while in the flesh a Japanese fails, he can succeed by joining the ranks of the gods. This voluntary death for a great principle meets the approval of Japanese ethics, and the spirit of the person so offering himself attains to godhood, becomes the object of veneration, and is not only made eternally happy by the perpetual homage of all future generations, but is enabled to bless posterity by answering the petitions of those engaged in the cause for which he died. Even a person of no importance may, through death, come into the possession of superhuman power, and become capable of conferring benefit or inflicting injury by supernatural means. Thousands of prayers go up daily in Japan to the spirits of those who have thus offered themselves in sacrifice to the gods. Since the death of General and Countess Nogi thousands have likewise flocked to worship at their tombs.

THE UNEXPLORED ARCTIC

Scientists Led to Believe in Existence of Unknown Continent by Ice Action

It is the fashion of map-makers to represent a district of which they know little as being a jungle, a desert or an open sea. Whenever an explorer discovers some landmark therein, such as a lake, an oasis or an island, the geographers put it in the next map, but they do not indicate whether the part of the chart that remains blank has been explored and found to be nothing but jungle, desert or water, or whether it has not been explored at all. As far as the Arctic is concerned, or certain portions of it, our current maps are worthless. It is represented as part of the Polar ocean, but nobody knows for sure whether it is a sea or a continent. The belief of Stefansson that there is an undiscovered continent north of Beaufort Sea led to the young explorer being sent north with a party of scientists by the Canadian Government. One might count on the fingers of both hands the discoverers who have sailed this part of the ocean, and the expanse being so vast it is quite possible that a body of land as large as half of Canada should have been missed. The fact that in this district Stefansson discovered a new race of men, the so-called blonde Eskimos, is an indication of the extent of the territory and of the absence of particular information concerning it.

Scientists posted on the northern shore of Alaska noted that in the summer months, when the wind blows from the east into the Beaufort Sea, ice piles up and causes such a congestion that it is almost impossible for a ship to get through. When the wind blows from the west there is no such congestion, the Beaufort Sea being clear. This caused them to believe that there must exist a land mass that prevents the ice being carried away when the wind blows toward it. The Arctic in the direction of the supposed Arctic continent or archipelago was never thoroughly explored, and this is one of the reasons why the Canadian Government commissioned Stefansson and his associates to explore the waters.

AN INTERESTING RELIC

Part of Sir Isaac Newton's Apple Tree Preserved

Future visitors to London, who go to Burlington House to see the piece of Isaac Newton's apple tree which was presented to the Royal Astronomical Society recently need be troubled by no doubts as to its genuineness. Seldom, in fact, has a relic of such interest been so clearly authenticated as this bit of the apple tree that grew in Newtons' garden and the falling of the fruit from which suggested to him the idea of gravitation.

The tiny log, which now reposes in a glass case, is about two and a half inches in diameter and three inches in width. It does not look like the wood of an apple tree, but at Kew, where it was microscopically examined, its character was vindicated and it was proved unquestionably to be part of an apple tree. The story of the log is told in detail, moreover, by Charles William Walker, the member of the Royal Astronomical Society who presented it to that distinguished body.

"It is," he says, "a piece of the apple tree at Woolsthorpe, the home of Sir Isaac Newton. The history of this piece of wood and the way in which I came to have it is as follows:

"My father, Richard Walker, was born at Bradmere, Nottinghamshire, at the Manor farm there in 1907. He went to school when he was ten or twelve years of age to a clergyman at Stoke, Lincolnshire, named Pearson. My father told me that while he was at school there was a very wild wind storm one night, and that in the morning news came that Sir Isaac Newton's apple tree had been blown down at Woolsthorpe. The schoolmaster, Mr. Pearson, and several of the boys at once set off for Woolsthorpe, where Sir Isaac Newton's house was, and which is not far from Stoke, which is on the Lincolnshire side of Belvoir castle.

"When they arrived there they saw the old apple tree lying on the ground. It had been propped up all round for very many years, and every effort had been made to preserve it. My father said he did not know by what authority Mr. Pearson acted, but the schoolmaster obtained a saw from somewhere and sawed a good many logs of wood from the branches. My father got one of these pieces, which he always kept as being of great interest. Many times he was asked to part with it, but always refused. My father showed the piece of wood to me and told me all the circumstances under which he got it. There cannot be the least doubt that it came into his possession in the way I have described."

When Richard Walker died the little relic passed to the son, and it was long his desire to place the historic scrap of wood in a safe place.

ROCK REMOVER

Skids Come Together Under Stones When Horse Starts up

A simple and effective apparatus for removing rocks from fields has been designed. A pair of strong skids are hingedly connected at their rear ends and have a form of buffer there. The front ends are connected by chains to a ring that is hooked up to a horse's trace. To remove a rock the skids are thrown open on each side of the obstacle and the horse started up. As the animal pulls away the skids close beneath the stone and it rolls back against the buffer. The implement is then driven to the spot where the rocks are being transferred and left there. For the easy and expeditious removal of stones from a rock field this implement seems to be all that could be desired, as the skids close with sufficient force to uproot rocks, if the latter are not too large.

At a meeting of the Cork Port Sanitary Authority on the question of the election of chairman, Mr. Goggin asked if the members were aware of the splendid emoluments attached to the chair, and when interrupted by Mr. Gamble, referred to the latter as a "talkative cockatoo." A heated scene ensued, Mr. Gamble calling on Mr. Goggin to withdraw, and declaring: "The man that would insult me, if he were as old as Methuselah, I'd knock the head off him." Mr. Goggin asked, amid laughter, if Mr. Gamble would meet him in a 12-foot ring, only first giving him time to train. Mr. Butterfield having suggested that Mr. Goggin substitute the phrase, "pragmatical jackdaw," Mr. Goggin withdrew the remark.

STEAM BATH FOR TUB

Hoods Fits Over One End and Forms Enclosed Chamber

From Germany, where the number of medicinal baths is legion, comes an invention that enables the average man to take a steam or hot air bath at home. A hood, with a hole at the top of the head to come through fits over one end of the tub and forms an inclosed chamber to hold the steam in. The user sits on a seat which hangs over that end of the tub and a tube connected with the hot water spigot leads under him. This tube lies along the bottom of the tub and has a wide, flat nozzle, turned upward. As the hot water flows out the steam that arises envelops the body of the person in the hood and has the same efect as the steam room of a Turkish bath. The discharge pipe of the tub is left open, so the water can run out without filling the receptacle.

GIGANTIC RUDDER

So Huge That It Has a Door For Men to Get Inside It

A rudder with a doorway into its interior is a feature of the mammoth Cunard liner Aquitania. A special appliance was constructed in the ship to lift it into position. When delivered at the builder's yard the rudder was in three parts. After they had been connected and laid upon the ground, the distance that had to be walked round the complete rudder was over 100 feet.

MYSTERIOUS AIRCRAFT

The People of Cardiff Have an Unusual Sight

Cardiff was startled by the appearance over the city of an aircraft. It was exactly 5.40 when the craft was noticed, and a crowd assembled outside the Glamorgan County Police Station watching its quick progress. Coming from the direction of Whitchurch and the Rhondda, it flew at between seventy and eighty miles an hour and disappeared in the gloom in the direction of the Bristol Channel over Penarth. The altitude was between 1,000 and 1,500 feet, and the craft carried a strong light. Among those who saw it was Captain Lionel Lindsay, Chief Constable of the county, and his deputy, Superintendent Thomas and other police officers. It was suggested that from its great speed the object was an aeroplane.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a basket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parisite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4890, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

CURIOSITIES IN HOSPITALS

Interesting Relics in Some of the London Institutions

Pretty well every old-established hospital has some curious and interesting relics in its possession. The "Hospital" mentions that the celebrated couch upon which John Hunter died when he was attacked with angina pectoris during a board meeting, is still preserved in the board room of St. George's Hospital, London. Many hospitals, too, possess valuable paintings of their early benefactors and medical staff by English masters of the eighteenth century; and practically all have museums from which curios, not pathological or gruesome, could be sent to an exhibition. The half-sovereign which was extracted from the windpipe of Brunel, the railway pioneer, was stolen a few years ago from one such museum.

HOW OLD IS MAN?

He Has Probably Existed on the Earth For 24,000,000 Years

The question of the first appearance of living things is of perennial interest, although tantalizingly uncertain. Professor G. Frederick Wright, says "Science Siftings," has now calculated that life has probably existed on the earth for 24,000,000 years, but that it cannot possibly have begun so long ago as 50,000,000 years. Man's antiquity cannot, he says, be less than 10,000 years, while it need not be more than 15,000. The evidence that man appeared in Tertiary time is regarded by our authority as very doubtful, and the Post-Tertiary age has been a relatively short period, while the known facts of human development can be amply accounted for by 8,000 years of time before the historic period began.

Escape From Molten Ore

Thomas Chappel, the driver of a locomotive near Newport had a remarkable escape from being buried in molten slag. He was taking a wagon of hot slag to the tipping-ground, and was unable to shut off steam. The ladle and locomotive consequently ran over the end of the tip, and, after turning, fell a distance of about 60 feet. In falling the wagon broke away from the locomotive, and the driver was saved from being covered with hot slag. When the engine was near the bottom the driver was thrown out, but his only injuries were slight bruises on the head and body and some broken ribs. Two who were on the engine jumped clear.

Modern Sentimentality

Love of notoriety and the amount of public sympathy displayed for offenders are declared by Mr. W. J. Pringle, Chief Constable of Blackpool, in his annual report, to be factors that increase crime. A man, he says, has only to be put on his trial on a grave charge to bring forth a display of public sentiment almost amounting to open opposition to the execution of the law.

At Haddington Police Court, George Spence, laborer, pleaded guilty to stealing a suit of clothes by getting them from one broker on loan and selling them to another. The fiscal said Spence got the clothes to attend his aunt's funeral. He cleared out, but by accident was seen in Edinburgh by a Haddington police officer. The accused was fined.

A PERILOUS POSITION

Many Attempts Made on Lives of India's Viceroys

There is only one case on record of the actual assassination of a Viceroy of India—the Earl of Mayo being fatally stabbed by a prisoner in 1872 during a visit to a convict settlement. The murder had no political motive but during recent years, as a result of the unrest which followed the partition of Bengal, the life of a Viceroy has been aimed at on more than one occasion.

In November, 1909, Lord Minto was making a tour of India, and during a procession through Ahmedabad two bombs were thrown at his carriage. One was cleverly intercepted by the sabre of a sergeant of the Inniskilling Dragoons; the other hit the umbrella which was being held over Lady Minto and fell harmless to the ground. The culprits were never discovered.

In November, 1910, when Lord Minto was holding his farewell reception at Calcutta, three natives who had got in with forged passes, were arrested on the charge of shadowing the Viceroy. Lord Minto escaped other perils. During the trial of some conspirators in 1908 one of the prisoners confessed that their plans had included a plot to assassinate Lord Minto, Lord Kitchener, and other high officials. The informer was afterwards shot dead in his cell by a fellow prisoner.

In November, 1907, Lord Minto was making a prolonged tour, when the officials got wind of a plot against his life, and the Viceroy's tour was cut short. In February, 1909, while his lordship was at Assam for a few days' shooting his train passed a spot where a few hours previously a bomb was thrown at a passing train, and the coincidence gave rise to disquieting suggestions at the time.

Lord Minto's predecessor, Lord Curzon, was also once in peril. During the hearing of the Kolhapur bomb case in April, 1911, one of the prisoners confessed that at the Delhi Durbar of 1891 four men were deputed to kill Lord Curzon as he was passing in the procession, but the courage of the conspirators failed at the last moment.

Other distinguished Indian officials have been in peril. Four attempts were made in the course of three years to murder Sir Andrew Fraser, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, thrice bombs were buried at the train in which he was travelling, and once a native fired at him in a lecture hall in Calcutta.

NOTES OF SCIENCE

A scientist of Amsterdam perfected a method by which he secures a very excellent substitute for rubber from sea fish. It is claimed that the product has all the qualities of rubber at one-sixth the cost. Another new source of rubber substitute is the "[illegible]" tree of Natal. This plant has been heretofore regarded as commercially useless, but recently about one ton per week has been shipped to London, where it is used as insulation for electric wires.

There is a tendency among the automobile manufacturers to make use of silver-plating instead of nickel for covering the exposed metal parts of the machine. The latter has the advantage of hardness, but when exposed to the weather it becomes covered with an oxide which is hard to remove, while silver is whiter, takes a higher polish and when it becomes tarnished it is easier to clean. The difference in the cost of silver is slight.

A funnel has been devised for the use of automobile owners which dispenses with the use of the chamois skin usually necessary to remove the water from gasoline which gets there by condensation and which seriously interferes with the operation of the motor. The funnel is supplied with two copper screens, through which the gasoline must pass before reaching the tank, and these screens are said to be so fine that the water will not pass through the mesh without the least difficulty.

BUILT LIKE A BIRD

Another Step Towards Solving Problem of Successful Flight

The Etrich monoplane, of Austrian make, stands out as one of the most remarkable designs of this class of aerial machine, and it represents a type that bids fair to be more permanent than many other models which from time to time have created sensations.

The monoplane has fallen into disfavor with the military authorities in several countries as a consequence of an unfortunate series of accidents which were debited rather unfairly to the machine without taking sufficiently into account the variable human element.

Of the Etrich monoplane, it may be said that it is designed to remedy some of the defects which have been pointed out in monoplanes. Great strength and automatic stability to a high degree are the two most notable features. It is birdlike in appearance, and the wings are curious in that they are curved backwards and upwards at the ends. The tail is birdlike also. From tip to tip the machine measures no less than 48 feet, an enormous width for a monoplane. Its length is 37 feet.

The wings are the weakest part of the monoplane as a rule, and in the Etrich a very remarkable method of construction seeks to remedy this. Three main spars project from the central body, and the cross-ribs are secured to these and then covered with fabric. A cantilever bridgelike structure of steel tubing supports the main spars and thus gives a degree of strength to the planes which enables them to be made of ample dimensions. The rear part of the plane is built up of bamboo ribs covered with fabric so as to form a flexible trailing edge. In this again there is a suggestion of bird formation being followed. The wing-tips are turned up at the rear, and natural stability to a high degree is obtained thereby. The pilot also has control of the wing-tips. The central body is made of steel tubing strongly braced and the front part is covered in with metal sheeting. The largest machine is a three-seater, and it has an engine of 120 horsepower. The Etrich monoplane is largely used in the Austrian army, and by its strength, power, and reliability, it seems peculiarly well adapted for naval and military work.

Cigarettes on H.M.S. Vanguard

George Henry Hiscutt, canteen manager of H.M.S. Vanguard, of the First Battle Squadron, was fined [illegible] and costs at Sheerness for being concerned in knowingly concealing 34,700 cigarettes in the store-room of the Vanguard with intent to evade payment of duty. Defendant pleaded that he was under the impression that he had informed the Customs authorities of the existence of the cigarettes, as well as of the [illegible] he had declared before the officers started rummaging.

BEWITCHED BOXES

Thrown Overboard From Steamer But Jump Back on Deck

The strange conduct of part of a steamer's cargo was described in the Commercial Court in respect of the loss at sea of a quantity of mineral waters. The steamer Hardy left Treport, having two tons of metallic sodium stored on the fore hatch upon deck. His lordship remarked that he recollected an experiment with sodium while he was at school. A small piece was placed in water, and, by catching fire and jumping about, it caused much amusement. It was stated on behalf of the plaintiffs that the sodium broke away from its lashings, and the water, getting to one of the cases, set it on fire. The captain of the Hardy was not aware of the nature of sodium, and played the hose upon the cases. The result was that the contents were also set on fire, and there was a series of explosions. Next the captain decided to heave the lot into the sea. This was done, but, to the surprise of himself and the crew, several of the cases jumped back on board. Then the hold caught fire, and the captain ultimately gave the order to take to the boats. The mate was drowned, several of the crew were injured, and the captain himself was badly burned. Very soon the ship broke her back and went down. It was the plaintiffs' case that the vessel was unseaworthy by reason of the sodium being carried on deck. For the defendants it was submitted that the vessel was lost by reason of the fire in the hold. It was denied that the ship was unseaworthy, and it was contended that the defendants were excluded from liability by reason of perils of the sea. His lordship gave judgment for the plaintiffs.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

THE BEST DIGGERS

The Gopher of the Plains Wonderful Little Creature

It is said that, of all living creatures, the gopher is the one most perfectly adapted to digging in the ground. This creature is short-legged, almost neckless, without visible ears, and with extremely small eyes. In its tunneling work the gopher employs its long and powerful front teeth as a pick to loosen the ground. At the same time the fore feet, which are armed with long, curved claws, the sides of the toes being lined, in turn with bristles that prevent the passage of dirt between them, are hard at work both in digging and in pressing the dirt back under the body. There the hind feet take it and push it farther back.

When a sufficient quantity of earth has been accumulated in the rear of the gopher, the animal whirls about and by bringing his "wrists" together under his chin, with the palms of the "hands" held vertically, he pushes the earth out in front. A gopher will move backward just as rapidly as forward, and he can push the soil either way. His movements in excavation are almost as rapid and automatic as those of a shuttle. It has been estimated that a pocket-gopher can make two hundred complete strokes with his teeth in one minute. The jaws are so arranged that thirty-eight distinct single cuts are made by the forward stroke of the jaw, and twenty-eight by the backward stroke. Thus, it will be seen, the jaws of this curious little creature may accomplish a grand total of thirteen thousand two hundred cuts a minute when in active operation. He is immensely destructive to crops, and is, therefore, not popular.

The pocket-gopher digs as long as he lives, extending his burrow from year to year. He digs all summer and generally all winter, since he is not a hibernating animal. All his life is practically passed underground, except when, for an instant, on rare occasions, he emerges into the air to push a load of earth from a freshly opened hole. But he vanishes so quickly that it might be said he is never seen.

If a gopher in captivity finds a whole potato he will cut off little slices, trimming them to suitable shape with his sharp teeth, and transfer them to his cheek-pouches by a swift movement. To remove them from the pouch he presses his fore feet firmly against the sides of his head and carries them rapidly forward, dumping the contents of the pouches on the ground before him. These pouches are often packed so full of bits of roots, stems and leaves as to give the gopher a strongly distorted appearance.

A SUMMERLESS YEAR

Snow and Ice in Plenty in June, July and August

The year 1816 is spoken of as the year that had no summer. On June 6th, Canada, the Maritime Provinces, Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts and parts of New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut were covered by a mantle of snow several inches deep. In parts of Canada and Vermont the snow fell to a depth of nearly a foot.

On the seventeenth another snow storm came. July brought little relief from the cold. On the fourth of July ice a quarter of an inch thick formed in New England, Canada, and some sections of New York and Pennsylvania. August was even worse. In many places that month ice reached a thickness of half an inch. The first two weeks of September brought something resembling summer weather, but it did not last long. The last two weeks of September and nearly all of October were wintry and cold, but the year was brought to a close by remarkably mild December weather.

That the earth or the sun were cooling off were the favorite explanations to account for that summerless year. This theory was all the more firmly held because the phenomenon seemed to be general, and extended to Europe as well as America. Snow fell near London in August, and in France all the crops, except potatoes, were destroyed by the cold. On this side of the Atlantic the crops were also very scant, and a famine was escaped by only a narrow margin.

SANITARY ASH SIFTER

Inventor Claims That It Will Not Fill Air With Dust

Anyone who has ever sifted ashes knows what a dusty job it is under ordinary conditions. The dust from the ashes permeates the air and gets into the hair as well as the lungs. A hardware man has devised an ash sifter which he declares has none of these objectionable features. The sifter fits on top of the ash can and consists of a hopper and a hood, with a chute leading out of the opposite end of the hood from the hopper. The sifter is placed on top of the can, where it fits closely, and the scuttle of ashes is dumped into the hopper, the lid of which is quickly closed. By turning a crank at the side the ashes are thoroughly sifted, the worthless particles dropping into the can and the coal being carried out through the chute into the scuttle, which is hung up in waiting.

Beginnings of Paraffin

Petroleum was produced in a small way in California very early in the history of the country, in fact, long before it was invaded by the army of gold-seekers. Mr. C. Morrell, a druggist in San Francisco, is commonly credited with being the first to attempt the distillation of kerosene from crude petroleum. This was in 1857, but several years prior to that Andreas Pico made illuminating oil from petroleum which he obtained in the Newhall region in Los Angeles County. This oil was burned, so it is said, in lamps in the Mission San Fernando.

DREAMS TRACED TO MEMORY

Scientific Explanation for What is Referred to as Phenomena Now Accepted.

Almost all scientific observers agree that the materials of which dreams are made are memories of past experiences of the individual. Curiously enough, the memories that occur most frequently are those of the previous day and those of early childhood. The former class are to be found in every dream, and are probably an essential condition to its formation; the latter (recollections of childhood) seem to be of even greater importance, since they contribute much to the hidden meaning of the dream.

In many cases where the incidents of a dream seem to be entirely unfamiliar it has been shown by careful investigation that they correspond to actually experienced events that have escaped the memory of the waking self. Delboeuf records an interesting example of this. In 1862 he dreamed that he found two lizards in the snow. He took them up, warmed them, and placed them in a hole in a wall, together with a small fern which he knew they liked to eat. The name of the fern seemed in his dreams to be Asplenium ruta muralis. Later on in his dream he saw two other lizards come and eat the remains of the fern, and then a whole host of lizards coming to the wall in a long procession which covered the entire street. On waking he could not remember ever to have heard the name of the fern in his dream, although he discovered that a fern called Asplenium ruta muraria really existed. Sixteen years later, however, he happened to be turning over the pages of a friend's album of dried flowers, and to his surprise came across the very fern, with the Latin name written underneath in his own handwriting. He then remembered that in 1860, two years before the dream, he had met the sister of this friend, and to please her had written the Latin names under the various plants in her album at the dictation of a botanist.

Fifteen years after the dream he also discovered the source of the lizard procession in an old illustrated paper, dated 1861, which as a regular subscriber he must have seen. Innumerable cases of a similar nature are on record, and go to show how remarkably heightened the memory may be in dreams. They also warn us not too readily to believe that incidents in a dream which seem entirely new are really so.

No More Asthma
A Cure Discovered That Really Does Cure

Thousands Testify to the Lasting Benefit Derived by This Marvelous Preparation.

The country is simply wild over the wonderful cures of chronic asthma that are being made every day by Catarrhozone. It is a scientific surprise, a perfect marvel the way it brings old chronics back to health. You will say so yourself after you have used it once, say so after the very first time. Ever since people first began to have asthma, Catarrhozone is certainly the best remedy discovered.

Creighton E. Thompson, well known in Calgary writes: "Nothing too strong can be said for Catarrhozone. I suffered four years from asthma in a way that would beggar description. I went through everything that man could suffer. I was told of Catarrhozone by a clerk in Findlay's drug store and purchased a dollar package. It was worth hundreds to me in a week, and I place a priceless value on the benefit I have since derived. I strongly urge every sufferer to use Catarrhozone for Asthma, Bronchitis and Catarrh.

The one-dollar package last two months, small size, 50c; sample size 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

BRINGING IN THE NORSEMEN
Dairy Industry in Canada Affords Good Chance for the Danes

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Hon. Dr. Roche as Minister of the Interior, is devoting much time and energy to the promotion of immigration, not of indiscriminate immigration, but of immigration of the character best suited to the building up of a population in Canada capable of making the best of Canadian conditions.

The mistake which has been made in the filling up of other new countries, the mistake which provides number rather than quality, is not to be made in Canada under the administration of the present minister. The great Canadian heritage is not to be thrown away. It is to be developed by men from those older races which have flourished in an environment similar to that which Canada affords.

THE NORTHERN RACES.

Attention is now being given to the [illegible] of immigrants from Scandinavian countries. This is in accord with the new policy. It is part of the plan to put upon the soil in Canada men physically adapted to Canadian requirements. This move is regarded generally throughout Canada as a wise one. Saturday Night of Toronto, an independent newspaper, says of it:—

GOOD IDEA.

"The report from Ottawa that the Dominion Government is taking active steps to secure immigrants from Norway, Sweden and Denmark is gratifying to those who wish to see Canada peopled with the proper kind of men. The prosperity of the great State of Minnesota, which is largely populated by Swedes, shows how Norwegians would flourish in our Northern climes. Not only the West but the Province of Ontario should welcome newcomers from these countries. There are many sections of Ontario which Danish settlers especially would find congenial. The Danes are the finest dairy men in the world, while Ontario is unsurpassed anywhere as a land suitable for this industry. If our populace is to be fed there must be a large increase in the [illegible] of agricultural products, and therefore, an influx of men whose [illegible] would make this increase [illegible]."

WIFE ILL, MONEY GONE: HE WATCHES IN VAIN
Family Rescued From Volturno Fails to Come--Arrived at Halifax--"Luck and Bad Luck," Says Ernst

Toronto, Oct. 29.—"Hope deferred maketh the heart sick."

No other words could better describe the feelings of Josef Ernst, assistant chef at the Grand Central Hotel, when at a quarter to ten last night he turned away from the Union station, having waited in vain for the arrival of his wife and children rescued from the Volturno under such thrilling circumstances.

Yesterday Mr. Ernst received a letter and a telegram. The first was from his wife, sent from Rotterdam, and the second from her when she arrived in Halifax on the Campanello.

At the Union Station Mr. Ernst held a long conversation with an official.

"Gluck und unglück," (luck and bad luck) said he in reply to a remark that after all fortune had favored him, and he took the long letter written by his wife when in Rotterdam from his pocket and read it over. There were some sentences in it which were pathetic enough in their dramatic force. One was, "I am here without a heller" (two cents). "everything, money, clothes and baggage has been burned." Then he showed the telegram which read: "Arrived Halifax with Campanello. Very sick. (Signed) Marie."

All Their Money Gone.

As he stood waiting with suppressed eagerness for the Montreal train, due in at 9.10, but 15 minutes late, he explained more fully the meaning of his words, "Luck and bad luck." "I did not know until I received my wife's letter," he said, "that all the money which she was bringing with her for us to start in business with a small restaurant, was lost in the burning of the Volturno. It was in my wife's trunk—$300—and it is all gone. There was no time to save it. It will be some time now before we can start the restaurant that I had so long hoped for."

But his chief anxiety was over the last two words in the telegram that he received this morning—"Very sick." To him they sounded ominous. "It may be," he said, "that, as she is ill, the immigration authorities will not let her come to Toronto. I shall only exchange one fear for another, after this long waiting."

Will Watch the Trains.

As the Montreal train steamed in the waiting husband and father, with a friend, eagerly scanned the faces of those who descended from the train. It was in vain. Mrs. Ernst and the children were not among the passengers. His disappointment was sore, indeed, as he turned away, brushing his eyes with his hand. "I will come down early in the morning," he declared, "to meet the first train at 6 o'clock. If she is not on that, perhaps she will come on the 7.20, or the 7.35. If not—" He shrugged his shoulders sorrowfully, almost hopelessly, for the strain of the past few weeks has begun to tell on him, however with some kindly words of assurance and his "Gute nacht" was more cheerful.

MAY ELECTRIFY THE RAILROADS
C. P. R. Has Already A Considerable Mileage Electrified

There has been some talk of electrifying the several mountain passes on the Canadian Pacific, but this has however, for years had its electric railway — the Galt, Preston and Hespeler Railway, to be accurate — which was the first electric railway in the Dominion.

This line is 14 miles in length. It has its regular schedule; it has freight and passenger departments. The freight is handled at night, which is a mercy to the inhabitants. The passenger service is adequate and rapid. The cars are clean and are built after, as it would seem, the model of those of the Southern Counties Railway—large and comfortable.

Berlin has a population of 17,000 people and is one of the most aggressive cities in the Dominion—forging ahead, as it is, in manufacturing. Galt has 11,000 people; Preston 4,300 and Hespeler 2,886, and Waterloo 4,300.

It may be taken for granted that the larger question of general electrification has not occurred to the official mind. It is like the coal question.

Every now and then an alarmist figures out that the coal supply of [illegible], and that in the course of a day [illegible] a couple of centuries at the [illegible]—there will be a freezing world, which will not have an ounce of coal with which boil the national tea-kettle.

Whereupon another wizard of figures comes out with the announcement that the coal supply of the world will last for 550,000 years, and that we may go to bed and sleep as far as that issue is concerned.

Electrification has excited considerable discussion in the American press. It is recognized that the railways will come to it, sooner or later, not so much because of coal exhaustion as because electric science, in the course of a few years, will have reached such perfection as to make it predominant in our industrial and domestic life.

When that that time comes the problem will be simplified; and the world will see, without surprise, the trains moving at the rate of 100 miles an hour, without visible power to explain the phenomenon. No one will elevate an eyebrow any more than did the British public an eyebrow when, after solemn rehearsal, resolution passed by the wise men of the time in London, it was declared that gas could nev'r be forced through up into the drawing room of John Jones—Mary Jane produced the new illuminant with the aid of a match. When the thing is accomplished the edge of doubt and expectancy becomes blunted.

LIBERALS CARRY SOUTH BRUCE BYE-ELECTION BY 125 MAJORITY

After a Red Hot Campaign in Which Leaders Took a Prominent Part

Toronto, Oct. 30.—The bye-election in South Bruce, which took place yesterday to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Mr. J. J. Donnelly to the Senate, resulted in the election of Mr. R. E. Truax, the Liberal candidate, by a majority of 125. Mr. Truax is an old campaigner, having just finished his eleventh or twelfth campaign. He has sat in both the Legislature and the House of Commons before and is personally known to practically every voter in the riding, while this is Mr. Cargill's first attempt to enter the political arena. His father, however, represented this constituency at Ottawa in the past and was extremely popular in the riding.

A HOT CAMPAIGN.

The campaign was a particularly hot one, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. W. Mackenzie King and other prominent Liberals taking part, while Mr. Cargill was supported by Hon. C. J. Doherty, Hon. T. W. Crothers, Hon. Mr. Meighen, Hon. Sam Hughes and others.

RACIAL APPEAL.

An attempt to win votes by an appeal to racial feelings of the German residents of the riding was made within the past few days by Mr. Truax through a circular letter sent out and signed by the candidate. It was based on the report of a speech alleged to have been made in Vancouver in August, 1912, in which Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, was represented to have said that the "great peril was from Germany," and later that Germany must be taught a lesson, "and the lesson to be taught her was that Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand were behind the Mother Country." In the House of Commons last session Col. Hughes denied having made these statements, and said that the reports was not accurate. This statement of the Minister of Militia Mr. Truax altogether ignored in his endeavor to gain votes.

A CLOSE CONSTITUENCY.

Mr. Truax, the member elect, has been a prominent figure in the political life of South Bruce and has represented it in both the Dominion and the Ontario House. He sat in the House of Commons as the representative of the former division of East Bruce in 1891, and represented the Liberals in the Legislature from 1894 to 1898, when he was defeated by a small majority, but he was returned in 1902, afterwards resigning his seat to contest the Federal seat against Mr. Donnelly in 1911, when he was defeated by a majority of 165.

The Conservative candidate fought his first political campaign, [illegible] is well-known in the county. Mr. H. Cargill, his [illegible] having represented East Bruce in the Conservative interests in 1887, 1896 and 1900, and having won two bye-elections as well. South Bruce was created in 1904, when Mr. Donnelly was returned. The Liberal candidate secured a majority in 1904, but the new Senator was elected in 1908 and 1911. The majorities have never since the creation of the constituency reached the two hundred mark.

ENGAGED 40 YEARS BRIDE 76, GROOM 82,

[illegible] Finally Conquers Fear of Sea Voyage to Marry Her Lover.

Montreal, Oct. 30.—After being engaged for forty years Miss Evelyn Smithers, aged 76, of Glasgow, has decided to marry her fiance, J. H. Campbell, of Winnipeg, aged 82.

Miss Smithers arrived here this morning on the Allan Liner Virginian en route for Winnipeg where the ceremony is to take place.

Hitherto Miss Smithers, who became engaged to Mr. Campbell in Scotland, has been afraid to cross the ocean and put the marriage off from year to year in the hope that Mr. Campbell, who is a grocer in Winnipeg, would make enough money to justify his retiring to his old home for the rest of his days. As Mr. Campbell has never been able to do this Miss Smithers at last conquered her fear of the sea.

Made No Difference.

"What are you doing, dear?" asked the little girl's mother as she paused to look at some very strange marks the child was making on a piece of paper.

"I'm writing a letter to Lillie Smith," was the answer.

"But, my dear," laughed the mother, "you don't know how to write."

"Oh, that doesn't matter, mother! Lillie doesn't know how to read."

SIR E. SWAYNE TO SETTLE IN CANADA

Former Governor of British Honduras Will Go to Alberta.

London, Oct. 30.—Sir Eric Swayne ex-Governor of British Honduras, who recently visited Alberta, has decided to settle in the Okanagan Valley.

Dr. G. A. Anderson, of Calgary, is here taking a post-graduate course. Other visitors are A. E. Porthouse, of Medicine Hat; P. S. Osler and J. E. Theriault of Edmonton.

DISASTER IS TOLD IN BOTTLE MESSAGE

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Oct. 30.—Three crystal water bottles floated into the Hydraulic Canal this morning. Each bore a pennant on which were the numerals "3-6." One was empty, one broken and in the other was the message: "October 22, 1913: Boat John S. Kirby, sinking fast. (Signed) Captain Palmer."

Nothing is known here of the boat John S. Kirby, nor is anything known as to the authenticity of the message. The bottles and the message were turned over to the police.

HOME RULE ACT FOR IRELAND

Copenhagen, Oct. 30.—The differences between Denmark and Iceland have been settled. Denmark will accord absolute home rule to Iceland, but all bills involving state affairs must be submitted to the government of Denmark. The new constitution of Iceland, the adoption of which will depend on the elections next Easter, will confer universal suffrage on every one, including women who are over 21 years of age.

MR. F. W. MILLER GETS LETTER FROM WOODMEN

Mr. F. W. Miller and Family.

Dear Sir,—At the last regular meeting of Sherwood Forest Camp, No. 50, Woodmen of the World, I was authorized to transmit to you, in accordance with a unanimous resolution, the deepest sympathy that is felt for you by the officers and members of the Camp, at the present time when you are mourning the loss of your beloved son, a loss that is severely felt, no matter at what age it comes.

The members of the Camp desire you to know that they feel for you in the hour of your affliction and trust that you may find some measure of comfort by the expression of sincere sympathy on the part of the members of the Camp. We know, however, that you will not sorrow as one without hope, but as one who may look forward in faith, in those promises, whose Author has given us the principle upon which one order is founded to a happy reunion in the great hereafter.

Signed on behalf of Sherwood Forest Camp, No. 50
A. A. Haskill,
Clerk.

CONFERENCE IS EXPECTED OVER HOME RULE ROW

Mr. Redmond and Sir Edward Carson, However, May Not be Admitted—Fighting Leaders Keep in Background

London, Oct. 30.—No serious Ministerialist expected Mr. Bonar Law to throw over Sir Edward Carson. No serious Unionist to-day expects the Government voluntarily to act on Mr. Bonar Law's demand for dissolution. Sir Edward Carson's speech yesterday shows that Ulster's solemn covenant is no bar to a settlement by consent for all that thousands of Ulster men have pledged themselves to fight against the Irish Parliament which is being forced upon them.

Conference is Expected

Mr. Bonard Law's speech is accepted as meaning that negotiations will shortly take place between the leaders of the two English parties, not, however, including Mr. Redmond, or Sir Edward Carson. More significant than what Mr. Bonar Law said is his silence regarding the Smith-Churchill proposal to exclude Protestant Ulster from the scope of the Home Rule Bill. It is understood that this proposal was agreed upon as a basis for a conference proposed under the stimulus of the King's insistent desire for a settlement by consent.

Even Mr. Redmond and Sir Edward Carson were prepared to discuss it sympathetically, but Mr. Asquith, upon consideration, rejected it, as also did the body of the back bench Unionists, who are persuaded that Ireland must be treated as indivisible.

Local Autonomy

Hence Ulster's exclusion is now dropped in favor of the idea which Sir Edward Grey outlined for the creation of a special Ulster autonomy within the jurisdiction of the Irish Parliament, and for the administration of certain Ulster services, such as education and police, by representative Ulster bodies, with full power to meet local susceptibilities. The Government also think that the nominations for the Irish Senate will give ample room for conciliating Ulster.

THE WEATHER

Mostly fair and cooler to-day with frost and snow.

10,000,000 FEET OF NATURAL GAS FROM BOW ISLAND

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Bow Island in Alberta, has secured a flow of natural gas estimated at 10,000,000 cubic feet per day. Local men who are interested were informed of this to-day. A company there is supplying natural gas to Calgary, but Bow Island refused to grant the company a franchise.

Instead, the citizens subscribed to a public fund and thus defrayed the cost of sinking their own well. The work was completed yesterday.

ULSTER'S ANSWER TO ASQUITH

The following Ulster covenanters' hymn, set to music as a tenor solo, is published in Belfast:

The gathering storm, the battle-cloud
  Are workings of Thy hand,
Who hither led, and here hath blest
  In their appointed land
Our race made strong by war and toil,
  The lot whereby are tried
The servants whom Thy will elects
  To conquer and abide.

'Mid tumult of oncoming strife
  We hear Thy trumpet-call,
From where Thy haggard soldiers manned
  The beleaguered city's wall,
Whose joy-bells told the beaten foe
  Thy covenant is sure;
And by Thine hand shall those be saved
  Who to the end endure.

To us for sign Thy might has given
  Fermanagh's battle field,
Where, broken by her yeomen's charge,
  The trained battalions reeled
In wreck before the men whose hearts
  Were as the hearts of those,
The chosen few, whom Gideon led Against Thy people's foes.

As with Thy sons whom Thou didst call
  Of old to wield the sword,
That smote the tyrant—priest or king—
  So deal with us, O Lord.
To meet Thy searching trial grant
  The faith that does not shrink;
And the cup our fathers drank
  Give us the strength to drink.

NO CONFERENCE REDMOND SAYS; DOUBTS BATTLE

Will Still Advance Full Steam Ahead Till Parliament Assembles—Anti-Home Rulers Lack Co-Operation

Dublin, Oct. 30.—"We will still advance, full steam ahead, in spite of Mr. Bonar Law's threats. The Irish Parliament will assemble early in 1915."

This is the answer of Mr. John Redmond, given in an exclusive interview on his arrival late last night from London. He had read special editions with a summary of the Unionist leader's address at Newcastle.

Questioned as to possibilities of a conference, Mr. Redmond declared: "There is nothing to confer about. We will never accept anything in the nature of exclusion for Ulster. It is a united Ireland we have been fighting for, and it must be the whole Ireland which comes under the operation of the Home Rule Bill.

"I am sure the sympathies of Canada and the other Dominions are with us. Hundreds of letters from overseas reach us every post offering financial aid and encouragement."

If a conference is impossible, are you prepared to discuss informal suggestions? Mr. Redmond was asked.

"The time for informal suggestions has passed; they should be made in debates; we do not think the Ulster measure of the Unionist press makes out a case. At any rate Ulster is in the minority, and although we are perfectly willing to protect the rights of the minority as far as possible, in Ireland the majority must not suffer. Home Rule must not be imperilled.

"I would suggest Mr. Bonar Law's speech rather shows there is not that complete harmony between the Carsonites and the Unionist leaders which is claimed. Mr. Bonar Law said, Ulster and their leaders have acted by themselves and have not consulted us. It is their responsibility."

AND THEN IT HAPPENED

TORONTO UNIONIST MOVEMENT IS VERY RAPIDLY GROWING

Many Adherents Enrolled at Private Meetings in West End—Strict Secrecy Being Observed

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Several hundred men in the West End of Toronto subscribed last night to the resolution passed in Massey Hall on Oct. 10th, when Rev. Wm. Maguire addressed a meeting on behalf of the Unionists in Ulster. The places of meeting and the hour were kept a secret, and none of the prominent Unionists believed to be associated with the movement will say that the meetings were held or that they were not held—but they assert that the movement is purely a Unionist one, and has no connection with the Orange Lodges.

Many Prominent People

It was learned that the resolution printed in yesterday's issue, binding adherents to the cause to assist Ulster in its struggle to maintain its present position in the Empire is being taken up by a large number of prominent citizens and earnest Unionists, and that progress in the West End is as satisfactory as it was in the East End.

An official announcement may be expected when the organization is completed, but for the present those engaged in the work of enrolling sympathizers are observing the greatest secrecy.

Support is Strong

Rumors of these meetings have reached the Old Country, and already inquiries are coming from there as to the strength of the organization and its proposed movements. Nothing can be learned definitely from those who naturally are assumed to be the leaders.

There is no doubt however, that the militant spirit against the Home Rule is far stronger in Toronto than was at first supposed even by prominent Unionists.

"This is not a measure affecting Ireland alone, but the whole Empire," said Rev. Wm. Maguire, when speaking at County Hall. Throughout the city there are men who agree with this and who feel that they are as intimately concerned in the Home Rule bill as if it affected Quebec instead of Ireland.

An attempt is being made to abrogate the constitutional rights of a part of the Empire, and in Toronto as elsewhere, thousands of Britishers are willing to risk everything to help Protestant Ulster to resist injustice. In this spirit the secret organization is making rapid headway.

Winnipeg Already Organized.

The movement in Toronto seems to follow very closely the lines of the movement in Winnipeg where 500 men and 100 nurses are organized and on rather more than temporary footing. Drills there have taken place and the nurses have shown they will follow the men folk to the front.

CHAIRMAN GENEST AULLS THE BILINGUAL ROW PROVINCIAL WIDE

Ottawa, Ont. Oct. 30.—Chairman Samuel M. Genest, of the Ottawa Separate School Board, had written to the Ontario Educational Department asking for a specific statement of the grounds upon which the grant to the Ottawa board has been refused.

This statement will be presented at the next meeting of the School Board on November 13, when it will be decided to sue the Province. If the Province refuses to grant permission to sue, then the board will present a petition of rights.

Dr. Freeland, one of the two Irish members of the school board, who is supporting the French in their opposition to the new regulations, explained his stand to-day. Dr. Freeland said:

Two Kinds of Schools.

"It must be remembered there are two kinds of schools to which these new regulations may apply. There are schools in the large centres like Ottawa, where there are enough children to form French and English classes. To separate the children makes for efficiency and economy. Then there are the smaller schools in the country where the French and English children must necessarily be in the same classes. Rule 17, although it has a number of gross errors in it, was formulated largely for these mixed schools. To apply it here in Ottawa would injure our English separate schools. If English had to be used as the language of instruction in the French classes, there would be no advantage in separating the French and English pupils. The result would be that bi-lingual teachers would be needed in all the schools. The English-speaking scholars would be kept back in their studies. The system which we have developed in this city would be destroyed.

A CROOK IN TORONTO TRIED TO REPEAT MOST NERVY TRICK

Man Who Worked the Cool Cash Register Robberies in Big Store Caught

Toronto, Oct. 30.—In the person of Fred Bradt, who was arrested by Detective Twigg and Taylor in the Robert Simpson store the police believe they have one of the nerviest thieves who has ever passed through their hands. He is held on the charge of theft, two charges of fraud and two charges of attempted fraud, to all of which he has admitted his guilt.

Bradt is the man who entered the Simpson store on September 29, and after removing his hat, visited various cash registers and requested the girls in charge to count up their change. Then he accompanied a systematic round of the counters where the registers were [illegible], and collected the money amounting to $100. With the cash in his possession he disappeared from the store.

[illegible] Cheque

Three weeks later he made a reappearance, but this time he adopted different methods, which, however, were as [illegible] as his former plans. Standing by the fur counter he noted a couple purchasing furs for which the man tendered a cheque. The salesman advised the customer that the cheque would have to be approved in the head office before he could deliver the goods. As soon as Bradt heard this he went to the office and informed the clerk that the cheque was needed downstairs as the police wished to look it over.

By this time the cheque had been initialed as good, and the clerk suspecting nothing wrong, handed it over to Bradt. Armed with this, the accused went to the gents' furnishing department where he purchased several articles, tendering the cheque and receiving $19 in change.

[illegible] Opportunity

With a copy of the Simpson O.K. mark he wrote another cheque for $25.50, signing it "James Anderson" which he also succeeded in negotiating. Subsequently he put in two more cheques marked in similar fashion, but owing to the delay in their being cashed his [illegible] try the cash registers under the pretext that he was an inspector, but this time the detectives were on hand and placed him under arrest.

He was arraigned in the police court this morning and formally remanded for a week.

Made of Wheat — Contain a Drug
TENDS TO — TENDS TO

Rosy Complexion — Sallow Complexion
Good Digestion — Stomach Trouble
Good Liver — Bad Liver
Good Heart — Heart Palpitation
Peaceful Nerves — Shattered Nerves
Good Flavour — Good Flavour
No Drug — Caffeine, a Drug
Energy — Weakened from Drugging

Try each and judge for yourself.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum requires fifteen to twenty minutes boiling to bring out the rich flavour and food value.

Instant Postum requires no boiling, but is made instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful of the soluble powder in a cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

Drink it instead of tea or coffee,

CARE OF MILK AND CREAM

It is impossible to produce clean milk and cream unless the cows, stable, milker, utensils, and separator are clean.

To wash milk utensils use, first, cold water for rinsing; second, warm water containing a small quantity of good washing powder for cleaning; third, boiling water or steam for sterilizing.

Use a metallic strainer; it is practically impossible to keep cloth strainers sweet and clean and free from bacteria.

Skim the milk as soon after milking as possible, and cool the cream at once.

Skim a cream testing from 35 to 45 per cent.—the richer the cream the better it will keep. By skimming a rich cream, more skim milk is left at home for food, and there is also a smaller bulk on which to pay express charges.

Do not mix warm, new cream with cold cream until it has been cooled.

Keep the cans of cream in a tank of cold water until time of delivery.

Wash the separator thoroughly after each separation.

Deliver the cream to the creamery or cream station early in the morning.

Deliver the cream not less than three times a week during the summer, and twice a week during the winter.

Protect the cans of cream from the sun by covering with canvas or with a wet sack while on route.

Ancient Church Tower

At a vestry meeting of St. Mary, Moseley, Birmingham, Canon Hopton said the church council had decided to recommend the preservation of the tower of the church, built in 1514. It was the only old part of the church, and so far as the district was concerned was the only ancient building left.

Return of the Sea Serpent.

Capt. Ruser, who is now commander of the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria and has been designated to command the colossal Imperator, says in his log of July 5, 1912 (as quoted in Annalen der Hydrographie), that at 6:30 a.m. of that day he, as well as his first officer and an Elbe pilot who was on board, saw a sea serpent in the water close alongside the ship, then off Prawle point. The creature was twenty feet long and appeared to be engaged in combat with some other marine animal, as it was lashing the sea violently with its tail. Its color was grayish blue on the back and whitish under the belly. The body was between a foot and a foot and a half in diameter. Capt. Ruser says that the whole length of the animal was visible, and there could be no mistake about its reptilian form.

A TINY REPUBLIC

No Woman Has Set Foot in It For Five Centuries

The newest of all European countries is far and away the tiniest. Its name is Mount Athos, and it came into existence when the Ambassadors of the Powers decided that, however else the Balkan question was settled, Mount Athos was to be an independent holy republic.

It is a mountain twice as high as Ben Nevis, near Salonika, and is certainly unique among the countries of Europe in the fact that no woman has set foot in it for five centuries. When, some years ago, the Queen of Roumania announced her intention of visiting it, the rulers of the holy mountain threatened to commit suicide if she persisted. The new republic, which has a little sea-coast of its own, holds another record. It is the only State in Europe whose national income is obtained solely by selling crucifixes, rosaries, amulets, and similar holy objects. As Mount Athos contains twenty-one monasteries, the export is quite a large one. The least-known of the other pocket countries of Europe is San Marino, in the heart of Italy. It also is a mountain, surrounded on three sides by perpendicular cliffs. It possesses nearly a hundred castles with an army of about one man to each castle. The last time San Marino was at war was when one General and twenty-three men solemnly marched out to assist Napoleon, who received them with full military honors. A little principality in Austria, Liechtenstein, has nominally been at war with Prussia ever since 1866. At any rate, peace has never been made.

RECTOR AND HIS SERVANT

She Denied Saying He Had a Face Like a Hearse

There was some amusement at Newry Sessions on the hearing of a case brought by Charlotte Vance, domestic servant, against the Rev. H. M'Knight, Rector of Kilkeel, to recover $16, one month's wages. The defendant, it was alleged, reproved her for buying oil. She stated that after some words he told her to leave the house, or he would kick her out. He said she should be in gaol and she was a miserable-looking creature. She denied having said he had a face like a hearse or that it was like a funeral. The defendant said the girl was ill-tempered and quarrelled with his butcher. She called him names. He had no experience of suffragettes, but this lady looked very like one. His Honor dismissed the case.

Havana's Maine Memorial.

The memorial of the birth of the Cuban republic, to be erected in Havana, is to be a monument composed of the forward turret of the ill-fated battleship Maine, resting on a round stone column supported by an octagonal base of three steps. Out of the smoke of an explosion at the top of the turret will rise the figure in Carrara marble of a maiden, representing the new republic and holding aloft the Cuban flag. Two gun muzzles will protrude from the turret, on its face will be five reliefs depicting scenes connected with the destruction and raising of the Maine, and below the turret will be a tablet with the laurel entwined American and Cuban shields, and an inscription.

"A Progressive Peterborough"

Our Point of View

It would appear that most of the Mexican electors remained away from the po,ls. Can you blame them?

For some unwarrantable reason the terrorism at the Mexican elections has not been attributed to "Bob" Rogers.

Recorder Weir says that Montreal police are not capable of detecting whiskey by smell or taste. The poor little innocents may mistake it for ice cream soda.

We expected it. The information is forthcoming that the turkey crop is below the average. Well, Thanksgiving day in this country is past, and Christmas is still two months away. Sufficient for the day.

Now we are told that eugenic marriages are a failure. Neither the thunderings of the church nor the theories of science appear to be quite as powerful as the arrows of the little god. All things except the hearts of young maids and young men are susceptible to extraneous influences in this otherwise changeable world.

MODERN MISSIONS.

The work of a modern missionary is described in an article quoted in The Port Elgin Times. He has gone from New York to work in Alaska:

"He has travelled thousands of miles on snowshoes in company with a single Indian guide. The mercury has often been seventy below zero—fifty below has been common. This man is a dentist and a doctor; he extracts aching teeth; he washes out and dresses wounds, sores, and perscribes for sickness; he marries the young and buries the dead. He comforts the sorrowing, defends the helpless, stops illicit liquor drinking, puts his life in daily peril from cold and starvation and the revenge of wicked men. He helps the [illegible] and brings back to their memories the good lessons they learned at home."

There are many such missionaries working in all parts of the world, and they furnish the best answer to the question whether missions are worthy of support. Adverse criticism of missionaries is founded upon the notion that they are merely theologians engaged in spreading certain doctrines. The modern missionary is a physician, a social reformer and an all-round useful man or woman. The religious work is not neglected. The people who are benefitted by medical treatment and kindness begin to reflect that the religion which produces such fruits must be a good one. Their suspicions are disarmed. They are in a receptive mood.

Such missionaries do not make trouble for the countries they represent. On the contrary they are diplomats and ambassadors in the broad and modern game SSFCDSC FSCFSC ern sense. They convey everywhere a good impression of their religion and their country.

Do Your Looks Quite Satisfy You?

IF YOUR COLOR IS BAD, IF YOU SUFFER FROM PIMPLES, HERE IS GOOD ADVICE.

Fine Results in Two Weeks

Miss Nettie E. Callaghan, a well-known young lady in Middleton, writes as follows: "I was affected for two years with a rash and ugly looking pimples that spread over my face. My color was poor, and my blood evidently completely out of order. Certainly it was a most despairing sort of a case, because various treatments did but little to help me. A friend of mine in Toronto, Ont., advised me to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills, so I sent at once for five boxes. In two weeks I felt like new—looks improved, spirits rose, and I felt I was getting well. I have used this remedy for a long time, and now wouldn't be without it."

If you are in ailing health, have blood disorders, stomach trouble, or headaches, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will help you quickly. All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c. per box, five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

SEX TOPICS IN THE SCHOOLS.

From the day the Prussian schoolmaster got the credit of the armed sweep of the Germans from the Rhine to Paris, the public schools have been the first hope of everyone with social reform at heart. If the tenement dwillers are found illnourished, the children in the city grades are forthwith taught cooking. If men and women undo themselves with drink, the schoolboys and girls are drilled by law in the effects of alcohol. No wonder then that since people have at last awakened to the havoc wrought by vice, many have taken for granted that the public schools must, henceforth, teach the inmost mysteries of life and inculcate the hygiene of sex as nonchalantly as the rules of grammar. Already programs have been prepared; already bibliographies for teachers are in the pedagogical reviews; already vade mecums, telling what ought not to be known, are advertised on every hand.

But there are signs that teachers and school committees, not to mention parents, pastors or the educational and religious press, are pausing for a saving second thought. In England the school journals are pointing out the difficulty and the dangers of the special instruction urged. Public opinion sharply voiced is calling attention to the harm sure to follow the average schoolroom handling of the delicate topics involved.

No doubt much evil comes through just such ignorance as formal instruction would remove; but still more evil comes through just such precocious curiosity and such oblique indoctrinations as formal classwork would foster and not displace.

Of course in every practicable way, the school must be made to help the neglected child of unclean parents. But the farsighted reformer in matters of sex will think twice before asking the school to undertake indiscriminately and in mass whatever fathers and mothers, pastors and family physicians find it hard to do wisely for the children one by one. And in any case reformers, parents, teachers should never assume for a moment that in these intimate matters more knowledge means of itself more safety or self-control.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

MORAL REFORM SOCIETY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would like to ask through the columns of your valuable paper if there is a moral reform society in this city. Kindly publish the same.

Moral Reform.

Reply.—We are informed by Rev. Jas. Rollins that there is no branch here of the Society named.—Ed.

THROUGH CENTRAL BRITISH COLUMBIA

The first white woman to go over the Grand Trunk Pacific route from Edmonton, Alta., to Prince Rupert, B.C., is Miss Ellison, the daughter of the Honorable Price Ellison, Minister of Finance and Agriculture in the British Columbia government. Mr. Ellison and his daughter, made the journey through to the Coast over the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway to end of steel near Prince George, B. C., thence across country to the end of steel at Morricetown, B.C., 285 miles east of Prince Rupert, taking the train there and proceeding to the Coast by rail.

In an interview Mr. Ellison stated that he had had the time of his life. The route passed through a magnificent country and the railway itself was splendidly built. The scenery was superb. Right through the mountains of the Yellowhead Pass route it was second to none on the Continent. Miss Ellison was especially in raptures with it.

Mr. Ellison is particularly convinced that when the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific is known it will, for the scenic effects alone, attract many thousands from the United States and Europe, while settlers will come in large numbers when the fertility of the soil of Central British Columbia is appreciated.

THE BEST DIGGERS

The Gopher of the Plains Wonderful Little Creature

It is said that, of all living creatures the gopher is the one most perfectly adapted to digging in the ground. This creature is short-legged, almost neckless, without visible ears, and with extremely small eyes. In its tunneling work the gopher employs its long and powerful front teeth as a pick to loosen the ground. At the same time the fore feet, which are armed with long, curved claws, the sides of the toes being lined, in turn with bristles that prevent the passage of dirt between them, are hard at work both in digging and in pressing the dirt back under the body. Then the hind feet take it and push it farther back.

When a sufficient quantity of earth has been accumulated in the rear of the gopher, the animal whirls about, and by bringing his "wrists" together under his chin, with the palms of the "hands" held vertically, he pushes the earth out in front. A gopher will move backward just as rapidly as forward, and he can push the soil either way. His movements in excavation are almost as rapid and automatic as those of a shuttle. It has been estimated that a pocket-gopher can make two hundred complete strokes with his teeth in one minute. The jaws are so arranged that thirty-eight distinct single cuts are made by the forward stroke of the jaw, and twenty-eight by the backward stroke. Thus, it will be seen, the jaws of this curious little creature may accomplish a grand total of thirteen thousand two hundred cuts a minute when in active operation. He is immensely destructive to crops, and is, therefore, not popular.

The pocket-gopher digs as long as he lives, extending his burrow from year to year. He digs all summer and generally all winter, since he is not a hibernating animal. All his life is practically passed underground, except when, for an instant, on rare occasions, he emerges into the air to push a load of earth from a freshly opened hole. But he vanishes so quickly that it might be said he is never seen.

If a gopher in captivity finds a whole potato he will cut off little slices, trimming them to suitable shape with his sharp teeth, and transfer them to his cheek-pouches by a swift movement. To remove them from the pouch he presses his fore feet [illegible] against the sides of his head and carries them rapidly forward, dumping the contents of the pouches on the ground before him. These pouches are often packed so full of bits of roots, stems and leaves as to give the gopher a strangely distorted appearance.

LADY'S MENAGERIE

Stockbroker Complained of Being Annoyed by His Neighbor

A further case arising out of a Sydenham lady's domestic "menagerie" was heard at the Greenwich Police Court. Mrs. Juliette Hughes was summoned for abusing her neighbor, Mr. T. Owen, a stockbroker. Mr. Thomas, counsel for Mr. Owen, said that Mrs. Hughes kept a number of dogs and ducks and geese—quite a menagerie, in short. He read a letter which she had written to Mr. Owen, saying that he had accused her of stealing a garden hose. "You have spoiled my character," she wrote, "and children call me a French pincher." The conduct of Mrs. Hughes had become unbearable. Mr. Owen had been in his house for seventeen years, and was most anxious to stop this annoyance. Mr. Owen, sworn, said that Mrs. Hughes from her front garden called to him, "Can you smell the geese? Can you smell the rubber burning?" There had been some words over the garden hose and some geese, and they had had to call in a sanitary inspector about the smell from the geese. He had put up with the annoyance for two years. Mrs. Hughes now said she remarked to someone in her house, "Can you smell the rubber burning?" She did not apply the remark to Mr. Owen. She admitted sending pictorial postcards to him on which she had written, "Can you smell the geese?"

Mr. Hutton bound Mrs. Hughes over to keep the peace for twelve months, and ordered her to pay 50 cents costs.

STRIKE RIOT

A Lively Time at a Boot Factory in England

Owing to the introduction of outside labor during a strike at the boot factory of Messrs. Loake Brothers at Melbourne, England, a riot took place. the firm, who do not employ unionists, dismissed one man who joined the union and endeavored to persuade others to do so. Forty men handed in notices and Messr. Loake imported five men. The others resented the introduction of such labor, and a crowd of 600 demonstrated outside the factory. Police reinforcements were hurried on to the scene, but were assailed with stones. The rioters, after smashing the factory windows, attacked the manager's house, wrecking the windows. The police made baton charges, dispersing the strikers.

DREAMS TRACED TO MEMORY

Scientific Explanation for What is Referred to as Phenomena Now Accepted.

Almost all scientific observers agree that the materials of which dreams are made are memories of past experiences of the individual. Curiously enough, the memories that occur most frequently are those of the previous day and those of early childhood. The former class are to be found in every dream, and are probably an essential condition to its formation; the latter (recollections of childhood) seem to be of even greater importance, since they contribute much to the hidden meaning of the dream.

In many cases where the incidents of a dream seem to be entirely unfamiliar it has been shown by careful investigation that they correspond to actually experienced events that have escaped the memory of the waking self. Delboeuf records an interesting example of this. In 1862 he dreamed that he found two lizards in the snow. He took them up, warmed them, and placed them in a hole in a wall, together with a small fern, which he knew they liked to eat. The name of the fern seemed in his dream to be Asplenium ruta muralis. Later on in his dream he saw two other lizards come and eat the remains of the fern, and then a whole host of lizards coming to the wall in a long procession which covered the entire street. On waking he could not remember ever to have heard the name of the fern in his dream, although he discovered that a fern called Asplenium ruta muraria really existed. Sixteen years later, however, he happened to be turning over the pages of a friend's album of dried flowers, and to his surprise came across the very fern, with the Latin name written underneath in his own handwriting. He then remembered that in 1860, two years before the dream, he had met the sister of this friend, and to please her had written the Latin names under the various plants in her album at the dictation of a botanist.

Fifteen years after the dream he also discovered the source of the lizard procession in an old illustrated paper, dated 1861, which as a regular subscriber he must have seen. [illegible] of a similar nature are on record, and go to show how remarkably heightened the memory may be in dreams. They also warn us not too readily to believe that incidents in a dream which seem entirely new are really so.

ENGLANDS INCOME FROM ABROAD IS $520,000,000

London, Oct. 30.—England's assessed income from abroad as set forth in the income tax statistics of last year, reached the immense total of $520,000,000, which represents capital of nearly $13,000,000,000. These incomes are derived from foreign mines gas works, water works, tramways, breweries, tea and coffee plantations, nitrate grounds, oil fields, land, financial, telegraph, cable, shipping and insurance companies, branches of banks and mercantile companies, mortgages on property, loans and deposits abroad and profits of all kinds arising from business done abroad by manufacturers, and commission agents. When it is realized how great is the capital invested by Englishmen abroad in these varied enterprises the immense aggregate income, outside that included in the income tax statistics, can be imagined.

According to the same statistics there are 314 persons in the United Kingdom with an income of $275,000, which means that there are that many persons possessing a capital of about $6,000,000 each. But these are not the richest Englishmen. There are 66 with an income of $500,000 and over, 55 with an income of from $375,000 to $500,000, 37 with incomes of $325,000 to $375,000 and 50 with incomes of from $275,000 to $325,000. Furthermore there are 4,142 persons with incomes of $50,000 and over, which means the possession of a capital of $1,000,000 or more. Consequently the total of persons in the country who possess at least $1,000,000 do not fall short of 4,571.

LORD STRATHCONA SEEMS VERY FRAIL

Appeared at Funeral of Mrs. Chipman—Many Floral Tributes Were Seen.

London, Oct. 30.—The funeral of Mrs. Chipman took place to-day from St. Mary, Abbotts Church, Kensington. The mourners included Lord Strathcona, who seemed very frail and Hon. Mrs. Howard.

An exquisite large cross of lilies and violets from Lord Strathcona stood near the coffin. Other floral tributes and messages came from Sir Chas. Tupper, who regretted the state of his health forbade his coming to London from Bexley Heath; Sir Thomas Skinner and other directors of the Hudson Bay Company; Winnipeg, members of the British Association in memory of the hospitality at Fort Garry during the Association's visit to Canada, and many others.

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its features and price.

He deems these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this news through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his servic to keep the public informed.

GIRL IN MAN'S DRESS

Masquerading Card Room Worker Sent to Prison for Theft

Sentence of six months' hard labor was passed at Bolton Quarter Sessions on Martha Alice Hodson, twenty-two, a cardroom worker, for theft.

Counsel said the young woman had an "extraordinary mania for masquerading in male attire."

It was shown that a year or two ago she was arrested, attired in male clothing. In December last she was liberated on license from a Borstal institution, and returned to her home in Bolton. A fortnight later she disappeared, and obtained lodgings in Blackhorse street. She stayed a couple of nights, and then disappeared taking with her a full suit of clothing belonging to a young man in the house.

She proceeded to Rumworth Park, where, in one of the buildings she cut off her tresses and changed her own clothing—which she left behind—for that of the young man's which she had stolen.

Thus disguised she obtained lodgings as a young man at several different houses, representing herself to be employed successively in local factories, or as a collier.

The accused pleaded hard for leniency, but the Recorder said she had had her chances.

Might Have Been a King

Captain Philip Henry Nicholls, of Longsight, who died at the ripe age of ninety-three, once had an island offered to him. Whilst cruising in the Pacific he touched land at the Soo Loo Islands, and speedily became a favorite with the rulers. They conferred honors upon him, presented him with the sword of state and other regalia, and offered to give him an island for himself if he would settle there. The gallant captain, however, discovered there was a matrimonial alliance with a dusky princess behind all this kindness, and, his affections being otherwise engaged, he rejected the offer and resumed his voyaging.

FOUND LONG LOST WIFE

Soldier of Fortune Strangely Guided After Years of Wandering

A dramatic reunion of an aged husband and wife took place at a house on St. Dominique street, Montreal, when Sergt. Welland, who had been mourned by his wife as dead for 35 years, suddenly appeared at her kitchen door. Welland had not the slightest idea in the world when he knocked that his long lost wife lived within. Mrs. Welland was washing the tea dishes when the knock came. She opened the door, a weary old man without begged for a bite to eat. One glance was sufficient for each to recognize in the other the long lost partner in life.

Sergt. Welland's tale was a thrilling one. Thirty-five years ago, while he and his wife were living in Egypt, he enlisted under the Turkish banner. He was at Plevna and was taken prisoner by the Russians. He was condemned to a dungeon for a year and a half; when the war ended he found his wife had left Egypt for some foreign country. For thirty-five years he searched the world for her.

TOWN BELOW SEA

Greek Lieutenant's Discovery off the Isle of Lemnos

A town below the sea has been discovered by Lieutenant Stilopulos, of Athens, while carrying out observations in connection with his naval duties, to the east of the island of Lemnos.

On reefs marked on the British Admiralty charts under the name of the Pharos Bank he found, at a depth of twenty-five metres, some ancient ruins which were perfectly visible, and proved the existence of a town of about three miles in circumference. Orders have been issued by the Greek Ministry of Marine to carry out scientific researches on the spot.

1394 Aliens Became Naturalized in England Last Year

According to a report by the Home Office, 1,394 aliens became naturalized Britons during last year. Of this number, Russia supplied no fewer than 493; but there was only one Bulgarian who decided to abandon the troublous land of his birth in favor of our more peace-loving country. On the other hand, 399 Germans wavered in their allegiance to the Kaiser, and chose to become loyal subjects of King George V.; whilst, despite the prospect of having to serve longer with the colors in the future, only 22 Frenchmen deserted the Republic, so greatly in need of men, and came to Britain, there to be naturalized. Of these new Britons, 1,222 took up their abodes in England and Wales, and 588 of them live in London.

Railway But no Roads

The medical arrangements required by the Insurance Act have drawn attention to the inaccessibility of many Scottish villages. To the Roxburghshire railway colony of Riccarton a special interest attaches. No roads lead to this well known junction; and a special train, which starts at 10.15 a.m., conveys worshippers to Hawick every Sunday morning. Free passes are supplied to railway employes and their families. To meet the medical requirements of the community, the railway directors permit Hawick doctors to travel to Riccarton on engines or in guards' vans and first class compartments, as they may find most convenient. Among other privileges peculiar to the district, goods are carried to the grocery store at half the usual rates.

Source of White False Hair

While fashion is decreasing for ladies many pinned-on hair puffs and braids, the white-haired woman would fare scantily if it were not for the long fleece of the Angora goat. A switch made of natural white hair costs in the neighborhood of $150, and is often unobtainable. The goats grow fleeces about 22 inches in length and yield about forty pounds in a year. The fleece is sold to the manufacturer for about $6 per pound.

Trade Unionism in Canada

In Canada there are over 160,000 workmen who are members of labor organization. The trades union membership throughout the world aggregates about twelve millions. Germany is first, Great Britain second, the United States third.

International unions in North America number 148, and 99 have affiliated locals in Canada.

WHITE CANNIBALISM

Terrible Story of Escaped French Convicts From Devil's Island

A story of cannibalism recalling the famous murder trial, R. v Dudley, in which wrecked sailors were indicted for killing and eating a ship's boy, was related in the French Press. Four convicts, named Mouillard, Bachereau, Fossey and Machevel, arranged to escape from Devil's Island, the penal colony in French Guinea. They left one night, and Bachereau promised to lead them to a place where they would be able to dig for gold and make enough to live on till they could escape from the colony altogether. They left with a sword apiece, some loaves of bread, and some preserved vegetables in tins. Fossey acted as guide, saying that he knew the way to the River Mana, where gold was plentiful. After a six days' march Fossey admitted that he had lost his way. The four men wandered about aimlessly for eight days more, living on roots. Starvation overtook them. Machevel broke down, and his three companions killed and ate him. By means of stealing a boat the survivors got to Mana, where they were able to steal a larger boat. They were wrecked at the mouth of the Maroni, and taken back to prison at St. Laurent. The three men confessed to eating their companion.

THE ENGLISH WAITER

One hundred and fifty British waiters and cooks left London for Canada, to take positions on dining cars. Nearly every day the United States sends fresh demands for British waiters, for there the old family butler is snapped up as eagerly as our art treasures.

Neither the United States nor Canada shares the prejudice of some English hotel proprietors that British waiters have not the right temperament for the work. "A nation that can produce the perfect butler," said Mr. Collings of the Loyal British Waiters' Society, "could, if encouragement and proper training were given, produce waiters unequalled anywhere on the continent. The old family butler, who is almost always British, possesses, if anyone does, the correct temperament. With him it almost amounts to an hereditary gift."

The fashionable clubs in St. James street, such as Arthur's, Boodle's, Brooke's, and White's, employ only British waiters. Many have grown old in the service, and are consequently allowed little formalities with the members. Not long ago a very old waiter with a shaking hand poured out a glass of wine for Mr. Asquith, asking politely: "How are your little troubles, sir?" The Prime Minister was not offended. He knew the sterling worth of the old man, which had won him the respect of all the members.—London Daily Mail.

FOWLS FOR MARKET

Should be in Good Condition—Fatten in Close Confinement

It does not pay to send fowls to market in poor condition; they neither sell readily nor at best price, and often the dealers must lose by them. Fowls that are poor should be fattened before going on the market; they should be put in rather close pens and fed not later than four times a day, and nothing is better to feed than ground corn or cornmeal, the latter preferred, mixed with water or milk. They must be given all they want of this each feed; they must be penned in a quiet place, with nothing to excite them, and, with the mash, must have access to plenty of water and grit. Two weeks is long enough to fatten; a longer time than from ten to fourteen days in close confinement tends to make them restless, after which they lose flesh instead of gain.

The chickens that go in the fattening pens must be in good health and free from lice. Charcoal in the water tones up the system of fattening birds and a little Epsom salts in the water occasionally is a good thing.

SANOL

The record of the now celebrated SANOL remedies is one to wonder at; unknown a few years ago, they are now widely used by citizens in their homes, in Sanitariums, Hospitals, and by practising physicians of standing.

SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES is a proven remedy for the dread disease Diabetes. The proof is given in the testimony of scores of people who have suffered from this disease, and who are now cured.

SANOL is a positive cure for Kidney trouble, Gall Stones, Bladder Stones and Lumbago. Its worth has been proven in hundreds of cases in Canada and abroad.

SANOL'S BLOOD SALT is a system builder and a tonic. It has been proven worthy by results in such complaints as Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn and Constipation.

SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES is sold at $2.00 per bottle; SANOL at $1.50; and SANOL'S BLOOD SALT at 50c.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parisite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

FAMOUS DANCER DIES

She Married Unsuccessfully and Passed Into Neglect

Claudia Cucchi, the once-famous dancer, from whose slipper the Czar drank a health, died in an almshouse in her native city of Milan. She took Milan, Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg by storm. One of the Grand Dukes asked her to marry him. She married an Italian, Colonel [illegible], but the union was dissolved, and she then returned to Milan to rest on her laurels at her palazzo in the Via [illegible], where her garden parties were famous among the nobility of the country. She married again, this time more unsuccessfully than on the first occasion. Her diamonds, worthy of a queen, gradually disappeared, the valuable presents received as mementoes from crowned heads and others were turned into cash, and at last the woman who had been very wealthy found herself compelled to start work again as a dancing mistress in a small way. Her coffin was followed to the grave by one solitary mourner.

London and its Lumber

London is the most conservative city in Europe, if not in the world. It loves its lumber. You may still see those notices attached to lamp posts which announce "Standing for Four Hackney Carriages," or whatever the number may be, though for years no vehicles of any kind have stood there. Perhaps it is as well that these relics should remain; they are a tiny part of our social history. They will probably remain when we are flying to dinner or the theatre in omni-aeros. By that time people won't know what "hackney carriage" meant, and there will be discussions in the "Notes and Queries" of the period. For each generation hands down to the next certain nuts to crack.—The London Chronicle.

Mason in the Pulpit

How a man passed as a curate and preached from the pulpit was described at Cardiganshire, when William Emlyn Jones, aged about thirty, from Carmarthenshire, a mason, was charged with having obtained lodging from Thomas Thomas, and with stealing various articles of clothing from John Davies. In each case he represented himself to be a curate at Ammanford, and gave the name of Harries. On a Sunday afternoon he conducted the service at Dihewyd Church. The sermon was based on the text, "The wages of sin." He was committed for trial.

Russian Proverbs

Characteristic Russian proverbs quoted in the "Petite Republique" are reproduced in the "Mail" as follows:

Choose a woman with your ears, not your eyes.

Heaven sends us walnuts, but does not crack them.

The man capable of making a fortune in a year deserves to be hung twelve months earlier.

You should not sow seeds if you are afraid of sparrows.

Charge of Tricking Lawyers

Four solicitors at Ammanford were alleged to have been duped by George [illegible], otherwise Murphy Finnegan, a labourer on tramp, who was committed for trial on charges of obtaining money by false pretences. It was alleged that he represented that he had been knocked down by a motor car, and asked each of the solicitors to act for him in a compensation claim, and they all gave him money when he told them he was penniless.

FREAKISH FRENCH FASHION

The dress illustrated was seen at the Longchamps racecourse, Paris, and was less than three-quarters of a yard around the foot. It was made of black velvet with an over-tunic of white silk ratine and a wide belt of the black.

Finger-print Identification

It is proposed to extend the advantages of the Bertillon system of identification to the whole population of Paris. In other words, it is suggested that in the case of accidents, deaths without trace of identification, etc., as in criminal investigations, the work of the police in identifying the individual would be greatly facilitated if everyone were in possession of an anthropometrical record of himself.

DO YOU KNOW?

That if light colored or white kid gloves are rubbed gently with bread crumbs after each wearing they will keep clean a long time.

That a most effectual trap for roaches is a basin with a little molasses in it. They easily fall into the pan, but can not get out.

That old-fashioned mutton tallow, which can be perfumed with a few drops of essence of rose, is very healing for chapped hands or lips or rough skin.

That the cover of a lard-pail is very convenient to place over the burner of a gas stove when heating something in a small dish or a cup.

That when you clean spiral bed-springs it may be easily accomplished if you use a dish-mop, and keep one just for that purpose. Get the dust out of the springs first with the dry mop, then dampen the mop and go over the metal a second time.

BEAUTIFUL, BUT A DEMON

Venomous Snake Admitted to the London Zoo

A new resident has arrived at the London Zoo. He is a snake of the most venomous kind, and goes by the name of Bushmaster. He has a big, ugly head and a beautiful body, but just at present he is very sleepy, because he wants to change his skin. This is not the first specimen of the kind that has been in Regent's Park, but the new arrival is the finest that has ever come to this country. He has not shown his peculiar temper yet, but the keepers are dealing with him warily, for he has an exceedingly bad character. His birthplace was Trinidad, in the West Indies, and he is supposed to be one of the quickest moving of all snakes, as well as the worst tempered. Lachesis (for that is his scientific name) lives in swamps, plantations and forests, both on plains and on hills, and his females are ridiculously prolific. The young are produced by dozens at a time. They are ten inches long at birth, and are brought into the world in a state of viciousness equal to that of their parents.

GREEN FOOD FOR HENS

If you have some hens, and want eggs, you must feed your chickens green food. During the summer and early fall you can give them plenty of grass cuttings, but during winter and early spring months there is nothing green out-of-doors.

The best way to supply the necessary green stuff is to buy some oats or wheat, make a bed of boards and raise your own food for the hens.

On the bottom of the shallow box put several layers of newspapers, liberally watered. Soak the oats or wheat overnight in water and spread them on the wet newspapers. Sprinkle often. In about four days the grain will begin to sprout. A few days farther along will see the green shoots several inches high. Cut off as much as needed, taking both grain and sprouts; feed well scattered so that each hen will get a share.

A good plan is to have more than one sprouting bed, so that while you are feeding one another may be growing up and still another may be starting to sprout.

Keep them in the warmest spot in the cellar and in the sunshine if possible.

Why Clocks Stop

The reason why mantlepiece clocks so often get out of order is so obvious that it is strange that attention to it has not been drawn before. A clockmaker says:

"It is because mantlepieces are rarely level. If a clock meant for a mantlepiece is not placed in an exactly horizontal position it is sure to go wrong. When the clock gains or loses because of its slanting position, people regularly move the hands forward or backward, as the case may be, in order to adjust it. Eventually the clock's hands are moved about so much that the mechanism gets out of order, and the clock refuses even to tick.

"Watches and traveling clocks are constructed differently from the stationary clock, and they will go in any position. That is why they are relied upon more than the ornamental mantlepiece clock."

A story of the remarkable return of a cat to its old home comes from Kirkcaldy. A miner visiting near Dunfermline was presented with a cat. With his gift in a basket he walked four miles to Halbeath Station and travelled by train to Kirkcaldy, a distance of about sixteen miles. On the evening following its advent in Kirkcaldy the cat could not be found. Nothing was heard of it for some time, when a letter was received from the previous owners saying the cat had returned, and that they would not now part with it on any consideration. The cat, which had been missing for over twelve weeks, was quite plump when it returned.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

FAMOUS SONG WRITERS

Author of "In Old Madrid"—Wrote 2,000 Ballads

One of the most prolific writers of songs who ever lived died in England, in the person of Mr. Clifton Bingham. More than 2,000 lyrics and ballads flowed from his facile pen, and among them were some of the last thirty years. He once said that he wrote on an average seventy to eighty ballads a year. Mr. Bingham scored his first success as a young man with "Love's Old Sweet Song," which was set to music by T. L. Molloy. Then came "Dear Heart," to music by Tito Mattei, and "In Old Madrid," with music by Trotere. In the case of the last-named the music was composed first and the verses written to it. The score lay in Mr. Bingham's desk for months, and repeatedly the author received postcards from the composer asking, "What about my music?" At last the inspiration came, and the words were written.

Mr. Bingham was a born ballad-writer. "Songs must come from the heart," he said, "and go to the heart." "Back to the Old Love" was written on a visiting card, and another song on the top of an omnibus at Brighton. More than one song was written in an underground train, but most of them were composed at a little desk which his father gave him. Mr. Bingham was a dark-skinned, active, genial little man, with a heavy black moustache, a slight lisp (which he vainly struggled to overcome), a pair of the sprightliest brown-grey eyes, and a winning manner that made him a universal favorite.

At the time when Mr. Bingham was at the height of his popularity the popular song was, as a rule, limited in its subjects to "angels and dying children." Commenting on this characteristic he used to tell a good story. "I had sold many dying child lyrics, and I determined to go to London to see my publisher. This was my first professional visit to him, and when I presented myself he stared at me in amazement. 'Good gracious!' he cried, 'judging from your songs I thought you were an old man with one foot in the grave!'"

Solway Firth Tragedy

Two Annan fishermen, Robert and Samuel Woodhouse, after two days weatherbound, left Maryport for home. There was a strong wind and a heavy sea, and a mile out a big wave struck the boat and washed Samuel, the younger brother, overboard. He was drowned before his brother's eyes. Robert, although overwhelmed with grief at his brother's sudden death, and in deadly peril himself, managed single-handed to run the boat up the Solway and obtain safety in Silloth Harbor. The drowned man was only twenty-two.

LOSS OF MEMORY

Glasgow Man Found Wandering in Chelsea

The Glasgow police were asked by the London authorities to trace the friends of a man who was found in King's Road, Chelsea, suffering from loss of memory. It was stated that he had just returned from the coast of Africa, and was on the way to his mother, who resided in the vicinity of Glasgow University. The man, about thirty-six years, was unable to give the address, and was detained at Chelsea Infirmary. He was well dressed and of gentlemanly appearance.

WHY MORE WOMEN THAN MEN?

The fact that in almost all civilized countries women outnumber men has been ascribed to the higher birthrate of girl babies; yet statistics show that 105 boys are born to every 100 girls. According to figures compiled by a European statistician, the girl has a better chance than the boy of attaining maturity.

He finds that from the third to the fifteenth year the mortality for both sexes is the same; from the fifteenth to the nineteenth year the girl's chances are slightly better than the boy's; from the thirtieth year to the thirty-fifth the mortality among women is smaller than among men, and it continues smaller until the seventieth year. Then, for a decade and a half, the sexes once more have the same chance of survival, but above eighty-five years of age, woman again stands a much better chance than man. To account for this difference the statistician points out that woman has greater resilience in shaking off disease than man. It is true that the physical strength of man is greater than woman's, but a woman's power of endurance is more robust. One reason for this is that woman possesses a finer perception of her power of endurance than a man, and when her perception warns her of fatigue, she stops. A man does not stop until his power is exhausted. His nervous system is not so finely organized as a woman's, and as Mosso, the Italian physiologist has pointed out, men and women are entirely dependent upon their nerves for caution not to over-exert. While it is true that women more easily contract many diseases, particularly nervous and mental diseases, than men, they overcome them more easily.

INHERITED WEAKNESS

Statistics Proving in a Striking Manner the Truth of Heredity

Tuberculosis is an infectious disease. It is "caught" from some preceding case, though not in so direct fashion as measles. It is not directly inherited, like feeble-mindedness and some forms of insanity.

But a weak constitution which makes the individual easy prey for the tubercle germ is inherited; and this is an item too often overlooked in studying this disease.

An English investigator examined the families of nearly 1,000 convicts with reference to tuberculosis—convicts chosen because he had them in hand and could question them at pleasure. The student tried to find the relation—if any—between consumption in the parent and frequency of the same disease in the children. The figures given take account of the children surviving at the age of 14 years, the age when liability to tuberculosis first becomes great.

In families where neither parent had tuberculosis, only 2.12 per cent. of the children reaching 14 years of age were affected with the disease.

In families where the mother alone had tuberculosis, 24.67 per cent. of the children surviving to the same age were tubercular.

In families where the father alone had consumption, 24.79 per cent. of the children had contracted the complaint.

In families where both parents were consumptive, 37.50 per cent. of the children were affected.

Not all the amazing difference shown by these figures is due to hereditary weakness. Children of a consumptive father or mother are more exposed to infection than children of healthy parents. But after this allowance is made, there remains a surplus of cases in consumptive families which can be accounted for only by inherited weak health.

The Aborigines of Australia

The aborigines of Australia are of a distinct race from that which inhabits the Indian Archipelago, and are black, with some slight variety of shade from brown-black to jet. Their hair is curly, but is not the crisp wool of the negro. Their faces are well developed broad at the base; their lips less protruding than those of the negro. Their bodies are deficient in muscularity and strength, but are capable of great endurance. It is said that they readily adopt European habits. These natives seldom build huts or other fixed dwellings, but use as a shelter a strip of bark or a large bough. The Australian aborigines are said to be rapidly decreasing in number, and it is thought that many years will not elapse before they are extinct.

Industrial Japan

Japan each year produces more than 250,000,000 bushels of rice, nearly 60,000,000 pounds of tea and more than 25,000,000 pounds of silk.

Flying Bicycle

A Massachusetts inventor has been granted a patent on a plane carrying bicycle, by which he believes it is possible to fly through the air.

Blinding Headaches From Catarrhal Irritation Now Quickly Cured

The New Inhaler Breathing Treatment Does Away With All This Sort of Thing.

"A stuffy cold in the head, or an old fashioned attack of Catarrh are simply ancient history to me nowadays," writes S. Nathan Smith, from Cornwall, Ont. "I used to have the worst kind of blinding headaches. They were torture to me on damp days when my catarrh was bad. I would still perhaps be suffering but for the fact that I saw a friend inhaling Catarrhozone with apparent pleasure, and I got the dollar outfit in the Windsor Hotel Pharmacy in Montreal. I could scarcely believe the way Catarrhozone cleared out my head. It let me breathe easier than I had breathed for five years. Catarrhozone has cleared away every vestige of Catarrh from my system. My breath used to be [illegible]—now it is sweet. My digestion was constantly disordered, but since the catarrh is cured I have no stomach trouble. I am a perfectly well man, and Catarrhozone did it all."

For speakers and singers and persons troubled with an irritable throat, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh or la grippe, Catarrhozone is of inestimable value.

The inhaler can be carried in your pocket and may be used at any time or in any place.

Large size, guaranteed, and sufficient for 2 months' use, costs $1; smaller size 50c.; sample size 25c.; all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

His many Peterborough friends will wish him continued prosperity.

A Wise Terrier.

The passengers on a Park street car were much amused when they saw a fox terrier gravely leading a horse by the latter's bridle strap down that thoroughfare. The owner of the horse walked along the sidewalk, fully trusting his dog to look after its charge. Just at the G.T.R. crossing another dog tried to pick a fight with the terrier. Although dogs of this breed would, as a rule, sooner fight than eat, the terrier realizing its responsibility, paid no attention to his would-be adversary.

Col. Sam's Pet Dog is Found.

Hon. Col. Sam. Hughes, Minister of Militia, on Wednesday rescued a pet dog owned by his daughter, at Welland, from the hands of the civic dog catcher. The Minister of Militia was taking a walk, followed by the little spaniel. A zealous catcher noticed it was without a tag. He gathered it under his arm and hurried to the pound. Col. Sam went to the station and told who he was. The chief of police apologized. "That's all right," answered Col. Sam, "always enforce the law, irrespective of persons. Better give me a tag."

A Hint Re Garbage.

Yesterday a barber living on George street entered a vigorous protest with Sanitary Inspector Spence. He complained that his garbage had only been taken twice within the past eight weeks. The Inspector admitted that this route had been twice overlooked. He explained to The Times that the gentleman who protested had taken in his garbage can when it was overlooked instead of leaving it out and notifying him.

A Coming Bridegroom

This, gentle reader, is an absolutely true story without varnish or suggestion of fiction. About two weeks ago an expert electrician came here in connection with work in a local factory. This gentleman told in glowing terms of the little bride he was to lead to the altar one week after his arrival. He spoke with aged wisdom of youth about the charms of his bride-to-be. He told how a man in love and about to be married should never look at another girl. After his first day's work was done, he persuaded Messrs. P. and Mac to point out his way to where he was stopping. These gentlemen saw him part of the way home and left him. Thinking the coming bridegroom might, with head full of thoughts of coming matrimonial bliss and austere resolutions not to look at any other woman, might wander astray, the two men followed on a side street. As they turned a corner they met the visitor with a pretty little Peterborough girl hanging to each of his arms. The girls, strangers to him, he had "picked up."

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girls! Try this! Makes hair thick, glossy, fluffy, beautiful — No more itching scalp

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Sick Headache, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach, mean Liver and Bowels are clogged—Cheer up!

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter, clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

GENUINE KING OPENS AUTO DOORS IN FRONT OF CAFE

Quibero, of Dahomey, Ousted From Throne When France Annexed Country

Paris, Oct. 30.—Auibero, the First King of Dahomey, which kingdom was annexed by France, now tends to the job of opening carriage and auto doors in front of a well-known restaurant, his royal person being bedecked with a green cloth coat down to his heels and a lot of gold lace.

The black majesty also sports on his manly bosom many orders and decorations, but doesn't like his job a bit. Said he to your correspondent:

"It makes me boil with rage to be obliged to open the doors for such females as frequent this place and for the foundlings that hang out here, but what was I going to do?

FOUGHT IN 26 WARS; WOUNDED

"France has stolen my country and murdered my royal father, yet the republic refuses me a pension. It wouldn't even give me a license to open a tobacco shop. I am 32 years old and a general in the Dahomey army. I have fought in 26 wars, was wounded three times and was made a prisoner thirteen times. I own eleven royal decorations—count them, yet I would have died of hunger in the streets if the cafe man had not taken me on account of my black hide and the decorations on my chest."

LOCKED FOUR DAYS IN FREIGHT CAR

New York, Oct. 30.—When the circus that visited West Paris, Me., last summer folded its tents and moved southward, 17-year-old Leon Cash left his father's farm and followed. A week ago found him penniless in New York. He started to walk home and Tuesday night was as far as New London, Ct.

He looked about for a lodging and in the New York, New Haven & Hartford freight yards was an empty freight car. He crawled in, curled himself up and slept several hours. When he awoke the car was in motion and the door was locked.

Yesterday a railroad detective was passing a car that had been four days on its journey from New London when he heard something stirring within. Then he and some yardmen broke the door and climbed in to find a boy stretched out on the floor of the car. He was too weak to stand and too weak to talk.

URGES DIVORCE IF LOVE FAILS

Prof. Barnes Declares That Modern Family is Devoid of Eugenic Conscience

Boston, Oct. 30.—That the modern family is devoid of any eugenic conscience and that divorce is far better than a loveless marriage were the contentions of Prof. Earl Barnes, of Philadelphia, who spoke at Ford Hall the other night.

In an address on "The Family of the Future," he criticised existing conditions which compel people who do not love each other to live together, which provide that all property shall be in the hands of the husband and which do not insure bringing into the world a healthy race. He said in part:

"Sex means something vastly more than bringing a new generation of babies into the world. It strikes our finest sensibilities and greatest emotions. Sex is universal. We are not going to jar it by tinkering with the family.

"If we had individual love and the whole institution of the family were done away with we would still have the women loving and working for the man, and the man loving and working and fighting for the woman.

LOVES MAKES LIFE COMPLETE.

"The value of family life is perfectly incalculable. Man's complete fulfilment lies in the man she loves. When they perfectly love each other there alone is perfection. If I had just one wish for a child I loved I would wish her a happy and continuous marriage.

"But there are serious defects in this institution we call the family. In the first place it lacks a sound foundation in the scientific truth of the modern world. The family is entirely without eugenic conscience as yet.

"The public has some idea of the importance of the matter, but not the family. Who 100 years from now will believe that in 1913 a marriage could be allowed to take place which could not help, but give one or more imbeciles to the world?

"In the second place, the family of today secures the subordination of the woman to the family group in a way that is absolutely unfair. The only reason that a woman marries a man in these times is because she loves him so much that he seems different.

"A marriage is a partnership in which the man pools his strength and health and love. But a woman pools everything she has. As the years go by she is tied down by the duties of the home, while he is free and has all the larger vision of the outside world.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR CHILDREN.

The National Council of Women of Canada has been asked to bring the following appeal to the notice of the general public in the hope that a hearty response may result.

The "Overseas Daily Mail" of London, England, is making an effort to distribute Christmas gifts among the very poorest children in London, and we are asked to make the scheme known to your readers.

It is intended also in this connection to hold a Doll show at Westminster, opening on December 9th, at which there will be a Dominions section, and the dolls and toys shown there will afterwards be given as Christmas gifts through school teachers, hospitals, etc., to those very poor children who would otherwise be forgotten.

It is believed that this will carry two purposes. It will help to give very real pleasure to many poor children who otherwise would go without Christmas gifts. It will further remind the thousands who visit the Doll Show how warm a place the children of London still retain in the hearts and affections of fellow countrywomen across the seas.

Any who are willing to help the good cause are asked to send either dressed dolls, or small sums of money, direct to "The Editor, Over-Seas Daily Mail, 2 Carmelite street, London, E.C., England, before November 30th. The dolls are to have the words "Dominions Section" fr[illegible] attached to each with a piece of tape.

THE LAURIER FLEET IS FARCE BEFORE THE WHOLE WORLD

Sir Richard McBride Talks to Empire Club on the Naval Situation

Toronto, Oct. 31.—The present was a rather interesting period in the life of Canada, said Premier McBride, addressing the Empire Club at luncheon this afternoon. We are just emerging from our youth and attaining full manhood, and he thought the nation should assume the full responsibilities.

This could be done best by closer co-operation with the other parts of the British Empire.

Much of Canada's property he attributed to the close touch in which they found themselves with the money markets of the world in London.

He noticed when he was in London that he was always meeting Canadians who were seeking money for various enterprises. And he wondered what sort of a man he was who would go to the centre of the Empire for the money he needed and yet seek to shirk his share of the burden of maintaining that Empire.

From the purely business standpoint, therefore, it was to the interest of Canada that an adequate Imperial navy should be maintained for the protection of this business centre from which so much strength was drawn. He hoped, however, that there were not many Canadians who would require to have their subject put before them from the business point of view.

He had seen in one of the morning papers that the naval question had been settled yesterday by a bye-election. To put forth such a contention for one moment was an offence to the intelligence of the people.

"The navy that Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave to Canada was looked upon the world over as a screaming farce." Sir Richard prefaced this remark by saying that he had no wish to arouse bitter feelings by his criticism.

He referred to the difficulty experienced by all new countries in enlisting crews for their navies. Only from the most careful study by the best informed authorities could they expect to evolve a satisfactory naval policy. "When Canada is prepared to offer to her people something in the nature of a permanent policy, let it come before the country from the most authoritative sources, and not from the committee rooms of the party politicians," said Sir Richard.

Canada could be strong and great in the Western section of the world just so long as the British navy was paramount in home waters.

GEN. BOOTH IN NEW YORK; ON HIS WAY TO CANADA

Leader of Salvation Army Crossed the Sea in the Regal Suit of the Lusitania, and is Expected in Toronto To-day

New York, Oct. 31.—General Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, arrived here to-day, occupying two rooms of the regal suite on the Liner Lusitania. He was accompanied by Adjutant-General Kitching, his secretary. He will proceed to Toronto to-night or to-morrow morning.

"The Salvation Army has a place in the world," said General Booth. "It was founded on the principle that a washerwoman is as good as any bishop. We also reach those others fail to reach. As the wheels of life go on occasionally a man or woman is thrown out. They do not get help unless they fall into crime, but we help them before they are in crime, and give them material aid."

General Booth paid high tribute to his late father, who was commander of the Army before him. His father was ahead of his time in teaching the equality of the sexes, said General Booth, but his stand on the question is now generally recognized.

This is General Booth's first trip to America. He will go west as far as Winnipeg, Man., and will return in time for the national convention here November 15.

General Booth will visit his brother Ballington Booth, commander of the Volunteers of America. Asked as to the prospects of union between the two organizations, General Booth said no such suggestion had ever been made to him.

The General has not seen his brother in eighteen years.

He was ill in his stateroom throughout the trip from England, and was able to be up but one day. The price of the two rooms of the regal suite occupied by the General is $875. His secretary occupied a $250 stateroom.

LARGER GRANTS FOR PROVINCES

Sir J. Whitney Expects Good Results from Conference of the Premiers.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Sir James Whitney has returned from Ottawa apparently well pleased with the result of the conference of Provincial Premiers. Sir James said that they had gone down asking for larger grants from the Dominion Treasury and he fully expected that theywill get increases; though, of course, it was quite impossible for him to suggest what might be the amount of the increases.

Sir James, in reply to a question regarding the bi-lingual rumpus in Ottawa, said that the policy of the Government had been announced and would be adhered to. He had nothing to say about the present friction in an Ottawa school.

LEVINE CHARGED WITH BIGAMY AND THEFT

Toronto, Oct. 31.—In this morning Police Court, Louis Levine, charged with bigamy and theft of $1,200, was faced by the two women who claim him. Gussie Weinstein, with three children says she was married to Levine twelve years ago in Pinsk, Russia, and that four years ago he left her. Frieda Shapiro says she married him in August, 1910. There is one baby.

If Freda Shapiro is not Levine's wife, then the money, $1,200, which she gave him, believing him to be her husband, was stolen.

An officer from St. John, New Brunswick, appeared in the police court to-day, and formally accepted William McIntyre from the Toronto police. McIntyre is wanted in St. John to face a charge of robbing the Bank of Nova Scotia of $10,000.

PERSONAL CANVASS WON FOR MR. TRUAX IN SOUTH BRUCE

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, who did considerable canvassing in South Bruce, returned to Ottawa this morning. Mr Crothers attributed the victory largely to the personal popularity of Mr. R. E. Truax the Liberal candidate, and his energetic and vigorous personal canvass in the townships of Culross and Cargill. Mr. Crothers did not consider that the navy or reciprocity issues were at all responsible for the result.

Mr. Crothers said: "It is a mistake, I think to ascribe the result in South Bruce yesterday to reciprocity the navy or any other public question. Touching those questions it has no real significance whatever. It was personal rather than otherwise

In the first place South Bruce has for many years been a pretty decidedly Liberal constituency- although on two or three occasions it has given small Conservative majorities, which have been rather in the nature of "slips" than as expressions of judgement of public questions.

It is true that two years ago Mr. Donnelly carried the constituency by a majority of 103, and that yesterday Mr. Truax carried it by 125. A change of 228 votes, therefore, produced the result a small number in such a large constituency. Mr. Donnelly was personally very popular and for other reasons received a large vote which no other candidate could hope to secure. Mr. Truax is personally popular, and has been before the public there for more than a quarter of a centuary, while his opponent yesterday was, I understand, wholly inexperienced in the arts so effective in such contests. Mr. Truax was in the field much earlier than his opponent, and I believe spent (the last six months in a personal canvass, especially of the farmers—the most effective work that can be done in such a contest—while Mr. Cargill had but little time for such work.

A BRAW SCOTH NICHT

Caledonian Club Holds a Successful Concert, Supper and Dance

Last night the Caledonian Club held a very successful concert, supper and dance, in the rooms of the Woodmen of the World. The affair was entirely under the directions of the ladies, who deserve great credit for the way in which they handled the large crowd, numbering over 200, and looked after the enjoyment of everyone present.

There were many fancy costumes, representing the different nationalities, and others of a humorous nature which kept the big crowd bubbling over with merriment through the whole night. A fine programme had been prepared by the ladies and every number was roundly applauded for encores. After the concert had finished, refreshments were served in good style, after which, the party danced until the wee sma' hours.

This club has only been in existence about a year and has a large membership, who really know how to have a good time.

COMPLIMENTS FOR THE GRAND TRUNK

U. S. Bankers' Association Express Their Appreciation of Railway.

Recently the Grand Trunk ran a special train from Chicago to Boston and return, to accommodate the delegates from the different Bankers Association of the North-western States Since their return the Company have been in receipt of several letters of commendation in regard to the service. The following being abstracts from two of these.

The Secretary of the South Dakota Bankers Association, writes as follows:

"The writer just returned with his wife from a trip to the American Bankers Convention held in Boston and takes this opportunity to express his appreciation of the excellent service your Company rendered our party. The equipment was all that could be desired and I have never seen the dining service excelled."

The Secretary of the Minnesota Bankers Association, writes:

"As one of the passengers of the Northwestern Bankers Chicago-Boston Special, I wish to express my appreciation of the service furnished by your road and by the courteous attention of the employees. I was very agreeably surployees. I was very agreeably surprised at the dining car service throughout the whole trip and it gives me pleasure to acknowledge the excellence of your service and accommodations."

ALLEGED THIEF SENT FOR TRIAL

Prisoner Said to Have Stolen Bonds Entrusted to Him for Sale.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—O. L. Macklem, was committed for trial this morning on several charges. It was alleged that he had sold a parcel of bonds entrusted to him for sale, and had retained the money and promissory note paid for them.

Other charges against him were that he registered at the Queen's Hotel, left without paying a bill of $30, and that he did the same at the Palmer House.

Through his counsel, Mr. Robinette he elected to be tried by jury.

FORTY MEN ARE VICTIMS OF A STRANGE HOAX

Were Ostensibly Engaged for Construction Work at Scarboro—Made Comfortable and Nothing to Do

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Over forty indignant workmen besieged Crown Attorney Greer's office at the City Hall this morning and complained that they had been hoaxed. The visit partly solves the mystery of the strange construction camp which sprang up at Scarboro Junction on Monday last. The men carried bags and bundles on their shoulders and dumped them down in Mr. Greer's office, some of them declaring that they were too tired to walk any further, as they had tramped it in for lack of car fare.

Mysterious Mr. Woods.

According to the story told to Mr. Greer, the men had been engaged by the International Employment Bureau for a "Mr. Woods," to go out to Scarboro' and work at a C.P.R. extension. They were promised $2 a day, and the job was to last seven months. The work looked good, and there was no trouble in securing the full number, most of the men being English or Scotch.

"When we got out there we found a first-class camp, all ready," said John McKenzie, the "boss." "There was a cook employed at $60 a month and plenty of good grub. Woods was there and gave the men their positions. Tom here was to be in charge of Italians, another man was head of the surveyors, and I was boss of the whole camp.

Simply Loafed All Day.

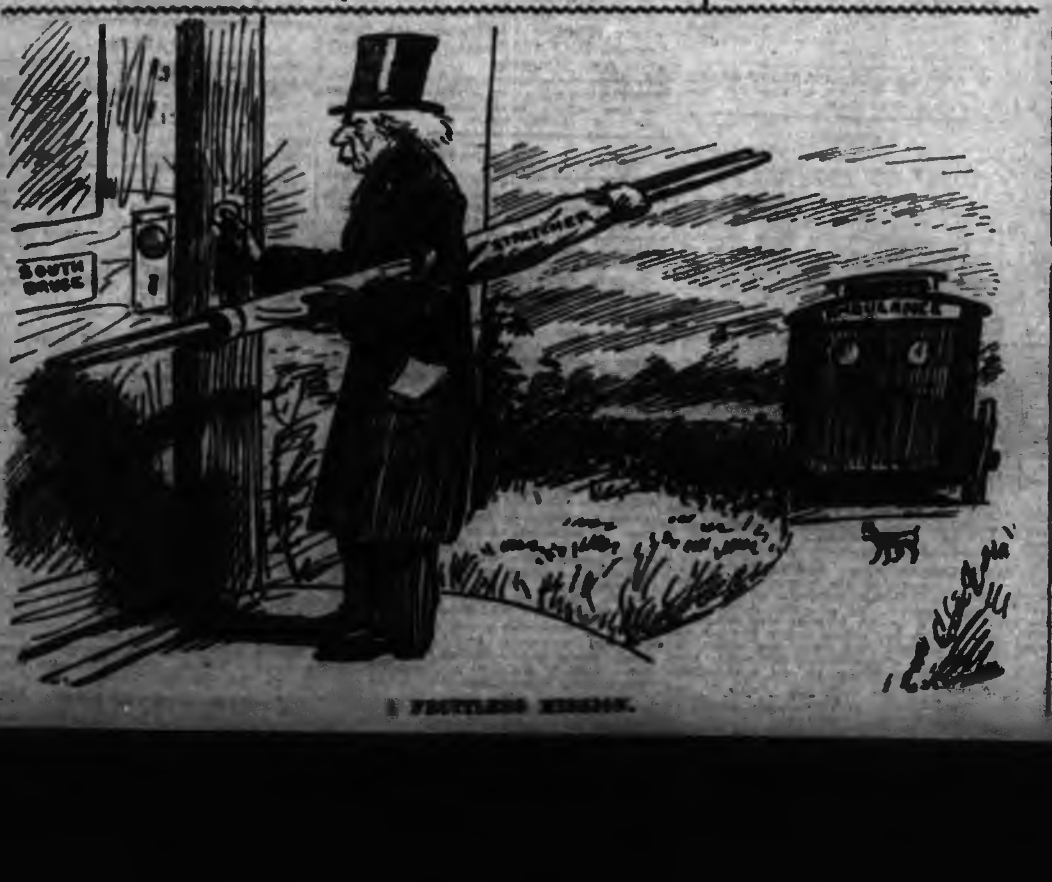
"It looked like a fine thing, and the fellows were well pleased. But I got suspicious when day after day went by and nothing was done. We would get up when we wanted to and simply loafed about all day.

"Yesterday a farmer named [illegible] moved into the house near by and Woods got a lot of us to help him straighten up things. A lot of Italians were put to levelling up the lawn.

"Woods put in most of his time making himself agreeable to the people in the house.

"Last night Woods left in a buggy for the city, and never returned. This morning the buggy was found near the station, but Woods wasn't anywhere near."

At the City Hall the men were told to go down and demand their $1 fees back from J. M. Hanna, whose name appeared on the employment office. They went down in a body, but Hanna refused to do anything until he had seen the police.



A FRUITLESS MISSION.

PRICE OF BEEF RISES AS CATTLE PASS OUT

Boarding Houses Raise Their Rates—Swift & Co. Send Killers Through Ontario.

London, Ont., Oct. 31.—Returns issued to-day show that seven thousand head of cattle (Canadian), and 350 cars of dressed beef have been shipped through the tunnel this month to Michigan buyers and Chicago packing houses.

This makes an new record and officials predict that shipments for November will be much larger. A great many of the cattle and much of the beef came from Toronto and Montreal As this efflux is not offset by an influx Canadian farmers are being depleted of their supplies. Leading breeders are issuing warnings that farmers will suffer shortely when the reaction comes and will be glad to buy again in a short time at big prices new stock.

Swift & Co. are hiring killers and sending them through to Toronto to slaughter and dress cattle already purchased.

Boarding houses are already advancing prices. At Port Huron Canadian meat is now selling cheaper than in Sarnia, where butchers are unable to buy any cattle for killing.

WOULD GIVE CANADA ALASKAN "PANHANDLE"

Maryland Man Moves to Do This to Ensure Universal Peace Between Anglo-Saxon Nations.

Washington, Oct. 31.—A movement to effect universal peace between the United States, Great Britain and Canada, by ceding to the Canadian Government the Alaskan panhandle, was launched in the House to-day by Rep Smith of Maryland. A resolution was introduced empowering President Wilson to negotiate with the British and Canadian authorities for transfer of the land. The panhandle comprises the South-eastern strip of land created as a boundary line in "response to conditions which long ago ceased to exist," according to Smith, "hampers the development of the adjoining lands, and is constantly giving rise to irritation".

CONTROVERSY RAGES OVER CANADA'S SITE

Location of Government Building in London Discussed by Earl Grey and Others.

London, Oct. 31.—The controversy over the site for the Canadian Government's new offices in London is unabated. J. S. Redmayne, a Canadian, in financial business here, wrote to the Westminster Gazette the other day, dismissing Earl Grey's scheme for the Dominions to congregate on the Aldwych site as "a pleasant but unpractical idea of an amiable Englishman." Earl Grey relations today with a letter nearly a column long, declaring the idea of a permanent exhibition of Dominion produce was conceived after a talk with the Hon. G. E. Foster, while the greater part of the contributions towards the payment of options came from Canadians.

MASSACRE OF AMERICANS IS THE CHIEF CONCERN

Federals Evacuate Chihuahua, Leaving Blood-Thirsty Rebels in Command

Dallas, Tex. Oct. 31.—A despatch to The Dallas News from El Paso said Chihuahua City, Mexico, was evacuated by Federals yesterday leaving the city open to capture without resistance by Pancho Villa's rebels. Villa's men had occupied the outskirts of Chihuahua before the abandonment. The Federals were said to have retreated towards Juarez. The despatch adds:

"Thousands of American and Mexican citizens, who were unable to board the ten troop trains, are panic stricken. They have no means of getting away from the stricken city and fear is held for their lives. Many believe that the followers of Orosco will be given no quarter by Villa during the occupation of the State capital. What few residents of the city who have horses and wagons are following in the wake of the military trains, carrying all their possessions with them."

The fear for Orosco's sympathizers is based on resentment expressed by rebels against him for fighting in the Federal army.

Diaz Off to Havana.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 31.—General Felix Diaz and his companions, who took refuge on the vessels of the United States fleet on October 28th, put to sea to-day on board the United States battleship Michigan, to which they had been transferred by Rear Admiral Fletcher from the flagship Louisiana. The course of the Michigan was laid for Havana.

No public announcement of the departure of the fugitives was made and friends of General Diaz on shore were unaware this morning that he had left.

GARNET INNIS FOUND GUILTY EVERY CHARGE

Administered Noxious Drugs to Girl He Got in Serious Trouble.

Yesterday afternoon His Honor Judge Huycke held court. The young expressman Garnet Innis, who was some weeks ago discharged in the police court on a charge of seducing a 17 year old girl and, later on, committed for trial on a charge of administering noxious drugs to his victim, was tried on the latter charge. He was found guilty on every count. Innis was remanded for a week for sentence. Bail was absolutely refused. It is thought that, during the next week, a wedding ring, a license and a pastor may mitigate his sentence.

LORD BERESFORD SHOWS WHERE BRITISH NAVY FALLS SHORT

In Whole World There 150 Dreadnoughts Built or to be Completed--Of These Britain Has 39--Present Strength Falls Six Short of of 60 Per Cent. Margin Over Next Competitor

London, Oct. 31.—Lord Charles Beresford, who speaks as Admiral and Mediterranean squadrons, makes an effective reply to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Empire Review for November out to-day and says:.

"The Empire naval situation is becoming worse. Increase of naval construction abroad makes co-operation of the Dominion more imperative than before. At no time in our history has it been more vital to our safety to organize and prepare beforehand. Everybody is delighted in the improvement of relations with Germany, but that is no reason why our defences should not be raised. The minimum position of safety which the Admiralty deem a necessary policy, and sentiment, may alter in an afternoon, but it takes two years to build a battleship.

"The British fleet is stronger than it ever was, but it was never weaker as compared to other nations.

"The proof is that there are now 150 Dreadnoughts built or building or projected in the world, of which Great Britain owns 39. Our supremacy at sea can only be restored by united efforts of the component parts of the Empire.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Fine and cold, with frosts at night.

PREPARING FOR THE IMPORTS OF RADIUM

Washington, Oct. 31.—For the purpose of establishing a standard for importations of radium, the scientists of the United States bureau of standards are looking forward eagerly to the receipt of a $1500 consignment of the metal reported on its way here from Austria. They have now a piece weighing only five milligrams, which is valued at $600.

"We do not expect any heavy importations of radium in the near future," said a scientist, smiling, "but we want to be prepared for anything. The fact that we ordered our small consignment for scientific purposes 'way back last spring would indicate that the radium supply will never have t obe delivered in trucks."

MYSTERY AS TO HOW YOUTH GOT IN OPEN SHAFT

Found at the Bottom so Terribly Injured That He May Not Recover

Toronto, Oct. 31.—In such a serious condition that his recovery is deemed improbable, Sam Cornfield, 17 years of age, of 22 Cameron street, is in the Western Hospital as the result of falling down an elevator shaft at the Cooper Cap Company's building on Spadina avenue this afternoon. The youth's skull is fractured, both arms broken and in addition he has sustained internal injuries the extent of which have not been determined. Just how the accident happened is unknown, as no person saw the boy fall, and the shaft is protected by safety doors, which it is said were all closed at the time.

Doors All Closed.

One of the members of the firm said that he first discovered the boy lying in an unconscious condition at the bottom of the shaft, but from which floor he had fallen he could not say. An ambulance was procured and the lad was rushed to the hospital.

Cornfield was an apprentice and his place of employment was on the first floor. It is possible, however, that during the luncheon interval he went up to the third floor and in some way stepped into the open shaft.

The most puzzling part of the affair, however, is the fact that every door leading to the elevator was found closed after the accident.

SLEIGHING AT CLINTON.

Clinton, Oct. 31.—About a foot of snow has fallen here since last night and it is still snowing with good prospects of sleighing.

A Negro was arrested at Hamilton yesterday for threatening to kill his wife. The furniture was demolished with an axe.

What He Came After.

Pater—"I wish Mary's young man would come round after supper."

Mater—"That's all he does come after."

Acorns as Human Food

Very little attention has been given to the utilization of acorns. It is well known that they are used as food for cattle, horses, swine, turkeys, and those of several species of white oaks also form the food of man. The acorns of white oaks are mostly large and the trees in general produce fruit very abundantly. The Indians in California always gathered the acorns of the Californian oak and years of great scarcity often caused much misery. Even the early white settlers of California relied on the crop of acorns as a part of their food supply.

When While Sitting They Drink the Health of the King

Old rules still obtain in the British navy, among them that which forbids the health of the king to be drunk aboard ship while standing up. They always drink the health of the king sitting in the British navy, and are very proud of the difference between them and their comrades of the land service. The explanation is simple: In the old days of wooden vessels the deck above was perilously near the head of a man even of average height, and in many cases if an officer rose with any alacrity, as all should do to drink the health of the head of the State, he nearly dashed his brains out against the ceiling of the cabin.

OVERWORKED DOCTOR

Widow Says Insurance Act Killed Him

The widow of Dr. Tuckett, of East Ham, who had a fatal apoplectic seizure in the street, declared at the inquest that he had been killed through overwork caused by the Insurance Act.

"Just before he went out," she stated, "he said he had had just enough of it, and it would be the death of him. We have been up till a quarter to two each morning on books. He loved his home, but his patients came first. If it goes on, it will be the death of all the doctors."

The Coroner: "We are all very sorry for you."

NEW PICTURE MACHINE

Views Taken at the Rate of 100,000 a Second

Prof. Crans submitted to the German Physical society a machine which allows the taking of pictures at the rate of 100,000 a second. This enormous limit is higher than anything previously done. Machines are on the market which allow pictures taken at the rate of 5,000 a second. Prof. Crans goes so far as to say that this limit is not fixed, but that the number can still be greatly increased if it be found necessary. Bodies moving with marvelous speed can be photographed in flight. For instance, the pistol shot can be caught and followed as far as the camera lens can reach. Infinite possibilities seem to be opening up along the moving picture line if this high speed photography can be practically carried out.

Ping-Pong With Soap Bubbles

At a popular science exhibition in London one of the marvels shown were soaps bubbles invested with extraordinary properties. Bubbles were blown within other bubbles. Bubbles were sent rolling along suspended wire rails. Bubbles were blown with a gas that caused a loud explosion when they burst. Finally, bubbles were made, with a specially tough and elastic soap, which were batted back and forth in a real game of ping-pong.

The Marriage Law

In Great Britain the nearest kin who may marry are cousins. Since the passing of the Deceased Wife's Sister Act a widower may marry his sister-in-law, but in this there is no question of blood relationship.

Cheaper Than Cars

The experience of German railroading has been that the maintenance cost of electric locomotives has been less than that of cars fitted with individual motors.

The shiny silk cylindrical hat, sometimes called "topper," "high hat," "plug," "high dicer," "stovepipe," or "four-gallon hat" by the irreverent, seems fated to disappear, after little more than one century of existence. In England, the place of its origin, it was long esteemed the very highest badge of respectability, so much admired that 'varsity crews rowed races and 'varsity elevens played cricket in correct, shiny bell-topper.

This form of headgear was first seen in London on January 15, 1797, when John Hetherington, a haberdasher, emerged from his shop in the Strand wearing a silk hat, and was promptly surrounded by an astonished mob of such proportions that he was arrested and charged before the Lord Mayor with inciting to riot. The officer who arrested Hetherington testified that he "appeared upon a public highway wearing upon his head a tall silk structure, which he called a silk hat, having a shiny luster, and calculated to frighten timid people. Several women fainted at the unusual sight, while children screamed, dogs yelped, and a young son of Cordwainer Thomas who was returning from a chandler's shop, was thrown down by the crowd which collected and had his arm broken." The defendant pleaded that he was merely exercising a right, possessed by every Englishman, to appear in any head-dress he chose, and had not violated any law. He was, nevertheless, bound over in $2,500 to keep the peace. This verdict aroused the wrath of the Times. In its issue of January 16, 1797, the hat worn by Hetherington is described as "an advance in dress reform, and one which is bound, sooner or later, to stamp its character upon the entire community. The new hat is destined to work a revolution in headgear, and we think the officers of the Crown erred in placing the defendant under arrest."

"A Progressive Peterborough"

Our Point of View

The Mexican voters thought that election day was a good day for staying under cover.

Does it pay to be kind-hearted? A Maine man climbed a pole to release a dove, which had been entangled through a string caught on one of its legs. He was electrocuted.

A 14-year-old boy, watching for deer at dusk beside a public highway, gives Maine its first fatality of the present hunting season. It was a logical result from such a combination.

Canada has a hearty welcome for the Duke of Connaught on his return. He has been a pronounced success as Governor-General of our Dominion.

A certificate of chatacter given to Huerta bv the bench of the Mexican Supreme Court, must possess elements of ironical humor whether it is meant to be funny or not.

THE COST OF LIVING

President Wilson proposes to invite the Government of Canada to unite with the Government of the United States in an investigation into the cost of living. There does not appear to be any good reason why Canada should not co-operate in such an enquiry. The high cost of living is not confined to Canada, nor, indeed, has it reached the exaggerated point attained in some other countries. The United States on the whole is suffering more seriously in this respect than we are. Because living conditions in Canada and the United States have so much in common because it is more than likely the conditions affecting the cost of living in the one country react upon the other country, a joint investigation would seem to present many desirable features. It may be open advisable in the pursuit of an inquiry to go beyond the boundaries of the North American continent. The Borden Government has not shown itself indifferent to existing conditions, and we believe they would be justified in lending every facility to the prosecution of the investigation.

Just what good would accrue from such an inquiry remains to be seen. Investigations that have been carried on in other countries on a fairly elaborate scale have not been remarkable for their enlightenment. The fact has been established that the cost of living has advanced, and there has been made possible the preparation of elaborate tables showing how the increases have come up gradually for years. But so far no acceptable explanation for the rise, no explanation that would open the way for the application of a remedy has been found. That is no reason, however, why Canada should not join with the United States in an inquiry into the subject. The high cost of living has reached a point of oppressiveness. There must be reasons for the advance. Some of the causes may be found to be quite beyond the control of governmental authority. A good deal of it may be found to lie in the habits of the people themselves. The fact of the high cost of living is established, however, so that any enquiry, if it is to be productive of results should confine itself to the causes in so far as these can be determined. On the exactness with which the causes can be fixed will depend largely the application of remedies. A joint inquiry would possibly be more effective than one confined to either country. It would have added prestige for one thing, and there would be no less opportunity for the exerting of political influence in the conduct of the investigation.

Do You Feel Moody, Irritable, Depressed

When That Languid, Logy, Easily-Tired Feeling Comes, Your Liver is Slow

Tells How to Cure Quickly.

"Even when I was young I was not robust and healthy like other girls. I suffered from headaches, and had sort of blue feelings that deprived me of the joyful spirits and pleasures other girls seemed to get. After I married I found I could not throw worries off like other women, and those fall feelings of despondency and weariness made me very unhappy. There was no cause to feel so, and my doctor said my liver was sluggish, and this accounted for my poor color, my tiredness, languor and despair. The pills the doctor gave me were too purgative, made me weaker because they were too active for my constitution. Dozens of my friends recommended Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and they were so mild and helpful. Well, I never used a pill that acted so quietly as Dr. Hamilton's They were so comfortable to use, I was afraid they might not help. But in a week I knew they had been actively engaged in clearing up my system. They did the work of a tonic and blood medicine combined. I improved to a marvelous degree with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I now maintain the most perfect kind of health by using them just once or twice a week."

It is Mrs. E. V. Erlanger, well known at Gloucester, who relates the above experience. She proved what you and all other, men and women, can prove—that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are best for restoring health and best for keeping the system in perfect running order. Don't be misled into using anything but Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. a box, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

THE NEW LAND IN THE ACRTIC

The discovery of new land in the Arctic regions is chiefly interesting to those who wish to know how much land surface there is upon the globe. From the account of the explorers it would seem that the land discovered is covered with ice and uninhabited.

There is still a spell of romance about the discovery of new land, but with the conquest of the rigors of the two poles the interest in this sort of exploration is beginning to fade. The greater interest to-day is in learning the countries whose boundaries are known, but whose mountains, valleys, plains, swamps and rivers remained unmapped.

There are four sections in the interior of Asia unexplored, and Africa, the great field of exploration of the last half-century is still inviting for those who have more taste for detail than Livingstone and Stanley. Every now and then news comes of disaster to some expedition in New Guinea, and it would seem that the expedition that can go from one end of the island to the other without being eaten by cannibals will win fame enough to last for a century.

NAVAL CO-OPERATION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It is greatly to be regretted that those advocating the non-co-operative Laurier navy do not see that they are dealing a severe blow to the principle of human brotherhood. If nations refuse to co-operate with each other on the ground that it is only manly to be free, etc., etc., of all entangling alliances even with our own kith and kin, how are we ever to reach that happy state of universal unity of which so much is being said at present? The Borden policy of co-operation, of arranging beforehand to act in matters of defence, and not at the moment when confusion will render it useless, leads directly to the fulfilment of that principle of world-wide alliance in the cause of peace. The Laurier individualists will have much to answer for if they ever succeed in having Canada parade the seas, inviting disaster.

ABOUT A BACHELOR.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, — I do wish that leap year would come soon, so that the ladies might ask our bachelors to marry them, as our new chief and our new Indian agent are both bachelors, and our member of parliament is another. I need not mention the names, as I am sure you will know the parties I mean.

INTERCESSION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In the Mail and Empire of the 21st inst. there appears a letter over the signature of Mr. A. Vidal, Haileybury, in answer to a statement by Bishop Hamilton of the 14th ult., re Catholic versus Protestant doctrine on salvation.

In the course of this letter Mr. Vidal states: "In invoking the Virgin Mary, as all the other saints, we do so with faith in their faithfulness to help us to pray for our immortal souls through Christ our Lord." He (Mr. Vidal) also states that there can be no stronger attachment than that between mother and son in referring to the Virgin Mary and our Saviour. While this is true in an earthly sense, it is not in a spiritual sense, as in Matthew 22nd chapter, 30th verse, Christ teaches that the family relationship existing on earth is not recognized in heaven, as this verse reads, "For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven."

That the Virgin Mary was merely to act her part in God's plan of salvation is born out in Matthew, 12th chapter, verse 48, where Christ asks, "Who is my mother and who are my brethren?" and for answer in the 50th verse same chapter, he says, "For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother and sister and mother." That the Virgin Mary or any other saint or angel in heaven should receive prayers to intercede to God for our elevation is erroneous is proved in the First Epistle to Timothy, chapter 2, verse 5, which states: "For there is one God and one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus."

Towards the close of his letter Mr. Vidal states with reference to saints interceding for our salvation: "It would never occur to the minds of Catholics that our Protestant brethren are guilty of idolatry when petitioning to their King or any superior officer. Is it because of their high attainment in the presence of God that they should be less worthy of the respectful salutation of man?" In his homily on humility Christ says in Matthew 18, verses 3 and 4: "Except ye become converted and become as little children ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child is greatest in the kingdom of heaven." This would imply that all class distinction is entirely obliterated in heaven and all are angels worshipping the one great triune God—Father, Son and Holy Spirit, in all humility.

A Mammoth Incubator

The largest egg incubator in the United Kingdom, one with a capacity for [illegible] eggs, is at work on a poultry farm in Kent. The appliance is in reality a succession of incubators joined, operated and controlled by one small automatic heater or fire-pot. The cost of running the incubator is not more than [illegible] cents a week, as only [illegible] pounds of anthracite coal is used each day in the fire-pot.

Monument to Lost Youth

In the grounds of Sketty Hall, near Swansea, Wales, the residence of the late Mr. Glyn Vivian, is a large, quaint, unrivaled gravestone which is probably unique. It was erected by Mr. Vivian himself to the memory of his lost youth, and on it are inscribed some pathetic lamentations in verse

CHAINED LIKE DOGS

Foxes in an 18-Gallon Cask and a Milk Churn

Harry Smith, a laborer, was, at Whitchal, Hants, fined $40 for cruelty to two foxes. Sergeant Clarke said he found a fox and a vixen confined in an eighteen-gallon cask and an ordinary milk churn respectively. Both utensils were turned up on end, and the foxes, which apparently had been there for some time, had no room in which to move, one being curled up like a hedgehog and not being able to stand. The bung-hole of the cask had been gnawed away to three times its ordinary size. Both foxes were very savage, and growled like dogs when approached. They could not be handled, but when liberated could hardly run off, as they were so stiff. They were well fed.

"I should think so," exclaimed Smith; "they had twelve rabbits in three days. I've handled foxes since I was a boy, and am like a lady with a new-born baby with them. I was keeping them for the huntsmen. The foxes were only confined during the daytime; at night I chained them up with collars, just like dogs."

LIFE "DOWN UNDER"

Australia Offers Inducement Favorable to Longevity

As an inducement to possible emigrants, Australia might with some justice be advertised as a health resort. The death rate throughout the continent only averages about ten per thousand. The number of deaths last year, for instance, was 47,869, against 122,193 births. The Government of the Commonwealth offers various inducements favorable to longevity. Old-age pensions of ten shillings a week are paid to every person over sixty-five who has resided there for twenty years. In addition to this, there are invalid pensions, payable to anyone incapacitated who has resided there for at least five years. Lately, however, the young men of Australia are being asked to make some sacrifices for their country, which may go somewhat as a set off against these benefits. A system of compulsory training has been set in vogue. The service is mainly for those between eighteen and twenty-six years of age Two years are served in a kind of citizen force. After this, the young men serve as soldiers. The whole service, however, is, if anything, easier than that in the British Territorial Force.

FOOD FOR RATS

The Rodents Cause an Enormous General Impoverishment

It has recently been estimated by a French statistician that $1,000,000 worth of food a day is wasted on rats in Great Britain alone. In other countries the expense runs equally high, and even higher. Every rat in France costs 2 cents a day for his keep. In England a rat costs from ½ a cent to 5 cents a day to the person upon whose property it preys, and there are 40,000,000 rats in the British isles. In our country there are more rats than men, women and children, and doubtless their appetite is just as expensive here. In India, however, a country least able to bear the burden of supporting these pests, they are four times as numerous as the population, and each rat consumes on an average 3 cents' worth of food a day.

Not long ago an international union was organized in France to rid the world of these unwelcome creatures. The rat commits another sin besides impoverishing the country. He carries disease, and it is probable, because he is dangerous to health rather than because he is a thief, that he finally will be exterminated. There is a race war going on between rats themselves which will help solve the problem. The black rat is being driven out by the gray rat. The black rat is a much greater nuisance than the gray. All along the Atlantic coast he has been driven out, and only the gray rat now is found. Perhaps if the war between the fair race and the dark is kept up they may exterminate each other.

Beginnings of Paraffin

Petroleum was produced in a small way in California very early in the history of the country, in fact, long before it was invaded by the army of gold-seekers. Mr. C. Morrell, a druggist in San Francisco, is commonly credited with being the first to attempt the distillation of kerosene from crude petroleum. This was in 1867, but several years prior to that Andreas Pico made illuminating oil from petroleum which he obtained in the Newhall region in Los Angeles County. This oil was burned, so it is said, in lamps in the Mission San Fernando.

"Play up, Ireland"

When the jury at Dublin Sessions [illegible] from Christopher Woolfe, at Dalymount, on the occasion of the international football match, a purse containing [illegible], the Clerk read out a long list of previous convictions, mainly in England and Scotland. Scott said he came from England. "And at the match," said the Recorder, "you were shouting 'Play up, Ireland!'—trying to distract Woolfe's attention while you took his money." Scott was sent to prison for one year.

THE LOST CHORD.

Seated one day at the organ,
I was weary and ill at ease,
And my fingers wander idly
Over the noisy keys.

I know not what I was playing,
Or what I was dreaming then,
But I struck one chord of music,
Like the sound of a great amen.

It flooded the crimson twilight,
Like the close of an Angel's psalm,
And it lay on my fever'd spirit
With a touch of infinite calm.

It quieted pain and sorrow,
Like love overcoming strife,
It seem'd the harmonious echo
From our own discordant life.

It link'd all perplexed meanings
Into our perfect peace,
And trembled away into silence,
As if it were loth to cease.

I have sought, but I seek it vainly,
That one lost chord divine,
Which came from the soul of the organ,
And entered into mine.

It may be that Death's bright Angel
Will speak in that chord again;
It may be that only in heav'n
I shall hear that grand Amen.

BEGINNING OF HATS

Charles II. is Said to Have Originated the Custom

Hats did not become a well established custom until some 500 years ago. In the year 1449, when Charles II. entered Rouen after its recapture by the French from the English, the people there had never before set eyes on a hat. Their amazement, therefore, can be pictured as they gazed upon their king riding past them in pomp and on his head a gorgeous hat lined with vermilion silk and gayly bedecked with [illegible] plumes. Of course every one followed his example. Hats began to make their appearance in shop windows and women and men alike labored over the constructing of elaborate headgear, each one attempting to surpass his neighbor if possible. But they were expensive and it was a long time before they could be worn except by the prosperous classes. In the course of time, however, they became a more commonplace thing and people of all classes were able to afford them.

Long Wireless Talk

Clear communication was established one night between the wireless station at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and the station at Queen Island, which lies north of Victoria, B. C.

This was not a series of disordered dots and dashes, but a clear message. Both operators exchanged congratulations and greetings.

Recently a message being sent from a vessel in the Southern Atlantic to New Orleans was picked up at the Sault.

"Children," asked a teacher of the history class, "what is the difference between a monarchy and a republic?" "A monarchy has a king for ruler," cried Sammy, "an' a republic has—has—inhabitants."

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its fineness and price.

He classes these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this now through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his servic to keep the public informed.

Diabetes

TORTURED WITH AN UNQUENCHABLE THIRST FOR YEARS TRIED EVERYTHING THAT MEDICAL AID COULD DO FOR ME, BUT GRADUALLY GOT WORSE TRIED SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES AND WAS CURED.

Ashville, Man.

Dear Sirs:—

During the month of March I was informed that I had a well developed case of Diabetes. I immediately placed myself upon a rigid diet after a week of which the first urinalysis disclosed a sugar content of 8 p.c. After several months of dieting during which time I was taking a so-called cure the sugar content was reduced to 3 p.c. I began taking SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES with the result that within a short time the urinalysis made by competent persons, and at different periods, disclosed no sugar whatever. This condition is indeed very gratifying and I have every reason to believe that I am quite cured. For some time past my diet has been a liberal one, consisting largely in some foods high in carbo-hydrates, but I still avoid all sugars and syrups. This is in accordance with the directions which I can well afford to follow. I am gaining in weight and strength, and once more feel that it is good to be alive.

There is no question in my mind regarding the virtues of SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES, and I feel that a great blessing has been conferred upon suffering humanity by this discovery, and use of this medicine."

Yours truly,
W. A. FOX.

Thrown Overboard From Steamer But Jump back on Deck

The strange conduct of part of a steamer's cargo was described in the Commercial Court in respect of the loss at sea of a quantity of mineral waters. The steamer Hardy left Treport, having two tons of metallic sodium stored on the fore hatch upon deck. His lordship remarked that he recollected an experiment with sodium while he was at school. A small piece was placed in water, and, by catching fire and jumping about, it caused much amusement. It was stated on behalf of the plaintiffs that the sodium broke away from its lashings, and the water, getting to one of the cases, set it on fire. The captain of the Hardy was not aware of the nature of sodium, and played the hose upon the cases. The result was that the contents were also set on fire, and there was a series of explosions. Next the captain decided to heave the lot into the sea. This was done, but, to the surprise of himself and the crew, several of the cases jumped back on board. Then the hold caught fire, and the captain ultimately gave the order to take to the boats. The mate was drowned, several of the crew were injured, and the captain himself was badly burned. Very soon the ship broke her back and went down. It was the plaintiffs' case that the vessel was unseaworthy by reason of the sodium being carried on deck. For the defendants it was submitted that the vessel was lost by reason of the fire in the hold. It was denied that the ship was unseaworthy, and it was contended that the defendants were excluded from liability by reason of perils of the sea. His lordship gave judgment for the plaintiffs.

IN EQUIPPING THE BARN

How to Have the Dairy Stable Clean and Healthful

In cleanliness the dairy stable should be as nearly as may be the equal of the housewife's kitchen. Both are laboratories in which human food is prepared. Much of the food prepared in the kitchen is cooked and thereby sterilized, while the food prepared in the dairy stable is consumed largely in an uncooked state and the dirt and filth that has gotten into it from the surroundings remains unsterilized. In healthfulness the dairy barn should, as nearly as possible, be the equal of our homes, for are not our dairy cows the feeders of many of babes and all of our children?

In order to secure this high order of cleanliness and healthfulness, the dairy barn must conform to certain general specifications. The floors, stalls, mangers, gutters, should be an equally sanitary substance. Concrete may be washed and disinfected, rendering it clean and free from disease producing organisms. The inside walls shoul be smooth that dust and dirt may be eliminated. Galvanized metal linings are desirable in this respect, and steel fixtures are most easily kept clean. The milk room should be separated from the main building by a well ventilated passage.

Hay should be put down in a closed feed room rather than in a passage, that the air may not be laden with dust at feeding time. The stalls should be well lighted that dirt may be seen and that the sunshine may exert its purifying disinfecting powers. Six square feet of glass per animal or 15 square feet of floor space are usually provided. Ordinarily the lighting is more efficient from east and west windows than north and south.

Adequate ventilation should be provided for. An air flow of about $5,000 cubic feet per hour per animal should be maintained that the air of the stable may be pure and healthful.

Nesting Turkeys

It is advisable to fasten the turkey hen on the nest when the poults begin to come out of the shells, for otherwise sometimes the hen will leave before the hatch is complete taking the weak little poults with her.

Water Hardness and Health

Hardness of water, this is the amount of lime or other salts which it contains, appears to have a direct influence upon the health, as the researches of Dr. H. Roemer, of Berlin, bring out. Dentition is much influenced, as observed in the case of school children, and examining several thousand he finds that the percentage of persons having entirely sound teeth varies from 1.3 up to 20.2 per cent., according to the degree of hardness of the water in various localities. Hard water containing lime acts favorably in this case, and magnesia appears to harden the enamel. The number of young men adapted for military service also increases in regions having hard water. As to action on the blood, lime and magnesia act by their alkaline properties to strengthen the growth of children. According to this, he states that soft water should be used for washing and cooking, and hard water for drinking purposes.

A ROMAN FARM

Remarkable Discovery by Engraving on the Dorest Border

Mr. Sumner, F.S.A., who has been excavating with the sanction of Lord Shaftesbury, the landlord, has discovered a Roman farm at Cranborne Chase, on the Dorset border. The farm, which was ninety-six acres in extent, was surrounded by a low earthen enclosure, while the buildings, consisting of a dwelling house, bake house, and granary, were in a quadrangle 150 feet by 90 feet, enclosed with a ditch. Among the remains were a quantity of corn, bones of horses and oxen, large number of fragments of New Forest, Samian, and other ware, including a perfect jug, pots, Purbeck marble vessels, spindle wheels, knife blades, and coins, from Gallienus to Constantine. Inside the ditch is a barrow belonging to the bronze age, and an urn with cyst and arrow-head.

ON THE PRECIPICE

Englishman's Awful Adventure With Bandits in Mexico

News of the extortion of $5,000 from an Englishman by a Mexican rebel comes from Chihuahua. The rebel leader, Vaclovio Herrera, entered the camp of the workmen who are damming the Conchos River and demanded $12,500. He threatened that if this amount was not forthcoming he would kill the English heads of the construction works. This was refused and he tied Mr. J. W. Fuller, the manager, astride a donkey, and threatened to send the animal down the mountain side. Mr. Fuller's companions offered Herrera $1,500 but he insisted on having $5,000 which was finally paid.

Mr. Fuller was then released, and the bandits proceeded to loot the homes of the foreigners.

DEATH OF FAMOUS TENOR

The First British Representative of Lohengrin and Tannhauser

Mr. Barton McGuckin, one of the best known British tenors, died at his residence, Mimosa Cottage, Stoke Poges, from heart complications, at the age of sixty.

Mr. McGuckin, like his brilliant contemporary of younger days, Joseph Maas (who was cut off early by an illness contracted by sleeping in a damp bed when on tour), was an Irishman. In his day he was one of the foremost tenors. He was the first Lohengrin and Tannhauser in this country, frequently appearing at the Handel and other English festivals, and for fifteen years was principal tenor in the Carl Rosa Opera Company. He also sang at Covent Garden during several seasons. Among Mr. McGuckin's attributes was that of being a remarkably quick study. On one occasion, when a new oratorio was being produced at the Albert Hall, he filled the place of Edward Lloyd at short notice. He was pressed into service in the morning and sang the part the same evening. He leaves one son, Mr. Noel Fleming.

BIGGEST IN THE WORLD

Largest Dock, Tallest Chimney and the Greatest Bank

The extremes in age and size always awaken interest. England is well to the fore in this respect, the largest dock in the world being at Cardiff, Wales; the greatest bank, the Bank of England. University College, Oxford, is the most ancient college existing; it was founded in the year 1280. The largest bronze statue extant is that of Peter the Great, which stands in St. Petersburg, Russia, 1,100 tons comprising its weight. Cape Henry, Virginia, has the distinction of possessing the largest lighthouse, and the [illegible] monolith—105 feet—is to be found in Egypt. Paris lays claim to the largest theatre in the world, the Opera House there covering three acres of ground. [illegible] adjudge the [illegible] city of [illegible] to be the oldest in the world. The tallest chimney is to be found in Glasgow, and is 474 feet high; whilst Washington possesses the highest monument, the height being 555 feet.

Celluloid Collar Ablaze

Putting a lighted candle to burn off his tie, which got knotted, an Athlone boy of thirteen, named Andrew [illegible], set fire to his celluloid collar, which burned his neck and face so badly that he had to go to the hospital.

A PERILOUS POSITION

Many Attempts Made on Lives of India's Viceroys

There is only one case on record of the actual assassination of a Viceroy of India—the Earl of Mayo being fatally stabbed by a prisoner in 1872 during a visit to a convict settlement. The murder had no political motive, but during recent years, as a result of the unrest which [illegible] partition of Bengal, the life of a Viceroy has been aimed at on more than one occasion.

In November, 1909, Lord Minto was making a tour of India and during a procession through Ahmedabad two bombs were thrown at his carriage. One was cleverly intercepted by the sabre of a sergeant of the [illegible] Dragoons; the other [illegible] which was being held over Lady Minto and fell harmless to the ground. The culprits were never discovered.

In November, 1910, when Lord Minto was holding his farewell reception at Calcutta, three natives who had got in with forged passes, were arrested on the charge of shadowing the Viceroy. Lord Minto escaped other perils. During the trial of some conspirators in 1908 one of the prisoners confessed that their plans had included a plot to assassinate Lord Minto, Lord Kitchener, and other high officials. The informer was afterwards shot dead in his cell by a fellow prisoner.

In November, 1907, Lord Minto was making a prolonged tour, when the officials got wind of a plot against his life, and the Viceroy's tour was cut short. In February, 1908, while his lordship was at Assam for a few days' shooting his train passed a spot where a few hours previously a bomb was thrown at a passing train, and the coincidence gave rise to disquieting suggestions at the time.

Lord Minto's predecessor, Lord Curzon, was also once in peril. During the hearing of the Kolhapur bomb case in April, 1911, one of the prisoners confessed that at the Delhi Durbar of 1901 four men were deputed to kill Lord Curzon as he was passing in the procession, but the courage of the conspirators failed at the last moment.

Other distinguished Indian officials have been in peril. Four attempts were made in the course of three years to murder Sir Andrew Fraser, Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. thrice bombs were hurled at the train in which he was travelling, and once a native fired at him in a lecture hall in Calcutta.

VARIETY OF EPITHETS

Some Real Irish Flung Around at a Cork Meeting

At a meeting of the Cork Port Sanitary Authority on the question of the election of chairman, Mr. Goggin asked if the members were aware of the splendid emoluments attached to the chair, and when interrupted by Mr. Gamble, referred to the latter as a "talkative cockatoo." A heated scene ensued, Mr. Gamble calling on Mr. Goggin to withdraw, and declaring: "The man that would insult me, if he were as old as Methuselah, I'd knock the head off him." Mr. Goggin asked, amid laughter, if Mr. Gamble would meet him in a 12-foot ring, only first giving him time to train. Mr. Butterfield having suggested that Mr. Goggin substitute the phrase, "pragmatical jackdaw," Mr. Goggin withdrew the remark.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parisite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parisite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other indices of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4830, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

CROWD WATCHED QUICK PROGRESS OF AIRCRAFT

The People of Cardiff Have an Unusual Sight--It Traveled Between Seventy and Eighty Miles an Hour

Cardiff was startled by the appearance over the city of an aircraft. It was exactly 8.40 when the craft was noticed, and a crowd assembled outside the Glamorgan County Police Station watching its quick progress. Coming from the direction of Whitchurch and the Rhondda, it flew at between seventy and eighty miles an hour and disappeared in the gloom in the direction of the Bristol Channel over Penarth. The altitude was between 1,000 and 1,500 feet, and the craft carried a strong light. Among those who saw it was Captain Lionel Lindsay, Chief Constable of the county, and his deputy, Superintendent Thomas and other police officers. It was suggested that from its great speed the object was an aeroplane.

CRUELTY TO HORSES

Military Man Makes a Plea Against the Docking Habit

Lieut. R. S. Timmis of the Royal Canadian Dragoons made a slashing attack upon the practice of docking horses' tails, in the course of an interesting address upon "The Horse," at Toronto. Docking, he said, was due mainly to "horse show maniacs."

The contrast between horses with long, silky-looking tails and what the lecturer termed the "bob-peg variety," was exemplified by lantern pictures. In California and some of the States to the south the man who docks a horse's tail is sentenced to two years' imprisonment. A list of the docked horses in the State is kept in a book and when a horse is found with its tail docked the owner has to explain the circumstances.

Lieut. Timmis said that the Society had photographs of horses in the city of Toronto which had been docked recently and they were going to make examples of some of the offenders.

The lecturer gave some valuable hints as to the care of the horse, stating that each animal should have at least 1,000 cubic feet of space, and the stable should not be too hot.

Echoes of Great Disaster

Some idea of the value of jewellery etc. which was lost in the Titanic disaster may be gathered from the following claims for compensation. Mrs. Charlotte Cardeza put in a claim for [illegible] to cover the loss to her wardrobe and personal effects. Her inventory included a Burma ruby ring, [illegible]; a pink diamond, [illegible]; hatpins, [illegible]; an evening coat, [illegible]; and a white petticoat, [illegible]. The Captain of [illegible] asked [illegible] for the loss of property, including a diamond engagement ring worth $1,[illegible], some old lace and a set of black fox and ermine furs. The smallest claim submitted, [illegible], was by the United States Government, the value of a mail bag containing registered articles.

WHY GOVERNMENT COMMISSIONED STEFONSSON TO EXPLOR WATERS

Scientists Led to Believe in Existence of Unknown Continent by Ice Action

It is the fashion of map-makers to represent a district of which they know little as being a jungle, a desert or an open sea. Whenever an explorer discovers some landmark therein, such as a lake, an oasis or an island, the geographers put it in the next map, but they do not indicate whether the part of the chart that remains blank has been explored and found to be nothing but jungle, desert or water, or whether it has not been explored at all. As far as the Arctic is concerned, or certain portions of it, our current maps are worthless. It is represented as part of the Polar sea, but nobody knows for sure whether it is a sea or a continent. The belief of Stefansson that there is an undiscovered continent north of Beaufort Sea led to the young explorer being sent north with a party of scientists by the Canadian Government. One might count on the fingers of both hands the discoverers who have sailed this part of the ocean, and the expanse being so vast it is quite possible that a body of land as large as half of Canada should have been missed. The fact that in this district Stefansson discovered a new race of men, the so-called blonde Eskimos, is an indication of the extent of the territory and of the absence of particular information concerning it.

Scientists posted on the northern shore of Alaska noted that in the summer months, when the wind blows from the east into the Beaufort Sea, ice piles up and causes such a congestion that it is almost impossible for a ship to get through. When the wind blows from the west there is no such congestion, the Beaufort Sea being clear. This caused them to believe that there must exist a land mass that prevents the ice being carried away when the wind blows toward it. The Arctic in the direction of the supposed Arctic continent or archipelago has never been thoroughly explored, and this is one of the reasons why the [illegible] Government commissioned Stefansson and his associates to explore the waters.

GIGANTIC RUDDER

So Huge That It Has a Door For Men to Get Inside it

A rudder with a doorway into its interior is a feature of the mammoth Cunard liner Aquitania. The pin which connects the rudder to the ship is 4 feet in length and bigger than the heaviest projectile made for modern artillery. A special appliance was constructed in the ship to lift it into position. When delivered at the builder's yard the rudder was in three parts. After they had been connected and laid upon the ground, the distance that had to be walked round the complete rudder was over 100 feet.

THE SMART TAILORED SUIT HAS A FIRST PLACE IN THE WARDROBE

Smart, simple, of good lines, there is nothing more becoming to the American woman than the tailored suit. This has always been true, and despite its change this season from strictly tailored to semi-tailored lines, the suit continues to be indispensable to the smart wardrobe.

Many of the skirts are draped, many show the double or triple skirt, others again are perfectly plain. The coats are blouséd and vested, and often there is a novel collar or attractive cuffs that add to the effect.

Materials are most attractive—velours de laine, plain or self figured, duvetyn, which is as supple and rich as velvet, and numerous novelty stuffs that are exceedingly smart.

Tweeds in almost invisible mixtures are modish for morning wear.

A smart suggestion for 7993-7994 is navy blue velours de laine striped in mattier blue with white collar and vest.

To copy 7993 in size 36 it requires 2¾ yards of 36 inch material; in size 24 7994 requires 3⅝ yards of 44 inch material.

7993—sizes 34 to 44 inches bust measure.

7994—sizes 22 to 30 inches waist measure.

Each pattern 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and inclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. Address Pattern Department.

IN LONG PAST DAYS OF BODY-SNATCHERS

Relics in Scotland Showing How the Dead Was Protected From the Resurrectionists

In the days of the Resurrectionists in Scotland various means were devised to prevent the nefarious practice of body-snatching. Enormous slabs of huge dimensions were frequently placed over tombs in lonely churchyards, while burying-places were often made unapproachable by the erection of lofty, massive railings. The services of the local blacksmith were also requisitioned to fasten strong bars of iron over the coffins to prevent the possibility of the body being uplifted from its resting-place. In many churchyards watch-towers were erected, at the door of which, after an interment, careful watch and ward was kept, and not a few tales were told of mysterious beings being surprised in the midst of their ghostly depredations.

In a few places Mort Safes or Dead-Houses were constructed, in which the dead bodies were allowed to remain for several weeks, or until such length of time as they were no longer serviceable for dissecting purposes. An interesting specimen of a Mort Safe is to be seen in the quaint Kirkyard at the ruined Church of Cowie, near Stonehaven—a favorite haunt of the Resurrectionists from Aberdeen. The corpses were conveyed [illegible] to the Granite City, and, with a view to escape detection, the lifeless figures were clad once more in the garb of the living and placed on the conveyance in a sitting posture.

On one occasion it is related that a party of Resurrectionists stopped at a wayside inn for refreshments, when all partook of the same at the door of the inn. The innkeeper, noticing the silent figure left alone in the conveyance, remarked: "Will yer freend no' tak' a dram?" Without saying a word, the party instantly mounted and drove off, leaving mine host, who was not without suspicions, to draw his own conclusions as to the identity of his visitors.

The Mort Safe or Dead-House in the Stonehaven district is of a particularly rare type. It is a subterraneous chamber 18 feet by 12½ feet and about 8 feet high in the centre of the arch. It is constructed of stout masonry, and is a splendid piece of work, the arch giving evidence of sound craftsmanship. In this apartment, supplied by two massive iron doors fitted with enormous bolts and bars, the coffined dead were kept for six weeks and a day before interment in their last resting-place. There are no records of this dead house having ever been rifled. Seventy years have elapsed since the last body was deposited there.

A SILENT CLUB

Features of the National Deaf Club of London

London boasts possession of the most silent club in the world. It is called the National Deaf club, and the moving spirit and president is A. J. Wilson, who, despite the handicap of being deaf and dumb, conducts a most successful business in the city. Of course, the National Deaf club is a unique institution. There are no [illegible] (waiters), no electric bells, no large print notices calling upon members to be silent in this or that room. Nearly two hundred members use the premises, in which they can dine and wine or play cards and billiards whenever they like. Women are admitted, and at present form more than a third of the roll. Bells being unnecessary, signs are resorted to. Thus, when some one presses the bell of the hall door, a red light appears over the doorway and brings the attendant at once. A similar arrangement notifies the waiter when his services are required.

Those fortunate persons who can speak and hear and who have been privileged to watch a game of billiards declare that it is more than a relief to see a contest where neither party voices his grievances as he goes along. There are no criticisms of the table, the balls or the cue. Everything is peaceful and quiet. There are some remarkable men belonging to the National Deaf club. One, for example, is head of an important railway firm in Smyrna and has under his control hundreds of men of all nationalities. Another member has traveled over the world a record number of times, always unaccompanied, and although he has been in many uncivilized lands, has always been able to look after himself. Then there are the members who earn their own living in various professions. One actually teaches music; another is a nurse. There is an annual banquet for deaf and dumb persons, which is usually presided over by some eminent mute.

TRANSIT TO THE MOON

A Scientist Thinks It May Yet Become Practicable

Garrett P. Serviss, who has written a number of works on popular astronomy, believes that the problem of aerial navigation is so far solved that we may now indulge ourselves in speculation about possible voyages beyond the atmosphere of this globe. "I have begun to think that now that we have achieved the navigation of the air the providing of sufficient food and air are the only difficulties which remain to be overcome before men fly to the moon. To be sure a new motive force must be obtained, but electrical propulsion hints at what it may be.

"There are only two forces known which overcome gravity—namely pressure of light and electricity. So I say that the first flying to the moon will be done on the principle of the pithball, which flies away from the conductor of an electric machine.

"When this has been accomplished it only remains to do what modern chemistry certainly can do—that is, to fill tanks with enough compressed air and compressed food for so long a journey. The idea is really not as ridiculous as it may appear."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

Steel Furniture

Sheet steel is the latest material utilized in the making of furniture. It is used for sideboards, wardrobes, chiffoniers, writing desks, and is finished in such perfect imitation of the various woods that the difference cannot be detected. The wood finish is applied under a very high temperature, becoming an integral part of the metal and never cracking. This steel furniture has the recommendation of being fireproof, and a lighted match left on a polished steel sideboard would have no effect whatever on its surface.

But Eleven Years Old, Yet She Has Won Distinction

Miss Eva Chapman, an eleven-year-old girl living at South Side, Bishop Auckland, Durham, has been appointed organist at St. Saviour's Church in that town. Miss Chapman's abilities as an organist are remarkable for one so young, and she has in addition won many musical distinctions. She betrayed her great musical gift at a very tender age, and developed a passion for the art.

Shaving Soap for a Boy

Is shaving soap a necessity for a boy? This was the problem propounded by the judge at Ashford County Court during the hearing of a claim by Henry Mummery, outfitter, of Wye, respecting goods supplied to a student at South Eastern Agricultural College at Wye. Counsel replied: "The item of shaving soap occurs every fortnight." The Judge: "Young men are more particular nowadays. I know a friend who shaves three times a day." Counsel: "Perhaps the young ladies are more particular." The judge disallowed the claim, holding that the parents did not give authority to order the articles.

PHOSPHORESCENT LIGHT

How It is Emitted From Fireflies and Glowworms

Several remarkable lectures were given at the Congress of Zoology at Monaco, attended by scientists from all parts of the world. The greatest attention was paid to a lecture by Prof. Raphael Dubois of Lyons University, who claimed he had discovered the most exact principle whereby phosphorescent light was emitted from glowworms, fireflies and innumerable marine creatures, even certain microbes. Prof. Raphael, one of France's leading physiologists, showed that this "living" light was the product of zymosis, which he called luciferase oxidizing on another chemical compound, which he called luciferine. As soon as these substances, when mingled together, come into contact with water they gave forth light. Prof. Raphael had succeeded in isolating both these bodies, and been able to keep them in bottles for several months without becoming luminous, as long as they were in a dry condition. Prof. Raphael's researches had immense practical importance in connection with the discussion on the question of the production of cold light, a brief account of which was sent from Paris, while they also bear on certain problems of the ultimate construction of living tissue.

FACTORIES COME BECAUSE OF TARIFF

How the Canadian Policy of Moderate Protection Brings Industries

If the American manufacturer establishes a branch, let us say in France or Germany, he may do so because he has to meet the peculiar tastes and demands of a people who want the articles made their way or at least in a different way from what appeals to the tastes and meets the conditions of the American customer. He may also be influenced by the inconvenience in distributing to a country on the other side of the world from his factory.

But he is not compelled to establish a branch factory in Canada by the above reasons, either of which might be effective in the case of countries upon another continent. He has an identical constituency in Canada and the United States. When he comes to Canada he does not manufacture differently to meet any peculiar taste or demand. So far as pleasing his trade is concerned he has no difficulty in selling in Canada what he manufactures in the United States.

Neither have we observed any reason therein of [illegible] between the United States manufacturer and the Canadian consumer. The manufacturer can distribute to Canadian consumers just as conveniently from Boston or Minneapolis as he can from Halifax or Winnipeg.

It is moderate protection which preserves the Canadian home market. The American manufacturers say that they build factories here because they cannot manufacture in the United States, pay the duty and compete in the Canadian market with the Canadian manufacturer. They probably know what they are talking about.

EFFECT OF FEAR

The Response of the Body When an Emergency Arises

In a paper on the subject of fear and its effect upon the human body prepared by Dr. G. W. Chile, a London physician, it is explained that under the influence of fear the organs of the body are divided sharply into two classes—those that are stimulated, and those whose work ceases temporarily.

Under the first classification come nerve systems, which cause movement—the mechanism for raising the hair, the respiration, the sweat glands and, it is found, the thyroid gland and the adrenal gland.

On the other hand, the entire digestive functions are paralyzed. So far as we know, the organs stimulated increase the efficiency of the animal either to fight or flight. The increased action of the muscles of the heart increases the efficiency of the circulation; the secretion of the adrenal gland causes a rise in the blood pressure; the increased activity of the thyroid gland causes an increased activity of the tissues, and the production of glycogen is a symptom that the body is preparing fresh supplies of energy. Increased respiration is necessary to co-ordinate the supply of oxygen with this manufacture; even the sweat glands and dilated nostrils are playing their part. The digestive organs cannot help, they can only hinder; so the body does the best it can by shutting off the nervous current to them and saving the vital force which they would consume.

Thus, because fear first rose from injury, its phenomena are due to a stimulation of all the organs that add to efficiency in self-preservation, and a stoppage of those which are noncombatants. Fear takes many forms in civilized society, but nature has only one means of expressing it physically, and that does not alter.

Nun's Will Suit

Remains 2,000 Years Old

The Vale of Conway Antiquarian Society engaged men recently to excavate a cone-like mound or hillock near the Old Turnpike, Llangerniew, North Wales. An urn was unearthed, which on being opened was found to contain the dust and bones of a human being, who, it is conjectured, existed some 2,000 years ago.

Cured My Cough in One Night

Relieved Me of a Throat Weakness That Resisted Every Treatment.

"SUFFERERS, FOLLOW MY PLAN"

"After being loaded down with a chronic hacking cough for months, you can imagine my joy at finding even a relief from it," writes Mrs. O. A. Tooker, of Monson, Mass., U.S.A. "I was troubled with an irritable throat weakness and asthma that simply defied every medicine I ever used. I was discouraged until a friend recommended Catarrhozone so strongly that I bought a dollar outfit from my druggist. I breathed in the healing fumes of Catarrhozone very deeply—used the inhaler five minutes every hour. After the first day I was better, and next morning my cough was gone. My asthma is cured, my throat weakness is gone, and I am well. For two years in fact, with the aid of Catarrhozone, I have kept perfectly well. I have also used Dr. Hamilton's Pills for constipation with grand results, and consider your remedies have done wonders for me."

Thousands of wonderful cures are reported every year. Catarrhozone does all that is claimed for it, and is certainly most efficient for colds, bronchitis, throat trouble, asthma and catarrh. The two months' treatment (large size), price $1.00, is guaranteed; smaller size 50c., sample size 25c., at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Record Shipment of Fish

Through the fact that she brought south from Prince Rupert 150 tons of halibut the G.T.P. steamer Prince George established a new record for the fish business on the Pacific Coast. She had fifteen tons of glazed fish and 135 tons of frozen halibut. The trawlers operating in conjunction with the big Seal Cove cold storage plant near Prince Rupert have been making some good hauls of late as a result of the settling in of fine weather and the shore staff has been working hard putting the fish up. Large shipments of halibut will continue to be sent south for some weeks yet until another spell of dirty weather forces the boat to tie up and cause the supply of fish which is kept in reserve in the cold storage to be drawn upon and used up.

Sailor-Artist on Grand Trunk Ships.

A sailor-artist has been discovered among the crew of the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince George which runs between Seattle, Wash., and Victoria, Vancouver and Prince Rupert, B.C., in the person of Boatswain Harry B. Cowper, who last week won the gold medal and diploma at the Prince Rupert exhibition for the best oil painting of a local subject by a provincial artist. Mr. Cowper submitted three canvasses, all of which were placed at the head of the competition, the gold medal being given to a canvas entitled, "The Steamer Prince John in a Southeaster."

The picture has been painted on board ship for a diversion, under the disadvantages of a 'tween deck studio lit by artificial light, and subject to the motion of the boat. But the disadvantages under which it was painted is not reflected in the painting which is full of artistic merit. Naturally Mr. Cowper's shipmates are pleased at the honor which came to the "Prince George" with the winning of the prize.

MYSTERY OF SEVERED HAND

Boston Peddler Tells Wierd Story of Finding Member and Giving it Away

Middleboro, Oct. 31.—Jake Klasman of 127 Chambers street, Boston, tells a weird story of finding a hand, near Cook's brickyard just over the Middleboro line in Bridgewater.

Klasman is pack peddler, 20 years old. He is a stranger in this vicinity and was greatly excited when relating his story.

"I was walking along the State Farm road," Klasman said to-night, "when I noticed a small package under a tree. It was a swampy place.

"I waded in the mud over my shoe tops and got the package. I opened it and was horrified to find a human hand, swollen, tightly clenched and bearing a signet ring.

"I was so excited I didn't think to look at the initials, but grabbed my pack and ran as fast as I could to the roadway which leads to the State farm. I was greatly relieved to meet a man and woman on the road.

"I did not know them, but I showed them the hand; they took it and said they would give it to a detective. I offered to give them my name, but they said that it was not necessary.

Chief of Police Swift of Middleboro was notified. He made an investigation, but did not go deeply into the matter, as the finding place is in Bridgewater. W. S. Atwod, chief clerk of the brick yard, remembers a pack peddler of Klasman's description being at the yard, and tomorrow he will order a thorough search of the woodland."

DRESS REHEARSAL OF THE FAIRY PLAY

"Land of Golden Dreams" to be presented by an amateur cast at the Grand Opera House is nearly ready now. Dress rehearsal will take place Wednesday night, Nov. 5th.

The cast is composed of 350 in all, 100 being children. The play is to be given under the auspices of the Ladies of St. John's Church. The big cast has been under constant coaching for some time and things are running with great smoothness. The enormous task of handling such numbers of untrained people was a work of great difficulty, but is now nearing the end. By next Wednesday night everything will be in shape for the performance.

Prices for the Dress Rehearsal—25c to any part of the theatre. No reserved seats for this special performance.

MUSIC and DRAMA

The Land of Golden Dreams

The "Land of Golden Dreams," D. Hope Leonard's dramatization, will be presented at the Grand Opera House for three night, commencing Thursday, Nov. 6th. This dream story is captivating to all readers. The cast include a small army of talent, beautiful or grotesque as occasion demands, fairies, spirits, elves, injuns, animals, and what not. In short, it is the most pretentious production ever essayed by local people and in point of elegant costuming, bright and catchy music, connected dialogue and scenic effects, it is doubtful if anything surpassing it has ever been given here. During the progress of the opera a number of choruses, drills, ballets, specialties, etc., are introduced, in which a stage full of color is attained with colored calcium effects combining to make a perfect presentation of a most delightful story. New specialties will be given each night. Special features are the march of nations, ballet of seasons, demon dance, pony express girls, double sextet, etc. The ladies of St. John's Church are the beneficiary, and from the large sale of tickets a brilliant season is assured.

The Jersey City (N. J.) Journal says: "The Land of Golden Dreams" presented last night at the theatre was the most successful entertainment ever given here and netted the Teachers' Retirement Fund over $2,000."

GERMAN AVIATOR FELL 400 FEET AND LIVES

Versailles, France, Oct. 31.—Victor Stoeffler, the well known German aviator, was severely bruised and his mechanician sustained a broken leg when their aeroplane capsized and fell from a height of 400 feet while they were flying over the Versailles park at 3 o'clock this morning.

The aviators had just left the aerodrome at Villacoublay on the way to Warsaw, Russian Poland, in an attempt to break the record made by the French aviator, Marcel G. Brindejonc des Moulinais, who flew the distance of 933 miles at a speed of 93.3 miles an hour on June 10th this year.

It was also Stoeffler's intention to try for the prize of $25,000 offered by the German National Aviation Fund to the German airmen completing the greatest distance in a day, the time limit for which expires at midnight.

FRENCH SHIP WAS BURNED IN THE MIDDLE OF ATLANTIC

Three Sailors Were Washed Overboard Before the Rest of the Crew Were Rescued—German Ship Came to the Rescue

Hamburg, Germany, Oct. 31.—Twenty-two out of the twenty-five men forming the crew of the French bark Patrie, were yesterday rescued by the Hamburg-American liner Kron Prinzessin Cecilie, from that vessel which was found burning and disabled in mid-Atlantic. Wireless despatches from the German steamship as won the voyage from Mexico to Hamburg, says she sighted the flaming bark flying signals of distress. The German captain launched boats and took off the crew, but three of the French sailors had been washed overboard and drowned before the arrival of the liner.

The Patrie was a vessel of 306 tons displacement and hailed from Fecamp, France.

PARTIES NOW NEGOTIATING COMPROMISE ON HOME RULE

Neither Believes in Honesty of Other Side and Memorandums Are Submitted Without Prejudice

London, Nov. 1.—Negotiations for a compromise on home rule for Ireland to reconcile Ulster have actually begun between members of the cabinet and the Unionist leaders. The peace parleys are conducted in the spirit of belligerents on the field of battle. Neither believes in the honesty of the other side and in negotiating both are actuated solely by motives of expediency. The method of negotiations vividly illustrates this. It is understood that Lord Knollys, formerly secretary to King Edward, is the intermediary chosen at the desire of King George. His experience in delicate and difficult political affairs is unrivalled, while neither his impartiality, his tact nor his integrity have ever been questioned.

The home rule committee of the cabinet prepared a memorandum setting forth the conditions under which the negotiations originated, and this was handed to the intermediary, who showed it to Bonar Law and Lord Lansdowne, the Unionist leaders. They are not permitted to retain the memorandum, not even to take it out of the intermediary's presence, and when they have considered it, he takes it back to the cabinet. The Unionist memorandum in reply is communicated to the cabinet committee in the same way. If these negotiations fail neither side will be able to use against the other what it was prepared to concede. The interchange of views must necessarily be prolonged, but when an agreement is actually in sight the parties will meet personally to expedite matters. It is confidently believed that an agreement will ultimately be reached

MRS. PANKHURST SPOKE IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette, arrived in Chicago early yesterday from Nashville, to fill a lecture engagement yesterday afternoon. She plans to remain here until Tuesday, when she will go to Minneapolis to address a meeting on Thursday.

On Saturday the British militant and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, led the grand march at a Hallowe'en dance given by the Women's Trade Union League.

THE ANTI-BRITISH POLICY

The following analysis of the vote in South Bruce shows how the Anti-British Liberal Navy policy overcame the Pro-British Empire Borden policy.

"A careful analysis of the votes goes to show that it was this racial appeal which turned the tide against the Government candidate. The returns received at Ottawa show that the Liberal gains outside of Walkerton, Mr. Traux's home town, were all made in the German townships. These are Culross, Carrick, Brant, and in Culross the Liberal majority increased nearly one hundred over the 1911 fight.

"Carrick township cut a Conservative majority of 84 to 20. In Brant the Conservatives made big losses, while returns from four polls in Elderslie show a Conservative majority of 28 changed to a Liberal majority of 19. This was an increased majority on Walkerton more than accounts for the result. In the English, Irish and Scotch Townships, the Conservatives held their own or made big gains.

"The constituency is one which always has been close and has turned over many times. The Liberals also had an exceptionally strong candidate in Mr. Traux, an old campaigner, who made personal canvass of the whole county."

WILSON MUST ACT IN TWO CRISES TO HOLD PRESTIGE

Mexico Situation Requires That President Act Quickly or Congress May Sweep Him Off His Feet

Washington, Nov. 1.—President Woodrow Wilson apparently stands face to face with two important crises. Those who know him best feel sure that he will surmount them both without difficulty, but to the onlooker it appears as though speedy and drastic action would be required to maintain the marvelous prestige which up to this time has accompanied the president. He must deal and deal quickly with the situation in Mexico, and he must strike and strike hard at the three Democratic senators who are strangling the currency bill in committee.

Senators O'Gorman, of New York, Reed, of Missouri and Hitchcock, of Nebraska, all Democrats, and all members of the banking and currency committee, are evidently conspiring to destroy the administration's currency bill as Senator Calvin, Brice and Arthur Gorman twenty years ago destroyed the Wilson tariff bill, which President Cleveland had successfully carried through the House of Representatives. In 1893, Brice and Gorman, with the aid of free silver Republicans, emasculated the administration's tariff reform bill to such an extent that Mr. Cleveland allowed it to become law without his signature. In 1913, O'Gorman, Reed and Hitchcock are combining with the Republican members not to kill the bill outright, but to pass it so weakened and disfigured by amendments, that the president will not sign it. For the time they have a strangle hold. The senate committee on banking and currency consists of seven Democrats and five Republicans.

"POMERANIAN" GOES THRU SERIOUS STORM

Montreal, Nov. 1.—The steamer Pomeranian from London and Havre went through a terrific ocean storm on Oct. 24 which so disabled the vessel that she did not reach Montreal until this morning, three days late. Two lifeboats were swept away from their davits and smashed to bits by the tremendous seas which broke over the vessel's side. One of the seamen was thrown down by a wave and slightly injured.

MAY PROTEST SOUTH BRUCE

Say Money Was Spent Freely and That Non-Qualified Voters Were Brought in to Vote.

Walkerton, Nov. 2.—Conservative workers are seriously considering the advisability of protesting yesterday's election.

Not only is it alleged that money has been freely spent, but it is claimed that many persons on the voters' list, but who were disqualified because of non-residence within the stipulated period, were brought in to vote here and elsewhere. The noon train on the C.P.R. arriving here the day following the voting unloading a large number of these voters, many of whom took the oath as to qualification before they cast their ballots. It is claimed that names can be given of men who voted wrongfully under these circumstances.

It is recalled that Mr. Truax, when he was elected for the Commons before had to face a protest in which 28 charges were made. At the protest charge he threw up the sponge when the seventh charge was reached.

It is noted that at Teeswater the Truax majority of 23, in 1911, was reduced to 14. And this was the only place where Laurier spoke.

CATHOLIC PARTY LOANED HUERTA ENOUGH TO TIDE HIM OVER PAYDAY

But Government Employes Are Still Worried—Blanquet Would Have to Assume Presidency if Election is Valid

Mexico City, Gov. 1.—Gen. Aureliano Blanquet, on the face of the returns elected vice-president on the ticket with Gen. Huerta, declared today that he will refuse the presidency should congress hold the election valid with Huerta eliminated for constitutional reasons.

In an interview to-day he was asked if he would accept the presidency. He answered "No." When his reasons were demanded he replied, "Just No."

Politicians interpret this as meaning that Huerta will hold on to the presidency, as Blanquet's action would leave the country without an executive.

Foreign Minister Moheno said today that Blanquet would have no recourse but to assume the presidency if he was duly elected vice-president and the executive chair [illegible] vacant.

Employes Were Paid.

Rumors to the effect that the Government was unable to pay its employes were set at rest yesterday when the pay master began handing out the pay envelopes. President Huerta ordered them to work all night if necessary in order that employes might be paid without further delay. This has not relieved the situation very much, as employes have begun to worry about next pay day. In order to tide the government over the present situation, the Catholic party came forward with a loan of $2,000,000.

It is reported here to-day that a strong rebel force under Gen. Panchovilla has reached the neighborhood of the City of Chihuahua. The military governor, Salvador Mercado, has asked permission to evacuate the city. It is said that Villa has 12,000 men, while the federals number about 6,000.

PEOPLE PRAISE KAISER'S HEIR

Prince Again Exhibits His Genius for Getting on Popular Side

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Crown Prince Frederick William is again the most talked about in Germany, owing to the dramatic intervention in the Brunswick throne controversy. Although though officially closed, the incident is still the chief topic of discussion in all quarters.

Scarcely everybody agrees now that the late William T. Stead was wrong when he once predicted that when the Kaiser's heir came to the throne Germany would have a good rest as a manufacturer of incidents. The crown prince has amply proved that he is a chip of the old block.

Even those who are inclined to criticise the crown prince's interference in the Brunswick squabble agree that he has given another demonstration of his genius for getting on the right side of a big public question as far as popular sentiment is concerned.

It is not generally realized, as several constitutional authorities point out in the papers, that the heir to the Prussian throne is strictly within the rights and privileges in entering into a controversy directly concerned with what will some day be his own royal domain. One commentator puts the case in the following picturesque style:

"The kingdom of Prussia is the Prince's to inherit, just the same as a great forest which has been in the family possession for generations and which the father is to hand down to his eldest son. Supposing this father begins cutting down the timber, indiscriminately, visibly diminishing the tangible value of the estate, has heir, by all the codes of moral and statutory law, would be justified in stepping in and protesting.

"Here comes the Kaiser and declares that another royal house, which cherishes sentimental, but none the less definite designs on an integral portion of Prussia—namely, the kingdom of Hanover,—shall not only be permitted to continue to cherish these designs, but that its forthcoming head shall even be raised to the dignity of a reigning German sovereign. The Crown Prince objects, and his misgivings, as he has had the satisfaction of observing, are shared by the vast majority of the nation. His apology to his stern parent and to the imperial chancellor has, under all the circumstances, not cost him very much sacrifice of pride. He comes out of the incident more popular than ever."

PREMIER TAKES TRIP TO SOUTH

Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden Leaves on a Six Weeks' Holiday for Benefit of Health.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Right Hon. R. L. Borden left yesterday on a six weeks trip to the south for the benefit of his health.

It is stated that at a dinner given on Wednesday night by the Duke of Connaught, in honor of the Provincial Premiers, Mr. Borden had a sinking spell and had to leave.

Constitutionally the premier is strong, but is badly in need of rest. He has had a hard summer and a busy fall, and with what promises to be a strenuous session ahead, decided to take a holiday. Mrs Borden has accompanied him.

It is understood that the Premier will spend his vacation in Virginia, away from the cares of office, and will put in much time on the golf links.

The announcement of the Premier's departure sets at rest all doubts as to when the session will open, and it is officially stated the House will meet shortly after the New Year, probably between Jan. 8 and 15.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Mostly fair and about the same temperature.

INFANTS BODY FOUND IN MERE

New Born Babe Left Among Rushes of Ashbridge's Bay—Inquest to Be Held.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—Lying half buried in the mud along the marshy ashbridge's bay, the body of a child was found Saturday afternoon, at the foot of Carlaw avenue, and later removed to the morgue. The infant had been left there shortly after birth, and apparently several weeks ago.

An investigation will be held.

SUFFS AGAIN ATTACK PREMIER ASQUITH

Women Throw Pepper in Car and Try to Horsewhip Him.

London, Nov. 1.—Suffragettes attacked Premier Asquith again this afternoon, throwing pepper on him and trying to get at him with whips, as he motored from Larbert House to Stirling.

The onslaught took place as the prime minister passed through Plean Village. Several militants surrounded his automobile and jumped on its steps. One of them filled the car with pepper while another wielded a dog whip, but the lashes failed to reach Asquith.

Scotland Yard men followed in a police car drove the women away. Asquith was unhurt and refused to have the suffragettes arrested.

LLOYD GEORGE IS IDOL OF ITALY

Every Speech of the Chancellor is Printed in Italian Newspapers.

London, Nov. 1.—David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is the most popular man in Italy, according to Welshmen returning from the continent.

The common people of Italy, in discussing the British statesman, say that his well known measures, such as pensions for old people, insurance, etc., are greatly needed in Italy. Whenever Lloyd George speaks in or out of parliament, every word he says is printed in the Italian papers. Much more space is given to his speeches than to the utterances of the prime minister of Italy. His remarks are read avidly by working men who can read to their friends who cannot. Britain's questions are Italy's questions. There are movements in each country in the same direction, and the Italian workingman believes that the British leader is the prophet of the new era.

SOLDIERS OF SALVATION ARMY WELCOME GENERAL TO TORONTO

Fifteen Hundred Parade Before General Booth on His Arrival in Toronto--Crowds Line His Way to City Hall, Where Civic Reception Was Given

Toronto, Nov. 1.—General Bramwell Booth, the leader in a great work started by a man among men—his father—arrived in Toronto on Saturday afternoon.

With ten brass bands playing, and in the presence of a large number of officers of the army gathered on the station platform, the general was royally welcomed, when the Grand Trunk train on which he was aboard drew into the Toronto Union Station at 3.45 p.m. Saturday.

In the midst of the enthusiasm his first question on stepping to the station platform was an enquiry as to the condition of Commissioner Rees, who has been in a serious state from an attack of lung trouble, which he contracted a few days ago. When informed that the Commissioner had shown much improvement and that his recovery was expected, the general expressed his thankfulness and entered into the spirit of the reception with a smile on his face.

The general was accompanied by Commissioner Lamb and Lawley and Col. Pritchen from New York, and Col. Maidment, who went to Hamilton to greet him.

He was met at the station by Controller Church, chairman of the civic reception committee, Colonels Gaskin, Rees, Tanner and Chandler and Brigadiers Hargraves, Walker, Taylor and Potters.

Reviewed March Past.

It was with much difficulty that the general was able to make his way to the corner of Simcoe and Front streets, where in company with officers of the headquarters staff he reviewed the march past of more than 1500 Salvationists. With the Salvation Army marchers preceding, Gen. Booth then rode to the city hall.

Progress Was Slow.

The route of the procession was along Front to York, east on King to Bay to the City Hall. Three mounted police headed the parade.

A signal for a renewed outburst of enthusiasm was the arrival of the general at the city hall, where the "keep off the grass" signs and other obstacles were ignored by the large crowds of citizens.

Britain Must Continue to Rule the World

The utter failure of Right Hon. Winston Churchill's suggestion that Great Britain and Germany inaugurate a naval holiday goes to show the impossibility of attempting to curtail the growth of armaments. The statement of the German naval leader, that the fatherland proposed to proceed as usual with its programme shows that no relief is to be expected from that quarter.

Nothing, therefore, remains but for Great Britain to go ahead with her programme also and to keep so far ahead of her Teutonic rival that the latter will be convinced of the futility of trying to wrest the mastery of the seas from the tight little isle. This can best be done through the cooperation of the whole empire along the well-known lines laid down by Right Hon. R. L. Borden, prime minister of Canada.

MAIL CHAUFFEURS IN GRAVE TROUBLE

New York, Nov. 1.—The strike of 125 chauffeurs of automobiles trucks carrying United States mail caused no delay in the transportation of the mail today, according to the federal authorities, who said the places of the men who went out has been filled by other drivers.

Several men arrested yesterday were turned over to the federal authorities today and faced, instead of the disorderly charge, the more serious one of interfering with the United States mails.

CHICAGO'S POLICE CHIEF MAY BE A WOMAN

Chicago, Nov. 1.—A woman for chief of police of this city is being seriously considered by Mayor Harrison, according to a story in the Evening Post today.

The Mayor has not made known his choice for successor to Chief McWeeny, resigned, but the Post learns that Mrs. Gertrude H. Britton looms large in the mayor's canvass of the field.

Mrs. Britton is a woman of independent means, who has for years been prominent as a social worker. She is familiar with police work, is a member of the police examining board of the city civil service commission and lecturer in the police examining board of the city civil service commission and lectures in the police schools.

It was not long ago that Mayor Harrison appointed 10 police women for special service, including censorship of dancing in public halls.

PRINCE ERNST OF CUMBERLAND ASSUMES THRONE OF BRUNSWICK

Old Differences Between the Families of Hohenzollern and Guelph is Finally Settled

Brunswick, Germany, Nov. 1.—The Government of the Duchy of Brunswick, which has been without a reigning duke since 1884, was assumed today by the young Prince Ernst August of Cumberland, who on May 24, married Princess Victoria Luise only daughter of the German emperor and empress.

The difference between the two princely families of Hohenzollern and Guelph have thus been settled, for the new duke, in a declaration issued today, promised unswerving loyalty to the German Empire and Emperor and to the federated rulers of Germany. He thus implicitly, although not actually, renounced his pretensions to the throne of the Kingdom of Hanover, annexed to Prussia in 1866 when it allied itself with Austria against Prussia.

Prince Ernst August's father, the Duke of Cumberland, the rightful heir to the Kingdom of Hanover, as well as to the dukedom of Brunswick, has steadfastly refused to renounce his claims to the succession to Hanover and has therefore not been permitted to reign as Duke of Brunswick. He has always lived in exile in Austria.

Since 1884 the duchy of Brunswick has been under regency, first of Prince Albert of Prussia and then of Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, whose office lapses with the accession to the throne of the new duke.

CONSTITUTIONALISTS CLAIM THEIR CONTROL IN MEXICO

Hermosillo, Sonora, Nov. 1.—The first chief of the constitutionalist army in Mexico has responded as follows to questions as to the army's standing:

1.—How many men are there under arms in the constitutionalist army?

The constitutionalist army has more than eighty thousand men, well organized, under arms.

2.—What states or parts of states are under control of the constitutionalist forces?

With the exception of Yucatan, Chiapas and Oaxaca, all the states other than a few fortified cities are controlled or are under invasion by the constitutional forces.

3.—What reasons exist why the United States should recognize the constitutionalist government as a de facto government?

The United States should recognize us because we are the legal constitutional faction, and as such possess a de facto control over the greater part of the national territory; and, [illegible] because the campaign commenced by me as the constitutional governor of the state of Coahuila will be continued with renewed vigor to enforce law and to overthrow the usurpers who have taken violent possession of the government.

Some Have It All.

"There's a sad case," said Mrs. Jones, as she laid the paper on her knees and wiped her spectacles. "A bride struck dumb after leaving the altar, and by last accounts she hadn't recovered her speech."

"It's the way of the world, my dear," said old Mr. Jones with a sigh. "It's the way of the world. Some men have [illegible]

WORKS ALL DAY
And Studies at Night on Grape-Nuts.

Some of the world's great men have worked during the day and studied evenings to fit themselves for greater things. But it requires a good constitution generally to do this.

A man was able to keep it up with ease after he had learned the sustaining power of Grape-Nuts, although he had failed in health before he changed his food supply. He says:

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which left me unable to eat anything but bread and water.

"The nervous strain at my office from 6 A. M. to 6 P. M. and improper foods caused my health to fail rapidly. Cereal and so-called "Foods" were tried without benefit until I saw Grape-Nuts mentioned in the paper.

"In hopeless desperation I tried this food and at once gained strength, flesh and appetite. I am now able to work all day at the office and study at night, without the nervous exhaustion that was usual before I tried Grape-Nuts.

"It leaves me strengthened, refreshed, satisfied; nerves quieted and fed up, body and brain waste restored. I would have been a living skeleton or more likely a dead one by this time, if it had not been for Grape-Nuts."

Little Children Walk

Linda Beaton, aged six, Ida Farrow, aged six, and William Farrow, aged five, walked from Peterborough to Whaplode Drove, a distance of sixteen miles, to see their grandfather. The children, who undertook the journey unknown to their parents, arrived exhausted, and, after being fed and rested, were driven home again.

Widower's Beautiful Idea

Erected by a Leeds man to the memory of his dead wife, a white marble monument in Lawnswood Cemetery represents the porch of their house. On the step is the figure, almost life size, of the dead wife in an attitude of welcoming someone into the house.

"Electric Snuff" Upsets Audience

The story of how a mischievous boy nearly caused a panic in a picture theatre was related at Dundee Police Court. The mischief-maker was a grocer's apprentice named William Donaldson. He appeared to answer a charge of having scattered in the picture hall a quantity of "electric snuff." The result was disastrous so far as the further interest of the audience in the pictures was concerned, and a panic almost ensued. Admitting his guilt, the boy was penalised in 20 shillings, with the option of twenty days' imprisonment.

Taking the Dominion of Canada as a whole, within the last twenty odd years, the number of criminals in proportion to population has shown a remarkable increase. In 1891 the persons convicted of serious offences numbered 8.2 for every ten thousand inhabitants. Now they number 17.5. The proportion of criminality is highest in the Yukon where it is 30.5 per ten thousand inhabitants. British Columbia comes next with 29.8 in 1901; next is Alberta with 24.5; Ontario is fourth with 23.4. In Quebec the proportion of criminality to population is only 10.2, and in Prince Edward Island (where it is lowest), it is only 2.2 per ten thousand inhabitants.

Of the persons convicted of indictable offences, about 50 per cent. are Canadian born, while according to the last census 77.9 per cent of our population are natives of the Dominion.

To Restore Carpets

To a pail of warm water add a tablespoonful of ammonia. Dip a cloth in this, wring nearly dry and wipe the entire surface of the carpet with the dampened cloth. Frequently rinse the cloth so that it is freed from the dust gathered from the carpet. The turpentine restores the faded brilliancy of the colors.

Washing Ebony Brushes

When you clean the ebony brushes on your toilet table, rub a little vaseline over the backs before you wash the bristles, as this prevents the soda or ammonia in the water from injuring the ebony. The vaseline should afterwards be removed by polishing the backs with a dry cloth.

One Big University Supplies Huge Russian District

Tomsk, the agricultural centre of Siberia, boasts of the only university in that country. It was opened twenty-six years ago, and is so well endowed that tuition fees amount to only $50 a year. It has a library containing 210,000 volumes, probably the biggest collection of books in the northern half of Asia. There are two courses, medicine and law. The former is the more important and with it are connected well-equipped laboratories and a biological institute. At the university hospital may be obtained the only Pasteur treatment for mad dog bite that is available in Siberia. As rabies is rife, this is no small blessing to the settlers. A great institute of technology and school of mines, too, is to be found at Tomsk. It has an enrollment of 1,700 students, many of them from the far-away region of the Caucasus, in southern Russia.

Our Point of View

To prevent the drain on its population by the emigration of two hundred thousand persons a year, the Spanish government is planning extensive railroad and highway building schemes.

The safest plan is to conduct the business in the Indian sign language.

Stuffy Feeling About the Nose Relieved at Once

Tells How to Cure Hawking and Spitting, and Drive Out Catarrhal Colds.

Isn't it miserable to have a stuffed-up feeling in the nostrils — to be scarcely able to draw a full breath. When Catarrh gets into the nose you're bound to know something is radically wrong.

A dead sure cure, and a simple one to use, is Catarrhozone; you just breathe it—that's all. You see Catarrhozone Inhaler sends healing piney vapors through the nose, throat and lungs, and these antiseptic soothing vapors are death to colds or Catarrh.

Thousands testify every year that nothing ever discovered will cure a cold, or help the throat like Catarrhozone. Mr. Everett L. Wasson, of Blair, N.B., writes:—"About five years ago I took a cold in the head, and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds. I kept putting off getting anything until I at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, "Catarrhozone," and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have Catarrh, etc."

Catarrhozone is the greatest remedy for colds, etc., since people began to have colds. Get the dollar package and let the whole family use it. Medium size, 50c.; sample size, 25c. All storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

MORE RAILROAD MONEY

The railroads have been trying for a long time to get leave to raise their freight rates. The latest report of the Bureau of Railway Economics summarizes the situation in brief after this fashion.

The reports for August, reduced to the per mile of line basis and compared with the reports for August, 1912, show an increase in operating revenues per mile of .6 per cent. and an increase in operating expenses per mile of 7.1 per cent. The net operating revenue per mile was less by 10.9 per cent. than for August, 1912, while that for August 1912 was 11.1 per cent. greater than that for August 1911.

This is the report of roads operating 90 per cent. of the steam railway mileage of the United States. It shows, then, that there is an increase of operating expenses against a decrease of operating revenue.

There is pending a demand in pay that will amount to about $50,000,000 a year. Advances have been made in a great many cases and compacts entered into which involve an increase in the rate of wages that corresponds with the increase in cost of living. Incidentally the cost of living is advanced to railroads as to persons.

PUBLIC SERVICE STRIKES

In the strike of the motor truck drivers of the New York postoffice department, which so far has resulted in the holding up of nearly one million pounds of mail, we find a situation somewhat analogous to that which brought forth Gov. Foss's ultimatum to the New Haven engineers recently. The strike began at 8 o'clock Monday night. Everyone of the 125 trucks operated by the Postal Transfer Service was abandoned by its driver. The strikers' complaint was that they were under constant danger of arrest for speeding at the rate required of them to catch trains and boats.

The immensity of the New York postal business was never more clearly demonstrated than by the alarming rate in which the mail matter piled up. By the withdrawal of these few men a condition arose which materially hampered this most important branch of the public service and caused serious inconvenience to countless people who have no connection with the original grievance. This is apt to be more or less the case with every strike, and the innocent bystander becomes the invariable sufferer. Some method, however, should be devised by which so important a branch of public service cannot be crippled by a petty controversy which should be a matter for internal adjustment, and need never reach public attention.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

Views of a Correspondent Regarding Attitude of Church.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am enclosing a paper with this. You may be pleased to publishlish it, and some future time, if you desire it, I may help you to let a few more rays of the light of truth into the darkness of Romanism.

It is not a time to sit on the fence. If the claims of the Pope and his representatives and teachers are genuine then let us bow to them, and at once fly to her bosom for shelter and seek her light to guide us in the path to heaven. But if her claims are false and her assumptions baseless, then she is a fraud; and this most gigantic fraud ever imposed upon mankind'!

In your paper of Oct. 18, in an extract from the Orange Sentinel, Mr. Webb says: "It was rather strange to see the mayor and city aldermen present in their representative capacity listening to the public cursing of the cherished beliefs of the majority of their electors and more strange to see these same men presenting an engrossed address to the papal delegate, who had to demand this anathema from the bishop-elect.

But is it not MORE "strange" to hear this preacher concluding his article as follows: "The Roman Catholic Church should have every attention and courtesy extended to that of other denominations, and no more." If a band of robbers and murderers were to rise up in the Baptist Church and claim the right to teach treason against the government and that they would be subject to no laws but those of their own making, and that for their crimes they would only be tried by their peers, what kind of "attention and courtesy" would the Baptist preacher say ought to be extended to them?

The only "RIGHTEOUSNESS" that we can see that the Pope stands for is UN-righteousness, and as for "PEACE" that can only be proclaimed when all the "heretics" are not only "CURSED" but "EXTERMINATED."

The Orange Sentinel of Oct. 9 gives the following quotations from The Catholic Progress: "Would that every Protestant meeting house was swept from the land, then would Ireland recover herself, and outrages would be unknown, for there would be no admixture of unbelievers with her champions."

Indeed the Catholic Progress also says: "The woes of Ireland are due to one single cause—the EXISTENCE of Protestantism in Ireland. The remedy could only be found in the REMOVAL of that which caused the evil."

As true Christians we should not return evil for evil, but while we should fearlessly expose in the light all their false decretions and horrible deeds of darkness, leave their judgment to the one Lawgiver who is able to save and to destroy.

Let us hear the words of Him whom all Christians call "Master": "I say unto you, Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you, bless them that curse you, and pray for them which despitefully use you."—Luke vi.:27-28.

WITH JOHN BULL IN THE OLD LAND

A Glimpse at the Unusual in the Doing of England, Ireland and Scotland

The Debenham (Suffolk) Sparrow Club, which last year destroyed 11,596 sparrows and 3,526 eggs, is to be wound up owing to lack of funds and co-operation.

Workhouse Wig

Epping Guardians have decided to expend $2.00 on a wig for an old woman in the workhouse, about whose baldness the other inmates make unkind remarks.

Otter at Isleworth

An otter measuring 3 feet 3 inches has been shot while preying on the fish in the ornamental lake at Syon House, the Duke of Northumberland's seat at Isleworth, on the Thames.

Two Boys Drowned

Two little lads named Owen Stewart and Frederick Croft, each four years of age, were found drowned in Temple Creek at Strood, Kent. They had been playing in an old boat and had fallen into the water.

Hunted Stag in Village

Chased by the Devon and Somerset staghounds, which had met thirteen miles away, a stag dashed into the village of Lynmouth, Devon, through the Glen Lyn grounds, and was killed on the banks of the West Lyn.

Passive Resister

Some silver plate and table cutlery belonging to Miss Anstey, a Birmingham suffragette, who had refused to pay taxes, were sold by auction for $60 to the Rev. R. R. Mein, a Presbyterian minister, who handed them back to Miss Anstey.

Census of City Horses

According to a report of the veterinary inspector of the London City Corporation, there are at present thirty-three stables in use in the City, as well as forty-three loose boxes. The number of horses in use is a few more than 800.

An Unexpected Bath

A lady was riding on horseback on the sands at Eastbourne when the animal stumbled and fell. Regaining its feet, the animal dragged its rider some distance through the water before she succeeded in freeing herself. She was, happily, uninjured.

Fled With Bag of Gold

A clerk of fifty-four named Henry Wood, who had been arrested at Hastings, was remanded at Hull on a charge of theft. It was said he took a bag containing $610 in gold from the safe in the strong-room of his employer's office, and at the seaside had lived "like a gentleman."

Coroner Condemns "Dummy"

The Yarmouth coroner, addressing a woman whose baby disturbed the court by constant hiccoughing, remarked: "Take that dummy out of its mouth. They are the most beastly and infamous things ever invented. The man who invented them ought to be made to walk round the world for ever with one in his mouth."

Picture Palace Disaster

One man was killed and six injured at Blackpool by the collapse of the skeleton roof of the Blackpool Central Picture Palace. Two men who were working on the gable-end were struck by the girders and remained in mid-air over an hour before they could be rescued. They were lowered to the ground by police stretchers.

Lunatic Forcibly Fed

Refusing food while an inmate of the Coton Hill Hospital for Mental Diseases, Stafford, Edmund John Taunton, in his sixtieth year, was forcibly fed through the nostrils, to prevent starvation. He suffered from heart disease, and died of heart failure. A coroner's jury found "That death was due to heart failure, accelerated by the forcible but necessary feeding."

Thirty Dairymaids Sing

Thirty dairymaids, dressed in royal blue, sang the National Anthem to greet the King and Queen when their Majesties visited the Worleston Dairy Institute, in Cheshire. The dairymaids, many of whom are farmers' daughters, were grouped on the lawn when the King and Queen arrived and, after hearing them sing, the Royal visitors saw demonstrations of cheese and butter making by the students.

Guardsman's Cycle Restored

After being missing for over twenty-four hours, a bicycle which disappeared from outside a house in Windsor was restored to its owner, a trooper of the 1st Life Guards. It was found in Dorset Road, Windsor, with a letter addressed to the Chief Constable of Windsor attached to the handle. The letter said, "This bicycle has not been stolen, but borrowed. I am very grateful to the owner, and I found it most convenient, for it answered my purpose in emergency. I am no practical thief, but chanced my share of luck, and came off topping." The letter was signed "Honesty."

Cigarettes Popular

Canadian people are consuming more tobacco and drinking more beer and spirits year by year, but the increase is not remarkable save as regards cigarettes. About two hundred million more cigarettes were smoked last year than in the previous twelvemonth.

The inland revenue department in a statement showed that the consumption of tobacco, including cigarettes, was 3.818 pounds per head for the year and the number of cigarettes smoked was [illegible]. This, at least, was the number the department's records showed as having been imported or produced at home.

TAMMANY WILL GO DOWN TO DEFEAT

New York, Nov 1.—The bitterest municipal campaign in New York history will come practically to an end tonight. Monday of course, there will be a final kick, but the heavy work has all been completed, the candidates are Edward E. McCall candidates are Edward E. McCall on on the Tammany or Democratic ticket, and John Purroy Mitchell on the Fusion ticket, an amalgamation of parties opposed to Tammany.

The campaign has been almost entirely one of personal vituperation growing out of the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer, John Hennessy, a special investigator under Sulzer, gathered a mass of material intended to show graft and blackmail collection on the part of the Democratic organization and his injection of this into the campaign changed it into the bitter personal channel it has since followed. From being the betting favorite at 6 to 5 on the beginning of the campaign, the odds against McCall are now around 3 to 1 against. One bet was made of $1200 to $300. The betting and straw votes alike indicate that McCall will be defeated by a large majority.

-- KEEP THE PUBLIC INFORMED --

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its fineness and price.

He classes these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this now through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his servic to keep the public informed.

Washing Grimy Hands

Every automobilist who has had to repair his machine has longed for some way to wash his hands, ordinary soap and water being almost useless as a means of removing the many and tenacious varieties of dirt that gather upon them on such occasions. So chauffeurs and men who drive their own cars will welcome the directions given by an authoritative French scientific magazine. This paper directs that the hands be rubbed with gasoline, the operation being twice repeated; then they are to be washed in sweet oil or butter after which a thorough washing with soap and water will remove the last vestiges of dirt. The nails, however, require special attention, and it will repay the automobilist to keep a mixture of benzine and alcohol expressly for his hands.

BEST OUTFIELDERS

Oldring, Strunk and Murphy the Choice of Connie Mack

Speaking of outfields, Connie Mack believes he can name the three best.

"Oldring in left field cannot, to my way of thinking, be duplicated. He's not only a hard and timely batsman, but an A1 fielder, sure on flies and line drives, and he has an arm that makes Cobb, Milan and the other phenoms think twice before trying to stretch a bit, with him in possession of the ball.

"Strunk is a marvel. He is one of the fastest men that ever broke into baseball; so fast, as a matter of fact, that most all the fans fail to realize just how speedy he is. Not only that, Strunk is a great hitter.

"Murphy is quite a youngster, but a sure born ball player. I know he will soon show the fans what he really is in the baseball line, not only at the bat, but in the field as well. Just keep your eyes on the Athletics' outfield and you will agree on everything I have said."

Fond of Picture Palaces

In Falkirk Juvenile Court a girl fourteen years of age, residing with her parents in Grangemouth, pleaded guilty of a series of frauds and wilful impositions on Grangemouth shopkeepers, as the result of which she obtained a considerable quantity of clothing, and also to obtaining board and lodgings without intending to pay. The mother of the accused said the girl seemed very excitable, and there seemed to be nothing in her head but picture palaces. The sheriff put the accused on probation for a year.

Joseph Skidding, a youth, died at Llanelly (Carmarthenshire) Hospital from scalds. He fell the night before into a well of boiling water connected with the power station.

DOG NURSES

Latest Thing in Old England—Are Carefully Trained

Mrs. "Lulu" Harcourt installed a permanent "dog nurse" in her kennels at Nuneham Park, her delightful place in Oxford. The "dog nurses" are almost as carefully trained as are hospital nurses. The best of them make a complete study of their business, spending at least a year with a good dog surgeon and afterwards "walking the wards" in a high-class dog hospital, of which London boasts several. In the end they have a good knowledge of dog ailments and their treatments, and the "kennel-side" manner that is so important in the handling of valuable dogs. They usually wear neat blue or brown uniforms, like a hospital nurse, and many of them make regular rounds to a number of customers, looking the dogs over and keeping an eye open for the early symptoms of illness. On an average $10 a week is about all they can expect to earn, but in exceptional cases they have been known to make real handsome things out of big jobs where their work has been unusually effective.

Fresh Air Duchess

A caravan campaign against consumption was conducted in Nottinghamshire, and in opening an exhibition which was held at Mansfield, the Duchess of Portland said she was very fond of fresh air; in fact, her family said she was a "fresh air fanatic."

Fire at Celebrated Mills

A serious fire occurred at Messrs. Morrogh's well known mills at Douglas, Cork. The mills were once the celebrated flaxmills which supplied ropes for the British Navy.

NERVE NECESSARY FOR GOOD BATTER

"Home Run" Baker Talks of Pitchers Who Aim at the Head to Frighten a Man

"I believe hitters are born, not made," says "Home Run" Baker, "but I also believe it is possible for weak hitters to improve.

"The first thing a boy needs, to become a good batter, is good eyes.

"He must have nerve, too. Strength is necessary, but almost every ball player is strong. The exercise he gets, playing, is bound to strengthen him. The big thing is nerve, though. Unless a boy has plenty of nerve he cannot hope to succeed. It requires nerve to stand up to the plate and let the pitcher throw at your head. The good hitter will duck out of harm's way and return to his position and dare him to do it again. If a batter backs away because he is afraid of the ball, he is gone.

"There are any number of pitchers whose stock in trade consists of a 'bean ball' and a prayer. They throw the ball at the batter's head until they drive him from the plate and then sneak a couple of fast ones over the middle.

"A batter needs just as much nerve in a minor league as he does in the majors. In fact he needs more, for many minor league pitchers are 'bean ballers.' I mean that many are shy of control, not that they throw at your head more frequently than the big fellows.

"My receipt for batting is to look upon the star pitchers as if they were bush leaguers. If a recruit gets the idea that the great pitchers are going to beat him, he never will get anywhere. No player can afford to be afraid of a pitcher. I think this feeling helps me when I face such men as Mathewson. I know such men have such good control that they will not hit me and I simply wait until I get a good one."

COMPOSER AT NINE

Child Prodigy Recognized in German Musical Circles

Among the composers who were honored by having their works entered on the programme of the Berlin Philharmonic Society's concerts under the leadership of Herr Nikisch, one of the very few who can boast of having a work brought out in this way for the first time, is a boy of fifteen—Erich Wolfgang Korngold. His "Overture to a Comedy" was given for the first time at the fifth of these concerts. This is the boy's fourth important composition, but although he has got so far already, he is not a very rapid composer. Indeed, his four works are spread over a period of six years, and his first work, a cantata, was produced when he was only nine. Meanwhile the Court Opera House of Vienna has given as many as thirty performances of his pantomime, "The Snowman," which was written at the age of eleven. His other works are a piano suite, "Don Quixote," and a sonata.

Yellow Piano Keys

The foundation of a piano key is made from pine wood, which always contains a certain amount of resin that would yellow the ivories if it were not for the rather modern method of placing a thin layer of basswood between the pine foundation and the ivory. This method accounts for the fact that our modern keys do not discolor so much as the keys of the old-fashioned piano of our grandmother's time.

Diabetes

TORTURED WITH AN UNQUENCHABLE THIRST FOR YEARS TRIED EVERYTHING THAT MEDICAL AID COULD DO FOR ME, BUT GRADUALLY GOT WORSE TRIED SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES AND WAS CURED.

Ashville, Man.

Dear Sirs:—

During the month of March I was informed that I had a well developed case of Diabetes. I immediately placed myself upon a rigid diet after a week of which the first urinalysis disclosed a sugar content of 8 p.c. After several months of dieting during which time I was taking a so-called-cure the sugar content was reduced to 3 p.c. I began taking SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES with the result that within a short time the urinalysis made by competent persons, and at different periods, disclosed no sugar, whatever. This condition, is indeed, very gratifying and I have every reason to believe that I am quite cured. For some time past my diet has been a liberal one, consisting largely in some foods high in carbo-hydrates, but I still avoid all sugars and syrups. This is in accordance with the directions which I can well afford to follow. I am gaining in weight and strength, and once more feel that it is good to be alive.

There is no question in my mind regarding the virtues of SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES, and I feel that a great blessing has been conferred upon suffering humanity by this discovery, and use of this medicine."

Yours truly,
W. A. FOX.

Underground Owl

The collection of birds and beasts which the District Railway is forming has been increased by a male wood owl, which was caught on the Harrow line. It is a fine specimen, and now, stuffed and suitably posed, is exhibited at Victoria Underground Station.

Vicar Rebukes Sidesmen

When a sidesman at Witham, Essex vestry meeting commented on the small offerings some people gave to the church, Canon Ingles, vicar of Witham, replied that the gifts to the collections were free offerings made in private, and he hoped that no sidesman would look to see what anyone gave.

"TERROR" AT SIXTEEN

Girl Who Boasts no Home Can Keep Her Longer Than She Cares

When Alma Simmonds, a domestic servant, was charged at Marylebone with stealing a sovereign belonging to her employer, the Rev. William Davidson Creighton, curate at St. Paul's Church, Harrow road, who resides at Bloomfield street, Paddington, Mr. Alfred Kirby, the court missionary, said: "I have spent twenty-three years in police-court missionary work but I have never known a girl of sixteen with such a history."

Simmonds had been tried in almost every home in London, said the missionary, but not one of them would keep her, she was "such a terror." She fought and quarrelled with the matrons, upset everyone, and demanded her freedom, declaring that unless she got it she would commit suicide. She had been brought up in an orphanage since she was three months old, and numerous situations had been obtained for her by the sisters, but she kept none of them. Her great failing was her admiration of men; she would not leave them alone, and they were never safe in her company.

She boasted, said the missionary, that she was going to give as much trouble as she possibly could, and that no home would detain her longer than she cared to stay. And, curiously enough, she also expressed a wish that she might be shut up in a penitentiary for the rest of her days; but he told her that, much as he should wish it, it was impossible.

The magistrate said that he should commit the girl for trial in order that she might be sent to a Borstal institution.

CIGARETTES IN GERMANY

Enormous Increase in the Consumption of the Weed

Statistics showing the growth of cigarette smoking in Germany are given by the American Consul-General at Frankfort-on-Maine, in his report issued from Washington. He states that in 1897 110,000,000 cigarettes were manufactured in Germany, while the present production is about nine times as large. Cigarette cartridges and papers used by smokers who make their own cigarettes, and which also pay a revenue tax in Germany, must be added to cigarettes in order to show total consumption. Between 1907 and 1912 the number of cigarettes manufactured has grown from 5,094,000,000 to 9,882,000,000. It is estimated that German smokers spend about £15,000,000 annually in cigarettes, and that some 20,000,000 Germans smoke an average of 600 cigarettes a year.

Alpine Zones of Silence

Discovery of a "Zone of Silence" in the Alps is said to have been made by workmen employed in the construction of the highest section of the Jungfrau Railway. Heavy charges of dynamite were set off, and, according to account, with surprising results. The detonations were heard within a radius of thirty miles, then, within a zone of the next fourteen miles there was silence, but further up to a concentric circle of fifty miles the noise was again heard clearly.

Forty Years' Service

Mr. John Cowan of the Toronto Customs office has an enviable record of forty years in the public service. During that long time he was never five minutes late at his post, and he was not off duty five minutes on account of illness.

Slips in Oratory

Even the most facile speakers are guilty of unpardonable errors in their oratory. Mr. Arthur Balfour on one occasion spoke of "an empty theatre of unsympathetic auditors," and Lord Curzon of Kedleston remarked that "though we are not out of the wood, we have a good ship."

Mr. Asquith once stated that "redistribution is a thorny subject which requires delicate handling, or it will tread on some people's toes."

Mr. St. John Brodrick, when a member of the House of Commons, told that assembly that "among the many jarring notes heard in this House on military affairs this subject (mobilization) at least must be regarded as an oasis."

In a debate on the London Education Bill Mr. Walter Long said, "We are told that by such legislation the very heart of the country had been shaken to its very foundations."

The late General Redvers Buller, desiring to convey that there was little to be gained by so-called Army Reform, declared that "the Army is honeycombed with cliques and kisses go by favor in this web of axe-grinders."

Five-Year-Old's Ten Mile Walk

A little girl named Hall, aged five years, wandering from her companions at "play hour" at Eden, Magheramore, walked ten miles towards Carrickfergus. A bicycle search party went along the roads when the child was missed. The little one complained that "her legs were sore."

Women's Gratitude

As some recognition of his strenuous work in connection with the passing of the White Slave Act, Mr. A. H. Lee, M.P., was presented with an illuminated address from 12,000 women residents in his constituency of South Hampshire.

The consumption of wheat has been estimated for various countries, with results as given in the accompanying tabulation. The estimates are based upon the average production for 10 years, exports or imports of wheat, including wheat flour reduced to wheat equivalent and exclusive of that used for seed. Canada is easily in the lead, an average Canadian using nineteen times as much wheat as a Japanese in his native country. The figures are:

	Bushels
Canada	9.5
Belgium	8.2
France	7.9
Spain	6.1
United Kingdom	6.0
Switzerland	6.0
Australia	5.5
Italy	5.4
United States	5.4
Uruguay	5.2
Argentine	5.2
Bulgaria	5.0
Austria-Hungary	4.3
Netherlands	4.3
Roumania	4.0
Denmark	3.5
Chile	3.4
Germany	3.2
Russia	2.7
Servia	2.5
Sweden	2.5
Egypt	2.5
Portugal	1.8
British India	.8
Mexico	.3
Japan	.5

Various conditions affect the accuracy of such estimates; the amount to be deducted for seed can be only roughly approximated, for, while data of wheat acreage are regularly published, the amount of seed used per acre in the different countries is not definitely ascertainable. The degree of accuracy varies considerably for the different countries; for instance, the estimate for such countries as England, France, and most countries of Western Europe, are probably within 3 per cent. of the truth, whereas for Mexico and Egypt the estimate may be as much as 25 per cent. wide of the mark. The figure given for the United States may be an underestimate of 2 to 4 per cent. Generally however, it is believed that most of the figures are less than 10 per cent. in error.

Oldest [illegible] Preacher

Probably the oldest active preacher in the Baptist ministry, the Rev. S. S. Allsop, died at Nottingham, in his ninetieth year. Mr. Allsop was formerly at Burton-on-Trent, where, owing to a confusion of names, he received orders for beer while the noted brewery received orders for sermons.

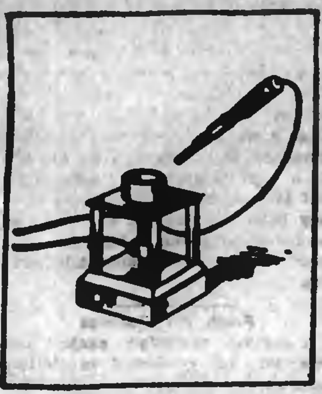
AN ELECTRIC SOLDERER

Melts and Solders Metals When Circuit is Completed

Here is an electrical apparatus for melting and soldering metals, the principle being that by completing a circuit the necessary heat is contributed. A base has four insulating uprights on it and a plate with a central opening in it is mounted on the uprights. A carbon stick is mounted on the base and moves up and down, toward and away from the opening in the plate. A conducting supporting member for the article to be melted or soldered is set on the plate above the central opening to be met by the carbon stick. A pair of conductors are also connected with the base and one of these conductors —the pencil shown in the illustration —is the part of the apparatus that establishes the circuit and does the most important work, having the soldering iron in it.



PENCIL DOES THE TRICK.

Moving Little Play That Was Acted Too Often

A couple of clever swindlers victimized several fashionable hotels at Vienna. It appears that a well-dressed man was in the habit of frequenting the hotel lounges, apparently waiting for a friend. Soon after his arrival, in would come a very poorly dressed woman and appeal to the gentleman, to whom she was to all appearances a total stranger.

She would tell a pathetic story of privation and suffering, and the benevolent hearer would draw the other guests' attention to her case and start a collection for the woman, placing a piece of gold in his opera hat. Soon a substantial sum would be obtained and handed over to the woman, who would depart with tears of gratitude. The gentleman would later leave the hotel.

But the game was played once too often. A visitor who had seen a similar performance enacted some time previously at another hotel at which he had been staying recognized the well-dressed stranger and gave information.

The stranger was followed, and was found in the street sharing the money with the woman. They were arrested and identified as a married couple, who spent their time travelling from town to town all over Europe in order to carry on their operations.

The Elephant and His Driver

Those in a position to speak authoritatively on the subject assure us that, as a worker, the elephant never volunteers his services, although he can be trained to perform all manner of work. He will not, however, proceed to any task unless he be so ordered by his driver or mahout, to whose guidance he submits for the simple reason that he is aware that disobedience brings punishment.

Sitting on the elephant's neck, the mahout governs the big beast by an iron hook and spike, which resembles a boathook and weighs from four to six pounds. The mahout drives the elephant forward by digging the point of the spike into his head, and pulls him back by inserting the hook in the tender base of the ears.

An elephant whose mahout rules him responds readily to the secret signs of his driver. The pressure of the mahout's toe, the compression of his knee, the tap of his heel, or the slightest swaying of his body to one side, all constitute a driving system whereby the powerful beast is guided in very much the same way in which a ship responds to the rudder.

The Oldest Aviator

A gentleman named Clausen probably holds the world's record as the oldest aviator. He is eighty-three, and recently took his first flight on a Farman biplane at Copenhagen. He states that fifty years ago a woman, telling him his fortune by cards, predicted that he would fly, and he has lived to see this prediction fulfilled.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside of his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and marked "Tender for Section No. 5, Welland Ship Canal," will be received at this office until 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday, November 18th, 1913.

Plans, specifications and form of contract to be entered into can be seen on or after this date at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Engineer in Charge, St. Catharines, Ontario.

Copies of plans and specifications may be obtained from the Department on the payment of the sum of fifty dollars. To bona fide tenderers this amount will be refunded upon the return of the above in good condition.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque on a chartered bank of Canada for the sum of $100,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary,
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, 20th October, 1913.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.—50010.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD LIMIT.

TENDERS will be received by the undersigned up to and including Wednesday, the 31st of December next for the right to cut pulpwood on a certain area situated on the [illegible] River in the District of Temiskaming.

Tenderers shall state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus in addition to the Crown dues of 40c. per cord for Spruce, and 20c. per cord for other pulpwoods, or such other rates as may from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, for the right to operate a pulp mill and a paper mill on or near the area referred to.

Such tenderers shall be required to erect a mill or mills on or near the territory and to manufacture the wood into pulp and paper in the Province of Ontario, the paper mill to be erected when directed by the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

Parties making tender will be required to deposit with their tender a marked cheque payable to the Honourable the Treasurer of the Province of Ontario, for ten per cent. of the amount of their tender, to be forfeited in the event of their not entering into an agreement to carry out the conditions, etc.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

For particulars as to description of territory, capital to be invested, etc., apply to the undersigned.

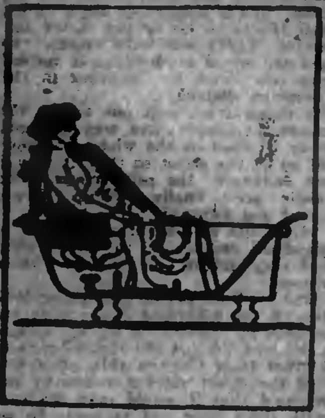
STEAM BATH FOR TUB

Hoods Fits Over One End and Forms Enclosed Chamber

From Germany, where the number of medicinal baths is legion, comes an invention that enables the average man to take a steam or hot air bath at home. A hood, with a hole at the top of the head to come through, fits over one end of the tub and forms an enclosed chamber to hold the steam. The user sits on a seat which hangs over that end of the tub and a tube connected with the hot water spigot leads under him. This tube lies along the bottom of the tub and has a wide, flat nozzle, turned upward. As the hot water flows out the steam that arises envelops the body of the person in the hood and has the same effect as the steam room of a Turkish bath. The discharge pipe of the tub is left open, so the water can run out without filling the receptacle.



HOW WATER MAKES THE STEAM.

New Writing Machine

A new machine, called the stenotype enables the shorthand writer to get from four hundred to six hundred words a minute upon paper in an absolutely correct and accurate form. The basis of operating the machine is phonetic spelling. While the work done is virtually the same as done by shorthand, it has the advantage of being recorded in plain English characters.

Securing a Veil

A good way to keep a veil tidy under the chin, and so that it may be easily lifted when required, is to get a piece of the finest round elastic, about an inch and a half in length, thread through the foot of the veil in the middle, about a quarter of a yard, then draw in to the size of elastic and secure both sides. This is a much better way than twisting the veil round, which, if "spotted," generally catches and tears.

Removing Jar Labels

To remove the label from a jar or bottle is often rather difficult. This method is always successful: Wet the label thoroughly and then hold it near a fire for a moment. The steam thus generated immediately acts on the paste or gum.

A ROYAL ARTIST

Princess Louise Excels in Watercolors and Sculpture

Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll besides being an accomplished painter in water colors, studied sculpture under the direction of the late Sir Edgar Boehm, although in all likelihood she gained her first knowledge of the art from watching the late Mrs. Thornycroft at work. This accomplished lady, the mother of the Royal Academician, was "attached" for many years to Queen Victoria's household, and modelled all the young Princes and Princesses at various stages of their lives. The well known portrait of Paderewski and the statue of Queen Victoria in Kensington Gardens are good specimens of Princess Louise's work. Unlike many artists, the Princess is of a most practical turn of mind, and knows as much about the internal arrangements of a house as the architect who built it. She has many friends in the literary and artistic world, devotes much of her time to practical philanthropy, and rejoices to leave behind her the strict rules of Court etiquette.

If you want to sleep peacefully, says a physician, and to avoid bad dreams, observe the following rules:

Keep the window open or otherwise thoroughly ventilate the room.

Secure as much freedom as possible from barking dogs, railway whistles, bumping cars, and the like.

Retire neither hungry nor too full.

Do not use a pillow that strains the neck.

Have bedclothes as light as possible with sufficient warmth.

Avoid cold feet.

Do not bury the head under the blankets.

If these measures fail, take a warm footbath, and drink a glass of hot milk or water or a cup of weak tea while going to bed. "Hot water inside and outside often work a miracle in cases of this kind."

Weary Tiredness Changed to Vigor

THAT PLAYED OUT FEELING WAS QUICKLY REMEDIED AND HEALTH RESTORED

Story of a Merchant Who Almost Lost His Business and His Health Through Neglecting Early Symptoms of Disease.

"My life for years has been of sedentary character," writes T. B. Tischfield, head of a well known firm in Buckingham. "Nine hours every day I spent at office work and took exercise only on Sunday. I disregarded the symptoms of ill-health, which were all too apparent to my family. I grew thin, then pale, and before long I was jaundiced — eyes and skin were yellow, my strength and nerve energy were lowered, and I was quite unfitted for business. In the morning a lightness in the head, particularly when I bent over, made me very worried about my health. Most of the laxative medicines I found weakening, and knowing that I had to be at business every day I neglected myself rather than risk further weakness. Of course I grew worse, but by a happy chance I began to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I was forcibly struck by the fact that they neither caused griping nor nausea, and it seemed incredible that pills could tone, cleanse and regulate the system without causing any unpleasant after effects. Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted with me just as gentle as [illegible] gave new life to my liver, strengthened my stomach, and won me back to perfect good health. My skin is clear, dizziness has disappeared, and my appetite, strength, spirits are perfect."

Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are sure to cure. Sold in 25c boxes, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Lakefield-Peterborough Personal

Lakefield News: Three of Peterborough's musicians opened in Lakefield on Monday night a series of concerts that will be given throughout Ontario during the coming winter. Miss Dorothy Allan, soprano, Mr. John Allan, pianist and accompanist, and Mr. Asa Huycke, baritone, composed the party.—Mr. W. Gray, of Peterborough, spent Sunday at his home in the village.—Mrs. Hall of Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Watson last week.

Old Lakefield Residence Gone.

One of the oldest residences of this district was wiped out Saturday morning when a fire broke out in the old Strickland homestead just north of Lakefield, totally destroying the structure. The house was a substantial stone building, and was built by the late Col. Strickland many years ago. For the past couple of years it was unoccupied in the winter months, but was used as a summer residence by Mr. McGaw, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel in Toronto, who rented it for that purpose.

Fined for Dogging Cows.

An aftermath of the recent bush fires and north has developed in a public court case at Minden. The fence between Messrs. Howe and Grey's fields were burned. Howe's cattle strayed into Grey's pasture field. Grey had the cattle chased by his dog. Howe objected to his lowing kine being disturbed from their placid ruminations. He laid an information against Grey, who chose ten days in jail in preference to paying a $2 fine.

The Tale of a Tail.

On Saturday morning a little dog, about the size of a dyspeptic kitten, but carrying a tail as long as the lecture given to a man who rolls in at 3 a.m., was crossing Water Street near the police station. In trying to dodge a passing rig the dog slipped an fell. Two wheels ran over its caudal appendage. The dog ran south yelling worse than an apach Indian who has dallied with firewater.

Rev. Dr. McKenzie Here.

Yesterday Rev. Dr. McKenzie, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's church in the morning, St. Andrew's at 7 p.m., and Knox church at 8, preaching sermons bearing on mission work. The congregations were large and responsive, the addresses being interesting and instructive. Dr. McKenzie spent twenty-four years in the Chinese mission field, and a year and a half in India, and is therefore competent to deal with missions from the standpoint of personal experience.

Incinerator Plant Nearly Ready

The new incinerator plant at Spalding's Bay, being erected by the [illegible] Incinerator Co., of Toronto, is approaching completion. Mr. MacGregor, [illegible] of this city is in charge of the work. "Mac" is some little worker. The way this work is being pushed is a [illegible] to the contractors. There are over 150,000 fire brick used in its construction. Two immense iron girders are now on the ground. These will be used for supporting the platform leading from the ground to the top of the building, which is flat and covered by fire brick. Waggons will be driven to the top. Here garbage will be dumped into eight iron enclosed pits about three feet deep. The garbage then descends to grates of fire brick and then automatically burns itself. Owing to the immense heat generated there will be no offensive [illegible]. Mr. MacGregor expects to have the plant working this week.

A Comprehensive Exhibit

The Grand Trunk Pacific will participate this year in the United States Land Show to be held in the Coliseum, Chicago, from November 20th to December 6th. For this purpose the company has secured a large space covering an area of one thousand square feet in which they will install a comprehensive exhibit of the natural resources of the three prairie provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, as well as an exhibit from British Columbia, the feature of the latter being mineral products and fruit from the territory adjacent to the railway skirting the Skeena River and the exhibits depicting the development of the agricultural lands in Central British Columbia in which are situated the Nechaco and Bulkley Valleys. The entire exhibit will be embellished with handsome photographs made from direct negatives taken this year by the official photographers of the Grand Trunk Pacific who covered the route from Winnipeg, Man., to Prince Rupert, B.C., through the Canadian Rockies via the Yellowhead Pass, down the Fraser River to Prince George, B.C., through the plateau and valley lands of Central British Columbia and down the Skeena to the Pacific. Thousands of interested people will view this splendid collection and Canada will receive valuable advertising as a result.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS "CASCARETS"

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Get a 10-cent box.

Take a Cascaret to-night to cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action, a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

GENERAL LOOKING FOR HUNDRED AS MISSIONARIES IN FAR EAST

Expect to Find Them on This Trip--Salvation Army Will Send Thousand to the Orient

Toronto, Nov. 1.—A chat with General Bramwell Booth means appreciation of the campaign of the Salvation Army for the uplift of the fallen, with active forces operating throughout the world.

"This is my first visit to this side of the Atlantic, and I am hopeful of enlisting in Canada and the America one hundred missionaries for the Orient," General Booth said. "In the first five years of my command I want to send one thousand missionaries to India, China, and Japan. Already one hundred have been sent. I am going to Scandinavia for another hundred.

"Our work in India is wonderfully illustrative of what is possible in the uplift of barbarous people. In the hill tribes there are five million people who subsist by robbery and plunder. They will not submit to civilized government. They are uneducated and steeped in the excesses of a freebooting life. Our missionaries are gradually reclaiming them to Christianity and agricultural industry. Already 6,000 have been converted. Gradually the police are being withdrawn. The educational and industrial training of those tribes is very expensive. The government helps us, but will not assume the whole expense.

Opportunities For Service.

The future of the Salvation Army presents itself to me as a tremendous opportunity. I see all over the world this open door for service. The need for our service is appalling. The next twenty years of our work will far surpass that of the past twenty years.

"Now we are developing our medical branch of the service, and I regret the delay. We have opened a hospital in India. We are building one in Japan, another in Sumatra for 1000 lepers, and another in England for mothers.

Women Suffrage Question.

"By the way, the Salvation Army settled the woman suffrage question thirty years ago. We have given women a share in the government of our organization, and have placed them in control of men. Some of the noblest work is being done by our women."

The Marlborough Club had a most enjoyable dance in their club rooms Friday night.

STRIKERS BEATEN BACK BY THE POLICE

Indianapolis, Ind. Nov.1.—After a morning of rioting, the Street car company practicall gave up all efforts to operate cars at noon to-day. It was stated that an attempt to establish service would be made late to-day when 500 strike-breaker were expected to arrive from Chicago.

The strike was started at 11 o'clock last night, was marked by continual rioting in the downtown district this morning. Motormen and conductors were dragged from their cars and taken to the union headquarters and registered, trolleys were broken, trolley poles pulled off, and the air which controlled the brakes released from the containers under the cars. There were several hundred strikers and sympathizers in the crowd, and a number of boys added their efforts to tie up the street car service. The police were unable to hold the crowd in check as it moved from one corner to another in the downtown district.

A repair truck sent out to fix the broken trolleys wires was dragged away as soon as the wires was pulled up off the street so that it would not endanger the pedestrians. The repair crew finally gave up the attempt and returned to the barns.

Merchants said business was at a standstill and for all the trade they had they might as well close their stores.

The police expect more serious trouble this afternoon if the cars are manned by professional strikebreakers.

Between 300 and 400 strike-breakers arrived from Chicago this afternoon and the street railway company announced that it would man its cars with these men and attempt to resume service in time to take care of the rush-hour traffic.

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a mother or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The deceived physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince you of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 4930, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

CONSERVATIVES WON ELECTION IN PEEL BY 300 MAJORITY

A Strenuous Campaign in Which Several Cabinet Ministers and Prominent Liberal Took Part

Special to The Times.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The bye-election in Peel took place yesterday, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Samuel Charters and resulted in the election of Mr. James R. Fallis, Conservative, by a majority of 300, over Mr. Milner, the Liberal candidate. The vacancy was caused by the appointment of Mr. Charters to the County Registrarship.

A HOT FIGHT.

The campaign was a hot one, several Cabinet Ministers, including Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, Hon. Mr. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, Mr. N. W. Rowell, Liberal leader, and others taking part.

THE ISSUES.

The matter of bi-lingual schools was made an issue in the campaign. The Ottawa School Board defied the law, and it is the purpose of the Government to see that the regulations regarding bi-lingualism is enforced. The control of the liquor traffic was also presented, and it was shown that the Government had kept every pledge in regard to it. The minor issues were not important.

MR. ROSS OF MONTREAL WILL BE CITY'S ARBITRATOR

In Expropriation Proceedings to Acquire for Hydro-Electric Purposes the Peterborough Light and Power Co's Distributing Plant—City Council in Regular Session

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night, His Worship Mayor Bradburn presiding. There were also present Aldermen Anderson, [illegible], Langford, Green, [illegible], Gordon, [illegible], Duncan and Butler.

A. R. Colville of the Seymour Power Co. wrote that the company would not accept the $[illegible] for the Peterborough Light & Power Company's distributing plant, which its owners value at a much higher figure.—Received.

Reports.

The report of the Board of Works was submitted by Chairman Ald. [illegible], and was adopted as read.

Chairman Ald. Gordon presented the report of the Legal Committee, which was adopted as read.

The report of the Finance Committee was submitted by Chairman Ald. Anderson and adopted.

New Streets.

A by-law to authorize the construction of [illegible] as [illegible] recently [illegible] in this journal, under the local improvement act, passed Council.

Arbitrator Appointed.

A by-law appointing Robert A. Ross, of Montreal, as the city's arbitrator in the expropriation proceedings to be taken for acquisition by the city of the Peterborough Light & Power Company's plant for Hydro-Electric purposes, passed its three readings.

An Old Account.

A by-law to authorize borrowing $[illegible] by debentures, to pay for the [illegible] passed its several readings.

[illegible]

that whatever the School Board wants they go ahead and purchase, and then present the city with the bill therefore. But when the city requires anything from the School Board it is altogether another question.

Transient Traders.

A by-law governing transient traders passed Council. This measure is practically the same as the old one, with but a few changes to meet the requirements of the Legislature.

Hawkers, Peddlers, Etc.

A by-law to govern and license hawkers, peddlers, etc., passed its several readings. This measure, contrary to the old one, raises the license fee for outside hawkers, peddlers, etc. above that for resident ones. The license for resident hawkers, etc., is as follows: foot, $[illegible]; push-carts, $[illegible]; vehicles, $[illegible]. The fees for outsiders are: foot, $[illegible]; push-carts, $[illegible]; vehicles, $75.

Sold at Last.

A by-law to authorize the execution of a conveyance of the property acquired on Bolt's Lane, for street widening purposes, to Jas. L. [illegible] for $1,[illegible], passed its several readings.

Agreement With Railway.

A by-law to authorize the execution of an agreement, by the Power Committee, with the Street Railway Co., under which the trolley feed wires will be strung along the city's Hydro-electric iron poles on George and Charlotte streets, passed two readings, the third reading will be made after the amended agreement is ready for submission to Council. It is understood that the agreement as amended is now acceptable to the city.

Getting Ready.

On motion of Ald. Johnston and Langford, the Water Commissioners who are to manage and control the city's municipal lighting and power plant, be authorized to engage such help as is necessary, and requested to meet the Power Committee to discuss matters in connection with their new duties.

The New Customs House.

Ald. Butler moved that the Mayor and Aldermen Duncan and Johnston be a committee to interview our member, Mr. J. H. Burnham, with a view to persuade the Dominion Government to erect both a customs house and post office on the [illegible] lot.—Carried.

IF SANE, THAW HAD "RIGHT" TO ESCAPE

Concord, N. H. Nov. 3.—The final brief for Harry K. Thaw in connection with his efforts to resist his extradition from New Hampshire to New York, was filed with Governor Felker to-day.

The brief states that the indictment returned by the New York County Grand Jury, charging conspiracy to escape from the Matteawan asylum does not charge a crime because an insane person could not be guilty of conspiracy. Insane to such an extent as to be irresponsible for his acts, while if he was sufficiently mentally responsible to be guilty of the offense, he had a legal right to escape.

A person charged with breaking out of prison may show in defense of that charge that he was unlawfully confined in the prison, the brief states.

The brief further claims that the requisition is not in accordance with the rules of practice adopted by the Governors of the different States for extradition, that the laws of New York have been violated in obtaining the indictment and that the requisition is not made in good faith.

The activity of Wm. Travers Jerome, special deputy attorney general of New York, in obtaining the indictment and his language at the hearing before Governor Felker are attacked in the brief which says:

The language used in bullying and threatening and could be used for no other purpose than the silly thought to intimidate your Excellency. This unusual and uncalled for extravagant language indicates a personal, private purpose on the part of the special deputy attorney-general and is not consistent with the simple dignified discharge of public duty.

INDIANAPOLIS WALKS; NOT A CAR ON STREETS

Indianapolis, Nov. 3.—No effort was made up to noon to-day to resume street car service which has been tied up since Friday by the strike of the employes of the Indianapolis Traction and Terminal Company. Although a special guard of police were detailed to guard strike breakers the crowds of strikers and sympathizers flocked so thickly near the Louisiana street car barns that the cars were not run out.

The crowd kept orderly and quiet but remained on watch a block from the barns.

Bankers, merchants and professional men are to guard the streets tonight in order to let the police devote their full time to the prevention of destruction to street car property. Sheriff Portees served summons on 300 representative business men this morning ordering them to report for guard duty as deputies later in the day.

NEWSY NOTES FROM DOMINION CAPITAL

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—Hon. Dr. Roche, Minister of Interior, left Saturday night for a short visit to his home in Minnedosa. He will be away two weeks.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—A movement is on foot to have the Government purchase Stag Island, six miles from Sarnia, in the St. Clair, as a Government Park. The island contains some three hundred acres and is beautifully wooded and it is claimed would make an ideal park.

TAKING DISPUTE TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Another contest between the city and the Toronto Suburban Railway before the Privy Council is promised unless the proposed purchase is consummated. The company has served the city with notice of its appeal to the Privy Council against the decision of the Court of Appeal upholding an order of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board relative to paving of the tracks allowance from the C.P.R.'s crossing on Bathurst street north to Davenport road and thence west to Keele street.

STRIKER'S FIGHT STILL CONTINUED SITUATION BLACK

English Strike-Breakers Living in Compounds Guarded by Police

DUBLIN, NOV. 4.—The stubborn battle between Capital and Labor still continues, and there is little prospect of peace. Some of the English Union delegates have returned to London, helpless to arrange a settlement.

"The strike is costing the manufacturers and merchants £20,000 weekly, according to the estimate of Professor Kettle, of Trinity College. The extra police alone are costing the city £[illegible] daily. With almost criminal inflexible determination both sides are already contemplating Christmas, which will be far from a period of peace and goodwill.

Montreal Ship Held Up

English strikebreakers, numbering probably one hundred, commenced unloading grain from one of the Ulster Steamship Company's steamers. The [illegible] Head, from Montreal, which has been held idle in the port for eight weeks, and another steamer from Boston hopes to commence to-morrow, when more free labor arrives. The strikebreakers live in compounds on the docks, guarded by scores of police. Otherwise the daily scenes of lorries and lumber lorries driven through streets escorted by police and soldiers, and mayhem of strikers are the same as a month ago, excepting that the men who have been starving for weeks cannot show fight, and the hordes of women and beggar waifs that walk alone, have increased by thousands.

Future Awful To Contemplate.

It is awful to contemplate what will happen if the British Union withdraws assistance, for the sending of food ships has passed the stage of providing ammunition for labor's battle. It has become necessary for humane reasons, for even Dublin cannot begin to feed the hungry thousands who wander homeless through her streets. Dublin struggles to supply the fortunate few who can pay enhanced prices for the necessaries of life.

Liberalism and Bi-Lingualism

The Liberal press from the Globe down, are endeavoring to make political capital out of bi-lingualism for the bye-elections now in progress in Ontario. They seem to forget that the whole trouble in regard to the French language in the Public Schools, is due to the Ross Government and its desperate effort to retain power in this Province. Like other questions which threaten British supremacy in Canada, bi-lingualism is the legacy of Liberalism. No matter what Mr. Rowell and his followers may say or do, in their frantic efforts for power, we believe the Whitney Government will not trifle with the matter, but will enforce the regulations, no matter at what cost, regarding the French language in the schools of Ontario.

BURST CAUSES $5,000,000 LOSS

Bucharest, Nov. 3.—A loss estimated at $5,000,000 has been caused by fires which are spreading from one oil well to another in the petroleum district of Moreni. The fires started with an explosion.

GEN. BOOTH'S PERSONALITY EFFECTIVE AT CLOSE RANGE

Seems to Radiate Kindliness, Love of His Fellows, and Serene Confidence in an Underlying Goodness in Everyone

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Bramwell Booth's personality, at close range, is very effective. He seems to radiate kindliness, love of his fellows, serene confidence in an underlying goodness in everyone. His photographs do not seem to catch a fleeting something in the man's face which is a real index to his character. When he looks serious he seems rather saddened. The mouth has a tendency to fall into smiles, and the eyes sparkle with good humor.

General Booth was born in Halifax, in England, [illegible]

his father's office, and in the evening wheeled out the band instruments to the corner of White street in Hackney, where his father and mother preached. He went to the City of London School, and was in the lower school while Premier Asquith was in the upper school. He never took part in the games of his fellows, but was always able to command their respect, despite his youthful interest in religion.

WOULD SEND 200,000 TROOPS TO QUELL REVOLT IN ULSTER

London Spectator Outlines the Kind of Warfare Ulstermen Will Carry on—Entire Reserve to be Called Out

London, Nov. 4.—The Spectator, which ranks among the most scholarly, cautious and influential organs of the Unionists, publishes a remarkable forecast which reveals for the first time something of the Ulstermen's plan of campaign.

If the Home Rule Bill is carried through next June without the exclusion of North-east Ulster, one hundred thousand partially drilled but well-organized men will rise. They have capable leaders, efficient rifles, and are possessed of an ample store of ammunition. This ammunition is not gathered in one magazine, where it can be seized and destroyed by a coup de main, but is scattered and concealed throughout the country.

The Kind of Warfare Planned.

The rebels will not attempt a pitched battle, in which they would certainly be hopelessly beaten, but they will play the Fabian game in the north-east, spreading themselves throughout the mountains and bogs and by the hillsides, from which their mobile bands can ambush Government supplies, cut railways, and render difficult the landing and movement of troops. They are prepared to maintain a delaying campaign of this kind for two or three months.

Attacks and Reprisals.

The moment the bill passes there will be in all the Protestant centres a movement to drive away the Catholics. The Catholic minority will naturally attempt to resist, and will appeal to the Government for aid, so the fight will begin. Reprisals will follow on the Catholic side, which will force the Government to scatter its troops over a large area to maintain peace and prevent massacres. The Government will require two hundred thousand troops in the field in Ireland. This is equivalent to a whole expeditionary force, and means that the entire reserve will have to be called out, and possibly also the territorials embodied. It is anticipated on the Ulster side that a large number of officers and men in the regular army will refuse to fire on the Ulster men.

"The moment civil war comes it will be a religious war in essential," says the Spectator.

WASHINGTON IS READY FOR WAR; TO FIGHT WHOM?

Half Million Men Could be Put Into Field "at a Moment's Notice"—Huerta's Family is Elected to Office

Washington, Nov. 3.—The "war plans" of the Army Ordnance Department are completed and for the first time in the history of the United States this country is in readiness at a moment's notice to arm approximately 500,000 men to send into the field in the event of war with a first class power. These plans have been worked out during the past six years through the systematic and unremitting labor of Lieut. Col. J. T. Thompson, of the Ordnance Department, under the direction of Brigadier General Wm. Crozier, Chief of the Bureau.

Col. Thompson pointed out that his "war plan" is based upon conditions as they would actually exist in the event of hostilities. The line of the regular army would be increased to its maximum enlisted strength as provided for by law: the entire organized militia of the country would be mustered into the service of the United States at full war strength, and the remainder would be raised by the enlistment of volunteers. The "war plan" as now conceived provides that this force shall be armed and equipped at concentration camps before the different units are sent out to the scene of operations.

Is This Family Compact?

Mexico City, Nov. 3.—Officials designated to supervise returns of the election of Deputies have declared elected eleven out of the twelve candidates to represent the Federal district. One of the candidates is declared to have received an insufficient number of votes.

Of those elected one is a son and one a brother-in-law of Gen. Huerta. Three are members of his staff, and one is a member of the staff of the War Minister, General Blanquet.

Intervention Stories Denied.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Reports that John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, concerning his recent conferences at Vera Cruz with the Russian, German and Norwegian Ministers to Mexico, conveyed the impression to President Wilson to-day that there was a disposition on the part of these diplomats to co-operate with the United States in lending their support to the plans of the Washington Government for solving the situation.

No announcement was made here to-day as to any future policy. Administration officials did take occasion, however, to say that published stories forecasting armed intervention were not justified at this time, that there was nothing in the situation so far as Washington Administration was concerned to warrant such an assumption.

for odd boots and shoes, and as such is known to many of the one-legged not only of Great Britain, but of the dominions overseas.

In its basements are bins heaped with "singles" in strange juxtaposition. Slippers of all kinds—satin ball slippers, babies' slippers, nursery slippers, carpet and leather slippers—are lumped together by the hundred. In another section lie a multitude of shoes of the most diverse kinds, from the cheap canvas article to the dress variety, and mixed up with these specimens of every-day footwear may be found surgical boots, mountaineering boots, ski boots, even boots to which none save the expert dare give a name. And of these strangely assorted articles, numbering in all some thousands, no two ever met before, or may, once they leave the dealer's, ever meet again.

Where Do They Come From

By what channels have they drifted here? Some have journeyed from shops where their fellows having been lost or destroyed they had lain undisturbed for years. Others represent salvage—portions of stock saved from fire. But the majority have arrived circuitously from commercial travelers' bags after undergoing critical inspection by many pairs of eyes, be sides they were alone in the world. Though samples are made in pairs, a "drummer" carries only one shoe or boot to show retailers, and consequently a "right" may be in one end of the country, while the companion "left" is traveling in the other. One of the two is liable to go astray, and when this happens the other is ultimately consigned to Old street.

They go—where do they not go? Since a single shoe can be bought at this place for about thirty-six cents, cripples living in all parts of England and the colonies come or send to this establishment for their footwear. They somehow discover the place, and then they stick to it year after year, many remaining loyal to the end of the chapter.

Not Cripples Only

But it is not only cripples who make pilgrimages to the Mecca of the one-legged. Londoners with the normal number of nether limbs frequently wend their way thither with a shoe, "right" or "left," divorced from its fellow by one of those [illegible] mishaps that agitate the family circle. Sometimes a mother reaches the establishment, and becoming confidential on the smallest provocation, bemoans the way that babies have of kicking off their shoes, or explains that Tommy, after achieving the proud feat of coming home from school without missing a single puddle on the way, surreptitiously put his shoes close to the stove to dry, with disastrous results to one of them. In general the mate of a shoe can be found among the dealer's stock, but sometimes a month elapses before the wanted counterpart turns up. Once a year, moreover, there is a sale of "pairs" of "odds" when roughly matched pairs are made up and sold for trifling sums. A hard and fast rule of these sales is "no trying on."

ATTEMPT TO BURN CHURCH

Believed to be the Work of the Suffragettes

A startling discovery was made at St. Luke's Church, Abercarn. When the church was opened a strong smell of paraffin oil became apparent, and it was found that the flooring boards and matting near the door had been soaked with oil, whilst a match had apparently been lighted and dropped, but had gone out. Outside, not far away a bottle, which had contained paraffin oil, was found. A few days previously some young ladies who were passing the church noticed smoke issuing from the building, and gave an alarm. It was then found that fire had broken out in the chancel floor, but it was quickly extinguished. There was nothing to show how the outbreak occurred, though many believed it was the work of suffragettes.

THEY LIKE FARM LIFE

Titled Farmer Not Disappointed With Canadian Venture

Two members of the English nobility who are interested in farming in Canada and like it are Lord Somers and Mr. Clement Leveson Gower. Lord Somers is the present representative of an ancient title, and for over a year has been on his farm near Toronto.

"Quite up to expectations," said Lord Somers, when interviewed while passing through Montreal. "I like the life in Canada very much, and my venture promises to be successful. It is all I hoped for."

Mr. Clement Leveson Gower is a relative of the Duke of Sutherland, who has vast interests in British Columbia, and, like the Duke, is interested in the colonization and agricultural development there. Mr. Gower is a man of fine physique, and had a high reputation as a cricketer in the old country.

CANADA WINS FIRST PRIZE

Paul Gerlach, a German American farmer, near Allan, Saskatchewan, on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, won a separator valued at $1200.00 at the International Dry Farming Exhibition, Tulsa, Oklahoma, for the best bushel of wheat. This was the first prize in open competition with farmers of the world. Mr. Gerlach's exhibit was of the Marquis variety and weighed seventy-one pounds to the bushel. The event is a good advertisement for Western Canada and demonstrates the wonderful richness of the valuable soil contiguous to the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

THE DECLINE OF THE ROMAN NUMERALS

The U. S. Government has issued an order doing away with Roman letters on public buildings, and substituting the Arabic numerals instead. On public buildings erected this year the contractors will inscribe 1913 instead of MCMXIII.

"The reason for the order," according to a statement from Washington, "is that Roman numerals are not generally understood by the masses of the people in this country who read the lettering on public buildings. Even persons of average education being unaccustomed to these Roman numerals, frequently find considerable difficulty in determining from the lettering on public buildings just when it was erected."

A number of newspapers are enthusiastic about the new order. A Cincinnati paper, under the heading "A Good Move," relates an anecdote of two tourists who mistook the Roman numerals on a Government building for the contractor's trade-mark, and the "Latin for Uncle Sam," respectively. This story is said to have influenced the government to make the change.

This is a significant sign of the times. But does it not carry the sheerly utilitarian idea to an absurd length?

MOVIES IN THE CHURCH

A pastor in New York has promised moving pictures as a standing feature of the Sunday evening service. Some conservative people are looking askance.

But the question is easy to answer. If moving pictures help a church to do its main work, they need no excuse; their run in place of cheap entertainment is nothing against them. But if they creep in as a catchy makeshift for the truth and warmth that the pastor and his assistants ought to give, their vogue in theatres cannot assure a value in churches. Not many winters ago a Chicago church increased attendance by passing out free supper tickets. Behind the charity there may have been a good idea; but in practice the plan was an automatic failure. The church never thrives by offering substitutes. Modified amusement is one thing; the truth that makes men free, quite another.

Symposiums have pretty well worn out the query, why Smith does not go to church; and still some people think it is for lack of novel amusement. Church attendance hangs first on a personal sense of need; and second, on outspoken religion in the home.

Stomach Always Bloated, Had Constant Indigestion

Smell of Cooking Made Him Sick—Billious Two Days a Week.

Cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Mr. Chammons' experience is not unusual. Nowadays poor stomachs are more the rule than the exception. But the proper treatment is sure to make a quick cure. You can always depend on Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they reach the trouble at once, go right to business, work while you sleep and have you feeling better if not cured next morning.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Chammons, of Newbridge, P.Q. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon grew within me. I can now eat, sleep and live like a live man."

Be advised—use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

FRENCHMAN MUST NOT THINK

Le Pays is under the ban! For some time Godfroy Langlois, M. P. P., a member of the Gouin Cabinet, and editor of Le Pays, has been under suspicion by the Roman Catholic picion by the Roman Catholic hierarchy, and at last the blow has fallen, and all the faithful are henceforth forbidden to the paper which has incurred Archbishop Bruchesi's disfavor. The Archbishop, in his pronouncement, declares that he considers Le Pays "is of a nature to gravely injure religious interests, and to cause a real harm, especially to the young," and therefore, "in view of the welfare of religion and the saving of souls," he invokes the name of God and interdicts the reading of Le Pays. As the Christian Guardian points out no French-Canadian paper has ever yet survived the ban of the church; but Mr. Langlois, if he dies, is determined to die hard, and talks about carrying the case to the Privy Council. He insists that he has never written a line or word against the principles of the Roman Catholic Church, and argues that the ban has fallen because the Archbishop "does not want to see the newspapers and public men acquire the habit of thinking for themselves." Mr. Langlois protested in the Quebec Legislature against the iniquitous law placing French Protestants under the ban, and which makes the decree that you cannot be a French-Canadian unless you are a Catholic. He asked the French-Canadians to abandon the sheep as a national emblem. He also carried on a vigorous campaign for the purpose of demanding that Laval University put forth efforts to rise to the height of the great and fruitful work which is being carried on by McGill. The Archbishop could never relish the crusades against mediocrity in educational matters, the insufficiency of the school programme, the incompetency of the school mistresses, and against the great number of illiterate persons found throughout the province, any more than he could see with pleasant eyes the battles which were carried on in favor of obligatory education, uniformity of school text-books, or the creation of a Minister of Education. Evidently the Archbishop is determined to sit on the safety valve as long as he can, but it is rather a ticklish job when steam gets up. Our French-Canadian citizens have a reputation for extreme docility to church authorities, but it is evident that the day is not far distant when they will insist upon freedom of thought.

A GREAT FORTRESS

On a Ridge of Hills 500 Feet Above the Sea

The Tchataldja lines, the last line of defences before Constantinople with the exception of its ancient Byzantine walls, are about 20 miles distant from Constantinople. Here the peninsula on which Constantinople stands is narrowed to a width of only 16 miles by a deep inlet of the Sea of Marmora on the south, and the fresh water of Lake of Derkos on the north. A series of works was begun here in 1829, when a Russian army threatened Constantinople, and was completed in 1877, when the Russians again menaced the capital. They run across the isthmus, and as both flanks rest on the sea they cannot be turned. The forts are built on a ridge of hills some 500 feet above sea level, with a small stream running across their entire front. The garrison in times of peace is about 2,000.

A Miser's Revenge

An old miser, who died in Wales, fell out with his relatives over a trifle several years ago, and he thereupon changed nearly all his money into bank-notes. Each bank-note he tore into two, burning one portion and retaining the other. When his relatives came to examine his effects after his death they found, to their chagrin, valueless halves of the bank-notes and a letter which contained the paragraph:

"All my money I leave to my dear relatives to be equally divided between them. I am sure they will not quarrel about it."

The miser had destroyed the halves of the bank-notes bearing the numbers.

Pig Swallowed Insurance Card

A man named John Brown, of Peterborough, charged with begging at Boston, explained that he had been working for some months but he was unable to produce his insurance card owing to a remarkable misadventure. He said that while on his way to Boston he secured an odd day's work. He laid down his coat and a pig which came by ate the garment, with the insurance card and an ounce of tobacco in the pockets. The Bench sentenced him to one day's imprisonment.

Insurance Act Fraud

For making a false declaration to obtain unemployed benefit under the Insurance Act, John Bryan, a painter, was sentenced to seven days' imprisonment at Bedford.

Pays a Boy $875

The London County Council has settled the claim of a boy injured in an accident at the Central School of Arts and Crafts by the payment of a sum of $875.

"Woe to the Stranger"

At Tootstown, a property recently acquired by the Estates Commissioners, a good deal of excitement has been caused by the "cutting" of four graves and the erection over them of placards bearing the words, "Woe to the Stranger! The Land of the People! !"

ROCK ME TO SLEEP

Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight,
Make me a child again, just for to-night!
Mother, come back from that echoless shore,
Take me again to your heart as of yore;
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;
Over my slumbers your loving watch keep;
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue,
Mother, O mother, my heart calls for you!
Many a summer the grass has grown green,
Blossomed and faded, our faces between;
Yet with a strong yearning and passionate pain
Long I to-night for your presence again.
Come from the silence so long and so deep;
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Over my heart in the days that are flown,
No love like mother love ever has shone;
No other worship abides and endures,
Faithful, unselfish, and patient like yours.
None like a mother can charm away pain
From the sick soul, and the world-weary brain.
Slumber's soft calms o'er my heavy lids creep;
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Come let your brown hair, just lighted with gold,
Fall on your shoulders again, as of old;
Let it drop over my forehead to-night,
Shading my faint eyes away from the light;
For with its sunny edged shadows once more,
Happy will throng the sweet visions of yore,
Lovingly, softly, its bright billows sweep;
Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of poor shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite, without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon, and causes its victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The [illegible] physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, [illegible] of the bowels, [illegible] of the lungs, [illegible] the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their life away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine, without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, [illegible] of worms, and any one seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince [illegible] of this alarming fact. [illegible] Segments may be in evidence at any time, and this is absolute proof of the presence of tape worm. [illegible]

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. [illegible] One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park 1876, 167 Dundas street, Toronto.

- KEEP THE PUBLIC INFORMED -

THAT is the motto of the modern merchant. He knows his business will grow exactly in the proportion of his ability to make it useful to the public.

The better he can make himself known for character, for courtesy, for fairness in price, the larger will be the measure of his success.

The modern merchant believes in taking the public into his confidence.

He believes people are interested in the sources of merchandise, its purposes, its character, as well as its features and price.

He classes these things as legitimate news of his store.

He tells this news through the advertising of live daily newspapers, like "THE TIMES."

He feels it is part of his service to keep the public informed.

Could Not Face Operation

At an inquest on Gunner Sidney Anderson, aged twenty-six, who shot himself in Preston Barracks, Brighton, it was stated that he had written that he could not face another operation for appendicitis. He left a letter apologising to the officers and adding, "I have done my duty."

Doctor's Wife Takes Poison

"I am at the beautiful sea, and I may walk into it. I am a mental and physical wreck," ran a letter stated at the inquest to have been received by Dr. James Anderson, Leicestershire, from his wife, who was found dead at Southchurch, Essex, with a bottle of poison by her side.

BOY'S TRAGIC DEATH

Might Have Been Saved With Prompt Action

A verdict of "Death from hanging, there being no evidence to show whether it was accidental or otherwise," was returned at an inquest in Dundalk on the body of a boy named Owen Hall, aged fifteen, who was found hanged in a straw shed. A lad named John Boyle found the deceased at the bottom of a ladder with a rope, which was hanging from the top of the ladder, round his neck. He went for an old man named James Fagan, and meantime got a knife to cut the rope, but Fagan would not allow him to cut it. Fagan said he had not interfered because he was afraid of getting into a "bobble" with the police, and the coroner said Fagan's action was, no doubt, due to ignorance, but there was a chance that the boy's life might have been saved if the rope had been cut down at once.

Aged Preacher Dead

The Rev. S. S. Allsop, the oldest active preacher in the Baptist ministry, died at Nottingham in his ninetieth year. Mr. Allsop was formerly at Burton-on-Trent, where, owing to a confusion of names, he received orders for beer while the noted brewery received orders for sermons.

A young man named Jones fell into a vat of boiling liquid for tanning herring nets at Yarmouth. He was quickly extricated, but life was extinct.

Here is a good example of what frequently happens in the polyglot Balkans. A man named Pavel—that is, Paul—had five sons: one settled in Athens, called himself Pavlopoulo, the Greek form of Paulson; the second went to Belgrade and called himself Pavlovich; the third, in Sofia, called himself Pavloff; the fourth made his home in Bucharest under the name Pavlescu; while the youngest set up in business in Constantinople, assuming the Turkish form of Pavloglu.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

Written by
DR. DAVID H. REEDER,
Chicago, Ill.

BACK ACHE: Such a common complaint, so common as to be almost entirely disregarded by the average doctor, and yet a normal healthy person should not suffer with a backache any more than an ache of the toes or calves of his legs.

So very little is actually known by humanity in general and by many physicians as to the real significance of pains or weakness in various portions of the back that it is not at all surprising that the warning pains are disregarded until a chronic ailment is firmly established, and then all kinds of drugs and dope are dumped into the poor defenceless stomach in order to suppress the symptoms while no effort is made to remove the cause. It is quite common for many persons to acquire a firm belief that their kidneys are diseased because they have a constant pain in the "small of the back" as they express it. They think that must be right over the kidneys while as a matter of fact the kidneys, when in their normal position, are much higher. Draw a line or place a card around the body on a level with the navel and you will find the level of the kidneys in the back. That, however, would not enable you to know that your kidneys are diseased as pain is seldom evident in that locality when the kidneys are really diseased.

In weakness or disease of the organs of generation there will, as a rule, be pain, weakness and misery in the sacral region of the spine, while gastric disturbances are usually to be found in connection with pains at about the lower points of the clavicles or shoulder blades. In many cases, especially those who are over weight, the arms and hands "go to sleep," sting, prickle and are very painful. I have never yet found such a condition without an exceedingly sore and tender spot on the spine just between the shoulders, or at a point between the third and fifth dorsal vertebrae.

Lumbago is one of the conditions from which many people suffer periodical attacks while others seem to be afflicted with what might be called chronic Lumbago. This pain is so called from the fact that the lumbar region of the spine is the seat of the trouble while the pain is agonizing during the acute stage and usually keeps the sufferer in bed anywhere from one to three weeks. It can, under the Home Health Club method of treatment, be at once relieved and a complete recovery effected in from one to three days.

Almost any pain in the back, unless caused by displaced vertebrae, will be benefited by the same simple treatment which is that of a thorough hot fomentation. The very best results are obtained by first sponging the back with hot vinegar. Then rub thoroughly with warm olive oil, or better still our good old herb friend, the Herb Ointment. Then apply the fomentation and continue it for 40 or 50 minutes and when it is removed again apply the Ointment or olive oil and cover the patient snugly in bed and let him sleep. As a rule one such treatment brings relief and from two to three effect a cure. They should not be given oftener than once per day.

The complete details for applying a thorough hot fomentation are given in Volume 2 and also in Volume 3 of the Home Health Club books, and it is through the sale of these books that the expenses of the Club work is kept up.

I wish I had space enough to tell you all about pain in the back and of the various organs which are affected thereby, but it would require quite a book to tell all of it. The human body has 200 bones and about 600 muscles. Don't try to count the nerves because, when one has toothache or lumbago, it seems as though there were ten thousand of them and they were all crying at once.

CLUB NOTES.

I will gladly answer all inquiries for information on health subjects from readers of this publication if same are addressed to Home Health Club, 5030 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago. Send full name and address with 4 cents postage.

Dear Doctor: Will you tell me if there is any truth in the statement that if a person has been bitten by a dog, and it should afterward go mad, the person will also go mad. I was bitten by a little pup this fall. Do you think the dog should be killed? I will be grateful for the information, for it is a very serious matter to me. Miss D. P.

There is absolutely no danger of a person getting hydrophobia unless the dog should go mad right after one has been bitten. The poison must be on the fangs of the dog when he bites if the party is to be inoculated with the germs. So long as the pup was not mad, that is, did not have the hydrophobia, when he bit you, there is no danger of your getting the rabies even if he should do so later on. Should you, however, be bitten by a mad dog at some future time do not lose any time going to a Russian steam bath and stay in it for at least two hours. You will come out as limp as a rag, but all danger of hydrophobia will be passed. If there is no place anywhere near you where you can take the Russian bath, get a [illegible] and take the steaming in it. But do not neglect it.

Dear Doctor: Can you tell me how to thin off and not have the skin wrinkled and flabby? E.G.

The best and safest home treatment of overcoming flabbiness is by drinking an abundance of fresh [illegible] buttermilk, a method which I have fully explained in these columns on more than one occasion. It is also fully described in the Club books. An average person can easily take 4 quarts a day with "Zoolack" which should be well masticated. These two substances would not only sustain life but keep up strength. Such a treatment can be continued almost indefinitely until the desired result will be accomplished and there will be no wrinkles.

Diabetes

TORTURED WITH AN UNQUENCHABLE THIRST FOR YEARS TRIED EVERYTHING THAT MEDICAL AID COULD DO FOR ME, BUT GRADUALLY GOT WORSE TRIED SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES AND WAS CURED.

Ashville, Man.

Dear Sirs:—

During the month of March I was informed that I had a well developed case of Diabetes. I immediately placed myself upon a rigid diet after a week of which the first urinalysis disclosed a sugar content of 8 p.c. After several months of dieting during which time I was taking a so-called cure the sugar content was reduced to 3 p.c. I began taking SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES with the result that within a short time the urinalysis made by competent persons, and at different periods, disclosed no sugar whatever. This condition is, indeed, very gratifying and I have every reason to believe that I am quite cured. For some time past my diet has been a liberal one, consisting largely in some foods high in carbo-hydrates, but I still avoid all sugars and syrups. This is in accordance with the directions which I can well afford to follow. I am gaining in weight and strength, and once more feel that it is good to be alive.

There is no question in my mind regarding the virtues of SANOL'S ANTIDIABETES, and I feel that a great blessing has been conferred upon suffering humanity by this discovery, and use of this medicine.

Yours truly,
W. A. FOX.

"Pricking" the Sheriffs

The King held a Privy Council at Buckingham Palace to perform the ceremony of "pricking" the sheriffs for the current year. The roll of sheriffs is submitted to the King, who punches a mark opposite the selected name with a special bodkin.

Lord Rayleigh, who employs 250 men on his Essex farms, some time ago introduced a bonus system to encourage his employes to invest their savings in the farms. The sum of $19,500 now stands to their credit, and the amount for the year just closed to be paid in bonuses, profits, and interest came to $5,000.

BEAUTIES OF INDIA

A Missionary Writes of His Observations in the East

"The first marvel and interest," which the stranger to India experiences on arrival in that country, is the beauty of the people who move about in the open air, according to the Rev. Robert F. Horton, a missionary who has written letters about his travels in the East to the London Daily Chronicle. "Custom gradually stales the marvel," he says, "and the residents are quickly unconscious of the charm. But there it is, confronting you at once. Men and women and children are moving everywhere with garments so scanty that the beauty of the human form is not hidden; and such garments as are used only add to, and rarely detract from, that beauty. A white cloth wound gracefully round the head, a slight loincloth, a clinging fold of drapery, white, or brilliant red or blue, or yellow, or green, does not conceal that color and shape of man or woman or child which surely was meant to be the fairest sight of the world. They say that the dark color is itself a kind of garment, and that white men and women would never seem decent or comely in this scant attire. And, indeed, the color, or rather the colors, are no small part of the beauty. Some of the skins are almost black, some brown, some tawny, but all are rich, glossy as silk, smooth and shapely. The shoulders and the bare arms of men and women, and the comely, chocolate-colored children, possess the eye with a sense of satisfied loveliness. The gay plumage of birds and the spots and stripes of the jungle beasts are not really more beautiful than the bodies of human beings in this land of wonders. For it is not the colors alone; it is the shape of the bodies that move on bare feet, and are exercised by carrying burdens on the head. The boatman, putting his vallam along the backwater, or the woman with the bundle poised on the head, is a figure for a sculptor to marvel at rather than to imitate. It is a scene of living sculpture, a colored cinematograph, everywhere in progress.

WOMAN INVENTED DETACHABLE COLLAR

Mrs. Montague Made a Separate Collar to Save Washing and Ironing

The detachable collar now worn by men the world round was the invention of a thrifty housewife 88 years ago. It is now certain that Mrs. Hannah Lord Montague was the maker of the first detachable linen collar. Mr. Montague was engaged in the manufacture of fine shoes for women. He was a large man, very particular in matters of dress, and in those days before the invention of the sewing machine and before great public laundries were established, the making, washing and ironing of the shirts formed quite an item in the work of the household. Mrs. Montague was resourceful, and in endeavoring to lighten her household duties she hit upon the idea of a detached collar, which could be fastened to the neckband of her husband's shirt and washed and ironed separately. Before this time, when the collar was soiled, the whole shirt had to be washed, but by this device two or three collars might be used to one shirt. Acting upon the idea which had come to her, Mrs. Montague went to the patch bag, selected a strip of white linen, which she cut and shaped to fit the neckband of her husband's shirt, sewed it, turned it inside out, and attached a narrow string of braid at either end to tie about the neck. This was the original string collar.

Mr. Montague was delighted with the idea, and was proud of his new acquisition, which he displayed to his friends. Almost immediately requests came to Mrs. Montague from friends and neighbors to make separate detachable collars for them, and as she afterward stated, "the available material in the patch bag was soon exhausted, and I actually invested in a yard of linen." Being unable to cope with the increasing demand for the new creation, she was compelled to hire two or three women to sew the collars which she cut out. A sister of Mrs. Montague washed and ironed the collars. It was an easy step to adapt them to women's wear.

Thus, through the resourcefulness of a woman the modern detachable collar was evolved.

MARY ELIZABETH MADE GOOD CANDY

She Began on a Small Scale—Now She's Worth Half a Million

Several years ago Mary Elizabeth, whose other name is Evans, started to make candy for sale in Syracuse. On a table she put her candies and a small wicker basket in which people put the money for what they took. People liked her trust of them and they did not ever take more candy than they were entitled to from the dishes on the unwatched table. They began telling other folks about the candy-table and pretty soon Mary Elizabeth was able to sell more candy than she could make alone in her little home. Then she hired assistants and opened a store with a real clerk in it. And now she has a candy-shop on Fifth Avenue in New York City, another in Newport and still a third in Bermuda. And she won't take half a million dollars for her business.

PIES BIG AS HOUSES

Monsters That Have Been Prepared For Special Occasions

An enormous meat-pie, weighing two hundred pounds, provided the chief dish for a banquet at Gorleston. It was made in three sections, and the outer crust was three inches thick.

It created a big sensation locally, yet it would have made but a poor show by the side of some of the monster pies for which Denby Dale, near Halifax, has been long famous.

These are baked only upon very special occasions, the very biggest of them being prepared in 1887, in honor of Queen Victoria's Jubilee. It weighed, when cooked, no less than 1 ton 5 hundredweight, and the ingredients comprised 550 pounds beef, 100 pounds each of mutton and veal, 140 pounds lamb, 250 pounds lean pork, and enough fowls, geese, pigeons, rabbits, hares, etc. to stock a poulterer's shop. To make the crust 60 stone of flour were used, mixed with 100 pounds lard, and 50 pounds of butter.

Another similar monster was prepared in 1846 to celebrate the repeal of the corn laws. Yet another was baked in 1788, in commemoration of King George III.'s recovery from illness; while a fourth was prepared and eaten in 1815, in honor of Wellington's victory over Napoleon on the field of Waterloo.

LIQUOR IN BRITAIN

Licenses Show a Steady Decline in England and Wales

The latest statistics issued by the Home Office in regard to the operation and administration of the laws relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors in England and Wales provide some very instructive figures. Whether these figures go to prove Britishers are becoming a more sober nation or not readers can form their own opinions, with the plain, undiluted facts before them. At the beginning of the last fiscal year there were in England and Wales 91,247 premises licensed for the sale of alcoholic stimulants to be consumed on or off such premises, and which are known as on-licenses. In addition, there were 24,115 premises licensed for the sale of such stimulants to be consumed off the premises, and which are referred to as off-licenses. These figures, it might be noted, give an average of about three licensed houses for each 1,000 of the population.

One outstanding feature revealed by these statistics is that the number of licensed houses has for some years been steadily decreasing. The year's figures show a decrease of 1,287 in the on-licenses and 382 in the off-licenses. Since 1896 the number of on-licenses has gone down from 102,341 to 91,247, and during the same period the off-licenses have been reduced from 25,496 to 24,115. In considering these reductions it is well to bear in mind the increase in the population, over 4,000,000 during the period in question.

Treating New Floors

A new floor should receive two coats of a mixture of equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine, with enough Japan dryer to make it harden quickly. If the floor has cracks or uneven places anywhere in the open pores of the wood, these should be filled in with some sort of a "filler" of which there are many on the market. The mixture of turpentine with the oil causes the oil to soak much more deeply into the wood, and, by putting on two coats, with the help of the Japan drier, gives a smooth, well-filled finish which will take the wax polish very nicely.

Love in the Home

The love which should exist between husband and wife includes devotion, kindness, unselfishness, respect and adaptation in one person for another. Where this exists in marriage the life, even if one of privation, is happy. No discords can arise, for the reverence of each for the other is so great that it gives the most perfect love. But sentiment, simple adoration, idle fancy, is not love. Love is more than this. It goes to the very core of the being, while the other is superficial, transparent, fleeting.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties.—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

An unusual and interesting exhibit of the Provincial Museum in the Normal School, Toronto, is that of two mummified bodies which were exhumed in British Columbia. The bodies are in a bunched-up position with their arms clasping their knees. This illustrates one method of burial used by the [illegible] Indians.

Other exhibits from the Pacific Coast province are Indian [illegible] or stuffed figures, life size, standing in a large glass show case which runs around the room. Behind the figures are many weird and grotesque dancing masks which bear strong resemblances to the gargoyles seen on old world cathedrals.

Sponge Farming in the Ocean

The cultivation of sponges upon the bottom of the ocean, says "Popular Mechanics," is accomplished by means of cement triangles or disks, to which the "seed" sponges are attached with a piece of [illegible] wire. After the cuttings, which are obtained by cutting a large sponge into several pieces, have been fastened to the cement discs, these are let down with a strand of wire, or dropped down if the water is shallow, to rest on the bottom. Here they are permitted to remain for a year or two, until satisfactory growth has been obtained, when they are hooked up from the bottom.

GREAT BRIDGES

Facts of Great Structures Across the Tay and Forth

Not the least of the extraordinary feats of the redoubtable bridge-builder, Sir William Arrol, was the fact that at one and the same time he carried on two such gigantic contracts as the Tay and the Forth Bridges. It was a striking tribute to his great powers of organization and to his genius for engineering on a mammoth scale. The construction of the Tay Bridge was only half-finished when he made a start with the gigantic undertaking which now spans the Firth of Forth, from the designs of Sir John Fowler and Sir Benjamin Baker. Over a year was spent in the preliminary preparations alone—the designing and making of special plant, the erection of workshops on shore, and the thousand and one things essential to the success of such a huge scheme. The cost of temporary plant ran to half-a-million sterling, and included thirty steam and other barges, tugs, launches, and boats, sixty steam cranes and winches, fifty hydraulic cranes, forty-eight steam-engines, and hydraulic jacks, hand-cranes, and drilling-machines almost innumerable; not to mention one million cubic feet of timber and sixty miles of wire. The enormous nature of this engineering wonder of the world may be gathered from the following figures: The total length is over a mile and a half, and consists of two main spans, each nearly a third of a mile long; two spans of six hundred and seventy-five feet each. In the piers there are about one hundred and twenty thousand cubic yards of masonry, and in the super-structure over forty thousand tons of steel and some fifteen thousand tons of iron.

The building of the Tay Bridge was an opportunity for a display of his engineering genius which the ambitious bridgemaker eagerly welcomed. A rigorous examination revealed the old foundations to be insecure, and it was decided to build an entirely new bridge a short distance farther up the river. Within five years from its commencement—1882 to 1887—a remarkable erection, over two miles long, and constructed at a cost of seven hundred and fifty thousand pounds, spanned the estuary, a structure strong enough to defy the fiercest gale that ever blew. It was the greatest engineering triumph of the age until it was eclipsed by a greater—the Forth Bridge.

CLUB PRESIDENTS AND THEIR DUTIES

Some Hints For Women Who Have to Preside at Meetings

Some hints for the government of the president of a club—her [illegible]—which are of interest to any woman who is likely at any time to have to preside over a meeting, are given in the Woman Citizen as follows:

A president should rise when addressing the club, to state a motion, and to take a vote, to [illegible], and to offer a recommendation. During a discussion she should remain seated, for always, if she speaks, it applies to every anyone who is taking part in a program or debate. She should [illegible] her [illegible] from the other.

A president should never use the pronoun "I." She should refer to herself as "your president," "your presiding officer," or "the president of the [illegible]." She should refer to [illegible] in this way only when it is [illegible], and she should [illegible] the club to [illegible] whenever possible. She should of all things be deliberate. Never rush. She must be calm, for she can never keep a meeting in order if she is herself in disorder. She should be prompt and businesslike. She should protect the club from the bores, and when the time arrives for adjournment she should say so, and if the club wishes to vote a longer session that is its pleasure.

A club president does not look dignified if she stands and taps and taps her table with her gavel to keep order. She should bring down the gavel as though she knew it was the symbol of the club's authority, gently and firmly, and if its mandates are not obeyed instantly she should use as much force as is required to attract attention.

There is one reward that all presidents are sure of, if they do all things the best they may—they learn a lot and they can go backward. They will always realize their development and that is a good bit in this world. After a couple of terms as president a member is just ready to enter upon her duties as a member of the organization. She has had the proper training and she is now ready to be a member.

WHAT WRINKLES MEAN

They Afford a Good Clue to Character and Disposition

Two sharp, vertical indents on the forehead, just at the top of the nose, are a sign that the wearer is given to deep and serious thought.

A wrinkle each side of the nose, and extending from thence to the corner of the mouth, is indicative of a sarcastic and sneering disposition, whilst those who show one or more "dips" at the corners of the mouth are usually of a cheerful disposition, amiable, and anxious to please.

Wrinkles at the corners of the eyes denote the jovial nature of an easy-going, careless person, fond of good things and of getting their own way, and—sometimes—rather indifferent to the feelings of others in attaining their own comfort.

Crowsfeet—the name given to those small wrinkles under the eyes—are almost invariably a sign of worry, trouble, dissipation, or ill-health, and are often accompanied by lack-lustre eyes and a tired and worn expression of the countenance in general.

A number of horizontal wrinkles on the forehead denote a fretful, petulant, [illegible] disposition, but one given to consideration for the feelings or [illegible] of others. People whose brows are marked in this manner are usually good parents and staunch friends though somewhat hasty and trying to the [illegible] of others.

Strengthens the Throat Assists Public Speakers

Catarrhozone is the Greatest Invention of the Age for Weak Throat, Hoarseness, &c.

Strongly Endorsed by the Clergy.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhozone cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes huskiness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhozone, and credit in no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as CATARRH.

"Being a professional singer, you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill.

"One year ago I read in the "Presbyter" a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your [illegible] Catarrhozone.

"Believing in the merit of Catarrhozone, I tried it.

"Catarrhozone cured me, and has been the means of my success.

"You are at liberty to use my name if it will help relieve some fellow sufferer, and I will always remain,

"[illegible] Finlay, New Glasgow, N.S."

Mr. Finlay is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him and his testimonial for Catarrhozone is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhozone is to those suffering from throat weakness or catarrh.

A Stove Pipe Horn.

A motor-cyclist rode east on the Hunter street pavement at 4.30 p.m. yesterday, carrying a long stove-pipe elbow under one arm. A civic laborer, standing on the pavement, in front of the Oriental Hotel, who may be short-sighted remarked, "What the divil kind of a new horn has that man got on his bean-wagon?"

Blacklister Fined.

At yesterday's police court, Joseph Findlay, carrying a couple of eyes in deep mourning, pleaded guilty to having been drunk though a blacklister. He was fined $10 and given 10 days to gather up the simoleons. He said he got his bottled hilarity from Jack Maher. He said the stuff was like that which reminds one of mother's cookies or something of that description. He could not remember who put the crape over his eyes.

Another Garbage Kick.

A gentleman recently removed to Park street complained to Sanitary Inspector Spence yesterday that several tubs full of ashes, etc., he had left out for the garbage man had not been removed. The waggon man called at the Park street man's house and told his wife, "Them tubs is too heavy, we won't move them." As the same tubs had been used for a similar purpose, without objection made by these silk stockinged civic employes in another part of the city, the Park street man got angry. He asked if these garbage men will not soon demand that housewives supply them with angel cake and cocoa. These city laborers may soon be supplied daily with kid gloves and a derrick at the rear of each house.

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

Mother! Don't hesitate! If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Women's Felt Hat Shapes 49c

Without a doubt the reader knows what a lot of wear a felt hat will stand. And the better the shape, the longer the wear. Let us therefore, direct your attention to these Hats, procurable in every style and color in demand just now, and undeniably cheap, because they are a clearance of $1.25 to $2.25 models, in an assortment numbering nearly ten dozen. Wednesday 49c

Nightgowns for Boys and Men 49c and 59c

If you would secure a serviceable, good looking Night Gown for either man or boy, come at 8:15 on Wednesday morning and choose from this remarkably fine line, made of heavy English Flannelette, in stripe patterns. Made to our buyer's special order they are roomy in cut, and are six inches longer than most regular gowns. The boys' sizes, 10 to 15 years, regular 75c, are 49c, while all the men's sizes, regular 89c, will be 59c.

We will put a number in the window.

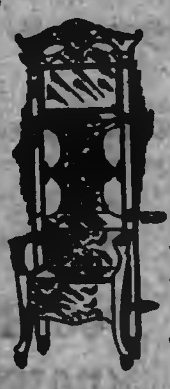
Extra Sized Flannelette Blankets $1.39

There is probably nothing more comforting than the warm cosiness of a good flannelette blanket. And the secret of their warmth is because the fine woolly texture does not allow the bodily heat to pass away, as linens and cottons will do. This "Kingcot" line is made in extra size, 66 x 82 inches, and for $1.39 is unsurpassed in value.

They Are To Be Seen in the Window

Pretty Blouses at a Real Bargain 59c

We assure you that a neater Muslin or Lawn Blouse for 59c would indeed be hard to secure. They are smart and attractive, for they are insertion and embroidery trimmed, while a good range of sizes is shown. Usually a little garment like this would cost at least twice as much. A real bargain at 59c



Our New Furniture Department Is Now Ready

And while it is true that as this bill goes to press we have not our complete stock all in, yet it is arriving daily and is placed out in the furniture show rooms, which are on the third and fourth floors. The class of goods we are selling will please most people because we have sought to combine elegance of design with sound wood and construction. Every piece is marked in plain figures.

Wide Laces and Insertions 4½c yd.

Or you may take a dozen yards for 50c. They are very pretty and dainty, being from 2 to 4 inches wide, some in fine patterns, some in heavy. For the trimming of little home-made gifts (Christmas is only a matter of a few weeks) they will be found most acceptable and cheap. See them for yourself and judge the splendid value for, per yard 4½c

WOMEN'S OVERALL WORK APRONS 46c

Being a neatly patterned English Percale in Navy Blue, they are attractive in appearance, and because they fit right up over the shoulders and button at the back, they form a complete dress covering. No aprons as good as these could be cheaper than the Annex price 46c

A WELL MADE CORSET THAT IS CHEAP, 43c

The Skirt and Bust are both medium, while the material is a good, white coutil. Four hose supporters are attached, and amongst the cheaper Corsets, this D. & A. make ranks first in quality 43c

SOME FINE GREY FLANNELS AT 18½c YARD

Plain or twilled in light and dark grey, 28 to 29 inches wide. We have seldom sold such good quality for less than 25c. The Annex price is, per yard 18½c

WOMEN'S WINTER UNDERWEAR, 22c

In white or light grey, both Vests and Drawers are of close-ribbed, elastic knit, the sizes being 34 and 36. The Annex price per garment is 22c

A SPLENDID SHIRT FOR MEN 55c—2 FOR $1.05

They are made of fine prints and percales, with soft bosom and deep, starched cuffs, there being a host of colors and designs, all good, from which to choose. We are confident that a better Shirt could not be obtained for 75c. Wednesday 55c

OUR TELEPHONE NUMBERS ARE [illegible] AND [illegible]

The Annex, as well as every other department in the store, is connected to Central, and if you need something on this Bill, and cannot very well visit the Annex—why telephone for it.

2 O'CLOCK SALE.

Women's 69c Gowns for 49c

Every garment is made of a heavy striped Flannelette with tucked yoke, and is trimmed with self frill. In either pink or blue shades, these roomy night dresses are in lengths 56, 58 and 60; moreover they will be found to compare very favourably with usual 75c garments. The value will therefore commend itself at the 2 o'clock price 49c

Not more than 4 Gowns to One Customer

FLANNELETTE MILL ENDS AND REMNANTS

It is always economical to buy "Mill Ends" or "Remnants." And in this instance, these pieces of Flannelette are from 2 to 10 yards long, some being stripe patterned and of durable Canadian manufacture, others of the heavier English quality, also in stripe design. There are plain whites, and pinks too; the whole collection presenting most worthy values at BARGAIN ANNEX PRICES.

Dress Goods 'Mill Ends' $1.25 an end

Dress Fabrics, Suitings, Coatings, and Tweeds, in a selection of over seventy pieces. Many of the 40 and 42 inch widths are from 3 to 4 yards long, and are very well suited for Skirts or Dresses. The colors are good, and surely the value one receives for $1.25 an End is most worthy, when one considers that many pieces could not be bought for less than $2 or $3, buying by the yard.

WILSON AFFECTS UNCONCERN AS TROOPS ARE SENT TO MEXICAN BORDER: HUERTA IGNORES NOTE DEMANDING THAT HE QUIT

Washington Silent But Tension Increases as No Reply Comes From Mexico—Bryan and President in Hourly Touch With Situation

Washington, Nov. 4.—President Wilson let the Mexican situation simmer a few hours to-day while he went to Princeton, N.J., to vote. The tension over the United States Government's ultimatum to Huerta was not relieved by the President's absence, however, and just before Mr. Wilson left the White House, he conferred with Secretary of State William J. Bryan.

All officials here were consistently silent over the notice to Huerta to vacate the Provisional Presidency of Mexico and [illegible] no [illegible]. The understanding was that the attitude here is to make no announcements just now and wait the next step.

The greatest interest centred about Huerta's conference with the Mexico City diplomatic corps. As soon as Charge O'Shaughnessy had delivered the latest note, Huerta called in the diplomats, but no announcement was made of their conference.

President Wilson planned to be in touch with the situation practically every hour he is away to-day and to return to Washington to-night.

Secretary of State Bryan flatly refused to discuss the situation when [illegible] were made concerning the demand for the immediate retirement of Huerta.

Senator Bacon, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, after a conference with Secretary Bryan, said:

"I consider the situation to be hopeful. We are very hopeful that things will turn out well."

Tammany Forces Beaten After the Fiercest Struggle in History of City

Special to The Times.

New York, Nov. 4.—The election for Mayor of New York City, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Gaynor, took place today, resulting in the election of John Purroy Mitchell, by a large majority. The contest was probably the fiercest that has ever taken place in the city, on account of the interjection of ex-Governor Sulzer and friends into the fight, and their attack on Tammany methods. The city to-night is a blaze of illumination and excitement.

THE CANDIDATES.

John P. Mitchell, though Mayor-elect, was the Fusion candidate. He is 34 years of age and was collector of the Port of New York for a short time, to which position he was appointed by President Wilson soon after the United States federal elections. He resigned to accept the candidature for mayoralty. Mr. Mitchell has had experience in the municipal council, and is regarded as a clean politician. Mr. Edward E. McCall, the Tammany nominee, is a former Supreme Court Judge of New York, and was Chairman of the Public Service Commission of the state, having been appointed by former Governor Sulzer. He is a close personal friend of the Tammany leader, Chas. F. Murphy.

Tammany has been attacked so vigorously during the campaign that Murphy has had to break the custom of years, and instead of maintaining silence has issued long defensive statements.

AN EXCITING EPISODE.

An exciting hour or two was spent when ex-Governor Sulzer went into the Second Assembly District to denounce Alfred E. Smith, speaker of the Assembly, who is seeking re-election.

Four wagons bearing McCall and Smith signs drove into a crowd of several hundred persons gathered in the street. Men sat upon the wagons, tore off the signs and forced the drivers to leave. They had hardly gone when fire engines dashed up, someone having sent in a false alarm.

When Sulzer finally was able to speak thirty giant fire crackers were set off in rapid order. Madison street horse cars, which run ordinarily at about thirty minute intervals, began to pass through the crowds frequently, each loaded with passengers who insisted that the conductor stop where the throng was most dense.

A bevy of girls in a door way began a campaign of shrieking when Sulzer tried to talk. A fife and drum corps came on the scene. A hundred men carrying Tammany banners marched behind it. After a few fist fights the police diverted the parade into a side street. Sulzer was then assailed with eggs and vegetables.

SHOP LICENSE GIVEN HAILEYBURY AT LAST

Haileybury, Ont. Nov. 4.—After applying in vain for years, a shop license has now been granted to two Haileybury men. The local board of license Commissioners has for two years sanctioned shop license, but the department at Toronto has vetoed it each time. This will mean that the north country will have two shop licenses, and will break the absolute monopoly a New Liskeard dealer had of the bottle trade. The license will be held by W. D. Hamilton and Edward Edmunds.

Austria and Italy

There are rumors of fresh complications in southeastern Europe between Austria and Italy. One is proposing the dissolution of the commission appointed to delimit the Albanian frontier, which also said secret agreement between Germany and Italy provides that all large islands off Asia Minor, and the small islands near the Dardanelles shall be restored to Turkey. This stiffens Turkey's back in her negotiations with Greece, which country is stated to have placed large orders for rifles and ammunition in Austria, and to have ordered 50 batteries of guns from Creusot for immediate delivery. These are days of wars and rumors of wars.

FRENCH UNIFORMS TO BE INVISIBLE

Paris, Nov. 4.—The enormous role which the dirigible and the aeroplane will have in future wars has convinced European Governments of the necessity of discovering an invisible uniform. During the recent French manoeuvres the troops of both sides spent a good deal of their time in deceiving the enemy's air scouts. Immediately an aeroplane appeared on the horizon, the order was given to hide, and the soldiers were forced to lie behind hedges or under whatever cover was available until the air scout was out of sight. The cloth for future French uniforms which proved to be the least visible from above appears to be a blue-gray material, light in tone with a reddish tinge.

CONVENTION WILL NOT TRY TO WELD THE OPEN SPLIT IN LIBERAL PARTY ON THE CURRENT TRADE ISSUES

Proposed Dominion Convention Called Off as Too Dangerous Just Now—Dozen Different Shades of Thought

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—There is proving to be such divergence of opinion on the tariff question between the various wings of the Liberal party that it is understood the proposed Dominion convention has been called off.

Between the Western free traders led by Dr. Clark of Red Deer and the high Protectionists of which E. M. MacDonald of Pictou, is considered the mouth piece there are a dozen different shades of thought. A convention would have to draft a platform and outside of the difficulty of reaching any common ground, a written policy might prove embarrassing.

As matters stand now, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his lieutenants are loudly asking for a tariff revision. This is more convenient from a party standpoint.

A general policy of tariff revision can be interpreted in the West as free trade or reciprocity and in the East can be used where necessary to mean that the protection for manufacturers which the Liberals for fifteen years kept in force will not be touched. A convention and a platform threatens to be embarrassing and your correspondent understands

THOUSANDS OF CANADIANS TO AID ULSTER IN HER FIGHT

Canadian Unionist League Organized in Toronto With Fighting Spirit

Special to The Times.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—Official confirmation of the formation of a Unionist party in Toronto, an account of which was published, has been received in the form of the following communication from the Secretary, Mr. J. A. Jackson.

"There has been formed in Canada, "A Canadian Unionist League," the executive council of which is in the City of Toronto. The object of the league is to enlist all Canadians, who are willing to assist the Unionists of Ireland in maintaining the position they at present occupy in the Empire, and to the utmost of our power we propose to assist the Unionist party in Ireland under the present trying circumstances in which they are placed.

Thousands Enrolled.

Four branches have been formed in the city and at the present time we have enrolled some thousands. We have also received intimation from outlying points throughout Ontario that leagues will come into existence at once. Already Manitoba is organized and British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be organized without delay.

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland will also be organized in order to demonstrate to the British people that Canada is misrepresented when any person claims that she is in favor of granting Home Rule to Ireland. The following are the officers:

Hon. President, Lieut.-Col. J. H. Scott; President, Mr. Fred Dane; Vice-Presidents, Mr. Wm. Crawford, Mr. W. H. Harper, Mr. Joseph Johnston; Treasurer, Mr. Thos. W. Self; Secretary, Mr. J. A. Jackson, and and executive committee of eleven which forms the executive of the central association."

A Solemn Pledge.

Members subscribe to the following declaration: "I hereby express my desire to become a member of the Canadian Unionist League, and do pledge myself to support Ulster in her desire to remain within the British Empire, and I hereby authorize the secretary to sign my name on the membership roll."

On the margin of the membership card is printed a Union Jack and the motto, "Ulster's Flag is Our Flag."

NEXT SESSION PARLIAMENT WILL DEVELOPE MANY THRILLS

Closure Will Prevent Disgraceful Blockade But Not Warm Debate—Business World Vitally Interested

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—With a definite announcement now that the session will not open until after January 1, there is considerable interest in the legislative programme. The present outlook is that the session, while not as strenuous probably as last session, will be fully as interesting. A great deal of important legislation is on the tapis and it will be a particularly important session to the financial and commercial interests of the country, as a number of measures vitally affecting the business world are certain to be introduced.

Session Promises Thrills.

The coming session promises to be about as dramatic and full of thrills as was the 1911-12 session. With the possibility of another deadlock between the House and Senate, there may ensue a serious clash between the two bodies. The Government has about enough of having its legislation mutilated and killed by a partisan majority in the Upper House. If the Senate continues to pursue this policy something may fall.

The new closure bill will prevent the repetition of such a disgraceful blockade as marked last session, but it will not stop many a lively debate and exciting scene. From a political and controversial standpoint, the fight of the session will probably centre around the Redistribution bill. Unless some concession is granted the Maritime Provinces, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick

PUBLIC BUILDINGS FOR PETERBOROUGH

A Times reporter asked Mr. Burnham yesterday if he had noticed that Ald. Butler had put through a resolution asking that the member do what he could to have the new post-office and custom house built together.

"I did notice it," replied Mr. Burnham, "and I am glad to see the Council, as usual, taking an active interest in the city's welfare. I may say, however, that I have had this request under consideration by the Minister for some weeks. It is most desirable that not only the post office and custom house, but all other government offices should be housed in one building. If the Minister agrees, as I have some hope that he will, the Council will be consulted as to the site and any other details of local interest since they represent the citizens."

Reason Was It.

Little Johnny was saying his prayers. He had been playing hard all day and was very tired.

"Now I lay me down to sleep," he started off briskly enough. "I pray the Lord my soul to keep." Here was a long pause, for little Johnny was almost asleep.

"If"—prompted the mother. No response.

"If"—she said again.

"Oh yes. If he hollers let him go. Eeny, meeny, miny, mo. You are it. Good night, mamma."

THE WEATHER.

Not much change in temperature.

JUDGE LATCHFORD SCORES THE COMPENSATION LAW

Haileybury, Ont. Nov. 4.—Addressing the jury in a damage suit last night in High Court here, Justice Latchford said: "We have dealt with a large number of cases of similar nature, but I sincerely trust at next High Court there will be no such cases. The Ontario Legislature should bring in a law which will make it compulsory for reasonable payment being granted to injured workmen, whether accident was their fault or not."

How to Tell Whether Tea and Coffee are Causing your Troubles

It seems easy to leave off drinking tea and coffee and note the results.

But you say, "I can't do without my morning cup," so the dreary days follow one another, the same old pains and aches slowly growing a little worse. Do you dare think of the road ahead, if that downward tendency keeps on, and why shouldn't it unless you change the daily habit?

Suppose to-day you assert your right to crush habit and start a new and healthful life.

It's easy to quit tea and coffee and take on

POSTUM

It is made of clean, whole wheat, and contains no CAFFEINE — the drug in tea and coffee that causes so much trouble

Is not only free from the poison in tea and coffee, but contains the natural phosphate of potash found in a part of the wheat berry which is included in making this famous food-drink.

It builds up broken-down body, brain, and nerve cells, and no one needs this more than the chronic tea or coffee drinker.

Postum now comes in two forms. REGULAR POSTUM must be well boiled. INSTANT POSTUM is a soluble powder. A spoonful dissolved in a cup of hot water and, with sugar and cream, makes a perfect cup INSTANTLY.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

Ten days freedom from tea and coffee will show.

MORE THAN EVER
Increased Capacity for Mental Labor Since Using Postum

Many former tea and coffee drinkers who have mental work to perform, day after day, have found a better capacity and greater endurance by using Postum instead of tea or coffee. (Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it contains caffeine the same drug found in coffee.)

A Western woman writes:

"I had drank coffee for about twenty years, and finally had what the doctor called 'coffee heart.' I was nervous and extremely despondent; had little mental or physical strength left, had kidney trouble and constipation.

"The first noticeable benefit derived from the change from coffee to Postum was the natural action of the kidneys and bowels. In two weeks my heart action was greatly improved and my nerves steady.

"Then I became less despondent, and the desire to be active again showed proof of renewed physical and mental strength.

"I am steadily gaining in physical strength and brain-power. I formerly did mental work and had to give it up on account of coffee, but since using Postum I am doing hard, mental labor with less fatigue than ever before."

"There's a Reason."

STUDENTS WORK SIDE BY SIDE WITH NAVVIES

In the Evening They Teach and Write Letters for the Frontier Toilers —All University Men

Interesting, indeed, are the experiences of the students sent out by the Reading Camp Association from [illegible] of Canada who spent the summer working shoulder to shoulder with the [illegible] laborers in the van of civilization—the railway construction camp, rugged mining [illegible] of the distant timber limit, devoting their evenings to educational work among those denied the advantages for which they [illegible] the day. Many and varied, humorous and tragic are the stories told by these men, who for a season substitute overalls for college gowns. Some are employed as axe men, others as graders, brakemen, [illegible], nurses in the camp hospitals, clerks, "cookees," timekeepers, [illegible] or "skinners," lumberjacks, and in other capacities.

The Association's work is to send an instructor into a camp, provide him with a car or tent, fitted as a combined reading room and night school, and keep him supplied with reading matter, books, which are furnished in travelling libraries by the Provincial Government, and current newspapers and magazines for the use of the men without charge. The instructor works with the gang in the day time, in any capacity both which the camp boss may decide. He wins the confidence and respect of the laborers, following the exhortation of Froebel, "Come, let us live with our students." The evenings are devoted to work in the reading room, teaching classes of foreigners or illiterate and ignorant English-speaking workmen, informal lecturing, letter-writing for the men, and assisting in many other practical ways. Years ago a ministerial student, Alfred Fitzpatrick, a [illegible], graduated from Queen's University. Instead of settling permanently in the pastorate he devoted some time to a personal study of actual conditions in the lumbering and railroad construction camps of the frontier. The young student secured some financial backing and commenced to give his idea practical form. At first operations were necessarily conducted on a small scale. Many difficulties were encountered. [illegible] foremen were apathetic or openly hostile. But the lanky youth who had conceived the plan was not discouraged. In 1900, three instructors were employed and stationed in lumber camps during the day as actual laborers, teaching in the evenings, on holidays, and when the weather would not permit outside work. In the spring of 1901, the Reading Camp Association was born.

Since that time the work of the Reading Camp Association has greatly expanded, until it now carries on its operations in six provinces between Quebec and British Columbia inclusive. The men stationed in Ontario on construction lines, clear between $[illegible].00 and $250.00 each for their summer's work, while those in the West save from $250.00 to $300.00. In some cases the manual labor was trying on students unaccustomed to such exercise and many hardships were endured.

"A Progressive Peterborough"

Our Point of View

Now that Prince Arthur has married the Duchess of Fife, he is probably looking forward to the time when there will be a little drum in the family.

Huerta declares that the Mexican people cannot govern Mexico, and there seems to be a good deal of truth in what he says, for he has made a mighty poor job of it himself.

The frank declaration of Sir Richard McBride leaves no doubt as to the popularity of the Borden naval proposals in British Columbia. The whole province is behind the patriotic offer of the present Government as are the other provinces.

ORILLIA STRONG FOR LOCAL OPTION.

In the town of Orillia some opponents of Local Option presented to the Council a petition praying for the submission of a repeal by-law. It was proposed that if the repeal should succeed, applications would be made only for wine and beer licenses and it was argued that such a licensing plan would be in the interests of "true temperance." After a strenuous effort, however, the repealers succeeded in securing only thirty-two signatures to their petition and some of those who signed were aliens and not entitled to vote. The movement was so manifestly insignificant and unpopular that the council refused to take any action concerning it.

HOW FAR OFF IS PEACE?

The proposal of Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, that England and Germany take a holiday in naval construction for a year has not met with the reception it deserves. Germany scoffs at the offer. The leading newspapers with one voice greet it with indignation and contempt, and the war lords frown darkly at anything that savors of peace talk from the other side of the North Sea. England in turn, is displeased at being exposed to the snub which it believes Germany's ungracious attitude entails.

Yet Mr. Churchill's plan is honorable, in that it emanates from the one man who is professionally bound to boost the forces of war—regardless of national budget or economic needs, to say nothing of abstract considerations of civilization and humanity.

From the practical point of view there is everything to be said in favor of the plan. It would save millions of dollars to both nations without impairing their military strength. Both are so far ahead of France and Russia, the next European powers in point of strength, that the temporary halt would in no wise allow the others to catch up. And the naval relations of England and Germany would not merely remain the same, as Lord Churchill suggested, but Germany would actually profit by the delay, in that England's programme called for the laying down of four super-dreadnoughts—Germany's for only two.

Some years before the Russo-Japanese war, the Czar Nicholas II called for international disarmament. Meanwhile the trans-Siberian railroad was completed beyond Irkutsk, and the Russian engineers were pushing the construction work to Harbin and Port Arthur—the key to supremacy in the Far East. Since then, however the Peace Foundation has been perpetrated in a magnificent temple at The Hague, and through it a few questions of international import have been settled. But neither the Peace Foundation, nor the Nobel peace prize, nor the efforts of the anti-militarists, nor all the trend of our civilized age, prevented the conflict between Italy and Tripoli, nor the war in the Balkans. Yet what could be expected of so loosely-knit and unempowered an organization when the most definite, the earnest and the most moderate peace proposals are treated much with scorn and rejection? Does it mean that the hour of world peace is still remote?

LADIES' NIGHT AT MEETING OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

Deputations From Woman's Council Urge for Co-operation in Conducting Mothers' Classes, and the Provision of Medical Inspection in Schools.

The Board of Education met in regular monthly session last night, Chairman Dr. Morrison in the chair. There were also present Messrs. V. Eastwood, B. F. Ackerman, L. M. Hayes, W. H. Hill, J. J. Turner, Jr., John Crane, Dr. Middleton, Col. Miller and Dr. Burnham.

Technical Classes.

Mr. V. Eastwood, Supervising Principal of the Technical Classes, submitted a comprehensive report of the progress of this new department of education, which showed great promise. The present enrollment is 2[illegible]0 of which 209 are paid up.

Scholarship Winners.

Principal H. R. H. Kenner wrote that the Minister of Education had notified him that the following Collegiate Institute pupils had received highest marks at the following examinations:

Normal Entrance—Clarence McKee.
Junior Matriculation—Gladys Fife.
Faculty Entrance, Pt. I.—J. Moloney.
Faculty Entrance, Pt. II.—Beatrice Malone.
Honor Matriculation—Meredith Huycke.

The above pupils are entitled to the following awards: Clarence McKee, $15; Gladys Fife, $15; Joseph Moloney, $20; Beatrice Malone, $20; Meredith Huycke, $20.

The above amounts were ordered to be paid.

Two Months Leave.

Miss Ross was granted two months leave of absence owing to ill health.

To Be Paid $2,000.

On motion of Trustees Hill and Middleton, each of the contractors for the new schools will be paid $2000 on account, leaving fifteen per cent of their amount of their contracts in hand.

Mother's Classes.

Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. J. C. Davidson, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Jas. Rollins were a deputation from the Woman's Council of this city, with a view to securing the endorsation and co-operation of the board in their movement to educate mothers in protection of their children from the evils of the day—immoral and otherwise—and to inculcate in mothers the responsibilities of their citizenship, which must consequently react upon their children. The ladies asked that the board provide a room in the different schools, one night each month attended by a teacher, when mothers could be educated on lines calculated to enhance the moral and physical welfare of children.

Mrs. Jas. Rollins was speaker for the ladies, and presented the need for such mothers' classes in a very lucid and capable manner.

The board expressed their hearty sympathy with the movement and the matter was referred to the Supervision Committee with power to act, in furtherance of the ladies' request, at the earliest possible moment.

Medical Inspection.

Dr. Jessie Bernie, Miss Davidson, and Mrs. (Dr.) Sutton, were another deputation from the Woman's Council and asked for medical inspection of schools. Dr. Jessie Bernie was the speaker.

Chairman Dr. Morrison replied that the board fully recognized the need for medical inspection in the schools, which, however, have in the past been peculiarly fortunate in regard to infectious and contagious diseases. He thought that, perhaps, the engagement of a nurse from the medical council would answer the requirements. The board was in face of so many increased expenditures that he was afraid the engagement of a physician would be out of the question just now.

Dr. Burnham thought it might only be necessary to engage the services of a physician occasionally, a nurse doing the bulk of the inspection.

Mr. W. H. Hill thought inspection should be started at once, and approved of the engagement of a first-class nurse. An appropriation for this purpose should be made next year.

Dr. Burnham acquiesced in Mr. Hill's view, but contended that a physician should be engaged for say two hours a day.

On motion of Mr. Hill and Dr. Burnham, this matter went to the Supervision Committee to report.

Building Committee.

The following report, submitted by Mr. B. F. Ackerman, was adopted:

Gentlemen,—Your Building Committee beg to report and recommend that the following furniture be purchased for each of the two new schools: Principal's room, desk, chair and settee. Lady teachers' room, rocker, couch, chair, table and mirror. The total cost of the above not to exceed one hundred and ninety-five dollars.

Committee on Appointments.

Mr. W. H. Hill submitted the following, which was adopted as read:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee on Appointments beg to report and recommend that Miss F. Daisy Walker of [illegible], Ont., Miss [illegible] M. [illegible] of [illegible], Ont., and Miss [illegible] C. [illegible], of Terra Cotta, Ont., be appointed on the Public School Staff at salaries according to schedule and duties to start January 5th, 1914.

All of the above are highly recommended and your Committee are of the opinion that they will give entire satisfaction.

Bronchitis Cured By Medicated Air

NO DRUGS TO TAKE — YOU SIMPLY BREATHE A HEALING BALSAMIC VAPOR

Every Breath Carries Healing Balsams to the Sick, Sore Places in the Nose and Throat.

Montreal this time gives splendid praise for the modern way of curing colds, catarrh and bronchitis.

Instead of taking sickening drugs into the stomach, or using an old-fashioned spray, the sensible person nowadays breathes the soothing vapors of Catarrhozone and gets well right away. This is exactly what Mr. Joseph Deouse did, and writing from his office at 57 St. Paul street, he says:—

"I suffered for years with the worst form of chronic bronchial throat and nasal catarrh. I tried all kinds of syrups, ointments, tablets and washes, but they proved ineffective. In fact I could get no relief. I read in the Montreal Witness of Catarrhozone and bought an outfit. In a few hours I got relief. The air passages of my nose were cleared out, and I was able to breathe freely. My throat was strengthened—my voice improved—and no longer gagged and coughed. The effect of Catarrhozone was wonderful. Now I am well—no bronchitis—no throat distress. I urge everyone with a weak throat, with a cough, a cold or a touch of catarrh to use Catarrhozone freely."

Get the Dollar outfit — lasts two months and is guaranteed. Smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. each, all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

on good authority that the idea has been abandoned, certainly until after next session.

The wide divergence of opinion in the Liberal ranks is shown by an editorial in the Ottawa Free Press which advocates the appointment of a permanent tariff commission, which the Conservatives had proposed, and the bill to establish which was killed by the Liberal majority in the Senate. The Free Press does not advocate any change in the tariff on manufactures, but outlines the following platform for the Liberal party:

(1)—An increase in the British preference to 50 per cent.

(2)—The abolition of all duties on food—a free dinner table.

(3)—The abolition or material reduction of duties on all machinery used in the production of food.

(4)—The appointment of a permanent tariff Commission for the purpose of constantly watching for and advising Parliament on the presence of injustices in the customs tariff.

LOVE IS HOME.

Love is the part, and love is the whole;
Love is the robe, and love is the pall;
Ruler of heart and brain and soul,
Love is the lord and the slave of all!
I thank thee, Love, that thou lov'st me;
I thank thee more that I love thee.

Love is the rain and love is the air,
Love is the earth that holdeth fast;
Love is the root that is buried there,
Love is the open flower at last!
I thank thee, Love, all round about,
That the eyes of my love are looking out.

Love is the sun, and love is the sea;
Love is the tide that comes and goes;
Flowing and flowing it comes to me;
Ebbing and ebbing to thee it flows!
Oh my sun, and my wind, and tide!
My sea, and my shore, and all beside!

Light, oh [illegible], that art by showing;
Wind, oh wind, [illegible] by moving thee;
Thought, oh thought that art by knowing;
Will, that art born in self-devotion!
Love is you, though not all of you know it;
Ye are not love, yet ye always show it:

Faithful creator, heart-longed-for father,
Home of our heart-infolded brother,
Home to thee all thy glories gather;
All are thy love, and there is no other;
O Love-at-rest, we loves that roam—
Home unto thee, we are coming home!

Prof. Mulveney Known All Over the World

Proprietor of World's Famous Tape Worm Exterminator

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. It is of pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays its eggs, which are connected together. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each section is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a basket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, being [illegible] from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal danger, and causes the victim to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The [illegible] physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, [illegible] of the bowels, [illegible] of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these worms were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these parasites, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels. Symptoms may be in evidence at any time, and this is complete proof of the presence of tape worm. There are many other feelings of distress which take too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Information free. Phone Park [illegible], 167 Dundas [illegible] Toronto.

NO HOPE FOR DYNAMITERS

Union Men Who Are Serving Sentences for Many Explosions

Chicago, Nov. 5.—In answer to the court's request that the government show proof that the dynamiters convicted in the McNamara plots specifically intended and did carry explosives on passenger trains, District Attorney Miller today argued before the court of appeals that in every instance in which details of a dynamiting had been shown the dynamite had been carried interstate on a passenger train.

The record showed at least fifty such instances, he said. The government based its case on seventeen transportations of the nitro-glycerine and eight of dynamite, he said, and all these offenses occurred within a year.

The labor union officials, who now seek a reversal of their convictions, were found guilty only on evidence of their violating interstate regulation of the shipment of explosives and not on evidence of the destruction of life and property, Mr. Miller told the court. He said the details of the explosion were gone into only to show that the iron workers had a motive to destroy "open shop" contractors.

WIFE GUILTY OF MURDER

Mrs. Wakefield Convicted of Hand in Crime Committed by Plew

New Haven, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, of Bristol, mother of three little children, was found guilty of murder in the first degree for her part in the killing of her husband William, at Cheshire, last June, by a jury. Sentence will be pronounced later, because James Plew, her self-confessed accomplice, and who did the actual drugging, shooting and knifing of the husband, is before the court on the question of degree of guilt.

Evidence in the trial showed that Mrs. Wakefield and Plew conspired to get rid of Wakefield. While Mrs. Wakefield took her children out for a walk, Plew partly drugged her husband, took him out for a walk for several miles and then shot him to death. A knife was driven in the body and a rope tied around the neck to give the appearance of suicide.

Mrs. Wakefield then reported to the police that her husband was missing, and she feared that he had ended his life. Investigation of the relations between the man and woman resulted in their arrest. Both confessed to the Bristol police and to Coroner Mix.

"CASCARETS" RELIEVE SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Move acids, gases and clogged-up waste from Stomach, Liver, Bowels—Cure Indigestion.

Get a 10-cent box now.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness, and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

BUSCH HEIRS GET $1,000 EACH DAY FOR LIFE

Three Million a Year Income For Eight Relatives of St. Louis Brewer

St. Louis, Nov. 5.—Each of the heirs of the estate of Adolphus Busch who, according to the will filed here are to have shares of the trust into which the estate is to be formed, will have an annual income of $375,000 a share, or more than $1,000 a day.

The son, August A. Busch, who succeeds his father in the management of the vast properties, is to have two shares of the trust and his income consequently will be $750,000 a year, minus the provision he is required to make fir his invalid brother, Carl W.

According to a high officer of the Busch corporations the income of the estate is estimated at $3,000,000, which is a 6 per cent returnal on a valuation of $50,000,000. The heirs are the widow and the seven children.

The three executors, Mrs. Lily Busch, Edward A. Faust and Charles Nagel, will have full power to make the $210,000 in charitable bequests and the personal bequests amounting to $20,000, and to provide an income for the widow not exceeding $50,000 a year.

AMPHIBIOUS FISH

They Not Only Cross Dry Land But Can Climb Trees

From long habit we have been accustomed to think of fishes as living exclusively in water; or being incapable, in fact, of supporting existence under any other conditions. Nature, however, does not always draw a hard and fast line between aquatic animal life and that which belongs to the land. From the accounts of naturalists whose names are sufficient guarantee for their veracity there exist fish which walk on dry land, and others which traverse in like manner the floor of the ocean.

Dr. Francis Day, of India, discovered several cases of the migration by land of fishes from one piece of water to another, whilst Layard once encountered some fish evidently belonging to the perch family traversing a hot, sandy road at noon on a sultry day. Humboldt was once astounded to behold a species of dorus progressing over the dry ground by a succession of leaps, supported by its pectoral fins, and he also heard of another specimen that had climbed a hillock twenty feet high.

In a certain part of India a party of English officers were encamped when a rustling sound in the grass and leaves attracted their attention. They found, on investigation, that the noise was caused by countless multitudes of little fish that were moving slowly over the ground and making steadily in one direction. Their method of locomotion consisted in using their sides and small fins as feet, and their progress was anything but smooth.

The fish these officers saw are known as the climbing-perch, which have long taken prominent rank among the curiosities of Nature, and they were being compelled by drought to traverse a tract of dry land in order to regain their native element. Constantly the streams they inhabit become dried up in the heat of the summer season, and when this happens these extraordinary freaks climb up the banks, and, guided by some instinct, make a direct bee-line across country to some river that still contains a medicum of water.

It is well over a hundred years ago that this wonderful fish was first brought before the notice of naturalists. A specimen was then captured nearly at the top of a lofty palm tree, having probably ascended the trunk in order to obtain any moisture that might have collected in the hollow of the leaves. This at first was regarded as a traveller's tale, but when M. Daldorf found one of these perch actually engaged in ascending a tree, it was amply sufficient to place the climbing perch in the lengthy category of Nature's oddities.

A Painless Bullet

A new kind of bullet, known as the "narcotic bullet," is being experimented by military men. A minute particle of morphia is used. The drug is carried in tiny wells in the steel jacket of the regulation army bullet. The inventor claims that it in no way interferes with the effectiveness of the missile. The slight indentation in the steel jacket causes no splintering when it comes in contact with the bone, and no deleterious effects will follow the unique administration of the drug. The soldier receiving a slight flesh wound from the new bullet fights no more that day; he calmly stretches himself on the ground and goes to sleep. The man receiving a serious wound suffers no agony, as the narcotic from the bullet is absorbed by his system, and he is insensible to pain before he reaches the hospital.

Peps What are they?

Peps is the name bestowed upon a new scientific preparation put up into tabloid or pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds and lung and throat troubles.

Did it never occur to you as peculiar that when you have a cough or a cold, or any chest trouble, you should apply medicine—not to your lungs, but to your stomach?

Look at it the other way round. Suppose you suffered from some stomach complaint—indigestion or ulceration. How strange you would think it if you were asked to take a medicine which had to be breathed in, and which went—not to your stomach, but to your lungs and breathing passages?

Peps—this newest remedy for coughs, colds, and lung troubles—go to the lungs and breathing-tubes, direct. Peps are really pine fumes, and certain highly beneficial medicinal extracts specially prepared by a new scientific process and then condensed into tabloid form. It is like making a breathable gas solid!

You put a "Pep" on your tongue and let it dissolve. As it does so, the healing essences it contains turn into vapor, and you BREATHE them direct to your lungs and air passages!

Just as the out-door treatment for consumption—the "breathing" treatment—is now admitted to be the only rational treatment, so the "Peps" treatment for colds and lung troubles is the only rational home treatment.

Peps cure catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, sore throat, tightness or aching across the chest, difficulty in breathing, night cough, hoarseness, asthma, laryngitis, smoker's throat, etc. Best for children, because free from opium, morphine, or any poison.

All druggists and stores sell Peps at 50c. a box or 3 for $1.25.

FREE TRIAL

Cut out this article, write across it the name of this paper, and mail it to Peps Co., Toronto, or 53 Princess Street, Winnipeg, enclosing 1 cent stamp to pay for return postage. A free trial packet of Peps will be mailed you by return. If you have a friend suffering from a cough, cold, or any throat or lung trouble, hand this on.

Diabetes

TORTURED WITH AN UNQUENCHABLE THIRST FOR YEARS TRIED EVERYTHING THAT MEDICAL AID COULD DO FOR ME, BUT GRADUALLY GOT WORSE TRIED SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES AND WAS CURED.

Ashville, Man.

Dear Sirs:—

During the month of March I was informed that I had a well developed case of Diabetes. I immediately placed myself upon a rigid diet after a week of which the first urinalysis disclosed a sugar content of 8 p.c. After several months of dieting during which time I was taking a so-called cure the sugar content was reduced to 3 p.c. I began taking SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES with the result that within a short time the urinalysis made by competent persons, and at different periods, disclosed no sugar, whatever. This condition, is [illegible] very gratifying and I have every reason to believe that I am quite cured. For some time past my diet has been a liberal one, containing largely in some foods high in carbo-hydrates, but I still avoid all sugars and syrups. This is in accordance with the directions which I [illegible] well advised to follow. I am gaining in weight and strength, and once more feel that it is good to be alive.

There is no question in my mind [illegible] the virtues of SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES, and I feel that a great blessing has been conferred upon suffering humanity by the discovery, and use of this medicine.

Yours truly,
W. A. FOX.

THE PLAGUE OF SAMPLES

In Charge at the Mail of the Prince of Wales

It is said that the bulk of the Prince of Wales' daily mail is made up of samples and advertising matter. He receives enough samples of cigars and cigarettes in the course of a day to last a heavy smoker for a year. Usually there are twenty-five or fifty cigars or cigarettes enclosed in a [illegible] box. Sometimes the [illegible] is of silver or of gold. It is the invariable custom of the Prince to return the costly cases and the samples they contain, with a note explaining that he never retains a sample of so valuable a character. An enterprising proprietor of a hotel at Nice went to the trouble to prepare a book describing the advantages of his hotel, which was printed on parchment illustrated by hand, and bound in beaten silver. It must have cost at least $1,000. Another hotel proprietor in Cairo sent a silver model of his hotel, and a letter praying that the Prince might do him the honor of being his guest the first time he went abroad. Some of the letters the Prince receives are very amusing. For instance, one was from a chief in the South Sea Islands, who offered to bring his three daughters to England in order that they might be placed in the Prince's harem. A man in Ceylon offered to supply the Royal household with as many black servants as desired, all perfectly trained and speaking English. Offers from couriers and guides are numerous. One was received from an old fellow in Constantinople, who desired the privilege of showing the Prince the sights of that city, and remarked that he had the honor of escorting his grandfather about some forty years ago. Appeals for subscriptions to charities are also very numerous, and these communications are scrutinized with the utmost care, for should the Prince subscribe it would be announced that he was a patron, and it might be found out later on that the charity was simply a money-making scheme, in which case the Prince's name might be used to fleece the innocent public.

Colony of England Vipers

A colony of vipers has been discovered in the Ramsey Fen and Raveley district of Huntingdonshire. The viper, which was at one time plentiful in England, is the only poisonous snake now found in the country. Its bite is often very severe, but rarely fatal to life.

Two Deer Stalkers' Big Bag

A deer-stalking record was set up by two guests of Mr. Jersey de Knoop, the lessee of Kinlochewe, Mr Kenneth McKenzie's Ross-shire forest, which covers about 32,000 acres. The two sportsmen killed thirty-eight hinds in six days. On their best day they accounted for twenty-seven.

A Big Schoolboy

The village of Banton, Kilsyth parish, Scotland, has a schoolboy who, though only thirteen years of age, weighs 120 pounds, and is 5 feet 8 inches in height. According to results disclosed by the medical inspection [illegible] he is the biggest schoolboy in Stirlingshire.

LET IN THE SUNLIGHT

The Sun's Rays Will Keep the House Sanitary

Sunlight is one of the best family physicians, a doctor tells us. There should be sunshine sometime in the day in every room in the house.

Sunlight is the best cleanser the housewife can employ. Lack of sunshine-cleanliness produces house odors which though not always harmful are not pleasant. The quick remedy for these is a good sunning. Washing can only be done at intervals. Sunning is an easy daily process.

Sunlight is the best means of keeping bedding sweet. It will freshen books which have been packed away in damp places. It will make the sink and the dish cloth sanitary. It is one of Nature's chief aids to health. If there must be dark rooms see that the kitchen and the bed rooms are not among them. The one is the center of the household food supply. The other should keep fresh in spite of all the impurities given off by the body while sleeping.

Solicitor's Clerk Drowned

"Found drowned" was the verdict at the inquest at Kingston-on-Thames on Wilfred M. Quinton, solicitor's clerk, whose body was found in the Thames. The jury expressed sympathy on account of his services to charity, as an entertainer.

On the shore at Brighstone, Isle of Wight, a fisherman found an 18-inch British Whitehead torpedo. It was handed over to the coastguards. The finder gets $25 reward from the Admiralty.

ORIGIN OF LONDON NAMES

Some Interesting History and Some Shrewd Guesses.

The stranger who visits London must often speculate as to the origin of this or that thoroughfare, or wonder how some of the curiously named streets he passes through came by their names.

The origin of Bishopsgate is not clearly known, but it is supposed to have been built by some famous prelate in or about the year 1200, and named after him.

It is a little difficult in these days to believe that the area about Charing Cross was no more than a little village in the time of Edward I. Opinions differ as to the first meaning of the word "Cross" attached to the name of this hamlet, but it is probable that it had the same signification that is to be discovered in other cases of the kind in London and the country. There have probably been crossroads here from time immemorial, but it is said that in the case of Charing Cross there was a more specific reason. Edward I. is stated to have erected a cross in memory of his queen on the spot where the statue of Charles I. was afterwards set up.

Piccadilly, if we may believe the usual explanation given for its curious name, was so called because the first person to build a house in that neighborhood was interested in "piccadilles," by which name the stiff collars or ruffs formerly worn were originally known.

The religious associations of Paternoster Row are still upheld by the present residence in that quarter of those who deal in publications of that order, but it is said that the place originally derived its name from the fact that it was the favorite haunt of the turners of beads or makers of "paternosters."

Similarly Lombard Street took its name from the Lombards and other foreign merchants who assembled there twice a day to dispose of their wares.

Crutchedfriars has perpetual association with a monastery of the Holy Cross [illegible] there in days gone by.

[illegible] Horse [illegible]

Mr. George Geraghty at a meeting of the Roscommon Town Commissioners referred to the [illegible] of donkeys. He instanced a case of a "nice young lady" in a hobble skirt whom he saw urging a poor animal up a hill by means of a hatpin. The clerk was directed to draw the attention of the police to the matter.

In One Choir 55 Years

Mr. Elsworth Duquette, tenor in the professional quartette of the Erskine Presbyterian Church, Montreal, achieved the remarkable record of fifty-five years' service as a member of the Erskine choir. In a quarter of a century, Mr. Duquette was absent not more than half a dozen times.

This evening dress is of pale blue charmeuse made very scant with a short pointed train. The tunic is of white tulle, embroidered with pearls. The round neck and very smart sleeves are particularly girlish. A wide band of the beaded tulle, which forms a belt reaching from the normal waist line up to the bust, is lined and bound with satin.

Syrup For Fruit Drinks

A simple syrup for sweetening any fruit drink is made by adding an equal quantity of sugar to boiling water and stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Then boil for ten minutes without stirring. Keep in a cool place in bottles or jars to use as occasion requires. This is more economical than stirring the sugar into the beverages as they are made.

FATHER O'FLYNN

Author of Words of Famous Song Would Divide His Glory.

During a lecture at the University College, of North Wales, on "Songs of Ireland," Mr. A. Percival Graves, the author of the famous song "Father O'Flynn," gave an interesting account of the origin of the song with which he thought his name was already too much identified.

When a clerk at the Home Office, Mr. Graves happened to be strolling through one of the London parks and the words of the song came into his head. Subsequently writing them out he sent them to the "Spectator" in which they were published.

Ten years afterwards they were set to music by Sir Charles Stanford and when first sung scored an immediate success. But the public perseveringly ignored Sir Charles' collaboration in the song and have insisted upon recognizing Mr. Graves as its sole creator.

In many places he is known as Father O'Flynn, his own name being utterly forgotten.
